Introduction

Grammar Time is a series of grammar reference and practice books specifically designed for young learners from the age of eight upwards. Grammar Time can be used alongside any major coursebook. The aims and overall purpose of the series are:

- to present grammar in amusing, meaningful contexts, appropriate to the pupils' age and level.
- to help them understand new grammatical items by means of simple reference tables and explanations of key points.
- to help them assimilate the grammar by providing interesting, graded practice exercises
- to provide opportunities to use the grammar communicatively in freer oral and/or written practice.

Grammar Time and the Common European Framework

The new editions of Grammar Time are closely correlated to the Common European Framework.

Grammar Time	Language level	Common European Framework	Cambridge ESOL
1	Beginners		Starters
2	False beginners	A1	Movers
3	Elementary	A2	Flyers, KET
4	Pre-Intermediate	B1	PET
5	Intermediate	B1+ (towards B2)	PET (towards FCE)

Grammar Time components

The components of the course are:

- a Pupils' Book
- a Teacher's Resource Book with answer keys and additional photocopiable activities, unit quizzes and progress checks
- a Multi-Rom containing recorded material from the Pupils' Book that can be played on a CD player for use in the classroom; and extra practice exercises for the learners to do at home on their computers.

Grammar Time syllabus progression

The order in which grammatical items are introduced in Grammar Time follows the typical progression of most coursebooks. However, it is possible to select units in any order which is relevant and appropriate to the particular needs of your language classroom.

Organisation of Grammar Time 2 Pupils' Book

The main part of the book consists of:

- twenty-four core units
- five revision units called 'Use your English'.

Additional reference material at the end of book consists of:

- irregular verbs table
- spelling rules
- unit by unit wordlist.

Grammar Time Characters

The characters in Grammar Time 2 are the same as those the learners met in Grammar Time 1: Zoe, her parrot Corky, and her friends Brian and Dave (see below).

- Zoe is a strong-minded girl and the undisputed leader of the group. She's a keen rollerblader, horserider and an aspiring ballerina.
- Corky is Zoe's pet parrot. He's quite mischievous. He loves chocolate, singing and dancing (at which he is very bad) and teasing everybody else.
- Dave is tall and lanky. He's a basketball wizard but extremely shy and gentle and he has a tendency to mess things up.
- Brian is the brains of the gang. He reads all the time and is a maths and science genius. He can do almost anything he puts his mind to, not necessarily successfully, however.

Core units

Each core unit is organised in the following way.

Presentation

Motivating and memorable content facilitates the acquisition of language. In Grammar Time 2, grammar is presented in context through cartoons featuring the four main characters and their friends. Pupils can easily identify with the varied and amusing situations the characters find themselves in. The cartoons are recorded on the accompanying Multi-Rom.

Care has been taken so that larger "chunks" of grammar are broken down to make them more manageable for young learners. In Grammar Time 2, units vary in length according to the language item introduced. In Unit 11, for instance, which deals with the present simple, the first spread presents and practises the positive form only. The second spread presents the negative and question forms. This gives you some freedom to adapt the pace according to the needs of each individual class, choosing either to break down the unit into two different lessons, or to deal with the whole unit at one go.

Grammar reference tables and additional explanations

The grammar reference tables help focus the learners' attention on the new grammatical items in a visually memorable way. They are often in the form of substitution tables. Where necessary, Corky the parrot draws attention to key features of the grammar either in a speech bubble or on a grammar board.

The tables and explanations appear together before the practice section. This makes it easy for pupils to refer to them while working through the exercises.

Exercises

The controlled practice exercises that follow each presentation are carefully graded to ensure that new language can be easily consolidated. They aim to recycle known vocabulary rather than introduce a large number of new lexical items, which would only serve to confuse and distract the pupils. The cartoon characters often appear in the exercises to provide realistic contexts for the grammatical items.

Each unit ends with a speaking exercise so that learners can use the newly acquired items. A  symbol indicates when an exercise is recorded.

'Use your English' revision units

There are five revision units in the book. They allow for regular consolidation of the language presented and practised so far. The tasks aim to provide realistic and communicative contexts for the language to make it more memorable. Again, the lexis used is familiar to the learner.

Reference material

At the end of book, there are:

- irregular verbs table for the past simple
- spelling rules for plural nouns, present simple, present continuous and past simple

These provide a fast and simple way to review or revise these grammar areas.

Wordlist

This contains key lexical items from each unit. Your pupils may want to write in a translation of each word in their own language. They can use this for reference at home and for revision purposes.

For you, this list proves a preview of which words your pupils will need to know to be able to work alone on a unit. It can help you decide what key vocabulary to pre-teach before the Presentation.

Useful tips

Presentation

One of the main advantages of this series is its use of recurring cartoon characters who present grammar through amusing stories. The presentations are recorded on the Multi-ROM accompanying the Pupils' Book.

You can start off by asking pupils to look at the pictures and say what they think is happening. Depending on the linguistic level and perception of their class, you might find it useful to pre-teach key lexical items that appear in the presentation (using the wordlist if necessary).

