

End of course test Listening 1

Mum: Hi Toby, thanks for phoning home.
Toby: Hi mum. That's okay. I'm sorry it's late.
Mum: That's okay. It's good to talk to you. How's the holiday?
Toby: It's fantastic, mum. We're having a great time.
Mum: Where are you now?
Toby: I'm in Italy. I'm in a small hotel near the centre of Florence.
Mum: When did you arrive there?
Toby: We arrived from France late last night and we were so tired we went to bed. This morning we had breakfast in a café near the hotel.
Mum: What did you have for breakfast?
Toby: I had cheese and bread and a lot of coffee, but Yasmin had fruit, yoghurt and tea.
Mum: How is Yasmin?
Toby: She's fine. She loved Switzerland, but it was very expensive.
Mum: Yes, Switzerland is expensive, but it's a nice country to visit.
Toby: Yes, it is.
Mum: When did you leave Switzerland?
Toby: We left last Saturday. We spent a week there and the views of the mountains were amazing. We walked a lot and Yasmin went to the swimming pool every morning.
Mum: The swimming pool?
Toby: Yes, she loves swimming.
Mum: Was it cold in Switzerland?
Toby: Yes, it was.
Mum: Did you have a sweater or coat?
Toby: No, I didn't pack a sweater or coat ...
Mum: Oh, Toby!
Toby: It's okay. I wasn't cold. I need to go now, mum.
Mum: Ok. Enjoy your stay.

Receptionist: Good afternoon. Can I help you?
Man: Yes, we have a reservation for two nights.
Receptionist: What's your name?
Man: Dupont. Marc and Wilma Dupont.
Receptionist: How do you spell your name?
Man: It's Marc, M-A-R-C and Dupont. That's D-U-P-O-N-T.
Receptionist: Ah yes, here you are. Can I have your passports, please?
Man: Here you are.
Receptionist: Oh, you're Swiss?
Man: That's right. I'm Swiss but my wife is German.
Receptionist: But you don't live in Switzerland.
Man: No, we don't. We live in France.

Shop assistant: Can I help you?
Woman: Yes. I'd like to buy some presents for my family. How much is that football scarf?
Shop assistant: This one?
Woman: No, the blue and yellow scarf?
Shop assistant: It's £8.
Woman: Mmmm. And how much are the football shirts?
Shop assistant: The green shirt is £15 and the yellow shirt is £17.50.
Woman: Can I have one scarf and the green football shirt, please?
Shop assistant: Sure. Here you are.
Woman: How much is that?
Shop assistant: It's £23.
Woman: Can I pay by credit card?
Shop assistant: No, sorry. It's cash only. But there's a cash machine opposite my shop.
Woman: Ok, just a minute.

Man: Good morning. You're up early.
Woman: I always get up early on Sunday.
Man: Why? Where are you going?
Woman: I like walking in the mountains when the weather is nice.
Man: And what do you do when the weather is bad?
Woman: Sometimes I go to the gym or to the swimming pool. What about you? Why are you up so early?
Man: I work on Sundays.
Woman: Really? Where do you work?
Man: I work for a newspaper. I'm a journalist.

Woman: Excuse me! Where's the museum?
Man: It's on Oak Drive between the school and the bank.
Woman: Sorry, where's Oak Drive?
Man: Turn left at the corner, go straight on. There's a park on your left.
Woman: A park on the left.
Man: Then turn right. There's a hospital on the corner.
Woman: OK. Turn right.
Man: That's Oak Drive. The museum is on the left, opposite the supermarket.
Woman: Is there a car park near there?
Man: Yes, there's a car park next to the supermarket.
Woman: Thank you!

Amelia: Hi Federica, where are you?
Federica: Hi Amelia. I'm just leaving the house now.
Amelia: How are you getting here?
Federica: I'm getting a taxi. Are you at the restaurant?
Amelia: Yes, I arrived at 8:15. I'm waiting outside.
Federica: What time is it now?
Amelia: It's twenty past eight.
Federica: OK. See you in 15 minutes.
Amelia: OK. See you then.

Federica: Where are you? I'm arriving at the restaurant, but I can't see you?
Amelia: I'm in the restaurant.
Federica: Are you standing at the bar?
Amelia: No, I'm not. I'm sitting at a table near the window.
Federica: Oh yes. I can see you.
