A letter from the authors

Dear teachers and colleagues,

Together with Cambridge University Press, we have always been committed to ensuring that the Passages series continues to provide you and your students with the best possible teaching and learning resources. Accordingly, we always seek ways to add new tools and support to the course to make sure it not only reflects the best practices in language teaching, but also provides your students with the means to take their English to a whole new level.

Here are some of the things you can look forward to in the third edition:

- a fresh new design, new images, and new and updated content to reflect contemporary English usage
- more vocabulary support and practice with the new Vocabulary Plus section in the back of the Student's Book and the interactive Online Vocabulary Accelerator
- a new Video Program and accompanying Video Activity Worksheets to reinforce target language through compelling, real-world videos linked to unit topics
- a revised Teacher's Edition, now with an Assessment Audio CD/CD-ROM that features both ready-to-print and customizable quizzes and tests
- new digital resources to support teaching and enhance learning inside and outside of the classroom, including an Online Workbook and Presentation Plus, lesson planning and classroom presentation software

In addition, all the features that have made Passages one of the most successful English courses for upper-level students continue to be the hallmarks of the third edition:

- the same trusted methodology and proven approach
- relevant thought-provoking, real-life content
- flexibility for use in any teaching situation

We look forward to introducing you to the third edition of Passages.

With best wishes and warmest regards,

Jack C. Richards & Chuck Sandy

The new edition

Passages Third Edition is a fully revised edition of one of the most successful upper-level series for adult and young adult learners of English.

Based on the feedback from teachers and students from all over the world, the course has been thoroughly updated to ensure that it remains the innovative series that has successfully taken students to higher levels of achievement. There is new content in every unit, additional vocabulary practice, new readings drawn from authentic sources, and multiple opportunities for students to develop advanced writing, speaking, and listening skills.

What's new

Content – Virtually all of the readings are new, and many other sections are new or have been updated.

Vocabulary Plus – This new section in the back of the Student's Book provides additional vocabulary practice that students can do in class or as homework.

Communication Reviews – The statements in the Self-assessment charts are now aligned with the Common European Framework of Reference, allowing students to more effectively assess their ability to communicate.

Online Vocabulary Accelerator – This new powerful online learning tool will help increase the speed and ease of acquiring Passages vocabulary.

Online Workbook – The online version of the Workbook also includes extra video and listening comprehension activities.

Video Program – This all-new program includes short videos in a variety of real-life genres to reinforce and extend the language taught in each unit. Each video is supported by a photocopiable Video Activity Worksheet and teaching notes.

Presentation Plus – This powerful lesson planning and classroom presentation software conveniently combines the Student's Book, Workbook, Video Activity Worksheets, Class Audio, and Video Program into a single interactive component to help keep students engaged and focused.

Assessment Audio CD/CD-ROM – Oral and written quizzes for each unit, as well as progress tests, are available both as ready-to-print and customizable files. The audio program, audio scripts, and answer keys are also included on the disc.

Core series components

Passages Third Edition has several tools that are designed to help you and your students take English to a whole new level. Here is a list of the program's core components.

COMPONENT	DESCRIPTION
Student's Book	The Student's Book is intended for classroom use and contains 12 eight-page units, 4 two-page review units, and extra grammar and vocabulary practice sections. It also provides access to extra interactive vocabulary practice with the Passages Online Vocabulary Accelerator.
Class Audio CDs	The Class Audio CDs are intended for classroom use. The CDs provide audio for all the listening sections in the Student's Book.
Teacher's Edition with NEW! Assessment Audio CD/CD-ROM	The interleaved Teacher's Edition with Assessment Audio CD/CD-ROM includes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Page-by-page teaching notes with step-by-step lesson plans • Audio scripts and answer keys for the Student's Book, Workbook, and DVD • Language summaries of the new vocabulary and expressions in each unit • Photocopiable Video Activity Worksheets and video teaching notes • A complete assessment program, including oral and written quizzes, as well as progress tests, in both ready-to-print PDF and customizable Microsoft Word formats
Workbook	The Workbook's six-page units can be used in class or for homework. Each unit provides students with additional grammar, vocabulary, writing, and reading practice.
NEW! Online Workbook	The Online Workbook is an interactive version of the print workbook, optimized for online practice. It also includes extra video and listening comprehension practice. The Online Workbook provides instant feedback for students on hundreds of activities, as well as easy-to-use tools for teachers to monitor student progress.
NEW! Video Program	Videos for each unit offer compelling, thought-provoking content in a variety of real-life genres that reinforce and extend the language presented in the Student's Book. The photocopiable Video Activity Worksheets include comprehension and discussion activities, while the Video Notes include detailed teaching suggestions for both the worksheets and video projects.
NEW! Presentation Plus	Presentation Plus classroom presentation software makes it easy to plan and deliver more effective and engaging lessons and can be used on an interactive whiteboard, portable interactive software technology, or with a computer and projector. It is intended for classroom use and includes the complete Student's Book, Workbook, Video Activity Worksheets, Class Audio, and Video Program.
NEW! Passages Online Vocabulary Accelerator	The interactive Online Vocabulary Accelerator is a free self-study application that increases the speed and ease of acquiring Passages vocabulary through an innovative and dynamic environment. It includes the pronunciation, definition, and usage examples for every vocabulary item presented in each unit.
NEW! Online and Print Placement Test Programs	The Placement Test programs for Passages are available either in combination with Interchange or with Four Corners for the lower levels. The programs are available both in print and online, each including multiple versions of the test.

For a complete list of components, visit www.cambridge.org/passages3 or contact your local Cambridge University Press representative.

Student's Book overview

Passages Third Edition is a two-level course that helps high-intermediate and advanced students take their English to a whole new level.

Passages includes a range of activities that will:

- progressively expand students' language abilities in both formal and conversational contexts,
- develop vocabulary through collocations and word building exercises,
- sharpen listening skills through naturalistic recordings based on real-life interactions,
- stimulate discussion with thought-provoking topics and reading texts drawn from authentic sources,
- build academic writing ability.

The Student's Book is comprised of 12 units of instruction and practice, plus 4 communicative review units. A Grammar Plus section, conveniently located in the back of the book, includes more grammar explanations and practice, while a new Vocabulary Plus section provides additional controlled vocabulary activities. Passages also provides access to more interactive vocabulary practice online.

Each unit consists of two four-page lessons, each offering a variety of language-expanding activities. Below are representative sample pages from a typical unit.

5 COMMUNICATION

LESSON A ▶ Making conversation

1 STARTING POINT

Types of people you might meet

A Read about six different types of people you sometimes meet on social occasions. Match the descriptions with the pictures.

1 It's a good idea to try out different topics to get a conversation going, and the conversation starter does just that. a
2 Talking about your accomplishments too much is often considered rude, but that doesn't stop the braggart. b
3 Saying nice things about others is customary for the complimenter. c
4 It's rude to ignore your conversation partner, but the wandering mind does it anyway. d
5 Talking about topics that interest you is fun. Unfortunately, the bore is interesting to no one else. e
6 It's usually considered impolite to interrupt people, but the interrupter is always jumping into the conversation out of turn. f

B Pair work Do you know any people like the six types above? What is it like to have a conversation with them?

"My best friend is kind of an interrupter. She's really nice, but I guess she just gets excited about the conversation and wants to jump in. It can be very annoying."

STARTING POINT

- Introduces the lesson's topic
- Presents new grammar in both formal and conversational contexts
- Gets students talking right away

GRAMMAR

- Presents the lesson's target grammar with clear examples and explanations
- Helps students notice examples of the target grammar in context and discuss reasons behind grammar rules
- Practices the grammar in communicative contexts
- More in-depth grammar work provided in the Grammar Plus section in the back of the book

VOCABULARY

- Presents vocabulary related to the lesson topic
- Emphasizes collocations, phrasal verbs, idioms, and prefixes and suffixes
- Helps students employ new vocabulary right away in meaningful spoken contexts
- More vocabulary practice provided in the new Vocabulary Plus section in the back of the book and in Passages Online Vocabulary Accelerator

2 GRAMMAR

Infinitive and gerund phrases

It + be + adjective/noun + infinitive phrase is often used to comment on behavior. These sentences can also be restated with gerund phrases.

It's rude to ignore your conversation partner.

It's a good idea to try out different topics.

6 WRITING

Organizing ideas with an outline

Making an outline is a good way to organize your ideas before you write. An outline is usually written in reduced sentences or in notes and provides a general plan to follow when you write.

- A Read the paragraph about a cultural rule in Japan. Then complete the outline below with information from the paragraph. What additional information is included in the paragraph but not in the outline?

A. Topic sentence

Speaking on a cell phone in some public places in Japan is impolite.

B. Supporting sentences

- Recommended behavior:
_____ or speak softly and cover mouth
- General example:
Train announcements remind passengers – put phone on silent
- Personal example:
People glaring for taking a call in _____

C. Concluding sentence

There is a good reason why Japanese people _____

- B Pair work Write an outline about a cultural rule from your country. Then exchange outlines and answer the questions.

1. Is the outline in a logical order?
2. Does the outline provide enough information? Is there anything else?

- C Pair work Use your outline to write a paragraph about the cultural rule. Then exchange paragraphs and answer the questions.

1. Does the paragraph follow the outline?
2. Is the cultural rule clear? What suggestions do you have to make?

- A Read the article. These headings are missing from the text. Put them in the correct place.

The Generic Ring	The Distracted Driver	The Useless Call Maker
The I-Talk-Anywhere	The Shouter	The Corporate Big Shot

CELL PHONE PERSONALITY TYPES

In her travels, "Telephone Doctor" Nancy Friedman has noticed a variety of "cell phone personalities." Which of these types have you seen around?

1. The Shouter
Talking three times louder than necessary is characteristic of this offensive cell phone user. He seems to think everyone has a hearing impairment. Doesn't he know the phone already amplifies his voice?

This pompous fellow makes all his business calls in public places while standing in the middle of a crowded room. He conducts big business deals right there in front of us, but we're not impressed.

3.
This exasperating person makes trivial phone calls, one after another, after another. On airplanes, you'll overhear her saying ridiculous things like, "Hi, we haven't left yet," or "Hi, we just landed. OK, see you in a minute."

4.
Making and taking calls anytime, anywhere is the trademark of this infuriating person. She'll chat in restaurants, at movie theaters, and even at funerals. When her cell phone rings, she looks at you and says insincerely, "Oh, sorry about that."

5.
Drive or use the phone – don't do both at the same time. This can be dangerous. It's really scary to see a delivery truck in the rearview mirror with a distracted driver on a phone behind the wheel.

6.
These are the people who haven't bothered to personalize their ring tone. One phone rings and 10 people check to see if it's theirs. Hang on, I think that's my phone!

5A Terms to describe behavior

Choose the correct words to complete the conversation.

Liu: I'm going to an academic conference in Los Angeles next week. It'll be my first time in the U.S., and I want to behave in an (1) appropriate / offensive / unusual way. Can I address people by their first names?

Jing: When you first meet people in the U.S., it's (2) polite / offensive / rude to address them by using their title and last name. Once you start talking, if the other person uses your first name, then you can do that as well.

Liu: OK, I'll try to remember that. Something else I want to know – do people kiss on the cheek when they first meet? Or is it better to shake hands?

Jing: In a professional setting, it's (3) rude / strange / normal to shake hands. Americans don't usually kiss strangers on the cheek.

Liu: I'm also wondering how to start conversations with people I meet for the first time.

Jing: Well, I think it's (4) inappropriate / typical / bad form to start by mentioning something interesting that a speaker said in a recent session. You might also ask someone's opinion about a conference topic.

Liu: OK. Now, sometimes when I get excited about an idea, I interrupt the other person with a lot of questions. Is that all right?

Jing: That's OK with friends, but when you meet new people, it's considered (5) polite / a compliment / bad form. You should let the other person finish talking.

5B Expressions for reported speech

Use phrases from each box to complete the conversations.

1. advised me to / claimed that / promised to / wanted to know

A: My sister borrowed my car. She claimed that her car was being repaired.

B: She advised me to if I knew a good mechanic. It sounded like a big repair job!

2. claimed that / encouraged me to / explained that / wondered

A: My parents encouraged me to take a trip to Brazil this summer.

B: That's fantastic! I explained that where you were planning to travel this year.

3. advised me to / claimed that / wanted to know / warned me not to

A: My dad doesn't like my boyfriend because he plays in a band. He wanted to know find someone who's more serious about a career.

B: My father thinks the same way. He advised me to date artists or writers!

4. advised me to / encouraged me to / explained that / promised to

A: Ted was late again! He explained that he'd been studying and lost track of time.

B: Knowing Ted, I'll bet he promised to never be late again!

5A Infinitive and gerund phrases

In a sentence with it's + adjective + infinitive, it is possible to follow the adjective with for and an object. The object can be a pronoun or a noun.
It's difficult for her to talk about her feelings openly.
It's customary for North Americans to make frequent eye contact.

For sentences in the negative, use not + infinitive or not + gerund.
It's considered rude not to thank people who give you gifts.
Not thanking people who give you gifts is considered rude.

Adjectives of feeling (glad, happy, pleased) cannot be used with the it's + adjective + infinitive structure. Instead, the sentence needs to say who has (or doesn't have) these feelings.
Most parents are happy to see their children go to college.
People are always delighted to get compliments.

1 Rewrite the sentences using infinitive or gerund phrases.

- It's important to make a good first impression.
Making a good first impression is important.
- Arriving late for an appointment is inappropriate in most countries.
- It's fairly typical for college students to get to a party late.
- It's considered rude not to be punctual for a dinner party.
- Keeping the conversation going is easy for Elyse.
- Showing the bottom of your feet is offensive in some places.
- It's good form to bring a small gift to a dinner party.
- Talking about politics is sometimes risky.
- It's customary for some parents to brag about their children.
- Thanking the hostess the day after a party is a nice idea.

2 Write sentences with infinitive phrases using the words below.

- Tom / always happy / lend money to his friends
Tom is always happy to lend money to his friends.
- Wendy / unusual / arrive late to class
It's unusual for Wendy to arrive late to class.
- Donald / relaxing / not have homework over the weekend
- Min / always glad / help a friend in need
- many tourists / surprised / learn about some American customs
- students / inappropriate / interrupt a teacher
- new employees / often afraid / ask their bosses for help
- dinner guests / customary / thank their hosts
- businesspeople / important / be punctual for appointments

Curious about app creation?

K6C
Course Master App

Creating Mobile Apps is an online course that gives students the chance to explore a variety of app-building programs, to learn about the various uses of apps, and to develop their own app. Offered by Kelly Community College, it's an excellent source of information and hands-on experience for beginners while providing exposure to the latest programs for those who already have some experience.

As someone already familiar with building apps, I was not very impressed with some of the material. However, I found the section on the possible uses of apps for everything – from shopping to home security – really eye-opening. Additionally, being able to create an app under the guidance of an expert made the whole process seem much simpler than expected. Overall, it provided a flexible learning experience, and I found that the biggest advantage of an online class is that you can move at your own pace. On the other hand, there's the obvious lack of real time spent with the instructor and fellow students.

I would definitely recommend this course to anyone looking to build an app. My only suggestion is that the college should offer better networking tools so that the discussions and brainstorming sessions are more efficient.

B Use one of these topics or your own idea to write a product or service review.

- a course you took
- a social networking site
- software you tried

4 READING

A Read the article. Find the boldfaced words that match the definitions.

- problems pitfalls
- increase
- unclear
- concern for others
- talking too proudly about yourself
- not thinking you are better than others

How nice of you to say so...

Everyone appreciates a compliment. They are expressions of admiration, acceptance, and affection that make the recipient of the compliment feel good and boost positive feelings in the giver of the compliment as well. Friendships and good working relationships alike can develop out of a well-worded and appropriately timed compliment. As in most areas of social interaction, though, giving and receiving compliments can present problems. What's meant to be positive can turn out to be offensive unless you're aware of the possible pitfalls.

One point that many of us forget – or perhaps never realized – is that the best compliments are specific. Instead of a quick "Good job!" to a colleague or classmate, mentioning how well organized their presentation was, or how it taught you something new, will have the greatest effect. Similarly, try to avoid vague language like, "Wow, you got a new haircut!" If the recipient of your intended compliment is feeling unsure about this new look, they might think, "...and it looks terrible!" Explain what's good about it, or why it's an improvement so there is no misunderstanding.

Sincerity is also important when it comes to compliments. When salespeople tell you how great you look or how smart you seem, you can often tell if they really mean it or if they are just trying to get you to buy something. Similarly, other people, especially those close to us, can usually tell if a compliment is automatic or insincere. And a compliment that sounds forced can actually make the recipient feel worse than if we had said nothing at all.

How you receive a compliment can also determine if the exchange will be a positive or a negative one. Many people reject compliments by saying, "Oh, it was nothing" or "It wasn't me – Tom did all the work." This may seem like the right, and humble, thing to do. Accepting a compliment with no argument can feel like boasting to many people and in many cultures. However, in the U.S. and most Western cultures, graciously accepting a positive statement with a simple "thank-you" shows the other person that you respect their judgment and appreciate their thoughtfulness. So the next time someone comments on your new outfit, try to resist saying you bought it for next to nothing; it doesn't fit well and, anyway, your sister picked it out. Just smile, say thank you, and accept it as a positive moment for both of you.

B Read the article again. Choose the correct answers.

- The author believes that giving compliments...
 - ☐ a. always has a positive effect.
 - ☐ b. can present problems.
 - ☐ c. isn't complicated.
- According to the article, an unclear compliment...
 - ☐ a. is as good as a specific one.
 - ☐ b. always causes offense.
 - ☐ c. can be misunderstood.
- According to the article, some salespeople might use compliments in order to...
 - ☐ a. make themselves feel better.
 - ☐ b. influence your decision.
 - ☐ c. appear humble.
- In the U.S., rejecting a compliment gives the impression that...
 - ☐ a. you don't respect the giver.
 - ☐ b. you are boasting.
 - ☐ c. you feel insecure.

Some of the most successful inventions are the result of a mistake, or the outcome of an experiment that didn't produce the desired results, or just creations that no one knows what to do with... yet. Post-it notes – those little pieces of sticky paper that can be found on millions of desks, files, student papers, computer monitors, and refrigerators around the world – were not a planned product. The adhesive used on Post-it notes had actually been developed a few years earlier than the invention of the actual notes. How can something so useful and popular have been overlooked when it was first invented?

Spencer Silver, a chemist at the company that makes Post-it notes, was experimenting with adhesives when he created a weak adhesive that stuck to a surface, but that could be peeled off without damaging the original surface. He told his colleagues about his discovery, but at first, no one was interested. They didn't see a useful application for it.

Some years later, one of Silver's colleagues, Arthur Fry, was looking for a solution to a problem he was having in the choir he sang in on weekends. He was having trouble keeping places marked in his songbook because his paper bookmarks kept falling out. He realized that the weak adhesive that Silver had developed could be painted on the slips of paper and stuck to the songbook pages to keep his place. It was an ideal solution, because the sticky bookmarks did not damage the songbook and could be moved from page to page several times without losing their adhesiveness.

Fry introduced his findings to his co-workers. People started asking for their own sticky bookmarks, and soon they started using them as notes on files, reports, and other documents. It wasn't until several years after the adhesive was developed, however, that Post-it notes found a wider audience. Today, Post-it notes are used in offices, schools, and homes worldwide.

1. This article is about _____.

☐ a. different types of adhesives
☐ b. a successful product
☐ c. the career of Spencer Silver

2. The adhesive on Post-it notes was invented _____.

☐ a. to meet a clear need

3. The invention of the adhesive wasn't accepted at first because _____.

☐ a. other chemists were jealous of the inventor
☐ b. the adhesive was difficult to make
☐ c. there didn't seem to be a good use for it

4. Arthur Fry _____.

☐ a. discovered the new adhesive
☐ b. found a use for the new adhesive
☐ c. started the company that makes Post-it notes

5. The pieces of paper painted with the new adhesive _____.

☐ a. didn't fall off the songbook pages
☐ b. kept the songbook pages stuck together
☐ c. couldn't be moved from page to page

Video Program overview

The Passages Third Edition Video Program complements each unit of the Student's Book, providing further practice with unit topics, grammar, and vocabulary in a relevant context.

The Video Program uses real-world genres, such as news reports, documentaries, video diaries, how-to clips, and interviews, as well as natural, real-life language. The videos model authentic spoken English, provide invaluable listening practice, create opportunities for discussion, and motivate students to make their own video projects.

Each video is supported by a video activity worksheet, video teaching notes, and the video script – all available in the Teacher's Edition.

VIDEO ACTIVITY WORKSHEETS

- Designed to facilitate effective use of the video in the classroom
- Include pre-viewing, viewing, and post-viewing activities that provide students with step-by-step support and guidance for understanding the events and language of the video segment:

The Before you watch section activates previous knowledge and introduces the context and vocabulary necessary to understand and engage with the video.

The While you watch section offers interesting activities to help students notice important facts, information, and events while watching the video.

The After you watch section contains review and overall comprehension activities, as well as personalization activities that expand upon the content from the Student's Book and video.

- Available as photocopyables in the Teacher's Edition, as well as for classroom presentation in Presentation Plus

VIDEO NOTES

- Available in the Teacher's Edition
- Provide short summaries of the video and language points used
- Suggest step-by-step instructions and optional teaching ideas to work with the Video Activity Worksheets
- Include a Video Project assignment for each unit:

The video project teaching notes provide step-by-step instructions and are structured into Write the script and Make and share the video sections to guide students as they create their own videos.

They also include brainstorming tips, organizational ideas, and other suggestions for script writing and video making.

4 HOW ELECTRONICS AFFECT OUR SLEEP

Story summary

After you watch page T-199

A Pair work
In this activity, Ss relate their bedtime routines to the information in the video.

B Preview the activity Go over the instructions. Tell Ss they will analyze their own routines in terms of the information presented in the video. Read the questions. Model a discussion with a volunteer.

C Do the activity Have pairs do the activity. Help as needed.

D Follow up Have pairs share their opinions with the class.

B Group work
In this activity, Ss think of additional suggestions to reduce screen time or improve sleep.

C Preview the activity Go over the instructions.

D Do the activity Have Ss write their answers. Help as needed.

E Follow up Have Ss exchange papers with a partner and read each other's work. Then have volunteers read their plans to the class.

C Writing
In this activity, Ss make a plan for improving their own sleep habits or those of someone they know.

D Preview the activity Go over the instructions. Model a sample answer using your own information.

E Do the activity Have Ss write their answers. Help as needed.

F Follow up Have Ss exchange papers with a partner and read each other's work. Then have volunteers read their plans to the class.

Project

A Write the script
In this activity, Ss write their own video about how to improve sleep.

B Preview the activity Tell Ss they will work in small groups to make a video about how to improve sleep. Explain that they will take turns speaking and operating the camera. Explain that Ss will write suggestions and offer advice.

C Brainstorm Have Ss think of sleep problems they or people they know have and possible suggestions to improve sleep. (This can build on the suggestions from After you watch part B.) Have groups decide on a format for their video. They can role-play a session with a patient and a sleep specialist, shoot a conversation among friends, or tell their plan to the camera.

Sample issues:

- Problem: watching TV to fall asleep
Solutions: limit TV watching to only one hour earlier in the evening; meditate before bed for 20 minutes instead
- Problem: room is too noisy to sleep
Solutions: wear ear plugs; tell roommates quiet time begins at 10 p.m.
- Problem: have to work after school, so studying begins late
Solutions: plan study sessions for early morning instead and go to bed earlier; see if work schedule can be adjusted

D Outline Have Ss make an outline of their script. They can use their own ideas or the following structure:

- Introduce and describe the problems that will be discussed.
- Talk about the negative effects the problems cause.
- Provide advice and steps to solve each problem.
- Give a summary of the problems, solutions, and reasons why sleep is important.

E Write the script Have Ss write their scripts about the sleep problems and solutions. Have them read through their work as they go and revise as needed.