You can then play the recording and either have the pupils follow in their books, or listen with books closed. It's a good idea to play the recording twice. The second time, you can ask pupils to repeat parts of the dialogue.

After listening to the recording, allow pupils to comment on the stories and give their opinions.

Follow-up ideas

- Pupils can act out the dialogues in class immediately.
- Pupils can be assigned to learn the lines of one of the characters for homework and act out the dialogues in the next lesson without books.
- You could write the dialogue on the board, leaving out key grammatical items, then ask pupils to fill them in.
- Pupils may be encouraged to write their own version of the story making any desirable changes (this can be done in class with the teacher as a resource; pupils then vote for the best version).

Grammar reference tables and explanations

It is advisable for you to go through these in class, before pupils work on the exercises. Pupils can be asked to read the items in the tables aloud (in chorus and individually) to familiarise themselves with pronunciation and stress. You can ask them to supply further examples based on the tables.

Draw your pupils' attention to any additional explanations, and make certain that they understand, adding extra examples on the board if you wish.

When this is done, pupils could be asked to go back to the presentation and circle, underline or highlight all grammatical items in focus.

Controlled practice exercises

The simple instructions and examples provided make all exercises suitable for homework. However, it is always advisable to do a sufficient number of them in class, where you can prompt, help and advise. If necessary, do more than one item as an example and ask pupils to work through the rest of the activity individually or, preferably, in pairs.

Pupils should be encouraged to ask questions if they are in difficulty. You can usually guide them towards finding the answer on their own by looking back at the presentation and tables.

When it is time for checking, it is a good idea to encourage the rest of the class to say whether a particular answer given is acceptable or not, rather than accepting or correcting immediately. Multiple choice exercises or those which require a choice between two words (e.g. is or are), make them suitable for "voting" – that is, pupils are asked to put their hands up to choose one of the answers (the majority is usually right).

Speaking exercises

The speaking exercise at the end of each unit allows pupils to use the newly acquired items communicatively. These exercises are usually recorded.

You can play the recording before your pupils try the exercise for themselves. The recording can be used as a listening activity as well as providing a pronunciation model for your pupils. For example, for Exercise 6 on page 23, you can tell pupils to listen to the recording and put a tick or cross next to each prompt in the Pupils' Book.

You can then ask your pupils to listen and repeat the first few exchanges before they work in pairs to do the activity.

'Use your English' revision units

The 'Use your English' revision units are best done in class, as they contain speaking exercises as well as written exercises.

Teacher's Resource Book

This Teacher's Resource Book contains answer keys to all the exercises in the Pupils' Book, as well as additional photocopiable activities with teaching notes, Unit Quizzes and Progress Checks with answer keys.

Photocopiable activities

There is one photocopiable activity sheet for each unit in the Pupils' Book. The activities consist of games and pairwork activities to activate the language practised in the unit in a lively and interesting way.

This provides another opportunity to recycle the grammar and build your pupils' confidence in using the language.

The teaching notes explain how to use each activity and answers are provided where necessary.

Unit Quizzes and Progress Checks

There is a photocopiable Quiz for every two units in the Pupils' Book. The style of the tasks is appropriate for the assessment of language use at this level.

The Quizzes are best done in class after the completion of a unit and after homework has been checked. They do not take long and are a valuable form of assessment.

In addition, there are five Progress Checks, which review the same units as the 'Use your English' revision units. They help you assess which grammatical areas you may need to return to. They also highlight individual weaknesses for future revision.

It might be best for you to collect the Quizzes and Progress Checks and correct them before returning them to the pupils with the score and your comments. Comments should be positive and encouraging wherever possible.

With some classes, it helps to create an atmosphere of competition. You can do this by announcing at the beginning of the book that the three pupils with the highest overall score at the end of the year will receive a special commendation certificate or prize.

Multi-ROM

The Multi-ROM packaged with each Pupils' Book contains

For the teacher:

- 60 minutes of recorded material from the Pupils' Book, including all the Presentation cartoons and the final Speaking exercises. Some of the other cartoons and dialogues are also recorded, to allow pupils to listen and check their answers. This material can be played on an ordinary CD player. A  symbol indicates when an exercise is recorded.

For the pupils:

- extra practice exercises and games which can be done on a home computer. For each unit, there are up to five extra exercises including at least one listening exercise, as well as a final game to make learning fun. There are also five revision units for further consolidation. Only vocabulary that has been seen in the Pupils' Book is used, to facilitate pupils' understanding and allow them to focus on the grammar.

- Pupils must complete the drawings according to the numbers they read. Tell them to keep their drawings simple and be strict about limiting the time they have to draw.
- Give pupils about twenty seconds for each drawing. Count down the last ten seconds – ten ... nine ... eight ... – and insist they stop drawing when you reach one.
- Pupils can swap activity sheets to check each other's work.

2 Write the correct words under the pictures.

- Pupils complete the captions for each picture. If necessary, write the singular version of each word on the board as a prompt.

Answers

- 1 two sheep

1 Read, choose and complete.

- Pupils complete the dialogues using words chosen from the box.
- If you feel your class needs extra support, read out the completed dialogues and ask pupils to repeat each line of dialogue after you. Then ask them to complete the sentences in writing, working singly or in pairs.

Answers

- 1 Are you from Italy?

No, she isn't. She's eight years old and I'm ten years old.
- 3 This is my dog. He's very clever.
What's his name?
Sparky.

2 Use the ideas below to make new conversations. Then act them out.

- Work through each dialogue orally, helping pupils to construct each line following the model in Exercise 1.
- Invite confident pupils to come to the front and act out the different situations. Encourage them to leave their activity sheets on their desks and act from memory. You can help them by writing key words on the board.

2 Draw your friend's things. Write.

- Ask pupils to draw an object belonging to friend: first an item in the singular (a bag, a book, a watch), then plural items (shoes, eyes, hands, books).
- Ask the class What can you draw? and list different possibilities on the board. Pupils then make their own choices.
- Pupils caption their drawings, e.g. This is Giorgio's T-shirt. These are Francesca's ears.

Unit 5

Preparation: Photocopy one activity sheet for every pupil in the class. Cut each sheet in half along the dotted line. Give the A sheet to half the class and the B sheet to the other half of the class.

1 Ask and answer. Tick your friend's things.

- Explain the activity. Pupils have to find out about their friend's things by asking questions. They use the 'My things' pictures to answer questions about their own things..
- Demonstrate by giving the activity sheet to one pupil. Ask: Have you got a skateboard? Elicit a short answer: Yes, I have or No, I haven't. Hold up your own sheet and demonstrate how to draw a tick or a cross next to the pictures in the bottom row, depending on your partner's answer.
- Pupils work in A/B pairs. Say: Don't show your sheet to anyone.
- Pupils take turns to ask and answer about the things in the bottom row,

2 Write about your friend.

- Pupils use the information they gathered in the first activity to write sentences about their partner, using has got and hasn't got.

Unit 6

Preparation: Photocopy one activity sheet for every pupil in the class.

1 Draw these things in your room.

- Pupil look at the six items shown along the top of the sheet. They copy them onto the picture entitled My room, wherever they choose.

2 Ask and answer. Draw the things in your friend's room.

- Put pupils in A/B pairs, moving them around so that they are working with someone they haven't worked with before. Tell them: Don't show your drawing to anyone.
- Pupils take turns to ask and answer about the six items: Where is the cat? etc. They complete the second picture – My friend's room – according to their partner's answers.
- Pupils write sentences about their own drawing. They can write on the back of the sheet, or stick the sheet into their notebook and write beneath it.

Unit 7

Preparation: Photocopy one activity sheet for every pupil in the class.

1 Read and draw.

- Ask the pupils to look at the incomplete picture of the garden. Tell them to read the sentences and complete the picture.

2 Memory game: Talk and write about the picture.

- Pupils fold their activity sheets in half along the dotted line. Tell them to work in pairs. Together, the pupils should try to remember what's in the garden without looking at the picture they completed. They use the words as prompts, and write sentences beginning There are or There's a.
- When they have finished writing, they can check their answers against the sentences in Exercise 1.
- Early finishers can take turns to ask each other questions about the picture, beginning Is there or Are there. The other pupil must try to reply from memory, without looking at the picture. Encourage them to use short answers: Yes, there is. etc.

Unit 8

Preparation: Photocopy one activity sheet for every pupil in the class.

1 Ask your friends.

- Give each pupil an activity sheet, then demonstrate the activity. Hold up your sheet, point to the first row of the grid and ask a pupil: Do you play the guitar? Insist on short answers: Yes, I do or No, I don't. Ask another pupil: Does your mum play the guitar? and so on.
- Show them how to complete the grid using ticks and crosses, according to the answers they receive.
- Pupils can work with just one partner, with the group of pupils around them, or they can move around the classroom and ask different pupils they meet. Tell them to try and get an answer for each square in the grid, but fix a time limit for the activity.

2 Write about your friends.

- Pupils write sentences about their friends, as in the examples. Tell them to write five sentences.

Unit 9

- Draw students' attention to the table. Point out that there are rules for a swimming pool and for a cinema. Ask students to try to guess what the rules might be.
- Ask pupils to use the words to complete the questions.

2 Ask and answer. Use the questions in Exercise 1.

- Pupils work in pairs. They ask and answer the questions in Exercise 1. Go round the class, checking that students are using good intonation and have completed the questions correctly.

- Demonstrate the activity by reading out the first sentence: Ben sometimes reads comics. Hold up your sheet to show pupils how they have to draw pencil lines from the faces to the adverbs to the pictures, to match the sentences you read out.
- Read the remaining sentences, pausing after each one for pupils to draw in the lines.
- Correct the activity by asking pupils to follow the lines they have drawn and to read out the full sentences.

Sentences for dictation

Ben sometimes reads comics.

Emma usually has an apple for breakfast.

I often listen to music.

- For further exploitation, pupils can draw lines in different coloured pen to reflect their own habits and preferences. Their lines should begin at 'I' at the top of the page then link up with an adverb and a picture, so as to say, for example, I never walk to school.
- Circulate and ask pupils to say these sentences out loud. Ask them: How often do you walk to school? etc.