F Check the script Have Ss rehearse their scripts. Help as needed.

B Make and share the video
In this activity, Ss work in groups to make their own video about how to improve sleep.

C Plan the video Remind Ss that they will take turns speaking and operating the camera. Alternatively, Ss can set up the camera so they appear on-screen together to act out a situation.

D Make the video Have Ss make their videos.

E Share the video Have Ss share their videos with the class.

F Option Have a group discussion about the videos. Which video has the best suggestions? Does the class have any additional suggestions for the problems mentioned?

Presentation Plus overview

Passages Third Edition Presentation Plus combines the contents of the Student's Book, the Workbook, the Video Activity Worksheets, the Class Audio, and the Video Program into a convenient one-stop classroom presentation solution.

Plan, Save, and Go! Use this software to plan and create lively, engaging lessons ahead of time, which can be saved and uploaded later to any computer.

This software provides an effective medium to focus students' attention on the content being presented and practiced. It can also help promote their participation and interaction with the material in a more dynamic way.

This component simplifies several of the teaching tasks that take place in the classroom. You can use the software to play audio or video without having to use a separate CD or DVD player, reveal answers, zoom in on a page to more efficiently focus students' attention on an activity or image, annotate pages for future lessons, and even embed links to additional content.

Placement Test Program overview

The Passages Placement Test Program is available in combination with either the Interchange program or the Four Corners program. Each Placement Test Program is available both in print and online.

The print format provides three versions of an Objective Placement Test with Listening, three versions of a Placement Essay Test, and a Placement Speaking Assessment. An audio program, audio scripts, answer keys, and guidelines for administering the tests are included.

In the online version, all the questions have been optimized for Web delivery. The test also features a built-in reporting system to help you obtain students' placement test results immediately.

Please contact your local Cambridge University Press representative for more details.

Teacher Support Site overview

The Passages Teacher Support Site offers a variety of materials to assist the teachers using the series. It includes practical articles; author videocasts on methodology; correlations; language summaries; fresh ideas for optional alternative presentations and optional activities; and a number of downloadable worksheets with communicative games and activities, extra readings, and projects.

VIDEOCASTS

Provide useful information on methodology and practical tips

WORKSHEETS

- Game worksheets provide stimulating and fun ways to review or practice grammar, vocabulary, and speaking skills
- Project worksheets are engaging group research projects that offer collaborative and challenging task-based activities for students
- Reading worksheets give teachers an optional task for students to expand their reading skills
- All the downloadable worksheets are available both as ready-to-print PDFs and editable Microsoft Word files

Worksheet 3.1 The next Olympic city

Aim: Practice using connectors to discuss potential Olympic sites
Preparation: Make one copy of Photocopiable 3.1 for every four Ss.
Comment: Use after discussion on page 24.

- Ss work in groups of four. Give each group a handout.
- Explain the task. Elicit how to use the debate expressions at the bottom of the handout. Write some of the expressions on the board.
- Tell Ss they are Olympic committee members who must decide on which city will host the 2012 Olympics. Model the task with one S.
T: Although Moscow has very cold winters, it has impressive public transportation.
S: Yes. On the other hand, the hotels are very expensive.
Have groups discuss the pros and cons and then choose one city. Groups should make a list of reasons supporting their decision.
- Have each group participate in a debate using the expressions. The group that debates most effectively gets to choose the city that will host the Olympics.

What's next?

Aims: Develop listening accuracy, develop language appropriacy awareness, expand vocabulary range
Preparation: None
Comment: Use with listening sections

- After Ss listen to the passage and do the listening task, play the recording again, pausing before eight to ten places where you think there is relevant vocabulary to be learned (words, phrasal verbs, phrases, idioms, etc).
- Ss work in pairs. After each pause, have Ss write down in general terms what they think will happen next in the recording.
- Have pairs share their guesses with the class.
- Continue the recording and let Ss compare their guesses to the original text.
- For guesses that do not match the recording, discuss whether the guesses would also be possible in that context.

Introduction to the CEFR

Introduction to the Common European Framework of Reference (CEFR)

The overall aim of the Council of Europe's Common European Framework of Reference (CEFR) is to provide objective criteria for describing and assessing language proficiency in an internationally comparable manner. The Council of Europe's work on the definition of appropriate learning objectives for adult language learners dates back to the '70s. The influential Threshold series (J. A. van Ek and J. L. M. Trim, Cambridge University Press, 1991) provides a detailed description – in functional, notional, grammatical, and sociocultural terms – of what a language user needs to be able to do in order to communicate effectively in the sort of situations commonly encountered in everyday life.

Three levels of proficiency are identified: Waystage, Threshold, and Vantage (roughly corresponding to Elementary, Intermediate, and Upper Intermediate).

The Threshold series was followed in 2001 by the publication of the Common European Framework of Reference, which describes six levels of communicative ability in terms of competences or “can do” statements: A1 (Breakthrough), A2 (Waystage), B1 (Threshold), B2 (Vantage), C1 (Effective Operational Proficiency), and C2 (Mastery). Based on the CEFR descriptors, the Council of Europe also developed the European Language Portfolio, a document that enables learners to assess their language ability and to keep an internationally recognized record of their language learning experience.

Passages Third Edition and the Common European Framework of Reference

The table below shows how Passages Third Edition correlates with the Council of Europe's levels and with some major international examinations. A detailed correlation of Passages to the CEFR is available on the Teacher Support Site for download.

		CEFR	Council of Europe	Cambridge ESOL	IELTS	TOEFL iBT	TOEIC
Interchange	Four Corners

8. I can't stand being in a messy, disorganized room.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
9. I prefer telling people how I feel, even if it's embarrassing.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

B Pair work Compare your responses to the survey. Find two ways you and your partner are different.

"I'm not afraid of giving speeches in front of the class. How about you?"

"Oh, I'm definitely afraid of doing that!"

VOCABULARY & SPEAKING

How would you describe yourself?

A Which statement from the survey best matches these personality traits?

Write the correct number. Then compare answers with a partner.

- | | | |
|---|-------------------------------------|---------------------------------|
|  2  a. friendly and outgoing |   d. kind and generous |   g. wild and crazy |
|   b. strong and independent |   e. honest and sincere |   h. calm and cool |
|   c. laid-back and relaxed |   f. shy and reserved |   i. neat and tidy |

B Pair work Choose another partner.

Find two traits you have in common.

Find one way that you're different.

"So, how would you describe yourself?"

"Well, I'd say I'm pretty laid-back and relaxed."

"Me, too. I never worry about getting places on time."

"I don't either. I like taking it easy and . . ."

Useful expressions

Same traits

So am I. (I am, too.)

I'm the same way.

So do I. (I do, too.)

Neither do I. (I don't either.)

Different traits

I'm not like that.

I'd say I'm more . . .

Really? I don't.

That's not true for me.

VOCABULARY PLUS see page 130

1 FRIENDS AND FAMILY

LESSON A ► What kind of person are you?

In this unit, Ss use verbs followed by gerunds and noun clauses after be to talk about themselves and their families. They also practice describing personal changes and expressing likes and dislikes.

1 Personality survey (STARTING POINT)

Learning aim: Discuss personal qualities and see verbs followed by gerunds in context (10–15 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Write a sentence from the survey on the board. Explain that the sentence describes a personal quality. Say whether or not it is true for you and explain why. Ask Ss to raise their hands if the sentence describes them. Call on a few Ss to say why.
- Books open. Tell Ss that they are going to take a personality survey.
- Ss read the survey. Go over any unfamiliar vocabulary. Elicit one personality trait that can be applied to each statement in the survey (e.g., item 1: confident). Write them on the board.
- Ss work individually to complete the survey.

B Pair work

- Ss work in pairs. Have one pair read the example conversation to the class.
- Have partners compare their responses and discuss their differences. Ask a few pairs to report their differences to the class.

Optional activity: Class survey (5–10 minutes)

Ss use the personality survey in part A to identify the various personality types in the class.

- Read each item in the personality survey. Ss raise their hands to show their responses as you call out definitely agree, somewhat agree, and definitely disagree. Tally the responses on the board.
- Ss work in small groups to discuss the results on the board (e.g., Were you surprised that so many people in the class always feel like going dancing?).

2 How would you describe yourself? (VOCABULARY & SPEAKING)

Learning aim: Learn and practice using vocabulary to describe personality traits (15–20 minutes)

A

- Go over the traits and pronounce those that might cause Ss difficulty. Explain that each expression is a pair of personality adjectives that are often used together in English.
- Explain that Ss are going to match each expression to one of the statements in the survey from Exercise 1A.
- Ss work individually to complete the activity. Then Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

- | | | |
|------|------|------|
| a. 2 | d. 5 | g. 7 |
| b. 4 | e. 9 | h. 1 |
| c. 6 | f. 3 | i. 8 |

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the information in the Useful Expressions box and the example conversation aloud.
- Ss work in pairs to do the activity.
- Ask a few Ss to share their answers with the class.

Optional activity: My personality (10–15 minutes)

Ss practice using the new vocabulary words to talk about their personality traits.

- Ask Ss to circle the pair of words from part A that most closely describes their personality. Then have Ss write example sentences for each expression.
- Ss work in pairs to take turns explaining their choices (e.g., I'm neat and tidy. I like everything to be in its proper place. I don't like a mess.).
- Have several Ss share their answers with the class.

To help Ss with vocabulary in this exercise, download the Fresh Idea That reminds me of . . . from the Teacher Support Site.

3 Verbs followed by gerunds (GRAMMAR)

Learning aim: Practice using verbs followed by gerunds and infinitives (20–25 minutes)

Grammar notes

Gerunds, verb forms ending in -ing, act as nouns in sentences. They can be subjects, objects of verbs, or objects of prepositions.

Gerunds after prepositions: Usually, only nouns or gerunds follow prepositions (e.g., He worries about his job. He worries about losing his job.).

Gerunds after verbs: Common verbs followed by gerunds are finish, give up, can't help, imagine, keep, miss, and suggest.

Infinitives and gerunds after verbs: Some verbs can be followed only by gerunds, some only by infinitives, and some by either.

Gerunds only: dislike, finish, mention

Infinitives only: agree, hope, intend, learn, plan, promise

Either gerund or infinitive: begin, continue, like

Notice that in sentences such as I always feel like going dancing, the word like functions as a preposition.

- Books closed. Write on the board:
I enjoy being with people.
I'm into traveling to new places.
- Ask Ss to name the gerunds. (Answers: being, traveling) Explain that gerunds are verb forms that end with -ing and act like nouns. Ask Ss to name the part of speech of the words before the gerunds. (Answers: enjoy = verb, into = preposition)
- Books open. Discuss the information in the grammar box and read the example sentences.

4 Personal profiles (SPEAKING)

Learning aim: Use vocabulary, gerunds, and infinitives to describe personalities and lifestyles (10–15 minutes)

A

- Explain the task. Have Ss read the four personal profiles. Then go over any unfamiliar words.
- Ss work individually to decide which person is most similar to them and why.
- Have a few Ss share their answers with the class.

- Ask Ss to name the verbs and expressions in the grammar box that are followed by gerunds (enjoy, avoid, don't mind, etc.). Then have Ss find three more verbs and expressions like these in the personality survey on page 2.
- Go over answers with the class. For each additional verb Ss find, ask them if it can also be followed by an infinitive. If so, have Ss rephrase the new sentence using the infinitive.

Answers

The other verbs and expressions followed by gerunds are: (not) be afraid of (item 1), worry about (item 6), and prefer (item 9).

Prefer can also be followed by an infinitive.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Go over the example with the class. Point out the gerund telling after the verb avoid. Point out the gerund making after the expression afraid of.
- Read the phrases aloud. Go over verbs and expressions that can be used to begin each sentence. Write them on the board, if necessary. Ss work individually to write statements about themselves.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss their answers. Tell Ss to include a sentence or two explaining why they feel the way they do.
- Ask several Ss to share a few of their discussions with the class.

B Class activity

- Explain the task. Ss work individually to write their own personal profile. Remind Ss not to write their names on their profiles.
- Collect the profiles and redistribute them, making sure that no S gets his or her own profile.
- Tell Ss to walk around the class and ask other Ss questions. Their goal is to find who wrote the profile you gave them.
- When everyone is finished, ask if any of the profiles surprised them, and if so, why.

3 GRAMMAR

Verbs followed by gerunds

Use the gerund form after these verbs.

I enjoy going to parties where I don't know everyone.
I avoid expressing my feelings and ideas in public.
I don't mind giving up my time to help other people.

Use the gerund or infinitive form after these verbs.

I can't stand being / to be in a messy room.
I love taking / to take my friends to cool new clubs.
I hate getting up / to get up for early morning classes.

Use the gerund form after these expressions containing prepositions.

I insist on making my own decisions.
I always feel like going dancing!
I'm into going out to new foreign restaurants.

GRAMMAR PLUS see page 106

A Look at the Starting Point on page 2 again. Can you find other expressions that are followed by gerunds? Which of them can also be followed by infinitives?

B Pair work How do you feel about these things? Discuss your answers using verbs or expressions followed by gerunds and infinitives.

1. tell people that I'm angry with them
2. help with chores around the house
3. listen to people's personal problems
4. eat a full meal late at night
5. start conversations with people I don't know
6. go to places where I have to use English

"I usually avoid telling people that I'm angry with them. I guess I'm just afraid of making them angry at me."

4 SPEAKING

Personal profiles

A Look at the information about these people. Which person is most similar to you? Why?

Meet Your Neighbors

Job	college student	artist	lawyer	teacher
Personality	friendly and outgoing	wild and crazy	shy and reserved	laid-back and relaxed
Lifestyle	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> loves playing sports into traveling 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> loves to dance can't stand going home early 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> into watching old movies 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> enjoys cooking meals for friends loves to tell jokes

B Class activity Write a similar profile for yourself. Don't write your name. Your teacher will take your profile and give you the profile of another student. Ask questions around the class to find the other student.

5 LISTENING

Changes

- A Listen to Marcos and Heather talk about how they have changed over the last five years. How did they change? Complete the chart with the expressions from the box.

kind and generous friendly and outgoing shy and reserved wild and crazy used to be . . .	has become . . .

 Marcos Heather

- B Listen again. Choose the person you think would be more likely to do each of these things this weekend.

	Marcos	Heather
1. stay out late at a big party	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. stay at home and watch TV	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. help someone with a personal problem	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
4. invite a friend to a funny movie	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

6 DISCUSSION

How have you changed?

- A How have you changed over the last five years? What do you want to change now? Complete the chart.

	How I've changed	How I'd like to change Habits Personality
Likes and dislikes

- B Pair work Compare your charts. Ask follow-up questions.

"I used to watch a lot of TV, but now I don't."

"Really? What made you change?"

"Well, I was afraid of getting out of shape. So I . . ."

Useful expressions

Describing how you've changed

I used to . . . , but now I . . .
I think I've become more . . .

Describing how you'd like to change

I'd like to be more . . .
I'm interested in . . .

5 Changes (LISTENING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening for main ideas and making inferences (15–20 minutes)

A [CD 1, Track 2]

- Explain the task. Tell Ss to look at the chart and determine the information they need to complete it. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

family man a man who puts his family first and spends a lot of time with them settle down stop moving around and live permanently in one place, often getting married

(my) heart wasn't in the right place (I) wasn't good and kind (to others) making small talk talking about everyday topics that are noncontroversial

- Books closed. Tell Ss to listen to the recording once for general comprehension. Ask: How did each person change? Play the recording. Elicit a few responses.
- Books open. Explain that Ss will listen again and complete the chart with the expressions from the box. Make sure Ss understand the meaning of the chart headings.
- Play the recording again and have Ss complete the chart. Replay as many times as needed. Ss listen and check their answers.

- Ss work in pairs to compare answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Marcos: used to be wild and crazy, has become kind and generous

Heather: used to be shy and reserved, has become friendly and outgoing

Audio script: See page T-164.

B [CD 1, Track 3]

- Explain the task. Tell Ss that they may not hear all of the answers directly. Instead, they may have to make inferences, or educated guesses, based on the information they hear.
- Read the phrases aloud. Play the recording once as Ss listen. Play the recording again while Ss choose the correct boxes.
- Ss work in pairs to compare answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

- | | |
|------------|------------|
| 1. Heather | 3. Marcos |
| 2. Marcos | 4. Heather |

Audio script: See page T-164.

6 How have you changed? (DISCUSSION)

Learning aim: Talk about how people have changed and practice using the lesson vocabulary (15–20 minutes)

A

- Give an example of how you've changed over the last five years. Also give Ss an example of something you'd like to change about yourself now (e.g., I'd like to be more outgoing.).
- Ss work individually to complete the chart. Go around the class and help as needed.

B Pair work

- Explain the discussion task. Point out the follow-up question in the example conversation and how it encourages the first speaker to give more information. Also point out and review the Useful Expressions box.
- Ss work in pairs to do the activity. Help Ss with appropriate follow-up questions.

Optional activity: Class reunion (5–10 minutes)

Ss role-play attending a class reunion in the future to describe how they have changed.

- Ask Ss to imagine that it is 10 years from now and think of how they might have changed. Tell Ss that they can use their imaginations and think of exciting or funny ways that their lives have changed.
- Tell Ss to walk around the room. They should greet at least five classmates as old friends, talk about how they've changed in the last 10 years, and ask others about the changes in their lives.
- Have Ss sit down after five minutes. Ask Ss to describe some of their classmates' changes that were particularly surprising.

For more practice discussing this topic, download the Worksheet 1.1 How have you changed? from the Teacher Support Site.

7 Topic sentences (WRITING)

Learning aim: Write a paragraph about a personal quality with one main idea in a topic sentence (40–50 minutes)

A

- Tell Ss to read the information in the box at the top of the page. Ask: What is the name of the sentence with the main idea? (Answer: the topic sentence)
- Explain the task. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

tricky difficult

froze up (for machines) stopped working completely redo do something again

- Have Ss read the two paragraphs, find the topic sentences, and underline them.
- Ss work in pairs to go over their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

First paragraph:

I think that my most positive quality is that I'm always pretty calm and cool, especially when something breaks.

Second paragraph:

My most negative quality is that I'm not very neat and tidy.

B

- Explain the task. Ss work individually to make a list of words describing their positive and negative qualities.
- Ask a few Ss to share their qualities with the class.
- Have Ss decide on and circle their most positive and most negative qualities. Have Ss add a personal example to illustrate each quality.

C

- Explain the task. Tell Ss that they should write only one paragraph, focusing on one quality and giving examples of that quality.
- Remind Ss to write a topic sentence. It should include the personal quality they chose.
- Ss work individually to write their paragraphs. Tell them to make sure each sentence supports the main idea.

D Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud.
- As a class, answer the questions for the example paragraphs in part A.
- Ss work in pairs to exchange paragraphs and take turns answering the questions.
- Go around the class and help as needed. Encourage Ss to ask and answer follow-up questions about the paragraph, and ask about anything in the paragraph they don't understand.

Optional activity: Who am I? (15–20 minutes)

Ss practice vocabulary for personal qualities.

- Ss work individually to write another paragraph. If they wrote about a negative quality, then they should now write about a positive quality, and vice versa. Tell them not to write their names on their papers.
- Collect the paragraphs and redistribute them around the class. Have Ss try to guess who wrote the paragraph they received.

Optional activity: Who are you like? (10 minutes)

Ss practice vocabulary for personal qualities.

- Ss work individually to write three personal qualities of theirs and think of examples.
- Ss work in small groups to take turns reading one of their three qualities and giving their examples. Ss who have the same quality raise their hands and give examples of it in their lives. Ss count how many Ss give examples of each quality.

- A Read these paragraphs about people's best and worst qualities. Underline the topic sentence in each paragraph.

File Edit View Insert Format Tools Table Window Help

I think that my most positive quality is that I'm always pretty calm and cool, especially when something breaks. I'm really into solving tricky problems and finding solutions to things. My specialty is electronics. People come to me if something goes wrong with their computers or phones. For example, two days ago, my dad's brand new tablet suddenly froze up. He was afraid of causing more damage, so he asked me to figure out the problem. It only took me 15 minutes to fix it, and I loved doing it!

New Message

My most negative quality is that I'm not very neat and tidy. Sometimes I worry about being so disorganized, but I never feel like doing anything about it. My apartment is always a mess, so I can never find anything. Last week, for example, I finished doing some homework and then started to make dinner. In the morning, I couldn't find my assignment anywhere, so I had to redo it. I really want to change my bad habits, but I don't know where to start.

- B Think about your own personal qualities. Make a list. Then decide which quality is the most positive and which is the most negative. Circle each one.
- C Write a paragraph about either your most positive or your most negative quality. Make sure your paragraph has only one main idea.
- D Pair work Exchange paragraphs with a partner. Then answer the questions.
1. What is your partner's topic sentence? Underline it.
 2. What examples does your partner give to support the topic sentence?
 3. What do you find most interesting about your partner's paragraph?

LESSON B ▶ Every family is different.

STARTING POINT

Different types of families

A Look at the families in the pictures. What's different about each type of family?

What's Your Family Like?

The Watsons, Sydney

"My wife and I both work now, and the extra money is great. The only trouble with being a two-income family is we don't spend as much time together."

The Wangs, Vancouver

"We're an extended family now that Grandma has moved in. The big advantage of having her at home is that she can babysit more often."

The Patels, London

"We're a typical nuclear family – it's just my sister, my parents, and me. The only bad thing about living in our house is there's only one bathroom!"

B Pair work What are some more advantages and disadvantages of each type of family in part A? Compare ideas.

"In a nuclear family, you might not see your grandparents every day. That's a disadvantage."

LISTENING & SPEAKING

How are their families different?

A Listen to Paul and Andrea talk about their families. What kind of family did each person grow up in? How have their families changed?

B Listen again. Match the people on the left with the phrases on the right.

- | | |
|--------------------------------|---|
| 1. Andrea b | a. has two daughters. |
| 2. Andrea's husband ____ | b. doesn't know her in-laws very well. |
| 3. Andrea's sister-in-law ____ | c. has three brothers. |
| 4. Paul's sister ____ | d. is looking forward to seeing the family. |
| 5. Paul ____ | e. will be cooking for 12 people. |
| 6. Paul's mother ____ | f. is a law student. |

C Pair work Is your family similar to Paul's or Andrea's? How is it similar? How is it different?

LESSON B ► Every family is different.

1 Different types of families (STARTING POINT)

Learning aim: Discuss families and see noun clauses after be in context (10–15 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Bring in several photos of families – your own family or pictures from magazines and websites. Ask Ss how they think the people are related (to you).
- Ask questions such as: Do you have a big family? Who are the members in your family? Do you live with your family?
- Books open. Explain the task. Ss work in small groups to discuss the differences among the three types of families in the pictures.
- Have groups share their answers with the class. Ask Ss which kind of family is the most common in their culture.

Answers

In a two-income family, both the parents work.

In an extended family, parents, children, and grandparents/aunts/uncles/etc. live in the same home.

A nuclear family has only parents and children. A nuclear family might also be a two-income family, but it cannot be an extended family.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Go over the example. Brainstorm advantages and disadvantages as a class, if necessary.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss the question. Have Ss talk about their answers with the class.

2 How are their families different? (LISTENING & SPEAKING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening for main ideas and details (20–25 minutes)

A [CD 1, Track 4]

- Ask: How many relatives do you have? Where do they live? How often do you see them?
- Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

in-laws indicates a relationship by marriage rather than blood (e.g., a sister-in-law can be a spouse's sister or a brother's wife) under one roof living in the same house passed away died

- Explain the task. Play the recording as Ss listen for the answers. Replay as many times as needed.
- Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Andrea grew up in a small nuclear family. Now that she's married, her family is much larger, although her in-laws don't live with her.

Paul grew up in an extended family. When his grandparents passed away, his family became a nuclear one with just his parents and siblings.

B [CD 1, Track 5]

- Explain the task. Tell Ss to look at the two columns.
- Tell Ss to listen for information that helps them match the people with the phrases. Play the recording once as Ss listen. Play the recording again while Ss write their answers. Replay as many times as needed. Ss listen and check their answers.
- Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. b 2. c 3. f 4. a 5. d 6. e

Audio script: See page T-164.

C Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss the questions. Have a few pairs share their answers with the class.

Optional activity: Write a conversation (20 minutes)

Ss practice conversations about families.

- Put Ss in pairs and have them write their own conversation, similar to the one in the listening activity. Make copies of the audio script and give it to Ss to use as a guide.
- Have pairs perform their conversations for the class.

Audio script: See page T-164.

3 Noun clauses after be (GRAMMAR)

Learning aim: Practice using noun clauses after be (20–25 minutes)

Grammar notes

A noun clause is a group of words that function together as a noun. It can be the subject of a sentence or the object of a verb. The noun clauses in this lesson come after the verb be.

One benefit of being an only child is that you get a lot of attention. (noun clause)

Every noun clause has a subject and a predicate – the part of the sentence that contains the verb and gives information about the subject. In the above example, you is the subject and get a lot of attention is the predicate.

The word that can signal the beginning of a noun clause. It can be omitted in many cases.

- Books closed. Write on the board:
 1. An advantage of having older brothers or sisters is their advice. (noun)
 2. An advantage of having older brothers or sisters is that they can give you advice. (noun clause)
- Explain that the underlined words in 2 are a noun clause: It acts as a noun and has a subject and a verb.
- Books open. Discuss the information in the grammar box and read the example sentences.

A

- Have Ss look at the Starting Point on page 6 again. Explain the task and read the questions aloud. Go over answers with the class.

4 Family matters (DISCUSSION)

Learning aim: Talk about various aspects of family life and practice the lesson grammar (15–20 minutes)

A

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud. Answer any questions about vocabulary.
- Ss work individually to complete the activity. Give Ss time to think of their own answers to the three questions they choose.

B Group work

- Explain the task. Have a short example conversation with two Ss. Be sure to ask follow-up questions.
- Ss work in groups to do the activity. Have a few Ss tell the class about their group's discussion.

Answers

noun clause: (that) there's only one bathroom preposition: about

B

- Explain the task. Read the example sentence.
- Ss work individually to write the sentences. Then Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Ask a few Ss to share their answers with the class.

Answers

1. The nice thing about being the youngest in the family is (that) I get a lot of attention.
2. The trouble with having a younger sister is (that) she always wants to borrow my clothes.
3. The bad part about being away at college is (that) I miss my family.
4. The worst thing about working at night is (that) I can't have dinner with my family.
5. One bad thing about being the oldest in the family is (that) I always have to babysit.

C

- Explain the task. Read the example sentence. Tell Ss to use their own ideas to complete the sentences.
- Ss work individually to complete the sentences. Then Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Optional activity: Family survey (10–15 minutes)

Ss think of their own survey questions and use noun clauses to discuss the results.

- Ss work in small groups to write a yes/no question about family life. One group member goes around to the other groups to ask the question, while the other members answer the questions of other groups.
- Have Ss return to their groups, discuss the results of their survey, and share them with the class.

3 GRAMMAR

Noun clauses after be

A noun clause is a part of a sentence with a subject and a predicate that functions as a noun. That is optional in noun clauses after be. Also notice the prepositions followed by gerunds in the first part of the sentences.

The only trouble with being a two-income family is (that) we don't spend as much time together.
The big advantage of having Grandma at home is (that) she can babysit more often.

GRAMMAR PLUS see page 107

A Look at the Starting Point on page 6 again. Can you find the noun clause in the last paragraph? Which preposition is used in the first part of the sentence?

B Combine the sentences. Then compare answers with a partner.

1. I'm the youngest in the family. The nice thing is I get a lot of attention.
The nice thing about being the youngest in the family is that I get a lot of attention.
2. I have a younger sister. The trouble is she always wants to borrow my clothes.
3. I'm away at college. The bad part is that I miss my family.
4. I work at night. The worst thing is I can't have dinner with my family.
5. I'm the oldest in the family. One bad thing is that I always have to babysit.

C Complete the sentences with your own ideas. Then compare answers with a partner.

1. An advantage of being a twin is . . .
that you always have someone to hang out with.
2. A problem with being an only child is . . .
3. One benefit of being the oldest is . . .
4. A big disadvantage of having an older sibling is . . .
5. The best thing about having a big family is . . .

4 DISCUSSION

Family matters

A Choose at least three questions you'd like to talk about with your group.

- ☐ What's the best thing about spending time with your family? What's the worst thing?
- ☐ What's one advantage of having a close family?
- ☐ What are some rules that people have to follow in your family?
- ☐ What's a benefit of having strict parents?
- ☐ Are you most likely to confide in a parent, a sibling, or a friend?
- ☐ Do you believe mothers and fathers should do the same chores?
- ☐ What are the advantages and disadvantages of having a two-income family?

B Group work Discuss the questions you chose in part A. Ask follow-up questions and make sure everyone in your group participates.

VOCABULARY

Compound family terms

1. Your great-aunt is ____ a. your father's or mother's grandmother.
2. Your granddaughter is ____ b. your mother's or father's aunt.
3. Your sister-in-law is ____ c. your son's or daughter's daughter.
4. Your great-grandmother is ____ d. your wife's or husband's sister, or your brother's wife.

B Pair work Which of the family members in the box can be combined with a prefix or suffix in the chart? Complete the chart with a partner. What does each term mean?

aunt	daughter	mother	niece	son
brother	father	nephew	sister	uncle

great-	grand-	great-grand-	-in-law
aunt	daughter	mother	sister

"Your great-nephew is your brother's or sister's grandson."

LISTENING

Family reunion

 A Listen to Victor tell a friend about his family reunion. What were they celebrating at the reunion?

 B Listen again. In addition to Victor, who else was at the reunion? Select the people mentioned.

- ☐ 1. his grandfather ☐ 4. his sister-in-law ☐ 7. his mother-in-law
- ☐ 2. his uncle's cousin ☐ 5. his niece ☐ 8. his cousin
- ☐ 3. his brother ☐ 6. his son ☐ 9. friends of the family

5 Compound family terms (VOCABULARY)

Learning aim: Learn and practice using compound family terms (10–15 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Write on the board:
mother, grandmother, great-grandmother
- Ask Ss if they can give the meaning of each word. Underline great-grandmother. Tell Ss that they are going to study compound family terms.
- Books open. Explain the task. Ss work individually to complete the task. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. b 2. c 3. d 4. a

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Go over the example answers. Ss work individually to complete the activity. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

- great-: aunt, nephew, niece, uncle grand-: aunt, daughter, father, mother, nephew, niece, son, uncle great-grand-: daughter, father, mother, son
-in-law: brother, daughter, father, mother, sister, son

Language notes

Great-aunt/great-uncle and grandaunt/granduncle refer to your grandparents' siblings (or your parents' aunts and uncles).

Great-nephew/great-niece and grandnephew/grandniece refer to your siblings' grandchildren (or your nieces' and nephews' children).

Instead of using terms such as uncle-in-law, most English speakers would say my wife's/husband's uncle.

Optional activity: Family tree (20 minutes)

Ss practice vocabulary for family terms.

- Write your extended family tree on the board. Point to each person and say how he or she is related to you.
- Ss work individually to make their own family trees. Have Ss show their family trees to the class and talk about their families.

6 Family reunion (LISTENING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening for main ideas and details (15–20 minutes)

A [CD 1, Track 6]

- Ask: Do you know what a family reunion is? (Answer: an event in which relatives who don't see each other often get together.)
- Explain the task. Read the question aloud to the class.
- Tell Ss to listen for the answer to the question. Play the recording as Ss listen for the answer. Replay as many times as needed. Ss listen and check their answer.
- Go over the answer with the class.

Answer

They were celebrating Victor's grandmother's 80th birthday.

Audio script: See page T-164.

B [CD 1, Track 7]

- Explain the task. Tell Ss to choose the people invited to the reunion.
- Play the recording while Ss choose the people. Replay as many times as needed. Ss listen and check their answers.
- Ss work in pairs to compare answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

The people mentioned are:

- | | |
|-----------------------|--------------------------|
| 2. his uncle's cousin | 5. his niece |
| 3. his brother | 7. his mother-in-law |
| 4. his sister-in-law | 9. friends of the family |

Audio script: See page T-164.

7 A family of friends (READING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in understanding vocabulary in context, reading for specific information, and giving a personal reaction to a reading (25–30 minutes)

A Group work

- Explain the task. Ss work in small groups to discuss the questions. Have groups share their answers with the class.
- Ask: What is a tribe? How is a tribe different from a family? (Answers: The original definition of a tribe is a group composed of many families who live in the same area and share the same language, culture, and history. Traditionally, the members of a family are all related by blood or marriage. Whereas, traditionally, the members of a tribe are not all related to each other. A tribe is usually bigger than a family.)
- Read the title of the article aloud. Ask Ss what they think modern tribe might mean and if they can think of any examples. (Answer: A modern tribe is a supportive group of non-family members. Such tribes usually form around a common interest or skill.)

B

- Explain the task. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

took stock looked at critically or carefully centerpiece the center, or most important part, of something tackle deal with (a problem or situation) matchmaker a person who arranges meetings between two people in hopes that they will marry close-knit having a very close and supportive relationship sheltering protecting cultivating developing (something)

- Have Ss read the article silently to themselves.
- Explain any remaining new vocabulary. Alternatively, have Ss call out vocabulary that is new to them, and have other Ss explain the meaning using the context, if they can.
- Tell Ss to look back in the article to find the answers to the questions and underline or circle the information.
- Ss work individually to answer the questions.
- Ss work in pairs to compare answers. Tell Ss to show each other where they found the answers in the article. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. They take on the responsibilities of family members, like connecting him to the city, being matchmakers, and helping him to find jobs and places to live.
2. A (modern) tribe often grows out of shared interests and experiences. You can choose the people in your tribe.
3. A group of friends becomes a tribe when they begin treating each other as a family.

Language note

Context can give clues to word meaning. Suggest that Ss read the sentence in which the unfamiliar word appears and surrounding sentences to guess the meaning of the word.

C Group work

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud.
- Ss work in small groups to discuss the questions.
- Ask groups to share their ideas with the class. Groups can choose one or two members to report their ideas. Have Ss review their ideas with their group at the end of the task to see if the group agrees with the information they will be presenting.

Optional activity: Role play (10–15 minutes)

Ss role-play an interview with Ethan Watters.

- Ss work in pairs and role-play. Student A is Ethan Watters. Student B is a journalist. Student B interviews Student A about what life with a modern tribe is like (e.g., the advantages and disadvantages, a usual problem, the main benefit, etc.). Student A makes up answers. Then Ss change roles and role-play again.
- Have a few pairs present their role play to the class.

A family of friends

A Group work Do you tend to rely more on friends or family for help and advice? Why? Discuss with your group.

From Circle of Friends to Modern Tribe

Who celebrates birthdays and holidays with you? Who do you call when a crisis hits or when good luck strikes? If your answer is "my friends," you may have a "tribe."

When Ethan Watters took stock of his life a few years ago, the San Francisco writer realized that he was more dependent on friends than family, who lived hundreds of miles away.

"My friends were the centerpiece of my social life," he says. "They had taken on all the responsibilities that family members typically tackle – connecting me to the city, being a matchmaker, and helping me find jobs and places to live."

This circle of friends had become a tribe, which started when a group of artists, writers, and photographers began meeting for dinner every Tuesday night. Before long, they had begun functioning as a family of choice.

Watters grew to believe that non-family members forming close-knit social networks was a growing trend in the United States, and he wrote a book about it called Urban Tribes: Are Friends the New Family?

Modern tribes like Watters's often grow out of a shared interest or experience, but not every group of friends becomes a tribe.

The shift from "circle of friends" to tribe happens when members begin to treat each other like family – offering support without expectation of repayment; sheltering each other from gossip, stress, and attack; and looking out for everyone's overall well-being in life, work, and relationships.

Modern tribes often have a regular meeting place, annual parties, and group trips. Shared rites and rituals create a tribal story. "The members of the group may change," Watters says, "but the story of that group has central elements that remain. It gives the group a history."

Every tribe usually has an individual or core group that tends to its growth and survival. These tribal leaders are the ones who get everyone together on a regular basis and make the phone calls that get members excited about upcoming events.

Like families, tribes have a way of shaping their members: Individuals feel more confident, secure, loved, and stable. Even if your own family is close-knit, you may benefit from cultivating a family-like circle of friends. "The love and support we get from one," Watters says, "does not take away from the love and support we get from another."

Source: "My Tribe," by Erin Peterson, Experience Life

B Read the article and answer the questions. Then compare answers with a partner.

1. In what ways does Watters's circle of friends function as a family?
2. According to the article, what are some differences between a tribe and a family?
3. How does a group of friends become a tribe?

C Group work Discuss these questions. Then share your answers with the class.

1. What are some advantages and disadvantages of relying on friends for family-like support?
2. Do you consider yourself a member of a modern tribe? Why or why not?

MISTAKES AND MYSTERIES

LESSON A ▶ Life lessons

STARTING POINT

Learning the hard way

A Read about these people's problems. What mistake did each person make?

What Did I Get Myself Into?

Three mistakes that led to big messes

I was supposed to be studying for a math test this weekend, but my friends made me go to the beach with them instead. I mean, I didn't have to go with them, but I did. Now the test is in two hours, and I'm totally unprepared. I should have stayed home and studied!

— Alicia, Tepic, Mexico

In high school, I had to wear a uniform, so I didn't have a lot of fashionable clothes. When I started college, I thought I needed to have more, so I wasted a lot of money on trendy outfits. But I really shouldn't have done it. Now I'm broke!

— Kenichi, Osaka, Japan

We weren't supposed to cook in our dorm rooms, but I had a microwave anyway. The cafeteria was right next door, so I really didn't need to have it. Anyway, I got caught making popcorn last week, and the school took the microwave away.

— Melanie, Toronto, Canada

B Pair work What should each person do differently in the future? Compare ideas.

"I don't think Alicia should listen to her friends in the future."

"Yeah, I agree. She shouldn't let them influence her like that."

LISTENING

I'll never do that again!

A Listen to Frank talk about a bad decision he made. What was his decision? Why was it a bad one?

B Listen again. Are these statements true or false? Choose the correct answer.

- Frank and his neighbor were good friends.
- Frank knew he was allergic to cats.
- Frank marked his calendar to remember to feed the cat.
- Frank forgot what time his train was going to leave.
- Frank remembered to feed the cat on Saturday.

2 MISTAKES AND MYSTERIES

LESSON A ▶ Life lessons

In this unit, Ss use past modals and phrasal modals of obligation to talk about life lessons. They also use past modals to talk about strange occurrences and mysteries.

1 Learning the hard way (STARTING POINT)

Learning aim: Discuss people's mistakes and see past modals of obligation in context (10–15 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Write on the board:
Learning the hard way
What did I get myself into?
Discuss their meanings with Ss.
- Tell the class about a mistake you made in the past, similar to the ones described by Alicia, Kenichi, and Melanie.
- Have Ss think of a mistake they made in the past. Have several Ss share their stories with the class.
- Books open. Explain the task.
- Ss work individually to read the stories and answer the question. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Alicia's mistake was going to the beach instead of studying for a math test.

Kenichi thought he needed a lot of trendy clothes when he started college, and now he's broke.

Melanie knew she wasn't supposed to cook in her dorm room, but she used a microwave anyway, and it was taken away from her.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the question aloud. Have one pair read the example conversation to the class.
- Ss work in pairs to do the activity.
- Have partners compare their responses. Ask a few pairs to report their responses to the class.

Optional activity: A funny mistake (15–20 minutes)

Ss work in pairs to write a funny story about a mistake.

- Ss write a brief story about an imaginary mistake they or someone else made.
- Have Ss read their stories to the class. Then have the class vote on the funniest and most imaginative one.

2 I'll never do that again! (LISTENING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening for main ideas and details (15–20 minutes)

A [CD 1, Track 8]

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud to the class.
- Tell Ss to listen for the answers to the questions. Play the recording once as Ss listen. Play the recording again while Ss write their answers. Replay as many times as needed. Ss listen and check their answers.
- Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Frank's bad decision was agreeing to take care of his neighbor's cat. It was a bad decision because he didn't know his neighbor well, he was too busy at work to take care of the cat, and he's allergic to cats.

B [CD 1, Track 9]

- Explain that Ss will listen again, decide if the statements are true or false, and choose the correct answer.
- Read the statements aloud and answer any questions about vocabulary.
- Play the recording and have Ss complete the activity.
- Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

3 Past modals and phrasal modals of obligation (GRAMMAR)

Learning aim: Practice using past modals and phrasal modals of obligation (20–25 minutes)

Grammar notes

Past modals and phrasal modals of obligation differ in the degree of obligation they convey.

Had to describes strong obligation in the past and suggests there was no choice.

Was/Were (not) supposed to suggests an expectation that the action was required or prohibited.

Should have suggests that the action was advisable, but was not done. Should not have suggests that the action was not advisable, but was done.

Needed/Didn't need to suggests that an action was/wasn't necessary, but there was choice about doing it or not.

Didn't have to means that there was no obligation to do the action.

Was/Were supposed to, had to, didn't have to, and needed to are followed by the base form of the verb. Should have is followed by a past participle.

- Books closed. Write on the board:
 1. I was supposed to water my neighbor's plants.
 2. I had to water my neighbor's plants.
 3. I should have watered my neighbor's plants.
 4. I needed to water my neighbor's plants.
 5. I didn't have to water my neighbor's plants.
- Ask Ss to name the modals of obligation. (Answers: was supposed to, had to, should have, needed to, didn't have to) Explain that these modals describe an obligation in the past. For each sentence, ask Ss if the plants were watered. (Answer: The plants were probably watered in sentences 2 and 4.)
- Books open. Discuss the information in the grammar box and read the example sentences.

4 Past experiences (DISCUSSION)

Learning aim: Talk about past mistakes and experiences and practice the lesson grammar (15–20 minutes)

A

- Read the survey questions aloud. Answer any questions about vocabulary.
- Explain the task. Ss work individually to do the activity. Tell Ss to think about specific information for their answers to use in part B.

A

- Have Ss look at the Starting Point on page 10 again. Explain the task. Ss work individually to do the activity. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Kenichi: But I really shouldn't have done it. (It was a bad idea to spend the money, but he did it anyway.)

Melanie: We weren't supposed to cook in our dorm rooms . . . (There was a rule against doing it, but she did it anyway.)

Melanie: . . . , so I really didn't need to have it. (It wasn't necessary for her to have a microwave.)

B

- Explain the task. If necessary, do the first item with the class.
- Ss work individually to choose the correct answers.
- Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. b	2. b	3. b	4. a

C

- Explain the task. Read the example sentence aloud. Tell Ss to use their own ideas to complete the sentences.
- Ss work individually to complete the sentences. Then Ss work in pairs to share their answers. Go over answers with the class.

B Pair work

- Ss work in pairs. Have one pair read the example conversation to the class. Brainstorm possible follow-up questions as a class.
- Ss work in pairs to do the activity. Have Ss tell the class about their discussion.

For more practice discussing this topic, download the Worksheet 2.1 Small confessions from the Teacher Support Site.

3 GRAMMAR

Past modals and phrasal modals of obligation

Should have, was supposed to, had to, and needed to all describe obligations in the past, although they have slightly different uses.

I should have stayed home and studied! (It was a good idea, but I didn't do it.)

I was supposed to be studying this weekend. (It was expected, but I didn't do it.)

I had to wear a uniform. (We were forced to do this.)

I didn't have to go with my friends, but I did. (There was no obligation.)

I thought I needed to have more clothes. (I thought this was necessary.)

GRAMMAR PLUS see page 108

- A Look at the Starting Point on page 10 again. Can you find other examples of past modals and phrasal modals of obligation? What does each one mean?
- B Choose the answer that is true for each sentence. Then compare answers with a partner.
- I shouldn't have invited them.
 - ☐ a. I didn't invite them.
 - ☐ b. I invited them.
 - That was a secret! You weren't supposed to tell anyone!
 - ☐ a. You didn't tell anyone.
 - ☐ b. You told someone.
 - We didn't have to study for the test.
 - ☐ a. We forgot to study.
 - ☐ b. We were prepared for the test.
 - I know Jane didn't like my cooking, but she didn't need to be so rude about it.
 - ☐ a. Jane was rude to me.
 - ☐ b. Jane wasn't rude to me.
- C Complete the sentences with information about yourself. Then compare answers with a partner.
- After I started high school, I had to . . .
study a lot harder.
 - I made someone angry once because I wasn't supposed to . . .
 - I wasted a lot of money once because I thought I needed to . . .
 - When I had the opportunity, I should have . . .

4 DISCUSSION

Past experiences

- A Look at the survey and choose the items that are true for you.

Have you ever . . .

- ☐ enjoyed doing something you weren't supposed to do?
- ☐ not done something you should have done?
- ☐ done something foolish that you didn't need to do?
- ☐ had to follow a rule you didn't like?
- ☐ had to enforce a rule you didn't like?

- B Pair work Discuss your answers. Ask follow-up questions.

"Have you ever enjoyed doing something you weren't supposed to do?"

"Sure. At my old job, I wasn't supposed to take a long lunch, but I took long lunches at the park, anyway. How about you?"

5 VOCABULARY

Recognizing problems

A These verbs are often used to talk about problems. Use the verbs to replace the boldfaced words and phrases in the sentences.

aggravate	a problem avoid cause deal with identify ignore run into solve

1. My friend never does anything about his problems.
My friend always ignores his problems.
2. Maria can look at a broken bicycle and find the problem right away.
3. My sister is never afraid to try to take care of a difficult problem.
4. Dan always makes his problems worse.
5. Ruby always follows the recipe closely to prevent problems when she cooks.
6. Michael always unexpectedly encounters problems when he tries to fix things.
7. Carla is great at completely fixing any kind of problem at work.
8. Al is the kind of student who always makes problems for teachers.

B Pair work Tell your partner about people you know who are similar to the people in the sentences in part A.

"My cousin always ignores her problems. Her car is always making strange noises, but she never does anything about it."

VOCABULARY PLUS see page 131

6 LISTENING

Dealing with problems

A Listen to Ray (R), Felipe (F), and Jennifer (J) talk about a problem that they each had. What did each person finally do about the problem? Write the correct letter.

___ ignored it ___ dealt with it ___ aggravated it

B Listen again. Briefly describe each person's problem.

Ray: _____

Felipe: _____

Jennifer: _____

5 Recognizing problems (VOCABULARY)

Learning aim: Learn and practice using verbs that go with the word problem (10–15 minutes)

A

- Read aloud the verbs used to talk about problems. Have Ss work in pairs to provide definitions for each verb. Go over and correct the definitions.
- Tell Ss to look at the illustration and describe what they see. Elicit responses using the new vocabulary.
- Read the sentences aloud to the class and answer any questions about vocabulary.
- Explain the task. Review the example answer with the class. Ss work individually to complete the activity.
- Make sure Ss understand that they should use the correct form of the verb in each sentence.

6 Dealing with problems (LISTENING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening for details and paraphrasing (15–20 minutes)

A [CD 1, Track 10]

- Explain the task. Read the question and the phrases aloud. Tell Ss to listen for the answers to the question.
- Play the recording once as Ss listen. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

surprise, surprise (used in a humorous way) to say something happened that you should have expected

I figured I thought stomped walked with fast, heavy steps, usually when angry making excuses saying reasons why you can't do something confrontation a situation where you tell someone why you don't like what they are doing or saying

- Play the recording again while Ss write the answers.
- Go over answers with the class.

Answers

ignored it: J

dealt with it: F

aggravated it: R

Audio script: See page T-165.

- Go over answers with the class.

Answers

- | | |
|---------------|--------------|
| 1. ignores | 5. avoid |
| 2. identify | 6. runs into |
| 3. deal with | 7. solving |
| 4. aggravates | 8. causes |

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Have a S read the example answer.
- Ss work in pairs to complete the task. Have a few Ss tell the class about people they know.

B [CD 1, Track 11]

- Explain the task. Remind Ss that they should only write about each person's problem briefly in their own words. Play the recording again. Ss work individually to complete the activity.
- Ss work in pairs to compare answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Ray: He started jogging too soon after he twisted his ankle.

Felipe: His neighbor leaves old cars in the front yard and makes a lot of noise when he's fixing them.

Jennifer: She didn't do the work she was supposed to do on a school project with a friend. Then she avoided her friend.

Audio script: See page T-165.

Optional activity: Advice column (15–20 minutes)

Ss write emails to a personal column, asking for advice about a real or imaginary problem they have had in the recent past.

- Ask Ss to write about a problem they have had recently. Tell them that they can write about a real problem or use their imagination to write about a funny problem or situation.
- Collect the problems. Read them to the class and discuss solutions for each one.
- Alternatively, have Ss exchange problems and write an answer. Then have them read the problem and their answer to the class.

7 Brainstorming (WRITING)

Learning aim: Brainstorm and write a paragraph about dos and don'ts (40–50 minutes)

A Group work

- Tell Ss to read the information in the box at the top of the page. Ask: When do you brainstorm? (Answer: when you want to think of ideas about what to write)
- Books closed. Give Ss a short explanation of brainstorming: When you brainstorm, you write down all the ideas you can think of. It's important not to stop to think about whether or not the idea is a good one. After you've written all the ideas you can think of, you can look at them and decide which ones you can use. You probably won't want to use all the ideas you wrote.
- Write on the board:
Living on a tight budget
Ask Ss what living on a tight budget means. (Answer: not having a lot of money to spend) Ask: If you're living on a tight budget, what are some things you should and shouldn't do to save money?
- Ss work in groups to brainstorm ideas. Have the groups report their ideas to the class. Write the ideas on the board.
- Books open. Read the list of dos and don'ts aloud. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

brand name a product with a well-known name

- Have the groups sort the ideas from the board into dos and don'ts and add them to the lists in the book.

B Group work

- Explain the task. Read the topics aloud. Put Ss into small groups according to the topic they would like to work on.
- Have the groups make lists of dos and don'ts for their topic. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

getting over recovering from

- Write the three topics on the board. For each topic, have Ss call out the ideas they brainstormed. Write their ideas on the board.

C

- Have Ss read the paragraph silently to themselves and then look at the six dos and don'ts listed in part A. Ask if all six ideas are included in the paragraph. (Answer: No. Don't buy brand names is not included.) Tell Ss it is not necessary to include every brainstormed idea in the paragraph.
- Ask Ss to find and circle the words or phrases the writer used to organize the supporting ideas. Have a S tell the class. (Answers: First of all, Second, Third, Finally)
- Explain the writing task. Ss work individually to write their paragraphs. Remind Ss to write a topic sentence and to choose information that supports their topic sentence.

For an alternative way to help Ss write, download the Fresh Idea Collective texts from the Teacher Support Site.

D Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud.
- Ss work in pairs to do the activity. Ask pairs to share their answers with the class.

Brainstorming

Brainstorming means making a list of ideas about a topic. Then you can use this list to come up with a topic sentence and ideas to support it.

- A Group work Brainstorm as many ideas as you can to add to the dos and don'ts for living on a budget.

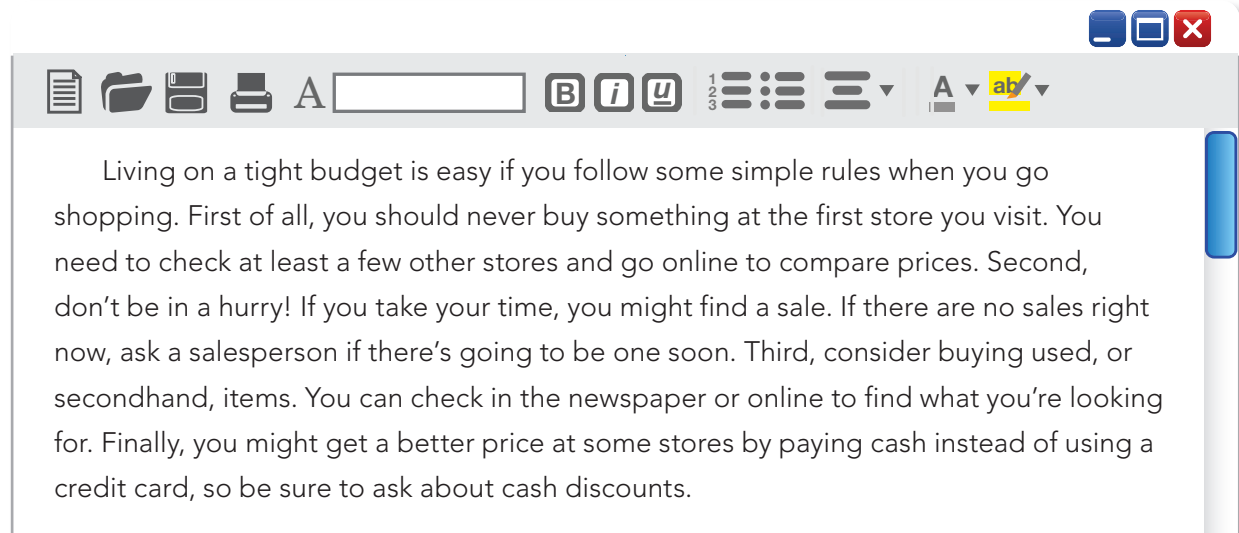

Do	Don't
• compare prices	• buy the first thing you see
• look for sales	• buy brand names
• check ads for used items	• use credit cards

- B Group work Brainstorm dos and don'ts for one of these topics. Write your ideas.

- getting over a bad cold
- staying safe in a big city
- preparing for entrance exams

- C Read this paragraph about living on a tight budget. Then write a topic sentence and a similar paragraph about your topic using your ideas.

Living on a tight budget is easy if you follow some simple rules when you go shopping. First of all, you should never buy something at the first store you visit. You need to check at least a few other stores and go online to compare prices. Second, don't be in a hurry! If you take your time, you might find a sale. If there are no sales right now, ask a salesperson if there's going to be one soon. Third, consider buying used, or secondhand, items. You can check in the newspaper or online to find what you're looking for. Finally, you might get a better price at some stores by paying cash instead of using a credit card, so be sure to ask about cash discounts.

- D Pair work Exchange brainstorming lists and paragraphs with a partner. Then answer the questions.

1. How many brainstorming ideas did your partner use? Do you think he or she chose the best ones?
2. Do you have any questions about your partner's paragraph? Is there anything you disagree with?
3. Can you think of a good title for your partner's paragraph? Explain your choice.

LESSON B ► I can't explain it!

1 STARTING POINT

A mysterious artist

A Read the article and the comments on the right. Whose comments do you agree with?

The Mystery of BANKSY!

Banksy is a British graffiti artist who has become famous around the world for two things: his controversial work and the mystery surrounding him. Usually working in disguise or at night, Banksy has managed to keep his identity secret and both his fans and detractors alert. Any clues to his identity always make the news.

In 2010, Time magazine featured Banksy as one of the 100 most influential people of the year. Readers hoping to finally see his face must have been pretty disappointed when they saw the picture of Banksy – with a paper bag over his head.

In 2011, when a movie by Banksy was nominated for an Oscar, his graffiti appeared on buildings and signs around Los Angeles. (People thought he could have been trying to get publicity for the movie.) At that time, a passerby photographed a man busy taking photos of the graffiti. It may have been Banksy documenting his own work, but nobody is sure.

In 2013, a website claimed Banksy had been arrested and his identity finally revealed. However, the claims were later discovered to be false. It's not clear who was behind the hoax, but one thing was certain: Banksy's secret was still safe.

Reader Comments

CafeLife: People should stop trying to find out who Banksy is. It's a waste of time.

Hye_Jung: The magazine readers shouldn't have expected Banksy to reveal his identity just because of an article.

Paul2001: I'm certain Banksy must have wanted to win that Oscar. But would he have shown his face at the award ceremony?

ArtFan: Banksy does return to photograph his art, so it might have been him taking the pictures. He should be more careful.

Zorro565: Banksy shouldn't have painted on other people's property. That's illegal.

WebWatcher: That website hoax might have been planned by Banksy himself. What a joke.

More >>

B Pair work Compare your reactions to the article.

"The people who worked on his movie might know who Banksy is."

"Well, maybe, but I'm sure his family must know he is the mysterious artist."

LESSON B ► I can't explain it!

1 A mysterious artist (STARTING POINT)

Learning aim: Discuss a mystery and see modals with multiple uses in context (10–15 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Ask Ss if they know of anyone, real or fictional, whose identity is a mystery. Give a few examples, if needed. Write Ss' ideas on the board (for later use with the optional activity on this page). Ask Ss if they know of any events when the identity of these people was almost revealed.
- Books open. Ask Ss if they know anything about Banksy. Explain the task. Ask Ss to read the article silently. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

graffiti drawings or words painted on walls, buildings, etc. in public places, usually unauthorized controversial causing disagreement detractors people who criticize something or someone, often unfairly influential having control over how people think or behave get publicity get attention from a lot of people, especially the media passerby a person who is walking by a particular place documenting recording the details of an event or process in words, images, audio, etc.

hoax an act to deceive a large group of people; a trick

- Ask different Ss to read one of the reader comments aloud. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

waste of time useless activity reveal show something that was hidden

- Give Ss time to think about whose comments they agree with.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Ss work in pairs. Have one pair read the example conversation to the class.
- Have partners discuss their reactions to the article. Ask a few pairs to share their answers with the class.

Optional activity: A mystery revealed (20–25 minutes)

Ss describe and react to an event when someone's mysterious identity was almost revealed.

- Point to the list of people with secret identities written on the board in part A.
- Ss work individually to choose one person from the list and to write a short paragraph about an event, fictional or real, in which the person's identity was almost revealed.
- Ss work in small groups to exchange their paragraphs. Each S in the group reads each paragraph and writes a reaction about the event.
- Have a S from each group read the most interesting paragraph and the reactions to the class.

2 Modals with multiple uses (GRAMMAR)

Learning aim: Practice using modals to express degrees of certainty, obligation, advice, and opinions (20–25 minutes)

Grammar notes

Modals (or modal auxiliaries) express many different meanings or moods.

Modals can express degrees of certainty.

What's that noise?

It must be the phone. (almost 100% sure)

It might / could be the phone. (less than 50% sure)

Modals can also express obligation, advice, or opinions.

You must be on time for the interview. (obligation)

It's very cold. You should wear a hat. (advice)

Everyone should visit Paris once in their life. (opinion)

Modals in the present tense are followed by the base form of the verb.

Modal + (not) + have + past participle is used to talk about the past.

- Books closed. Write on the board:
You keep sneezing. You must have caught a cold.
You don't look well. You could have caught a cold.
You have a cold. You should take some medicine.
You have a cold, but you shouldn't take medicine.
You should just drink hot tea.
- Have Ss identify the modals in each sentence and say what they think each modal expresses.
- Books open. Discuss the information in the grammar box and read the example sentences.

3 What's the explanation? (DISCUSSION)

Learning aim: Talk about strange events and possible explanations for them and practice using the lesson grammar (15–20 minutes)

A

- Have Ss look at the headlines. Ask: Have you heard of these strange events? What do you know about them?
- Explain the task. Give Ss time to read the texts and think of their own explanation for each strange event.

B Group work

- Explain the task. Go over the language in the Useful Expressions box. Ask two Ss to read the example conversation to the class. Check that Ss understand prank means a trick that is meant to be funny.

A

- Have Ss look at the Starting Point on page 14 again. Explain the task and read the questions aloud. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Expressing degrees of certainty:

Readers hoping to finally see his face must have been pretty disappointed . . .

People thought he could have been trying to get publicity for the movie.

It may have been Banksy documenting his own work, . . .

I'm certain Banksy must have wanted to win that Oscar.

. . . so it might have been him taking the pictures.

That website hoax might have been planned . . . (passive)

Expressing obligation:

Banksy shouldn't have painted on other people's property.

Expressing advice or opinions:

People should stop trying to find out who Banksy is.

The magazine readers shouldn't have expected . . .

He should be more careful.

B

- Explain the task. Read the example sentence. Tell Ss to use their own ideas to write reactions to each situation.
- Ss work individually to write reactions. Then Ss share answers in pairs. Go over answers with the class.

Optional activity: Do you believe it? (10–15 minutes)

Ss discuss other strange phenomena.

- Elicit other examples of strange events from Ss and write them on the board.
- Ss work in small groups to discuss which things they think are true, might be true, or must not be true.
- Take a class poll to see which events Ss think are true and not true. Have Ss defend their answers.

2 GRAMMAR

Modals with multiple uses

To express degrees of certainty, use must (not), can't, could (not), might (not), or may (not).

I'm certain Banksy must have wanted to win that Oscar.

People thought he could have been trying to get publicity for the movie.

That website hoax might have been planned by Banksy himself.

To express obligation, advice, or opinions, use should (not). Do not use must (not) have for obligations, advice, or opinions about the past.

Banksy shouldn't have painted on other people's property. (obligation)

He should be more careful. (advice)

The magazine readers shouldn't have expected Banksy to reveal his identity just because of an article. (opinion)

Also notice how these modals are used in the passive and continuous.

GRAMMAR PLUS see page 109

A Look at the Starting Point on page 14 again. What does each modal express? Which one is used in the passive?

B Use modals to write reactions to these situations. Then compare answers with a partner.

1. You and your friend planned to meet, but your friend never arrived.
He might have been busy at work, but he should have called to tell me.
2. You loaned your classmate a lot of money last week, but she still hasn't repaid you.
3. You feel sick after a big fish dinner.
4. You receive flowers from a secret admirer.
5. You haven't received any phone calls or text messages in a week.
6. Your boss promised to promote you, but it still hasn't happened.

3 DISCUSSION

What's the explanation?

A Read these headlines about strange events. How would you explain them?

MYSTERY SOUND IRRITATES VILLAGE

Each night from midnight to 4 A.M., a mysterious humming sound keeps the 300 residents of Woodland, England, awake. There are no factories or large roads nearby, and so far nobody can explain the sound.

Colored Honey Puzzles Farmers

In a French region famous for its honey, bees have been producing it in shades of blue and green. Farmers say the honey is unsellable, and they are investigating the cause.

River Runs Red

Shocked residents watched in disbelief last week as the river running through their city turned a deep red color. Some people rushed to save a bottle of the colored water while they had the chance.

Useful expressions

Disagreeing

I don't know.

I'm not so sure.

Well, maybe, but . . .

I know what you mean, but . . .

B Group work Discuss your explanations. Do you agree?

"Airplanes flying overhead could have caused the noise in that village."

"I'm not so sure. I think someone may have been making the sound on purpose as a prank."

4 VOCABULARY & SPEAKING

Verbs of belief

A Put these verbs of belief in the correct columns. Discuss your answers with a partner.

assume	be positive	bet	figure	have a hunch	suppose be certain	be sure	doubt	guess	know for a fact	suspect

Certain	Not certain
	assume

B Group work Use the verbs of belief to discuss these questions.

- Why do giraffes have long necks?
- Why do some buildings not have a thirteenth floor?
- Is there life on other planets?
- Why doesn't a haircut hurt?
- Why do some people fall in love at first sight?
- What color is an insect's blood?

"Why do giraffes have long necks?"

"I'm not sure, but I assume they have long necks to eat the leaves at the tops of trees."

"Yeah, I bet that's the reason why."

VOCABULARY PLUS see page 131

5 LISTENING & SPEAKING

Solving mysteries

A Listen to Sheila and Adam discussing some myths and mysteries researched by the TV show Solving Mysteries. Choose the ones discovered to be true.

- ☐ 1. Using a cell phone can cause a fire at a gas station.
- ☐ 2. Talking to plants for a short time will help them grow better.
- ☐ 3. A person can break a glass using just his or her voice.
- ☐ 4. Yawning is contagious.

B Listen again. What ideas did Sheila and Adam originally have? Answer the questions.

- How did Sheila think that cell phones could cause fires?

- Why did Adam doubt that talking to plants could help them grow?

- Why did Sheila have trouble believing voices could break a glass?

- Why didn't Adam believe that yawning could be contagious?

C Group work Brainstorm other mysteries you might like to have Solving Mysteries investigate for you. Can anyone in the group explain the mysteries?

4 Verbs of belief (VOCABULARY & SPEAKING)

Learning aim: Learn and practice using verbs of belief to express degrees of certainty (15–20 minutes)

A

- Explain that Ss are going to put each verb or verb phrase into the correct column, based on its degree of certainty.
- Ss work individually to complete the activity. Then Ss work in pairs to share their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Certain: be certain, be positive, be sure, know for a fact

Not certain: assume, bet, doubt, figure, guess, have a hunch, suppose, suspect

- Go around the class and have Ss say a sentence using one of the verbs (e.g., I'm certain that the blue and green honey is caused by pollution. I doubt that the strange hum is an airplane.).

5 Solving mysteries (LISTENING & SPEAKING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening for main ideas and details (15–20 minutes)

A [CD 1, Track 12]

- Explain the task. Tell Ss to look at the four choices. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

beam a line of light or energy coming from a source ignite cause a fire to start investigated studied something in order to get more information about it experimented with tried something to find out more about it spark a very small electrical charge that gives off a small flash of light yawning opening the mouth wide and taking in a deep breath, usually when tired chimpanzee a small ape

- Tell Ss to listen to the conversation and make their choices. Play the recording once as Ss listen. Play the recording again while Ss choose their answers. Replay as many times as needed. Ss listen and check their answers.
- Ss work in pairs to compare answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

The true ones are 3 and 4.

Audio script: See page T-166.

B Group work

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud.
- Have two Ss read the example conversation to the class.
- Ss work in groups to discuss the questions. Have Ss share one or two of their answers with the class.

Optional activity: Why? (20 minutes)

Ss practice vocabulary for expressing beliefs.

- Have Ss write one question on a piece of paper, similar to the ones in part B (e.g., Why do some birds have eyes on the side of their heads and some have them in the front? Why is grass green?).
- Collect the papers and discuss each question with the class.

B [CD 1, Track 13]

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud.
- Play the recording while Ss listen for the answers. Replay as many times as needed. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. She thought the energy a cell phone produces could ignite gasoline.
2. Because he thought plants couldn't understand what we say to them.
3. Because she thought our voices didn't have enough power.
4. Because he thought yawning only expresses one person's own tiredness or boredom. If others weren't tired or bored, they wouldn't yawn.

Audio script: See page T-166.

C Group work

- Explain the task. Ss work in groups to brainstorm other mysteries they would like solved. Ask group members to give explanations to the mysteries, if they can.
- Have groups report the most interesting ideas to the class.

6 Do I know you? (READING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in understanding vocabulary in context, reading for specific information, making inferences, and giving a personal reaction to a reading (25–30 minutes)

A Group work

- Read the questions aloud. Ss work in groups to discuss the questions. (Answer: Amnesia is loss of memory. It can be caused by a brain injury, fatigue, or illness.)
- Ask Ss to guess the meaning of the words newlyweds and bliss. Ask: What do you think the title of the article means? (Answer: Two people who were just married had their happiness ruined by amnesia.)

B

- Explain the task. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

blind date the first date for two people who have never met or seen each other before, often arranged by a friend or relative coma a state of unconsciousness honeymoon a trip or vacation taken by a newly married couple courtship a period of time for two people in a romantic relationship before they get married flooded back returned in large amounts and very quickly

- Have Ss read the article silently to themselves.
- Elicit or explain any remaining new vocabulary. Alternatively, ask Ss to call out vocabulary that is new for them. Ask other Ss to explain the meaning using the context, if they can.

Culture note

Wedding cake is a tradition at weddings in the United States. It is also a tradition for the bride and groom to eat the first piece together. Many brides and grooms feed each other the first bite of cake and, as a joke, some couples even smear the cake on each other's faces.

- Tell Ss to look back at the article to decide if the statements are true or false and choose the correct answer.

- Ss work individually to complete the activity.
- Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Tell Ss to show each other where in the article they found the answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. False 2. False 3. False 4. True

C Group work

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud.
- Ss work in small groups to answer the questions.
- Ask groups to share their ideas with the class. To make sure that reporting to the class goes smoothly, groups can choose one or two members to report their ideas. Have Ss review their ideas with their group at the end of the discussion to see if their group agrees with the information they will be presenting.

Optional activity: Role play (10–15 minutes)

Ss role-play an interview with the people from the reading.

- Ss work in pairs and role-play. Student A is either Amy or Sean McNulty. Student B is a journalist. Student B interviews Student A about how he or she felt during the first year of marriage. Then Ss change roles and role-play again.
- Have a few pairs present their role play to the class.

Do I know you?

A Group work What does amnesia mean? What are some things that might cause amnesia? Discuss with your group.

Amnesia Spoils Newlyweds' Bliss

What if the person you married forgot who you were? For one Texas couple, marriage became a blind date when the groom came down with amnesia days after their wedding.

Amy and Sean McNulty's wedding day started well, but ended with a shock. One of Sean's good friends was in a serious car accident after the wedding and ended up in a coma. Nevertheless, Amy and Sean decided to make their honeymoon trip according to plans.

At the airport, Sean realized he'd left his wallet in their car. He said to Amy, "I'll be right back." But he didn't return.

Amy contacted the police, who found Sean wandering near a motel three days later. He was confused and covered in bug bites. He had no idea who he was or who Amy was. Sean could not remember any personal details from his life, not even his mother.

Amy was now married to a man who viewed her as a stranger. "I wondered, you know, is he going to remember me? How is our relationship going to, you know, form?" said Amy.

This was a big change after a six-year courtship and plenty of shared memories.

When Sean got out of the hospital, Amy had to give him a tour of their home. Although he had a room devoted to music, he couldn't even remember what it meant to hear music.

Psychiatrist Dr. Daniel Brown says Sean's amnesia might have been caused by a series of stressful moments, like his friend's car accident. According to Dr. Brown, Sean's brain didn't connect with his identity anymore. "He doesn't know who Sean McNulty is and has no personal memories or autobiographical memories to account for who he might be."

Dr. Brown explained that amnesia was like forgetting the name of a file you stored on your computer. "You know it's there but you can't find it," said Brown. "His memory is like that. He still has the file."

Fortunately, better times soon arrived. The day before their first anniversary, Sean's memories flooded back in an instant. He soon remembered everything, including their wedding. "I remember shoving cake in her face," said Sean. "It was great."

Sean views the experience as a chance to confirm he picked the right bride. "I got to see how much she loves me," said Sean. "We have a much stronger and closer bond from the experience. I couldn't have found a better woman to spend my life with."

B Read the article. Are these statements true or false? Choose the correct answer.

	True	False
1. Sean's amnesia began after he was in a car accident.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. Sean and Amy didn't know each other well before they got married.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. Sean shoved cake in Amy's face when he remembered who she was.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
4. The amnesia might have been caused by stress.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

C Group work Discuss these questions. Then share your answers with the class.

1. What would you have done if you had been in Amy's position?
2. What would be some of the problems you'd face if you ever forgot everything?

3 EXPLORING NEW CITIES

LESSON A ▶ Popular destinations

1 STARTING POINT

Cities of the world

A Read about these cities. Which city would you most like to visit?

BARCELONA

Barcelona is famous for museums, nightlife, and seafood – and for the architect Antoni Gaudí, who designed several of the city's most distinctive buildings. Most restaurants here stay open until midnight, when many locals are still enjoying dinner.

BEIJING

Beijing has many popular tourist attractions, which include the Summer Palace and the Forbidden City. Tourists who come here for the first time are amazed by the crowds, the busy streets, and the constantly changing skyline.

SEOUL

Seoul is well known for its spicy food and its shopping areas, where you can find everything from antique pottery to custom-made clothing. The Myeong-dong area has dozens of shops that sell the latest fashions.

SYDNEY

The place where most tourists go first in Sydney is the famous Opera House, but this Australian city also has great restaurants and museums. The spring and fall are the seasons when most people come to visit.

B Pair work Tell your partner about a city you know.

"I know Vancouver. It's got the ocean on one side and mountains on the other. It's really beautiful, but it's expensive . . ."

2 LISTENING

Where in the world . . . ?

A Listen to Diana and Matt talk about two cities. Who is talking about Athens and who is talking about Seoul?

B Listen again. Who mentions these topics, Diana (D) or Matt (M)? Write the correct letter.

- | | | |
|--------------------------------|------------------------|-----------------------|
| ___ 1. founded 3,000 years ago | ___ 4. a river | ___ 7. traffic |
| ___ 2. delicious spicy food | ___ 5. a subway system | ___ 8. street vendors |
| ___ 3. beautiful beaches | ___ 6. monuments | ___ 9. nightlife |

3 EXPLORING NEW CITIES

LESSON A ► Popular destinations

In this unit, Ss use defining and non-defining relative clauses and practice the order of modifiers to describe different cities. They also practice connecting contrasting ideas.

1 Cities of the world (STARTING POINT)

Learning aim: Compare different cities and see relative clauses in context (10–15 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Write these cities on the board:
Barcelona Beijing Seoul Sydney
Have Ss work in pairs to list anything they know about each city. Have Ss share their information with the class.
- Books open. Explain the task and have Ss look at the photos of the four cities. Then ask Ss to read the descriptions. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

skyline the outline of a city's buildings against the sky custom-made made for a specific person's size and style

- Ss work in pairs or small groups to discuss the question. Have Ss share their answers with the class.

2 Where in the world . . . ? (LISTENING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening for main ideas and details (15–20 minutes)

A [CD 1, Track 14]

- Explain the task. Play the recording once as Ss listen. Play the recording again, if necessary.
- Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Diana is talking about Seoul.
Matt is talking about Athens.

Audio script: See page T-166.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the example aloud. Ss work in pairs and tell each other what they know about different cities.
- Have Ss share their information with the class.

Optional activity: Class survey (10–15 minutes)

Ss ask each other about which city they would most like to visit.

- Have Ss walk around the class and take turns asking each other: In the whole world, what city would you most like to visit? Ask Ss to give one or two reasons for their choice. Ss write the answers.
- When Ss are finished, tally the results on the board to see which city is the most popular.

B [CD 1, Track 15]

- Explain the task. Read the list of topics. Answer any questions about vocabulary.
- Play the recording as many times as needed for Ss to complete the task.
- Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. M	4. D	7. D
2. D	5. D	8. D
3. M	6. M	9. M

Audio script: See page T-166.

3 Defining and non-defining relative clauses (GRAMMAR)

Learning aim: Practice using defining and non-defining relative clauses (20–25 minutes)

Grammar notes

Defining relative clauses function like adjectives because they add information about a noun or noun phrase. They must always immediately follow the noun they describe. They give essential information about the noun.

People like to go to restaurants that have good food.

Non-defining clauses also describe a noun, but the information they give is not essential to understanding the noun. They are set off by commas.

That restaurant, which has good food, is the most popular one in town.

- Discuss the information in the grammar box and read the example sentences.

A

- Have Ss look at the Starting Point on page 18 again. Explain the task and read the question aloud. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Barcelona: . . . who designed several of the city's . . . (non-defining)

Beijing: . . . who come here for the first time . . . (defining)

Seoul: . . . where you can find everything . . . (non-defining)

Sydney: . . . where most tourists go . . . (defining)

B

- Explain the task. Go over the example with the class. Ss work individually to complete the task.
- Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. ND; . . . , which is the capital of Thailand, . . .
2. ND; . . . , when the festival of San Fermin takes place in this Spanish city.
3. D; . . . that is located in southern Yemen.
4. ND; . . . , which is situated on a high plateau in central Colombia, . . .
5. D; . . . where some of the best cuisine in Canada is found.
6. ND; . . . , which is the biggest city in Brazil, . . .

C

- Ss work individually to complete the task. Have Ss compare their answers with a partner. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. Gaudi designed Barcelona's Park Güell, where you can see fabulous sculptures.
2. Seoul's name comes from the ancient word seorabeol, which means "capital."
3. The center of Beijing is Tiananmen Square, which is the world's largest public square.
4. A great time to visit Seoul is in the fall, when Koreans celebrate the Chuseok festival.
5. Fast-food restaurants, which are already fairly common in China, are increasing in number each year.
6. Australia's first European settlers, who were originally from Great Britain, came to Sydney in the late 1700s.

4 A great place to visit (SPEAKING)

Learning aim: Talk about reasons for visiting a particular city and practice using the lesson grammar (10–15 minutes)

A

- Explain the task. Read the example sentence aloud. Ss work individually to write their sentences.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Pairs take turns naming the city they would like to visit and explaining the reasons for their choice. Encourage Ss to ask follow-up questions.
- Have Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

3 GRAMMAR

Defining and non-defining relative clauses

A defining relative clause defines or gives essential information about a noun.

The Myeong-dong area has dozens of shops that sell the latest fashions.

The spring and fall are the seasons when most people come to visit.

A non-defining relative clause gives optional information about a noun and cannot begin with the pronoun that. Notice the use of commas.

Most restaurants here stay open until midnight, when many locals are still enjoying dinner.

Beijing has many popular tourist attractions, which include the Summer Palace and the Forbidden City.

GRAMMAR PLUS see page 110

A Look at the Starting Point on page 18 again. Can you find more relative clauses?

B Underline the relative clauses in the sentences and add commas where necessary. Write D for a defining and ND for a non-defining relative clause.

- ND 1. Bangkok, which is the capital of Thailand, has many excellent restaurants and markets.
- ___ 2. Over one million people come to Pamplona in July when the festival of San Fermín takes place in this Spanish city.
- ___ 3. Aden is an ancient port city that is located in southern Yemen.
- ___ 4. Bogotá which is situated on a high plateau in central Colombia has frequently changing weather.
- ___ 5. Montreal is a sophisticated city where some of the best cuisine in Canada is found.
- ___ 6. São Paulo which is the biggest city in Brazil is one of the world's most populated cities.

C Join the sentences using non-defining relative clauses. Then compare answers.

- Gaudí designed Barcelona's Park Güell. You can see fabulous sculptures there.
- Seoul's name comes from the ancient word seorabeol. Seorabeol means "capital."
- The center of Beijing is Tiananmen Square. It is the world's largest public square.
- A great time to visit Seoul is in the fall. This is when Koreans celebrate the Chuseok festival.
- Fast-food restaurants are already fairly common in China. They are increasing in number each year.
- Australia's first European settlers came to Sydney in the late 1700s. They were originally from Great Britain.

4 SPEAKING

A great place to visit

A Which of the cities on page 18 would you like to visit? Write three sentences explaining your reasons. Use relative clauses where appropriate.

Barcelona is a city that I'd like to visit because . . .

B Pair work Tell your partner which city you'd like to visit and why.

5 VOCABULARY

What makes a city?

- A Are these features of cities more important to tourists or to residents?
Put the words in the correct columns. Add ideas of your own.

climate cost of living	crime rate cuisine	green spaces hotels	job market landmarks	neighborhoods nightlife	shopping transportation system
Important to tourists		Important to residents		Important to both

- B Pair work Use the features from part A to talk about your city. Give examples and add extra information.

"Salvador is famous all over Brazil for its cuisine. Acarajé is one of the most popular foods, and it's really delicious. It's a deep-fried cake that's made from mashed beans."

VOCABULARY PLUS see page 132

6 LISTENING

What's the city like?

- A Listen to Carlos and Vicki talk about San Francisco. Who seems to like the city better?

- B Listen again. Choose the city features that Carlos and Vicki mention.

- ☐ 1. climate ☐ 3. shopping ☐ 5. hotels ☐ 7. landmarks ☐ 9. cuisine
☐ 2. architecture ☐ 4. customs ☐ 6. job market ☐ 8. nightlife

7 DISCUSSION

Perfect places

- A Answer the questions with your own ideas.

What is...

- a good city for budget travelers? _____
- a good city for a honeymoon? _____
- a place that would make a great family vacation spot? _____
- a city where you'd like to live for a few years? _____
- a good city to go to school in? _____
- a place that you would never want to visit? _____

- B Pair work Discuss your answers.

"I think New York is a good place for budget travelers."

"I'm not sure I agree. New York is incredibly expensive."

"That's true, but there are lots of cheap fast-food restaurants . . ."

Useful expressions

Agreeing with an opinion

I think you're right.
I'm with you.
That's true.
I think so, too.

Disagreeing with an opinion

I'm not sure I agree.
Maybe, but don't you think . . . ?
Really?
I know what you mean, but . . .

- C Group work Join another pair and try to agree on one answer for each question.

5 What makes a city? (VOCABULARY)

Learning aim: Learn and practice using vocabulary to talk about cities (10–15 minutes)

A

- Explain the task. Read the list of features aloud and answer any questions about vocabulary. Ask Ss to give an example or brief explanation of each feature. Elicit other features from Ss and write them on the board.
- Ss work individually to complete the activity. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Important to tourists: hotels, landmarks
Important to residents: cost of living, job market, neighborhoods
Important to both: climate, crime rate, cuisine, green spaces, nightlife, shopping, transportation system

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the example aloud. Ss work in pairs to talk about their city. Have Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

6 What's the city like? (LISTENING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening for main ideas and specific information (15–20 minutes)

A [CD 1, Track 16]

- Explain the task. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

on such short notice with very little or no planning or warning

Victorians Victorian houses; houses with a more ornate, detailed style typical of some areas of San Francisco

- Tell Ss to listen for the answer to the question. Play the recording once as Ss listen only. Play the recording again for Ss to write their answer.
- Go over the answer with the class.

Answer

Vicki

Audio script: See page T-167.

B [CD 1, Track 17]

- Explain the task. Read the features aloud.
- Play the recording while Ss choose the features that are mentioned. Play the recording again, if necessary.
- Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

The features mentioned are:

- | | | |
|-----------------|--------------|------------|
| 1. climate | 7. landmarks | 9. cuisine |
| 2. architecture | 8. nightlife | |

Audio script: See page T-167.

7 Perfect places (DISCUSSION)

Learning aim: Talk about ideal places to visit for different purposes and practice the lesson vocabulary and grammar (15–20 minutes)

A

- Explain the task. Give your own brief answers for each of the questions.
- Ss work individually to answer the questions. Encourage them to think of reasons for each answer.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Point out the Useful Expressions box and review the expressions. Ask one pair of Ss to read the example conversation. Point out the expressions in the conversation.
- Ss work in pairs to do the activity. Help Ss with appropriate responses.

C Group work

- Explain the task. Remind Ss to continue to use the expressions in their discussions.
- Have one S from each group tell the class what the group agreed on.

8 Organizing ideas with a mind map (WRITING)

Learning aim: Organize ideas using a mind map and write a paragraph about a place (40–50 minutes)

A

- Tell Ss to read the information in the box at the top of the page. Ask: What does a mind map help you do? (Answer: organize your brainstorming ideas)
- Explain the task. Remind Ss that the main idea is general and identifies what the paragraph is about, and that the supporting details give more information about the main idea.
- Ss work individually to complete the mind map.
- Have a S volunteer to put his or her mind map on the board. Go over the mind map with the class, making any necessary changes.

Answer

Something for everyone should be the main idea at the center of the mind map.

B

- Ss work individually to underline the ideas from the mind map. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Cuzco has something for everyone.

Today, Cuzco is Peru's tourist capital because of its unique mix of history and culture.

People who are interested in architecture will love the nearby Inca ruins of Machu Picchu and the palace of Inca Roca.

Cuzco has many places to stay, which range from first-class hotels to cozy inns.

There are also many cafés and restaurants where you can eat delicious local dishes or international cuisine.

Also, Cuzco has great markets where you can shop for local arts and crafts.

C

- Write the name of the city where you teach on the board. Have Ss call out features of the city. Write them on the board in the form of a mind map. Ask Ss which idea would make the best topic sentence about the features generated.
- Explain the brainstorming task. Tell Ss that they should choose a place they know well.
- Ss work individually to write their mind maps. Remind Ss that their topic sentence will be a general idea and the other ideas all support the main idea.

- Explain the task. Ss work individually to write their paragraphs, using their ideas from their mind maps.
- Go around the class and help as needed.

E Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud.
- As a class, answer the questions for the example paragraph in part B.
- Ss work in pairs to exchange their paragraphs from part D and take turns answering the questions.
- Help as needed. Encourage Ss to ask and answer follow-up questions about the paragraph, and to ask about anything in the paragraph they don't understand.

Optional activity: Should I go? (20 minutes)

Ss practice vocabulary for features of a city.

- Ss work individually to write another paragraph. Tell them that this time they can use their imagination to write about a city that doesn't exist. They should write about why no one should visit the city. Encourage them to write funny paragraphs.
- Ss work in pairs to exchange papers and take turns asking each other for more information about the city.

Organizing ideas with a mind map

Making a mind map is a good way of organizing your brainstorming ideas. Mind maps help you map out the supporting details about your topic.

- A Look at the phrases in the box about Cuzco, Peru. Choose the main idea and write it in the center of the mind map. Then write the supporting details around it.

a mix of history and culture	great shopping	something for everyone beautiful architecture	nice hotels	wonderful restaurants

- B Read the paragraph about Cuzco. Underline the ideas from the mind map in the paragraph.

Cuzco has something for everyone. It's one of the oldest cities in the Americas, and it was once the capital of the Inca empire. Today, Cuzco is Peru's tourist capital because of its unique mix of history and culture. People who are interested in architecture will love the nearby Inca ruins of Machu Picchu and the palace of Inca Roca. Cuzco has many places to stay, which range from first-class hotels to cozy inns. There are also many cafés and restaurants where you can eat delicious local dishes or international cuisine. Also, Cuzco has great markets where you can shop for local arts and crafts. When you visit Cuzco, you should try to experience all it has to offer.

- C Choose a place you know and make your own mind map. Be sure the main idea is general and the map contains several supporting ideas.
- D Write a paragraph based on the ideas in your mind map.
- E Pair work Exchange paragraphs with a partner. Then answer the questions.
1. Are there enough supporting details? Are there any details you'd like your partner to add?
 2. Does the content of the paragraph reflect the ideas in the mind map?
 3. Would you like to visit the place your partner wrote about? Why or why not?

LESSON B ► My kind of town

1 STARTING POINT City search

A Complete the descriptions with the sentences below. Then compare answers.

This exciting large city with bustling streets is a great place to live. Most evenings you can choose from a movie, a concert, or even a museum. (1) ____ There are lots of jobs here, and the average salary is about $4,000 per month. (2) ____ Our efficient new subway system can get you anywhere you want to go. (3) ____

This is a picturesque little resort town with year-round outdoor activities. There's something to do in all four seasons. But there's not much action here at night. (4) ____ There are many quaint little stores and boutiques in this beautiful town. (5) ____ Apartments are affordable, too. You can get a great place for about $1,000 a month, and average monthly salaries are about $2,500. (6) ____

- a. However, housing costs are high. A nice apartment is about $2,500 per month.
- b. So, even though our streets are safe, the evenings can be dull.
- c. But be careful – in spite of all the late-night activity, the crime rate is high.
- d. On the other hand, it can sometimes be difficult to find a job.
- e. Although it's fast, clean, and cheap, it's pretty crowded during rush hour.
Nevertheless, it's becoming one of the most popular ways for people to get to work.
- f. Despite the attractive location, the prices of houses are surprisingly reasonable.

B Pair work Which place do you think has more to offer – the city or the town?

2 VOCABULARY

Compound terms for towns

A These compound terms describe different types of towns. How would you define each one?

border town	college town	mountain town	resort town	suburban town
coastal town	industrial town	port town	rural town	tourist town

A border town is near a border with another state or country.

B Pair work Which of the terms best describes your hometown? Which best describes the town where you'd like to live someday? Compare ideas.

VOCABULARY PLUS see page 132

LESSON B ► My kind of town

1 City search (STARTING POINT)

Learning aim: Discuss cities and see the lesson grammar in context (10–15 minutes)

A

- Have Ss look at the photos and describe what they see. Ask them to say what they think the differences are between the two places. Ask in which place they would rather live.
- Explain the task. Ss read the two texts and the sentences that follow.
- Ss work individually to complete the descriptions with the sentences. Then Ss compare their answers with a partner.

Answers

1. c 2. a 3. e 4. b 5. f 6. d

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Elicit a few reasons why a person might prefer each place. Write them on the board.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss the question. Have a few pairs share their answers with the class.

2 Compound terms for towns (VOCABULARY)

Learning aim: Learn and practice using compound terms for towns (10–15 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Tell Ss that sometimes an adjective plus a noun, or a noun plus a noun, combine to make one idea. The new idea is called a compound.
- Write on the board:
coast coastal town
college college town
- Ask Ss to define coast. Then ask how the word changes and why. (Answer: The word coast changes from a noun to an adjective. It modifies town.) Tell Ss that this is an example of an adjective-noun compound.
- Point out college and college town. Tell Ss that this is an example of a noun-noun compound.
- Tell Ss that they are going to study compound terms for towns.
- Books open. Explain the task. Ss work individually to think of definitions. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

border town: a town near the border of another state or country coastal town: a town on a country's coast (by the ocean) college town: a town whose main employer is a college, and whose population is mainly college employees and students industrial town: a town that has a lot of heavy industry (e.g., large factories) mountain town: a town in a mountain region port town: a town located by a body of water that has facilities for docking ships resort town: a town that specializes in providing facilities for summer and/or winter sports and hotels for tourists rural town: a town in the countryside, usually surrounded by farms suburban town: a town mainly housing people who commute to a nearby city for work tourist town: a town that attracts visitors for its location, history, entertainment, or seasonal sports opportunities

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss the questions. Have a few pairs share their answers with the class.

3 Order of modifiers (GRAMMAR)

Learning aim: Practice using modifiers in the correct order (15–20 minutes)

Grammar notes

When two or more adjectives modify a noun, they must follow a particular order.

Correct: It's a wonderful, small, old seaside town.

Incorrect: It's a seaside, old, wonderful, small town.

- Books closed. Write on the board:
Sunnyvale is a quiet, small, old California town with good shopping.
- Ask Ss to identify the adjectives in the sentence. (Answer: quiet, small, old, good) Then ask them which adjective describes a quality, a size, and an age.
- Books open. Discuss the information in the grammar box and read the example descriptions.

A

- Have Ss look at the Starting Point on page 22 again. Explain the task and read the question aloud. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

This exciting large city . . .

Our efficient new subway system . . .

This is a picturesque little resort town . . .

There are many quaint little stores . . .

. . . and average monthly salaries . . .

B

- Explain the task. Read the example sentence aloud. Tell Ss to use their own ideas to describe places they know.
- Ss work individually to write sentences. Ss work in pairs to share answers. Go over answers with the class.

4 Connecting contrasting ideas (GRAMMAR)

Learning aim: Practice using words and phrases to connect contrasting ideas (15–20 minutes)

Grammar notes

There are a number of ways to connect contrasting ideas.

Despite and in spite of are used as prepositions. Both are followed by a noun or a gerund.

In spite of my hard work, I didn't do well on the test.

Despite working hard, I didn't do well on the test.

Although and even though have the same meaning. Both are used to begin an adverb clause.

Although she was tired, she studied all night.

However, nevertheless, and on the other hand are transitions. They are used to start a second sentence that contrasts the information in the first sentence by showing an unexpected result. These transitions are followed by a comma.

However and nevertheless express concession to the information in the first sentence.

The city is very expensive. However, I love living here.

On the other hand is used to start a second sentence that expresses clear contrast with the first sentence, such as different facts or opposing opinions.

I love living in the city. On the other hand, my husband would like to move to the country.

- Discuss the information in the grammar box.

A

- Have Ss look at sentences a–f in the Starting Point part A on page 22 again. Explain the task and read the question aloud. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

a. However

d. On the other hand

b. even though

e. Although, Nevertheless

c. in spite of

f. Despite

B

- Explain the task. Read the example sentence. Ask Ss to identify the word that connects contrasting ideas. (Answer: Although)
- Ss work individually to complete the task.

C Pair work

- Explain the task. Have one pair of Ss read the example conversation to the class. Ask Ss for other follow-up questions that could be used in the conversation.
- Ss work in pairs to do the activity. Have several pairs share their conversation with the class.

3 GRAMMAR

Order of modifiers

When two or more modifiers occur in a sentence, they usually follow this order.

	Quality	Size	Age	Type	Noun	Descriptive phrase
this	exciting	large			city	with bustling streets
a	picturesque	little		resort	town	with year-round outdoor activities
a	run-down		old	port	town	that has seen better days

GRAMMAR PLUS see page 111

A Look at the Starting Point on page 22 again. Can you find more sentences that have two or more modifiers?

B Write descriptions of places you know. Then compare answers with a partner.

1. a nearby city or town that you frequently visit
Middleton is a typical suburban town with a good shopping mall.
2. a place you'd like to visit one day
3. a place tourists to your country want to see
4. a place you enjoy visiting, but wouldn't want to live in

4 GRAMMAR

Connecting contrasting ideas

You can use these words and phrases to connect contrasting ideas.

despite although however on the other hand in spite of even though nevertheless

GRAMMAR PLUS see page 111

A Look at the Starting Point on page 22 again. What words and phrases connect the contrasting ideas?

B Choose the words that are true for you. Then complete the sentences.

1. Although I would / wouldn't like to live in this town forever, . . .
Although I would like to live in this town forever, I'll have to move if rents go up.
2. There are not many / a lot of things I like about this town. However, . . .
3. Even though finding an apartment is easy / difficult in this town, . . .
4. Despite the high cost of living in this city, there are a number of / no . . .
5. The spring / summer / fall / winter here is very nice. On the other hand, . . .
6. Most places in this town close early / late. In spite of that, . . .
7. The areas around this town are mainly rural / suburban / urban. Nevertheless, . . .

C Pair work Discuss your answers. Ask and answer follow-up questions.

"Although I'd like to live in this town forever, I'll have to move if rents go up."

"Really? Where would you move?"

"I'm not sure. I hope someplace cheaper, but still near here."

5 LISTENING

Life in Sydney

A Listen to Maria and Ian talk about life in Sydney. Who seems to enjoy living there more?

B Listen again. Which person has these opinions? Choose Maria, Ian, or both.

	Maria	Ian	Both
1. It's easy to get around Sydney.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. The beaches are great.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. The rents are expensive.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

5. The restaurants are all expensive.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
6. Life is better in a smaller town.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

6 DISCUSSION

Quality of life

A Rate these quality-of-life issues as very important (2), important (1), or not important (0). Can you add one more to the list?

Quality of Life

<input type="checkbox"/> affordable housing <input type="checkbox"/> a variety of restaurants <input type="checkbox"/> beautiful parks <input type="checkbox"/> convenient public transportation	<input type="checkbox"/> exciting nightlife <input type="checkbox"/> first-class health care <input type="checkbox"/> historic neighborhoods <input type="checkbox"/> low crime rates	<input type="checkbox"/> pleasant weather <input type="checkbox"/> varied retail shops <input type="checkbox"/> wireless hot spots <input type="checkbox"/> _____
---	--	--

B Pair work Which three issues are the most important to you personally when considering where to live? Explain why.

"I guess affordable housing and exciting nightlife are the most important to me. I'd love to find a place I could afford that was near someplace fun."

"I know what you mean. But for me, I guess low crime rates are probably the most important. I want to live somewhere where I feel safe. I don't mind if it's a little boring."

C Class activity Share your answers with your classmates. Which issues were mentioned most often?

5 Life in Sydney (LISTENING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening for gist and details (15–20 minutes)

A [CD 1, Track 18]

- Explain the task. Read the question aloud to the class. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

harbor a protected part of a body of water next to the land where boats can dock splitting the rent dividing the payment of the rent into two or more parts with roommates suburbs area outside a city that is mostly residential

- Tell Ss to listen for the answer to the question. Play the recording as Ss listen for the answer. Replay as many times as needed. Ss listen and check their answers.
- Go over the answer with the class.

Answer

Maria

Audio script: See page T-168.

B [CD 1, Track 19]

- Explain that Ss are going to listen again and choose who has each of the opinions.
- Read the opinions and answer any questions about vocabulary.
- Play the recording and have Ss complete the activity.
- Ss work in pairs to compare answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

- | | | |
|----------|----------|----------|
| 1. Maria | 3. Ian | 5. Maria |
| 2. Both | 4. Maria | 6. Ian |

Audio script: See page T-168.

To help Ss with listening skills in this exercise, download the Fresh Idea Hands up! from the Teacher Support Site.

6 Quality of life (DISCUSSION)

Learning aim: Talk about quality-of-life issues (15–20 minutes)

A

- Explain the task and read the items on the list. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

first-class health care doctors and hospitals that are of high quality historic neighborhoods parts of a city that have original buildings that are very old and have important historical significance wireless hot spots public places where people can use the Internet on their electronic devices

- If necessary, have Ss brainstorm similar items to add to the list as a class.
- Ss work individually to complete the activity.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Have one pair of Ss read the example conversation to the class. Ask Ss for follow-up questions that could be used in the conversation.
- Ss work in pairs to do the activity.

C Class activity

- Explain the task. Have Ss share their answers from part B with the class. Keep a tally on the board of which issues were mentioned most often.

Optional activity: Debate (10–15 minutes)

Ss have a debate on the most important quality-of-life issue.

- Use the two top items from part C. Divide the class into two groups and have them debate which issue is more important and why.

For more practice discussing this topic, download the Worksheet 3.1 The next Olympic city from the Teacher Support Site.

7 Melbourne versus Sydney (READING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in understanding vocabulary in context, reading for specific information, and giving a personal reaction to a reading (25–30 minutes)

A Pair work

- Books closed. Ask Ss what they think Melbournian and Sydneysider mean (Answer: a person who lives or was born in Melbourne; a person who lives or was born in Sydney). Ask Ss what someone who lives in their town is called, if there is a nickname.
- Books open. Explain the task. Ss work in pairs. Give Ss a few minutes to tell each other what they know about the two cities. Ask a few pairs to tell the class their ideas.
- Have Ss read the article silently to themselves. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

rivalry a long-standing competition between two people, teams, or places stereotypes oversimplified ideas or images of a group of people or places fuel make something increase, grow stronger, or get worse catering giving someone what they want or need civic pride being proud of the place you live

- Have Ss call out any other vocabulary that is new to them. Ask other Ss to explain the meaning using the context, if they can.
- Ask Ss if their ideas about the two cities match the information they read in the article.

B

- Explain the task. Read the statements aloud.
- Ss work individually to complete the task. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. F 2. NG 3. F 4. T

C Group work

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud.
- Ss work in small groups to discuss the questions.
- Ask groups to share their ideas with the class. To make sure that reporting to the class goes smoothly, groups can choose one or two members to report their ideas. Have Ss review their ideas with their group at the end of the discussion to see if their group agrees with the information they will be presenting.

Optional activity: Two cities (15–20 minutes)

Ss write about two places that they know.

- Ss work in pairs or small groups to write a short comparison of two cities or towns that have different characteristics, using the article on page 25 as a guide.
- Have pairs or groups exchange papers. Ask Ss to say which city they would rather visit and why.

For an alternative reading text or extra practice, download the Worksheet 3.2 Building an eco-city from the Teacher Support Site.

Melbourne versus Sydney

A Pair work What do you know about the Australian cities of Melbourne and Sydney? Tell your partner. Then read the article.

RIVALS with a lot IN COMMON

What's the truth behind the rivalry between Melbourne and Sydney?

According to Melbournians, they live in a paradise where ideas are discussed, the arts are celebrated, and life is beautiful. Sydneysiders claim to live in the same kind of place – only better. Nobody can agree on how the rivalry between Sydney and Melbourne started, but it's been going on for as long as anyone can remember.

If you believe the stereotypes that fuel this rivalry, Melbourne is just a quaint coastal city with nothing to do unless you're into indie music festivals and a slow-paced lifestyle, while Sydney is an expensive, unfriendly place with a focus on business and no place to park. If you believe what Melbournians and Sydneysiders say, the cities don't have much in common except that they're both Australian cities whose residents love where they live.

In reality, Sydney is a warm, beautiful city with lots of green, cross-harbor ferries, and world-class beaches, while Melbourne's right-in-the-city beaches are near colorful neighborhoods where there are plenty of things to do for entertainment.

Both Melbourne and Sydney have fabulous restaurants featuring cuisine from just about anywhere in the world, and both offer nightlife possibilities with something for everyone. In addition, both cities feature a year-round schedule of art and music festivals, as well as other cultural events catering to every taste. And their excellent public transportation systems help you get around easily.

It's true that Melbourne tends to have less rain than Sydney and that Sydney's average temperatures are higher, but it's wonderfully pleasant in either place. And while the cost-of-living is a little lower in Melbourne and salaries are higher in Sydney, prices in both really are quite comparable.

So, what's the rivalry all about? It probably comes down to civic pride. Residents of both of these world-class cities are rightly proud of where they live, and though there are differences, the differences are not really all that extreme. If you're not convinced, visit both and see for yourself.

Melbourne

Sydney

B Read the article again. Are these statements true (T), false (F), or is the information not given (NG) in the article? Write the correct letters.

- ___ 1. The rivalry between Sydney and Melbourne is a recent development.
- ___ 2. Life in Sydney, like in Melbourne, can also be slow.
- ___ 3. It's hard to get anywhere in Melbourne or Sydney without a car.
- ___ 4. It costs slightly less to live in Melbourne than it does in Sydney.

C Group work Discuss these questions. Then share your answers with the class.

- 1. Why do you think people in Melbourne and Sydney tend to focus on the differences between the two cities rather than on the similarities?
- 2. Are there any cities in your country that have a rivalry? How are the cities similar and different? Is the rivalry based on stereotypes or on facts?

COMMUNICATION REVIEW

UNITS 1–3

SELF-ASSESSMENT

How well can you do these things? Choose the best answer.

I can . . .	Very well	OK	A little
▶ Express personal likes and dislikes and give relevant explanations (Ex. 1)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
▶ Make and evaluate recommendations to improve a city in a problem-solving discussion (Ex. 2)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
▶ Understand anecdotes and say how the speakers feel about past mistakes (Ex. 3)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
▶ Describe past mistakes in my life (Ex. 3)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
▶ Give a presentation about “must-see” places in my city and explain my choices (Ex. 4)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

Now do the corresponding exercises. Was your assessment correct?

DISCUSSION

Likes and dislikes

A Look at these items. Can you think of a personal example for each one?

1. something you're into / not into doing by yourself
2. the kind of music you feel like listening to when you're in a bad mood
3. something you like doing when you're stressed out
4. a household chore you don't mind / can't stand doing
5. something you avoid doing, if possible

B Pair work Discuss your answers with a partner.

“I'm really into going to art galleries by myself. That way I can spend as much time as I want.”

“Oh, I'm just the opposite. I don't really like going to galleries alone. It's nice to share the experience with someone.”

DISCUSSION

The people's action committee

A Pair work You are members of an action group that has been asked to suggest improvements for your city. Make a list of changes you think should be made.

“We think the city shouldn't allow cars in the downtown area on weekends. It would be nice to be able to walk around without worrying about traffic.”

B Group work Compare your recommendations in groups. Choose the four most interesting recommendations and share them with the class.

Useful expressions

Making recommendations

The city should provide . . .
 The city ought to . . . because . . .
 Wouldn't it be nice if . . . ?
 It would make a lot of sense to . . .

Units 1–3

COMMUNICATION REVIEW

Ss assess how well they have learned the communication skills in Units 1–3.

Self-assessment

Review aim: Ss assess how well they have learned the material in Units 1–3 (10–15 minutes)

- Books closed. List or elicit from Ss the language and topics covered in Units 1–3.

- Books open. Explain the task. Read the list of skills aloud.
- Ss work individually to do the assessment.
- Tell Ss they will review their assessment after doing the activities in this unit.

Likes and dislikes (DISCUSSION)

Review aim: Discuss likes and dislikes using verbs followed by gerunds (15–20 minutes)

A

- Read the items aloud. Ask Ss to give definitions for to be / not be into something, bad mood, stressed out, household chore, and can't stand doing.
- Give Ss time to think of examples for each item.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Have one pair of Ss read the example conversation to the class. Point out that gerunds are being used to talk about the likes and dislikes.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss their answers to part A. Ask a few pairs to share their answers with the class.

The people's action committee (DISCUSSION)

Review aim: Discuss problems in cities and ways to deal with them (20–25 minutes)

A Pair work

- Ask Ss what they think a people's action committee is and what it does. (Answer: It is a group of concerned citizens who look for problems in the city or community and explore ways to make improvements.)
- Explain the task. Read the example aloud. Go over the information in the Useful Expressions box. Have a short sample conversation with another S and use the expressions.
- Ss work in pairs to do the activity. If necessary, have Ss brainstorm the kinds of improvements that are usually made to a typical city first.

B Group work

- Explain the task. Ss work in groups to discuss their suggested changes from part A.
- Have one S from each group report the group's four most interesting recommendations to the class. Write them on the board.

- Have the class vote on which are the most important changes. Then have Ss discuss ways the changes could be implemented.

Optional activity: Class debate (15–20 minutes)

Ss have a debate on improvements to their city.

- Think of two sides of an issue that would affect the city in which the class is being taught (e.g., This city needs more public transportation. / This city needs less public transportation and more pedestrian-only areas and bike routes.).
- Divide the class into two groups and assign each group one side of the issue. Give Ss time to think of all the reasons that their side of the issue is the right one.
- Conduct a class debate. Have Ss from each group take turns explaining their side of the issue.
- At the end of the debate, have Ss say which side of the issue they now agree with.

3 Who's sorry now? (LISTENING & SPEAKING)

Review aim: Develop skills in listening for main ideas and details, and talk about past mistakes with past modals and phrasal modals (20–25 minutes)

A [CD 1, Track 20]

- Explain the task. Tell Ss to look at the list of possible radio show topics.
- Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

practical joke a trick, usually involving a physical action, done to make someone feel foolish harmonica a small musical instrument played by blowing air in and sucking air out of holes set on a horizontal line

I got you an informal way to tell someone that you tricked or deceived them

- Tell Ss to listen for the answer to the question. Play the recording once as Ss listen. Play the recording again while Ss choose the correct answer. Replay as many times as needed. Ss listen and check their answer.
- Go over the answer with the class.

Answer

- b. things that people should or should not have done in the past

Audio script: See page T-168.

4 Welcome to my city! (DISCUSSION)

Review aim: Talk about features of cities using relative clauses (15–20 minutes)

A

- Focus Ss' attention on the photo and the map. Ask if they have ever been to the Libertad Market in Guadalajara, or if they know anything about it. Ask Ss if they think it would be a good place to visit and why.
- Read the question aloud. Ss work individually to make their lists.

B [CD 1, Track 21]

- Explain that Ss will listen again and choose if each statement is true or false.
- Read the statements aloud and answer any questions about vocabulary.
- Play the recording and have Ss complete the activity.
- Ss work in pairs to compare answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

- | | | |
|----------|----------|---------|
| 1. True | 3. False | 5. True |
| 2. False | 4. False | 6. True |

Audio script: See page T-168.

C Pair work

- Explain the task. Have one pair of Ss read the example conversation to the class. Ask Ss to identify the modals in the conversation.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss the questions. Remind them to use modals in their conversation.
- Have Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

B Group work

- Explain the task. Read the example answer aloud.
- Ss work in groups to discuss their lists from part A and facts about their city.
- Once Ss finish discussing their lists, have several Ss tell the class about a place they would now like to visit and explain why.

Have Ss look at their answers to the self-assessment at the beginning of this review unit. As a class, discuss which skills were easy and which were more difficult and why.

3 LISTENING & SPEAKING

Who's sorry now?

A Listen to a radio show called Who's Sorry Now? What is the focus of the show? Choose the correct answer.

- ☐ a. people's roommates in college
- ☐ b. things that people should or should not have done in the past
- ☐ c. family vacations

B Listen again. Are these statements true or false? Choose the correct answer.

1. Mark made the manager think that Luke didn't want the job.
2. Mark said he should feel terrible, but he doesn't.
3. Anna buried her brother's harmonica in the desert.
4. Anna said she should have bought her brother a drum set.
5. Luke didn't tell his roommate that he knew about the call.
6. Luke thinks he should have told his roommate he knew about the call.

True	False

<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

C Pair work Have you ever made a mistake like the ones on the radio show? Would you consider calling a show like Who's Sorry Now? to talk about it?

"Have you ever made a mistake like the ones on the radio show?"

"Well, when I was in college, I used to make up excuses so that I could avoid going to French class. I should have gone. I really wish I could speak French now."

"Would you call up a show like Who's Sorry Now?"

"I don't know. Maybe it would be fun. What about you?"

4 DISCUSSION

Welcome to my city!

A What are three places in your city that people would enjoy visiting? Make a list.

B Group work Tell your group facts about your city and its "must-see" places. Explain why they are worth seeing.

"Guadalajara, which is the second largest city in Mexico, has a lot of great markets. The Libertad Market is fantastic. It's a market every tourist should see because . . ."

4 EARLY BIRDS AND NIGHT OWLS

LESSON A ► It's about time!

1 STARTING POINT

What's your best time of day?

A Read these statements. How would you define the boldfaced words?

Teresa, South Africa

As soon as I get up in the morning, I race off to the gym. After I finish my workout, I head to the office. I always get there before any of my colleagues arrive. I suppose I'm a morning person.

Caio, Brazil

Ever since I was a kid, I've had trouble getting up early, so I guess I'm a late riser. Until I've had my coffee, I'm such a grouch. I'm not very approachable right after I wake up!

Mieko, Japan

I'm a power napper. While I take my lunch break at work, I often sneak a five-minute nap at my desk. After I have a little sleep, I feel great the rest of the day.

Richard, U.S.

I don't get much done until it gets to be late afternoon. Then I usually get a spurt of energy. I can concentrate best after everyone else has gone to bed. I'd say I'm a real night owl.

B Group work Which of the people in part A are you most similar to? Why?

2 DISCUSSION

The time is right.

A Pair work Read this information. Do you agree with the advice given? Why or why not?

When the Mind and Body Are at Their Best

Get on social networking sites between 8:00 and 9:00 A.M., when people tend to post more positive messages.

Energy levels drop between 1:00 and 4:00 P.M., and sleepiness is at its peak around 2:00 P.M. This is a good time for a short nap.

Whenever you need to study for a test, do it in the late morning, when most adults perform their best.

Exercise between 4:00 and 7:00 P.M., when physical strength is at its greatest and risk of injury is at its lowest.

Whenever you have to work with numbers, plan to do it around noon, when thinking power is at its peak.

People can be most creative when they are less focused. Therefore, morning people are most creative in the evening, and night owls are most creative in the morning.

B Pair work Do you prefer to do these things in the morning, the afternoon, the evening, or at night? Why? Compare answers.

1. exercise
2. listen to music
3. study
4. speak English

4 EARLY BIRDS AND NIGHT OWLS

LESSON A ► It's about time!

In this unit, Ss use reduced time clauses to describe daily routines and habits. They also practice using clauses stating reasons and conditions.

1 What's your best time of day? (STARTING POINT)

Learning aim: Compare sleep habits and see the lesson grammar in context (10–15 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Ask Ss questions such as: Do you have more energy in the morning or at night? Do you ever take naps in the afternoon? At what time of day do you do your best work?
- Books open. Have Ss look at the pictures of the four people and ask: What time do you think it is in each picture? How do you think each person feels?
- Explain the task and have Ss read the statements. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

workout an exercise routine colleagues people one works with grouch a person who is often irritable and in a bad mood sneak do something without other people knowing spurt a short but powerful rush of something

- Ss work individually to read the statements and try to define the words in boldface. Have Ss share their answers with the class.

Answers

A morning person is someone who gets up early and feels his or her best in the morning.

A late riser is someone who prefers to sleep in and not get up early.

A power napper is someone who feels better after taking a very short nap.

A night owl is someone who feels best at night and goes to bed very late.

- Point out the title of the unit. Ask Ss which of the four definitions also describes an early bird. (Answer: a morning person)

B Group work

- Explain the task. Ss work in groups to tell each other who they are most similar to and why.
- Have Ss share their information with the class.

2 The time is right. (DISCUSSION)

Learning aim: Talk about when the mind and body are at their best (10–15 minutes)

A Pair work

- Explain the task. Have Ss read the information silently to themselves and underline any advice they agree with. Answer any questions about vocabulary.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss their opinions about the advice. Encourage Ss to give reasons for their opinions and to say if they think any of it has been true for them.
- Have Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the list of activities.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss when they prefer to do each activity.
- Have Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

Optional activity: My day (10–15 minutes)

Ss practice talking about their daily habits.

- Ask Ss to think about their typical daily schedule: when they wake up, when they eat meals, when they study, when they relax, etc.
- Ss work in pairs to take turns telling each other about a typical day for them, and what they would change about their typical schedule if they could.
- Have several Ss share their information with the class.

3 Reduced time clauses (GRAMMAR)

Learning aim: Practice using reduced time clauses (20–25 minutes)

Grammar notes

Adverbial time clauses with (right) after, (right) before, and while can be reduced, but only when the subject of the time clause and the main clause is the same.

When the time clause includes a continuous form of the verb, the subject and the be form of the time clause can be omitted.

While I was walking in the park, I saw a classmate.

While walking in the park, I saw a classmate.

If the verb in the time clause is not in the continuous form, the subject can be omitted and the verb can be changed to the present participle.

After I finished the book, I returned it to the library.

After finishing the book, I returned it to the library.

- Books closed. Write on the board:
After I washed the dishes, I watched TV.
Ask: What is the time clause? (Answer: After I washed the dishes) Underline the time clause. Remind Ss that time clauses show a chronological relationship between two actions in a sentence, answering the question When?
- Write on the board:
After washing the dishes, I watched TV.
Ask Ss what changed in the sentence. (Answer: The subject of the time clause was omitted and the verb changed from simple past to the present participle.) Ask if the meaning of the two sentences is the same or different. (Answer: the same) Explain that this is a reduced time clause.
- Books open. Discuss the information in the grammar box and read the example sentences.

A

- Have Ss look at the Starting Point on page 28 again. Explain the task and read the questions aloud. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Teresa: . . . before any of my colleagues arrive.

Mieko: After I have a little sleep, . . .

Richard: . . . until it gets to be late afternoon.

. . . after everyone else has gone to bed.

The following time clause can be reduced:

After I have a little sleep, I feel great the rest of the day.

After having a little sleep, I feel great the rest of the day.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the clauses aloud to the class. Ask Ss to identify the time expression in each one.
- Read the example aloud. Have Ss complete the sentences individually with information that is true for them.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss their answers.
- For each item, call on a few Ss to read their completed sentences to the class.

4 Energy and sleep (VOCABULARY & SPEAKING)

Learning aim: Learn and practice using phrasal verbs to talk about energy levels and sleep (15–20 minutes)

A

- Ask Ss to give you an example of a phrasal verb (e.g., give up as in give up drinking coffee). Ask what a phrasal verb is. (Answer: a two- or three-word verb that includes a verb and one or two prepositions or adverbs)
- Explain the task. Remind Ss to use the context in the question to help them choose the correct answer. Ss work individually to match the phrasal verbs and definitions. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

- | | | | |
|------|------|------|------|
| 1. d | 3. f | 5. b | 7. g |
| 2. a | 4. e | 6. h | 8. c |

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Have one pair of Ss read question 1 from part A and the example answer to the class. Brainstorm follow-up questions for each question.
- Ss work in pairs to do the activity. Make sure they ask each other follow-up questions. Have Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

3 GRAMMAR

Reduced time clauses

Notice how these clauses show time relationships. If the subject is the same in both clauses of the sentence, time clauses with (right) before, (right) after, and while can be reduced.

After I finish / After finishing my workout, I head to the office.

While I take / While taking my lunch break at work, I often sneak a five-minute nap.

I'm not very approachable right after I wake up / right after waking up!

However, other time clauses cannot usually be reduced.

Ever since I was a kid, I've had trouble getting up early.

As soon as I get up in the morning, I race off to the gym.

Until I've had my coffee, I'm such a grouch.

Whenever you have to work with numbers, plan to do it around noon.

I've been a night person from the moment I started college.

GRAMMAR PLUS see page 112

A Look at the Starting Point on page 28 again. Can you find more time clauses? Which one can be reduced?

B Pair work Complete the sentences with information about yourself. Then discuss your answers with a partner.

1. While working on a really difficult task, . . .
2. I don't feel awake in the morning until . . .
3. Whenever I have trouble sleeping, . . .
4. I can never concentrate after . . .
5. From the moment I wake up in the morning, . . .
6. As soon as I start to feel sleepy in the evening, . . .
7. Ever since I was young, . . .

"While working on a really difficult task, I have to stretch every 30 minutes."

4 VOCABULARY & SPEAKING

Energy and sleep

A Match the phrasal verb in the question with the correct definition.

- | | |
|--|---------------------------------|
| 1. Do you ever burn out from too much work? ____ | a. become calm |
| 2. How do you calm down after an argument? ____ | b. get more energy |
| 3. How do you chill out after a rough day? ____ | c. go to bed |
| 4. Do you ever doze off for a few minutes in public? ____ | d. lose all your energy |
| 5. How do you perk up when you feel sleepy? ____ | e. fall asleep for a short time |
| 6. Do you race off as soon as class is over? ____ | f. take it easy |
| 7. How often do you sleep over at a friend's? ____ | g. stay for the night |
| 8. What time do you turn in on the weekend? ____ | h. go quickly |

B Pair work Discuss the questions in part A. Ask follow-up questions.

"Whenever I feel like I'm going to burn out, I go for a bike ride to relax."

"That sounds like a good idea. Where do you like to ride?"

VOCABULARY PLUS see page 133

5 LISTENING & SPEAKING

Chilling out

A Stress can cause fatigue and a lack of energy. Select the things you do to cope with stress. Can you add other suggestions to the list?

- | | | |
|--|--|---|
| <input type="checkbox"/> call a friend | <input type="checkbox"/> get a massage | <input type="checkbox"/> vent your feelings |
| <input type="checkbox"/> do yoga | <input type="checkbox"/> listen to music | <input type="checkbox"/> _____ |
| <input type="checkbox"/> exercise vigorously | <input type="checkbox"/> take a hot bath | <input type="checkbox"/> _____ |

B Listen to Sean (S), Lisa (L), and Victor (V) talk about stress. What is the main cause of stress for each person? Write the correct letter.

____ too little time ____ too much traffic ____ too many responsibilities

C Listen again. What solution has each person found? Complete the chart.

	Solution
1. Sean
2. Lisa
3. Victor

6 ROLE PLAY

I need some advice.

A Look at the problems below. Have you ever had problems like these? What other problems do people have with sleep and energy levels?

CALLER 1

I've been working day and night on an important project. It's going well, but I'm feeling so worn out. I'm worried about my health.

CALLER 2

I get so nervous before I have to give a presentation that I can't sleep the night before, and then I'm not at my best.

CALLER 3

I always put off studying until the night before a test. I stay up all night studying, but after that, I still don't do very well.

CALLER 4

Whenever my friends call or text me late at night, we chat for hours and hours. The next day, I can't keep my eyes open!

B Pair work Imagine you have one of the problems in part A. Take turns asking for and giving advice.

"I have a real problem. I've been working a lot on this project, and I'm so worn out. I'm worried about my health."

"So, how late do you usually work during the week?"

"I usually stay until 9:00 P.M. or so."

"Have you ever thought of telling someone that you need a little help?"

Useful expressions

Giving advice

Have you ever thought of (going) . . . ?
 You might want to . . .
 It might not be a bad idea to . . .
 The way I see it, you ought to . . .

5 Chilling out (LISTENING & SPEAKING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening for main ideas and paraphrasing (20–25 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Ask Ss if they know what stress is. (Answer: feeling very tense and irritable because of factors such as social, school, or work pressures) Then ask Ss to name things that can cause stress.
- Books open. Explain the task. Ask Ss for other examples of good ways to cope with stress. Ss work individually to complete the activity. Remind Ss to add two more of their own ideas.
- Have Ss share their answers with a partner.

B [CD 1, Track 22]

- Explain the task. Tell Ss to read the causes of stress. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

kid brother younger brother on the go busy doing things downtime time to relax melt away become less and less bumper to bumper when cars are very close to each other and are usually moving very slowly regulars people who go to a particular place over and over again

- Play the recording. Tell Ss to listen for the main cause of stress for each person. Ss write the correct letters. Play the recording again for Ss to check their answers.

- Ss work in pairs to compare answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

too little time: L

too much traffic: V

too many responsibilities: S

Audio script: See page T-169.

C [CD 1, Track 23]

- Explain the task. Tell Ss to look at the chart and determine the information they need to complete it.
- Play the recording. Tell Ss to listen for the solution each person has found. Ss complete the chart. Play the recording as many times as needed. Ss listen and check their answers.
- Ss work in pairs to compare answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. Sean: He calls home and talks to his family.

2. Lisa: Her kids sleep over at her neighbor's place, and she has a quiet dinner with her husband.

3. Victor: He leaves home before the traffic gets too heavy.

Audio script: See page T-169.

6 I need some advice. (ROLE PLAY)

Learning aim: Talk about problems and give advice (15–20 minutes)

A

- Have different Ss read each of the problems. Answer any questions about vocabulary.
- Explain the task. Give Ss time to think about whether they have ever had any of the problems described, and about other problems with sleep and energy levels they have heard of.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the information in the Useful Expressions box. Give examples for completing each sentence.
- Have one pair of Ss read the example conversation to the class. Have the class brainstorm more advice for the example problem. Have them use the expressions for giving advice.
- Ss work in pairs to take turns role-playing asking for and giving advice.
- Have a few pairs share their role play with the class.

For more practice discussing this topic, download the Worksheet 4.1 Catch a wink from the Teacher Support Site.

7 Effective topic sentences (WRITING)

Learning aim: Write a paragraph with an effective topic sentence and supporting details (40–50 minutes)

A

- Tell Ss to read the information in the box at the top of the page. Ask: What makes a topic sentence effective? (Answer: It isn't too general or too specific.)
- Explain the task. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

drag move with very little energy

- Have Ss read the paragraph and choose the correct topic sentence from the list.
- Go over the answer with the class. Ask Ss why the other choices aren't appropriate topic sentences. (Answer: They are too specific and/or are not supported by the ideas in the rest of the paragraph.)

Answer

b. Morning people and night people live very different lives.

B

- Explain the task. Ss read the paragraph. Ask them for the main idea of the paragraph.
- Ss work individually to complete the activity. Then Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Have several Ss share their topic sentence with the class.

Possible answer

Playing sports helps me focus and handle stress.

C

- Explain the writing task. Tell Ss that they should write only one paragraph, and they should focus on just a few details about the topic.
- Remind Ss that the topic sentence should be neither too general nor too specific. All the details should support the topic sentence.
- Ss work individually to write their paragraphs.

D Pair work

- Explain the task. Make sure Ss understand that they shouldn't read their topic sentence and that their partner should try to guess what it is, based on the rest of the paragraph.

Optional activity: Sentence chain (15 minutes)

Ss practice creating topic sentences and supporting sentences for paragraphs that give advice.

- Write several general topics on the board, for example:
the best way to learn a language finding a good job
the best way to prepare for a big test
- Put Ss in a circle. Point to one of the topics on the board and have a S say a supporting sentence (not the topic sentence) that could be in a paragraph about that topic. Write it on the board. Repeat with three or four more Ss, each saying a sentence that supports the topic. Have a S say what a good topic sentence would be.
- Continue with the other topics and different Ss.

Effective topic sentences

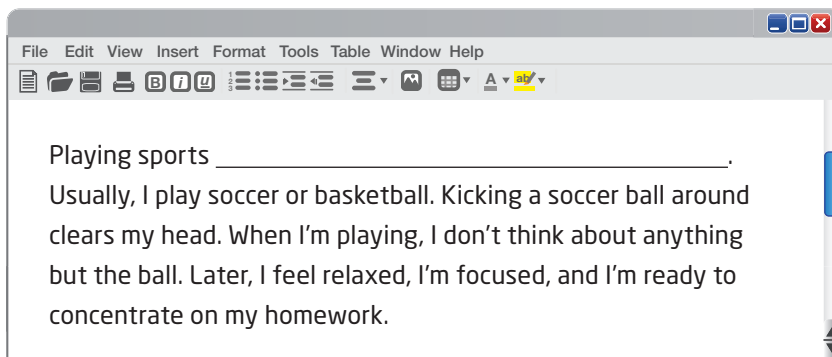

Effective topic sentences are neither too general nor too specific. A topic sentence is supported by the other sentences in the paragraph.

A Read the paragraph. Then choose the best topic sentence from the list.

- Early morning is a bad time of day for most people.
- Morning people and night people live very different lives.
- Working at night is hard for morning people.
- Night people get enough sleep even though they go to bed late.

B Read the paragraph and complete the topic sentence. Then compare answers with a partner.

C Choose one of these topics or your own idea. Then write a paragraph with a topic sentence.

- the best way to stay healthy
- an effective study plan
- earning extra money

D Pair work Take turns reading your paragraphs out loud, but don't read the topic sentence. Can you guess what your partner's topic sentence is?

LESSON B ► Tossing and turning

1 STARTING POINT

A good night's sleep

A Read the statements about sleep habits. Choose the statements that are true for you.

- ☐ I sometimes lie awake at night, even if I'm really tired.
- ☐ I'm lucky I can get by on six hours of sleep, considering that most people need eight.
- ☐ I'm a light sleeper, so any little noise wakes me up unless I'm really tired.
- ☐ I can manage on five hours of sleep, as long as I take a nap during the day.
- ☐ Unless I get a good night's sleep, I can easily fall asleep at school, at work, or even on the bus.
- ☐ I always set two alarm clocks just in case one of them doesn't go off.
- ☐ I only wake up early if I have somewhere to be in the morning.
- ☐ I never have any trouble sleeping.
- ☐ I'm exhausted every morning, even if I slept great all night.

B Pair work Compare your answers. Which statements are true for you?

"I definitely lie awake at night, even if I'm really tired. I can't help it. I replay everything that happened during the day."

"You're not the only one. I do the same thing, especially when I'm feeling stressed."

2 VOCABULARY

Expressions related to sleep

A Put these expressions about sleep in the correct columns. Then compare answers.

be fast asleep	be wide awake	feel drowsy	nod off	take a power nap be sound asleep	drift off	have a sleepless night	sleep like a log	toss and turn

Having trouble sleeping	Falling asleep	Sleeping a short time	Sleeping deeply
			be fast asleep

B Pair work Use the expressions in part A to discuss your sleep habits and suggestions about sleeping better.

"Do you ever take a power nap during the day?"

"Not really. Whenever I try to take a nap, I end up sleeping until the next morning. But let me ask you something. What do you do when you feel drowsy after lunch?"

VOCABULARY PLUS see page 133

LESSON B ► Tossing and turning

1 A good night's sleep (STARTING POINT)

Learning aim: Discuss sleep habits and see clauses stating reasons and conditions in context (10–15 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Ask Ss questions such as: Who regularly gets a good night's sleep? Who usually doesn't sleep well? How many hours a night do you need? What time do you get up? What time do you go to sleep?
- Books open. Explain the task. Read the statements aloud. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

get by manage to live or do what is needed with the least amount of something light sleeper someone who wakes up easily during the night exhausted extremely tired

- Ss work individually to choose the statements that are true for them.

Culture note

In the United States, sleep problems have become more and more common as people work longer hours, have busier lives and more responsibilities, and use more technology late into the night.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Have one pair of Ss read the example conversation to the class.
- Ss work in pairs to do the activity. Have Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

2 Expressions related to sleep (VOCABULARY)

Learning aim: Learn and practice using expressions about sleep (10–15 minutes)

A

- Explain the task. Read the expressions aloud. Ss work individually to complete the chart. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Having trouble sleeping: be wide awake, have a sleepless night, toss and turn

Falling asleep: drift off, feel drowsy, nod off*

Sleeping a short time: take a power nap, nod off*

Sleeping deeply: be fast asleep, be sound asleep, sleep like a log

*Nod off is used to describe falling asleep unintentionally and/or sleeping for a short time.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Have one pair of Ss read the example conversation to the class. Brainstorm questions for each expression.
- Ss work in pairs to do the activity. Make sure they ask each other follow-up questions. Have Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

Optional activity: Sleep advice (20 minutes)

Ss practice vocabulary for sleep.

- Ss work in pairs to write about a sleep problem, such as: I can't sleep because my neighbor is always having parties; I have trouble falling asleep because I can't stop thinking about what I have to do the next day, etc.
- Have pairs exchange papers and give advice about the problem.
- Have pairs tell the class the problem and the advice they gave. Ask the class to give other advice for the problem.

3 Clauses stating reasons and conditions (GRAMMAR)

Learning aim: Practice using clauses stating reasons and conditions (20–25 minutes)

Grammar notes

Considering that introduces an adverb clause of reason.

Even if, as long as, unless, and only if introduce an adverb clause of condition.

(Just) in case also introduces an adverb clause of condition. It is used when an undesirable circumstance or condition needs to be taken into account, but the condition is considered unlikely to happen.

- Books closed. Write on the board:
I'm lucky I can get by on six hours of sleep because most people need eight.
Ask: Look at the underlined clause. What does it do?
(Answer: It gives a reason. It answers the question Why?)
- Write on the board:
I can get by on five hours of sleep if I take a nap during the day.
Ask: What kind of sentence is this? (Answer: conditional)
What does the underlined clause do? (Answer: It describes the condition.)
- Point out because and if in the sentences on the board. Tell Ss that this section teaches more ways to begin clauses that state reasons and conditions.
- Books open. Discuss the information in the grammar box and read the example sentences.

A

- Have Ss look at the Starting Point on page 32 again. Explain the task and read the question aloud. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

... unless I'm really tired.
... even if I slept great all night.

B

- Ask Ss to look at the two columns of clauses. Have them identify the adverb clauses stating reasons and conditions, and the function of the expression that introduces them.
- Explain the task. Ss work individually to match the clauses. Then Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. c 2. d 3. f 4. e 5. b 6. a

- Explain the task. Tell Ss to use their own ideas to complete the sentences. If necessary, ask a few Ss how they would complete sentence 1.
- Ss work individually to write sentences. Then Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

To help Ss with the grammar in this exercise, download the Fresh Idea Language hunters from the Teacher Support Site.

Optional activity: Connections (10–15 minutes)

Ss have additional practice with clauses of reason and condition.

- Ss work in small groups to make their own clauses for other groups to complete. Tell them they should write at least six clauses, using each item from the grammar box once.
- Have groups exchange papers and complete the clauses with their own answers.
- Have Ss read their sentences to the class.

3 GRAMMAR

Clauses stating reasons and conditions

Even if introduces a condition that does not influence the main clause.

I sometimes lie awake at night, even if I'm really tired.

Considering that introduces causes and reasons that explain the main clause.

I'm lucky I can get by on six hours of sleep, considering that most people need eight.

As long as introduces a condition on which the main clause depends.

I can manage on five hours of sleep, as long as I take a nap during the day.

Unless introduces something that must happen in order to avoid a consequence.

Unless I get a good night's sleep, I can easily fall asleep at school, at work, or even on the bus.

(Just) in case introduces an undesirable circumstance that needs to be taken into account.

I always set two alarm clocks (just) in case one of them doesn't go off.

Only if or only . . . if introduces a condition that must be met for the main clause to be true.

I only wake up early if I have somewhere to be in the morning.

I wake up early only if I have somewhere to be in the morning.

GRAMMAR PLUS see page 113

A Look at the Starting Point on page 32 again. Can you find more clauses stating reasons and conditions?

B Match the clauses to make sentences. Then compare answers with a partner.

- | | |
|--|---|
| 1. Drivers can fall asleep on the highway ____ | a. if I've been having trouble sleeping. |
| 2. Power naps at work are a good idea, ____ | b. even if it's a beautiful morning. |
| 3. Some people set two morning alarms ____ | c. unless they rest before long trips. |
| 4. I was surprisingly alert at work, ____ | d. as long as you have your boss's OK. |
| 5. Night owls hate to wake up early, ____ | e. considering that I didn't sleep at all last night. |
| 6. I drink hot milk before bed only ____ | f. in case they sleep through one. |

C Complete the sentences with information about yourself. Then compare answers with a partner.

- Unless I have enough sleep at night, . . .
I can't think very clearly in the morning.
- I usually wake up on time,
as long as . . .
- I fall asleep pretty quickly at night, considering that . . .
- I always have a boring book on my night table just in case . . .
- Even if I'm extremely stressed out,
I never . . .
- I only leave a light on if . . .

4 LISTENING & SPEAKING

I had the wildest dream.

- A Listen to Kate and Sérgio talk about their recurring dreams. Whose dream do you think is scarier?
- B Listen again. What is each person's dream? What do they think the dreams mean? Complete the chart.

	Dream	Meaning
Kate
Sérgio

C Pair work What do you think their dreams mean? Do you ever have similar dreams?

5 DISCUSSION

The meaning of dreams

A Read the information. Match the dreams with their possible meanings.

DREAMS

1. Falling You are falling through space, but you don't hit the ground or hurt yourself. ☐
2. Flying You are flying and enjoying the sensation. ☐
3. Being chased You feel as if someone is chasing you and you're in danger. ☐
4. Being embraced Someone you like approaches you and hugs you. ☐
5. Losing teeth Your teeth all fall out suddenly. ☐
6. Winning You are successful in doing something. ☐
7. Being ashamed You do something embarrassing and feel ashamed. ☐

MEANINGS

- a. You like someone and feel you can trust that person.
- b. You feel very optimistic and proud about how your life is going.
- c. You feel pleased with yourself and superior to other people.
- d. You feel disappointed in yourself because of something you did.
- e. You are worried about something, and this is a warning to be careful.
- f. You feel out of control because someone is threatening you.
- g. You feel insecure, and you are worried about losing something.

B Pair work Read these accounts of unusual dreams. What do you think they mean?

"Suddenly I found myself on stage in a school play and realized that I didn't know my lines. . . ."

"I was in a hot-air balloon above a big park. When I looked down, I was amazed to see hundreds of people on the ground pointing up at me. . . ."

"I was in a strange country and didn't know how I'd gotten there. I asked a man for help, and he held up a sign in a language I'd never seen before. . . ."

Useful expressions

Interpreting meaning

I think that means . . .

It sounds like . . .

The (balloon) probably stands for . . .

It might symbolize . . .

C Group work Finish each of the dreams. Take turns adding sentences.

4 I had the wildest dream. (LISTENING & SPEAKING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening for gist and details, and in paraphrasing (20–25 minutes)

A [CD 1, Track 24]

- Books closed. Ask Ss whether or not they remember their dreams. Then ask them if they think their dreams have meaning, or if they dream about particular things when they are stressed.
- Books open. Have Ss read the title of the activity. Ask Ss what they think a “wild” dream might be. (Answer: In this context, it means unusual.) Explain the task. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

recurring happening over and over again weird strange or unusual

it hits me I realize overwhelmed feeling powerless and unable to cope nightmare a dream that terrifies the dreamer helpless unable to help oneself

- Tell Ss to listen to the recording once for general comprehension about the dreams. Play the recording.
- Have the class vote on whose dream they think is scarier.

Audio script: See page T-169.

B [CD 1, Track 25]

- Explain that Ss will listen again and fill in the chart with a description of each dream and what the people in the recording think it means.
- Play the recording as many times as needed. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Kate: Her dream is that she's back in high school and has to take a test she isn't prepared for. She thinks it means that she is feeling overwhelmed or worried about something.

Sérgio: His dream is that he is in danger, and he can't move or do anything to help himself or someone else. He thinks it means there's something in his life he can't control, but should be able to.

Audio script: See page T-169.

C Pair work

- Explain the task. Ss work in pairs to discuss what they think the two dreams mean and if they ever have similar dreams.
- Have Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

5 The meaning of dreams (DISCUSSION)

Learning aim: Talk about the meaning of dreams (15–20 minutes)

A

- Explain the task and have Ss read the two columns of information.
- Ss work individually to complete the activity. Then Ss work in pairs to compare answers. Go over answers with the class.

- | | | | |
|------|------|------|------|
| 1. e | 3. f | 5. g | 7. d |
| 2. c | 4. a | 6. b | |

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the information in the Useful Expressions box. Give examples for how to complete each sentence.
- Ss work in pairs to do the activity. Have Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

C Group work

- Explain the task. Ss work in groups to do the activity. Have a S from each group tell one of their dreams to the class. Have the class vote on the most interesting dream.

Optional activity: Interview (10–15 minutes)

Ss create a questionnaire about dreams and interview classmates.

- As a class, brainstorm questions for a class poll about dreams (e.g., Do you have a recurring dream? How many dreams do you have a week? Do you usually have good dreams or nightmares?). Write the questions on the board.
- Have Ss go around the class and ask each other the questions and write the answers.
- Have Ss tell the class some of the information they learned.

6 To sleep or not to sleep? (READING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in understanding vocabulary in context, paraphrasing, and giving a personal reaction to a reading (25–30 minutes)

A Group work

- Books closed. Ask: Do you think you get enough sleep? If you could, would you sleep only two or three hours a night and get more accomplished during the rest of the day?
- Books open. Explain the task. Read the questions aloud. Ss work in groups to discuss the questions.
- Have one S from each group share the group's answers with the class.
- Have Ss read the article silently to themselves. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

24/7 happening 24 hours a day, 7 days a week night shift work hours that begin in the evening or late at night pharmaceutical having to do with drugs used in medicine breakthroughs important discoveries that help to solve problems implications possible effects or results

B

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud. Tell Ss they will find the answers to the questions in the article.
- Have Ss re-read the article silently to themselves. Explain any remaining new vocabulary. Alternatively, have Ss call out any other vocabulary that is new to them. Ask other Ss to explain the meaning using the context, if they can.

Answers

1. The article cites a study by the National Sleep Foundation showing that people are sleeping less than they used to sleep. Scientists and pharmaceutical researchers are searching for chemicals and drugs to keep us awake longer. Another group of researchers is studying a gene in a fruit fly.
Answers will vary for what surprised Ss the most and the least.
2. It varies from three to eleven hours a night. Sleep needs vary. Some people need more sleep than others.
3. Laboratory monkeys were able to stay awake for 36 hours without getting tired. They were able to do work accurately and happily.

C Group work

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud.
- Ss work in small groups to answer the questions.
- Ask groups to share their ideas with the class. To make sure that reporting to the class goes smoothly, groups can choose one or two members to report their ideas. Have Ss review their ideas with their own group at the end of the discussion to see if their group agrees with the information they will be presenting.

To sleep or not to sleep?

A Group work How many hours do you think people should sleep? Why? Discuss with your group. Then read the article.

In the days before electricity, people didn't worry much about sleep. They usually went to bed a couple of hours after sunset and woke at sunrise. Even if they stayed up, there wasn't much to do in those days after the sun went down. But then came the electric lightbulb. And now we have the Internet, smartphones, stores that are open 24/7, and longer hours at work. How much can we sleep? How much should we sleep?

Like it or not, many of us are sleeping less on average. In 1910, most Americans slept nine hours a night. That dropped to seven hours by 2001. In 2009, a study by the National Sleep Foundation found that the average American got only 6.7 hours of sleep. The news is even worse for people who work the night shift. They sleep an average of just five hours.

Are we sleeping enough? Not if you believe in the old formula of eight hours of rest, eight hours of work, and eight hours of play. On the other hand, Neil Stanley, a British scientist who studies sleep, believes people's sleep needs vary. Some people need as many as 11 hours, but others need as few as three. How much do you really need? "To find out," he says, "simply sleep until you wake naturally, without the aid of an alarm clock. Feel rested? That's your sleep need."

Meanwhile, other scientists and pharmaceutical researchers are searching for new ways to keep us awake longer and prevent us from nodding off. A group of scientists is studying a gene found in some fruit flies that lets them get by on one-third the usual amount of sleep. Other researchers are developing chemicals that are more powerful than caffeine, the chemical found in coffee and tea. One experimental drug, CX717, kept laboratory monkeys working happily and accurately for 36 hours. Future breakthroughs may allow people to stay wide awake for several days straight.

The implications of this research are huge. On the one hand, this could lead to a world where we work longer and longer hours with less and less sleep. On the other hand, if we needed less sleep, we would have more free time for travel, sports, personal goals, and family.

To sleep or not to sleep – that may soon be the question.

B Read the article again. Then answer the questions.

1. What scientific research is mentioned in the article? What surprised you the most? What surprised you the least?
2. How much sleep does Neil Stanley think a person needs? Why?
3. What effects did the experimental drug mentioned in the article have on laboratory animals?

C Group work Discuss these questions. Then share your answers with the class.

1. Do you think you get enough sleep? What things keep you from getting more?
2. What do you think would happen if scientists found ways to let people stay awake longer? Would people be happier? Explain your answers.

5 COMMUNICATION

LESSON A ► Making conversation

1 STARTING POINT

Types of people you might meet

A Read about six different types of people you sometimes meet on social occasions. Match the descriptions with the pictures.

1 It's a good idea to try out different topics to get a conversation going, and the conversation starter does just that. ☐

2 Talking about your accomplishments too much is often considered rude, but that doesn't stop the braggart. ☐

3 Saying nice things about others is customary for the complimenter. ☐

4 It's rude to ignore your conversation partner, but the wandering mind does it anyway. ☐

5 Talking about topics that interest you is fun. Unfortunately, the bore is interesting to no one else. ☐

6 It's usually considered impolite to interrupt people, but the interrupter is always jumping into the conversation out of turn. ☐

B Pair work Do you know any people like the six types above? What is it like to have a conversation with them?

"My best friend is kind of an interrupter. She's really nice, but I guess she just gets excited about the conversation and wants to jump in. It can be very annoying."

5 COMMUNICATION

LESSON A ► Making conversation

In this unit, Ss use infinitive and gerund phrases to talk about interpersonal communication in social situations. They also practice using reported speech.

1 Types of people you might meet (STARTING POINT)

Learning aim: Compare different types of people you meet on social occasions and see infinitive and gerund phrases in context (10–15 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Explain the term good conversationalist. Ask Ss if they think they are good conversationalists. Write on the board:
What are the qualities of a good conversationalist?
What makes a conversation interesting or boring?
- Ss work in pairs or small groups to discuss the questions. Have several Ss share their ideas with the class.
- On the board, write the name of each type of person on page 36. Ask Ss to predict how each type would act in a conversation.
- Books open. Explain the task and have Ss skim the descriptions. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

get a conversation going begin or continue a conversation accomplishments difficult things that someone has completed successfully customary normal, usual ignore pay no attention to what someone is saying out of turn not at the proper time

- Have Ss read the descriptions more carefully and match them to one of the illustrations. Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. b 2. d 3. e 4. c 5. f 6. a

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the example description aloud. Ss work in pairs to say if they know any people like the ones described in part A. Encourage Ss to give examples and to ask each other follow-up questions.
- Have Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

Optional activity: Who am I? (10–15 minutes)

Ss practice identifying the different types of people you meet in social situations.

- Ss work in groups. Give each group six slips of paper, each slip with one of the different types of people described in part A. Groups put the slips face down on the table.
- Each group member picks up one slip of paper and plays the role of that type of person while the group makes small talk about a topic such as weather, music, TV shows, etc. At the end of the conversation, group members identify which S played which role.

2 Infinitive and gerund phrases (GRAMMAR)

Learning aim: Practice using infinitive and gerund phrases (20–25 minutes)

Grammar notes

In the structure it + be + adjective + infinitive phrase, the subject is it.

It's impolite to ask how much money someone makes.

This kind of sentence can be changed to start with a gerund. In this case, the gerund becomes the subject.
Asking how much money someone makes is impolite.

- Books closed. Write on the board:
It's impolite to talk about yourself too much.
Ask: What else is it impolite to do? Write Ss' answers on the board using the it + be + adjective + infinitive phrase pattern.
- Write on the board:
Talking about yourself too much is impolite.
Ask Ss if the sentences mean the same thing.
(Answer: yes) Then ask what is different about the verb talk. (Answer: It is an infinitive in the first sentence and a gerund in the second.)
- Ask Ss to come to the board and change their sentences so that the verb is in the gerund form.
- Books open. Discuss the information in the grammar box and read the example sentences.

A

- Have Ss look at the Starting Point on page 36 again. Explain the task and read the question aloud. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Gerund phrases:

2: Talking about your accomplishments too much is often considered rude, . . .

5: Talking about topics that interest you is fun.

Sentences changed to It's . . .:

It's often considered rude to talk about your accomplishments too much, . . .

It's fun to talk about topics that interest you.

B

- Explain the task. Go over any vocabulary Ss don't understand.
- Ss work individually to complete the activity. Then Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. Talking about politics at work or school is inappropriate.
2. It's impolite to use certain gestures in some foreign countries.
3. It's often considered rude to ask someone's age.
4. Addressing a professor by his or her first name isn't unusual in the U.S.
5. It's customary in many cultures to hug friends when you greet them.
6. It's inappropriate in some countries to ask strangers if they're married.

3 What's appropriate? (VOCABULARY & SPEAKING)

Learning aim: Learn and practice using vocabulary to talk about social situations (15–20 minutes)

A

- Read the words and phrases aloud to Ss. Make sure they understand what neutral means.
- Explain the task. Have Ss call out any new vocabulary. Ask other Ss to explain the meaning if they can. Help with vocabulary as needed.
- Ss work individually to complete the activity. Go over answers with the class.

B Group work

- Explain the task. Read the sentences aloud. Ss work in groups to discuss each situation.
- Have a S from each group share their discussion with the class. As a class, discuss which customs or behaviors Ss think would be considered unusual in their country.

To help Ss with speaking skills in this exercise, download the Fresh Idea Face up, face down from the Teacher Support Site.

2 GRAMMAR

Infinitive and gerund phrases

It + be + adjective/noun + infinitive phrase is often used to comment on behavior.

These sentences can also be restated with gerund phrases.

It's rude to ignore your conversation partner.

Ignoring your conversation partner is rude.

It's a good idea to try out different topics.

Trying out different topics is a good idea.

The word considered may also follow be in this kind of sentence.

It's considered impolite to interrupt people.

Interrupting people is considered impolite.

These sentences can also include the phrase for + person/pronoun.

It's customary for the complimenter to say nice things about others.

Saying nice things about others is customary for the complimenter.

GRAMMAR PLUS see page 114

A Look at the Starting Point on page 36 again. Can you find more sentences that begin with gerunds? Try to change them into sentences beginning with it's.

B Rewrite the sentences using infinitive or gerund phrases. Then compare answers with a partner.

- It's inappropriate to talk about politics at work or school.
Talking about politics at work or school is inappropriate.
- Using certain gestures is impolite in some foreign countries.
- Asking someone's age is often considered rude.
- It's not unusual in the U.S. to address a professor by his or her first name.
- Hugging friends when you greet them is customary in many cultures.
- Asking strangers if they're married is inappropriate in some countries.

3 VOCABULARY & SPEAKING

What's appropriate?

A Are these words and phrases positive (+), negative (-), or neutral (~)? Write the correct symbol next to each word.

- | | | | |
|---------------------|----------------------|------------------|-----------------|
| ___ 1. a compliment | ___ 4. bad form | ___ 7. offensive | ___ 10. strange |
| ___ 2. an insult | ___ 5. inappropriate | ___ 8. polite | ___ 11. typical |
| ___ 3. appropriate | ___ 6. normal | ___ 9. rude | ___ 12. unusual |

B Group work How do you feel about these things? Discuss these situations using the words and phrases in part A.

- You kiss people on the cheek when you meet them.
- You and your classmates interrupt the teacher.
- You stand very close to people when you talk to them.
- You and your parents talk honestly and openly.
- Your best friend calls you after 11:00 P.M.
- You start a conversation with a stranger on a bus or subway.

"It's unusual for me to kiss people I meet on the cheek."

VOCABULARY PLUS see page 134

4 ROLE PLAY

Making small talk

A Small talk is light conversation, often between people who don't know each other. Select the topics that are appropriate for small talk in your culture.

What's Safe for Small Talk?

- | | | |
|--|--|--------------------------------------|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Children and family | <input type="checkbox"/> Health problems | <input type="checkbox"/> Salaries |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Current affairs | <input type="checkbox"/> Hobbies | <input type="checkbox"/> Sports |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Entertainment | <input type="checkbox"/> Marital status | <input type="checkbox"/> The weather |

B Group work Imagine you are at a party. Start a conversation with one person, keep it going for one minute, and bring it to a close. Then find a new partner and repeat.

"Hi. How's it going?"

"Pretty good. Hey, did you see that soccer game last night?"

"I did! It's amazing to see our team play so well."

"I know! Hey, I should get going, but I'll call you later."

Useful expressions

Conversation openers

How's it going?
Can you believe this weather? It's (awful)!
That's a great (jacket).
Do you know many people here?

Conversation closers

See you later.
Sorry, I've got to run. Talk to you soon.
It was great to meet you.
I should get going. I'll call you later.

5 LISTENING

Party talk

A Listen to three conversations at different parties. Who is speaking in each one?

- | | | |
|---------------------------------|--------------------------|-------------------|
| 1. a. a mother and her son | 2. a. two young students | 3. a. two cooks |
| b. a teacher and her student | b. two older friends | b. two wives |
| c. a woman and her son's friend | c. a father and his son | c. two classmates |

B Listen again. What closing phrase is used to end each conversation?

- | | | |
|----------|----------|----------|
| 1. _____ | 2. _____ | 3. _____ |
|----------|----------|----------|

4 Making small talk (ROLE PLAY)

Learning aim: Practice making small talk (15–20 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Ask Ss if they know what small talk is. Ask them to give examples of topics that are appropriate for small talk. Ask them in what situations they usually make small talk.
- Books open. Explain the task. As a class, have Ss call out examples of questions for each topic.
- Ss work individually to complete the activity. Go over answers with the class.

Culture note

For small talk in the United States, it is usual and appropriate to talk about children and family, current affairs, entertainment, hobbies, sports, and the weather.

However, most people stay away from the topics of politics and money during social occasions. Politics is usually a controversial topic, and money is often considered to be a personal topic.

Also, personal details such as health problems and marital issues are usually not appropriate to talk about with acquaintances. Close friends can talk about these subjects, however.

5 Party talk (LISTENING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening to identify a speaker and specific phrases (15–20 minutes)

A [CD 2, Track 2]

- Explain the task. Tell Ss to look at the lists of possible speakers. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

kids an informal way to say children or young people overseas in the United States, a country that is across an ocean; abroad old-fashioned not modern; typical of a time in the past

Thanksgiving in the United States, a holiday celebrated in November, when families get together, eat a big meal, and give thanks for all the good things in their life lyrics the words to a song

- Tell Ss to listen for who is speaking in each conversation. Play the recording once as Ss listen. Play the recording again while Ss choose the correct answers. Replay as many times as needed. Ss listen and check their answers.
- Go over answers with the class. Ask Ss what parts of the recording indicated who the speaker was.

B Group work

- Explain the task. Read the information in the Useful Expressions box.
- Ask two Ss to read the example conversation to the class. Give Ss a few minutes to think about which topics they are going to use. Tell Ss to try and use a different topic for each conversation.
- Ss work in groups to do the activity. Make sure that each person in the group has a chance to ask and answer questions.

Answers

1. c 2. b 3. b

Audio script: See page T-170.

B [CD 2, Track 3]

- Explain the task. Remind Ss of what a closing phrase is. Ask them for examples.
- Tell Ss to listen for the closing phrase used to end each conversation. Play the recording once as Ss listen. Play the recording again while Ss write their answers. Replay as many times as needed. Ss listen and check their answers.
- Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. It was great to meet you, Pete.
2. Anyway, I should get going. I'll call you later.
3. Talk to you soon.

Audio script: See page T-170.

6 Organizing ideas with an outline (WRITING)

Learning aim: Organize ideas using an outline and write a paragraph about a cultural rule (40–50 minutes)

- Books closed. Remind Ss of how they learned (in Unit 3) to use a mind map to organize their ideas for a paragraph. Tell them they are going to learn another way to organize their ideas for a paragraph.
- Books open. Tell Ss to read the information in the box at the top of the page. Ask Ss to find the outline on the page. Ask: How are the ideas organized? (Answer: under headings) Elicit the order the ideas follow (topic sentence, supporting sentences, conclusion).
- Explain the task. Read the example topic sentence in the outline aloud. Ask Ss to find the topic sentence in the paragraph. Ask Ss what the difference between the two is. (Answer: The sentence in the outline is shorter.) Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

constantly frequently silent mode a setting on a cell phone that shuts off the ring or any other noise the phone makes glaring at looking at someone in an angry manner scolded told someone that what they were doing was inappropriate, often in an angry manner shocked unpleasantly surprised

- Ss read the paragraph and then the outline silently to themselves.
- Have students complete the outline individually. Go over answers with the class.
- Then ask Ss to find the additional information included in the paragraph that isn't in the outline. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

A. is impolite

B. Step away from people; a café

C. use polite behavior when speaking on cell phones

Additional information included in the paragraph:

People dislike being bothered by noise.

Listening to others talking on the phone is irritating.

B Pair work

- Explain the first part of the task. With the class, brainstorm cultural rules and write them on the board. Have Ss work individually to write an outline about a cultural rule.
- Explain the second part of the task. Read the questions aloud. Ss work in pairs to exchange outlines and review them using the questions.

C Pair work

- Explain the writing task. Have Ss work individually to write their paragraphs.
- Read the questions aloud. Ss work in pairs to exchange paragraphs and take turns answering the questions.
- Help as needed. Encourage Ss to ask and answer follow-up questions about the paragraphs, and ask about anything in the paragraph they don't understand.
- Ask pairs to share the cultural rule that they wrote about with the class.

Optional activity: World traveler (10–15 minutes)

Ss categorize cultural rules and write a cultural guide.

- Explain that Ss are going to create a cultural guide for someone who is traveling around the world or around their country.
- As a class, brainstorm some categories for the cultural rules, such as "Eating and Drinking," "Clothing," "Visiting Someone's Home," etc., and write them on the board.
- Ss work in small groups and choose one category to write about. Then each group writes the cultural rules for the chosen category and organizes them as a section of the cultural guide.
- If time allows, encourage Ss to include more cultural rules and/or pictures.

Organizing ideas with an outline

Making an outline is a good way to organize your ideas before you write. An outline is usually written in reduced sentences or in notes and provides a general plan to follow when you write.

- A Read the paragraph about a cultural rule in Japan. Then complete the outline below with information from the paragraph. What additional information is included in the paragraph but not in the outline?

Speaking on a cell phone in some public places in Japan is considered impolite. When receiving or making a cell phone call, most Japanese step away from the people around them. If that's impossible, it's customary to speak softly and use your hand to cover your mouth. Announcements on Japanese trains constantly remind passengers to switch their phones to silent mode. This is because people dislike being bothered by noise. Not everyone follows the rules, but most people do. The other day, people were glaring at me for taking a call in a café, and one person even scolded me. I was pretty shocked, but then I thought about it. Listening to others talking on the phone is irritating. There is a good reason why Japanese people use polite behavior when speaking on cell phones.

A. Topic sentence

Speaking on a cell phone in some public places in Japan is impolite.

B. Supporting sentences

- Recommended behavior:
_____ or speak softly and cover mouth
- General example:
Train announcements remind passengers – put phone on silent
- Personal example:
People glaring for taking a call in _____

C. Concluding sentence

There is a good reason why Japanese people _____.

- B Pair work Write an outline about a cultural rule from your country. Then exchange outlines and answer the questions.

1. Is the outline in a logical order?
2. Does the outline provide enough information? Is there anything else you would include?

- C Pair work Use your outline to write a paragraph about the cultural rule. Then exchange paragraphs and answer the questions.

1. Does the paragraph follow the outline?
2. Is the cultural rule clear? What suggestions do you have to make it clearer?

LESSON B ▶ It's personal.

1 STARTING POINT Eavesdroppers

A Read each person's statement. What do you think they should do about each situation?

I Wish I Hadn't Heard That!

Luis, 23, Mexico City	Rebecca, 25, Vancouver	Pam, 18, Portland
“On the bus to work, I heard my boss's voice behind me. I think he was talking to the office manager on his cell phone. He was telling her that it would be a bad day at work. He explained that they were going to lay off my entire department!”	“I overheard my roommate and her friend gossiping about me when I got home. I asked them what they were saying, but they claimed they hadn't been talking about me. I knew that wasn't true. It really hurt my feelings.”	“Last week, I overheard my little brother on his cell phone. He was warning his friend not to say anything. So of course I listened. He said he was getting a terrible grade in math this year! And he said it was a big secret, too. In fact, my parents still don't know the truth.”

B Group work Have you ever heard someone talking about you? What did you do?

2 DISCUSSION Who can you confide in?

A Read the information in the chart. Would you rank each person in the same way?

Who do you tell first?

We asked a group of young adults to rate each person in the chart according to when they would tell that person different types of personal news (1 = tell first, 4 = tell last). This is what they said.

Who would you tell . . .	Family member	Spouse	Close friend	Colleague good news?	2	1	3	4
bad/tragic news?	1	2	3	4
gossip?	4	3	2	1
personal information?	3	2	1	4

Source: Interviews with people between the ages of 22 and 35

B Pair work Why would you tell something to one person and not to another? Discuss your reasons.

“I would usually talk about a personal problem with my close friends rather than my colleagues because my friends already know most of my secrets.”

LESSON B ► It's personal.

1 Eavesdroppers (STARTING POINT)

Learning aim: Discuss overheard conversations and see reported speech in context (10–15 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Ask Ss what eavesdrop means. (Answer: to listen to someone else's conversation)
- Books open. Explain the task. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

lay off let employees go from their jobs, usually for reasons unrelated to their performance overheard unintentionally heard what someone said even though the person was not talking directly to you gossiping talking about someone else's personal life hurt (someone's) feelings upset or offend someone

- Ss read the three statements silently to themselves.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss the question. Have some Ss share their answers with the class.

B Group work

- Explain the task. Read the questions. Ss work in groups to discuss the questions.
- Have one S from each group report on the group's discussion.

2 Who can you confide in? (DISCUSSION)

Learning aim: Talk about and compare who you confide in (15–20 minutes)

A

- Books closed. On the board, write the categories of news listed in the chart: good news, bad/tragic news, gossip, personal information. Ask Ss to give an example of each.
- Ask Ss what confide in means. (Answer: to tell personal news or problems with an expectation that it will not be repeated) Ask them who they confide in.
- Give Ss time to think about who they usually confide in. Ask them to consider whether they would share very good news and tragic news with the same person or a different person.
- Books open. Explain the task. Have Ss scan the information in the chart and compare their own answers to the questions.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Ask a S to read the example statement aloud. Encourage Ss to ask follow-up questions and give examples to support their answers.
- Ss work in pairs to do the activity. Have Ss tell the class about their partner's answers.

Optional activity: Discussion (20 minutes)

Ss discuss secrets kept by men and women.

- If possible, put Ss in single-gender pairs. Have them discuss different types of secrets kept by men and by women (e.g., health, work, family, etc.). Have Ss make a list for each gender.
- Have pairs share their lists with the class. Write their ideas on the board. Have a class discussion to see how many items from the men's and women's lists are the same. Find out if the class agrees with the items on each list.

3 Reported speech (GRAMMAR)

Learning aim: Practice using reported speech
(20–25 minutes)

Grammar notes

When a statement in direct speech changes to reported (or indirect) speech, the statement becomes a noun clause. The tense in the noun clause usually changes to a tense one step in the past.

John said, "I do a lot of homework."

John said (that) he did a lot of homework.

John said, "I did a lot of homework last week."

John said (that) he had done a lot of homework last week.

However, there are exceptions to this rule. There is no tense change in general truths (e.g., The earth is round.) or when a very recent statement is being reported (e.g., He just said he has a lot of homework.).

That is optional after the verbs said, told, etc.

When questions are used in reported speech, question word order becomes statement word order. In yes/no questions, the auxiliaries do/does/did are normally replaced with if.

I asked, "Does John see a lot of movies?"

I asked if John saw a lot of movies.

With commands, the verb in the imperative becomes an infinitive. Don't + base form of verb becomes not + infinitive.

Emma said, "Talk to your friend."

Emma told her to talk to her friend.

- Books closed. Explain to Ss that reported speech is the language used to tell others what someone else said. Write on the board:

1. John said, "I'm not hungry."

2. John said that he wasn't hungry.

Ask Ss to identify what is different about the verb be in the two sentences. (Answer: In sentence 1, the verb be is in the present tense. In sentence 2, the verb be is in the past tense.)

- Books open. Discuss the information in the grammar box and read the example sentences.

A

- Have Ss look at the Starting Point on page 40 again. Explain the task and read the question aloud. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

He was telling her that it would be a bad day at work.

He explained that they were going to lay off my entire department!

B

- Explain the task. Ss work individually to complete the activity.
- Then Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. She told me (that) she wasn't surprised at all.
2. He asked me if I had heard the news.
3. She said (that) there was / is a bank down the street.
4. She asked me why I wasn't talking.
5. He told me to give him a call.
6. She told me (that) they were getting married.
7. The children asked me if the movie was / had been scary.
8. They told me (that) they hadn't taken / didn't take the 8:00 train.

C Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the conversation with a S.
- Ss work in pairs to take turns changing each line to reported speech. Tell Ss that different reporting verbs are possible. Go over answers with the class.

Possible answers

Ryan told Lara (that) he'd heard some interesting news. He asked Lara if she knew Amanda Jenkins.

Lara said (that) she knew what she/Amanda looked like, but she had never met her.

Ryan said (that) she/Amanda was going to study for a year in Australia.

Lara asked how she/Amanda could afford that.

Ryan said (that) she/Amanda had gotten a scholarship that would take care of all her expenses.

Lara said (that) she thought that was great. She asked Ryan when she/Amanda was leaving.

Ryan said (that) he didn't know.

4 Tell me what he said. (VOCABULARY & SPEAKING)

Learning aim: Learn and practice using expressions to report speech (15–20 minutes)

A

- Explain the task and read the expressions aloud. Go over any vocabulary Ss don't understand.
- Ss work individually to complete the activity. Go over answers with the class. Have Ss call out examples of how each sentence could be completed.

Answers

Statements:

He claimed that, He promised to, He explained that, He told me that Commands or advice:

He asked me to, He warned me not to, He told me to, He advised me to, He encouraged me to Questions:

He wanted to know, He asked me, He wondered

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the topics and the example aloud.
- Ss work in pairs to do the activity. Have several Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

Optional activity: In the news (10–15 minutes)

Ss tell stories using reported speech.

- Ss work in pairs to take turns telling each other about one of the stories from part A using reported speech. Let Ss listen to the recording a couple more times and take notes, if necessary.

6 Mobile mania (READING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in understanding vocabulary in context, reading for main ideas, and giving a personal reaction to a reading (25–30 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Ask: How often do you use your cell phone? Do you get annoyed when other people talk on their cell phones in public places?
- Books open. Explain the task. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

generic usual, not special distracted not focused, not paying attention to what one should be corporate big shot a very important person in a company offensive rude hearing impairment damage to the ear that makes it difficult to hear amplifies makes louder pompous self-important exasperating very annoying trivial unimportant

trademark a special characteristic of a particular kind of person or thing

- Have Ss read the article silently to themselves. Explain any remaining new vocabulary. Alternatively, have Ss call out any other new vocabulary. Ask other Ss to explain the meaning using the context, if they can.

CELL PHONE PERSONALITY TYPES

In her travels, "Telephone Doctor" Nancy Friedman has noticed a variety of "cell phone personalities." Which of these types have you seen around?

1. The Shouter

Talking three times louder than necessary is characteristic of this offensive cell phone user. He seems to think everyone has a hearing impairment. Doesn't he know the phone already amplifies his voice?

2. _____

This pompous fellow makes all his business calls in public places while standing in the middle of a crowded room. He conducts big business deals right there in front of us, but we're not impressed.

3. _____

This exasperating person makes trivial phone calls, one after another, after another. On airplanes, you'll overhear her saying ridiculous things like, "Hi, we haven't left yet," or "Hi, we just landed. OK, see you in a minute."

4. _____

Making and taking calls anytime, anywhere is the trademark of this infuriating person. She'll chat in restaurants, at movie theaters, and even at funerals. When her cell phone rings, she looks at you and says insincerely, "Oh, sorry about that."

5. _____

Drive or use the phone – don't do both at the same time. This can be dangerous. It's really scary to see a delivery truck in the rearview mirror with a distracted driver on a phone behind the wheel.

6. _____

These are the people who haven't bothered to personalize their ring tone. One phone rings and 10 people check to see if it's theirs. Hang on, I think that's my phone!

WHAT'S THE REAL STORY?

LESSON A ► That's some story!

1 STARTING POINT

Weird news

A Read the news articles. Match each headline with the correct article.

a

CELL PHONE OPENS CAR DOOR

b

SEA LION Paints for Her Supper

c

SURFING DOG Upstages Rivals

The police have been called to a surfing contest in Brazil because a dog has been stealing all the attention. The dog became the main attraction at Praia da Tiririca in Bahia during the Surf World Championship. The dog and his owner surfed together on the same surfboard between the competitions. Police said, "They've called us to remove the pair because they've been getting more attention than the actual contest." The dog's owner said, "I've always surfed with my dog. He's always loved it. Sometimes I think he's a better surfer than I am!"

Maggie, a California sea lion at the Pittsburgh Zoo, has been amazing visitors by painting for her supper. She has created dozens of paintings. Her trainer said, "I started teaching her to paint last year, and she caught on quickly." Maggie spent three months learning to hold the paintbrush in her mouth and to touch it to the canvas. Adding the paint was the next step. Maggie earned a fish for every successful brushstroke. The trainer has saved all the paintings. She'll probably sell them to raise money to help animals.

A shopper in Michigan saved time and money after her husband helped her unlock her car from 10 miles away. After a day at the mall, the woman went out to her car, but couldn't find her keys. When she saw them still in the ignition, she called home and said, "I've locked my keys in the car. I've never done that before. I don't know what to do." Following her husband's instructions, she held her cell phone about a foot from the car door, while her husband held the spare car remote near his phone and pressed the unlock button. The door unlocked. She said, "I've totally stopped worrying about my keys now."

B Pair work One of the news stories isn't true. Which one do you think it is? (For the answer, see page 142.)

"I think story number one has got to be false. I just don't believe that a dog could surf. Story number two is also pretty amazing, but I have a feeling it's true."

6 WHAT'S THE REAL STORY?

LESSON A ► That's some story!

In this unit, Ss use adverbs and the simple past, the present perfect, and the present perfect continuous to talk about news events and tell personal stories.

1 Weird news (STARTING POINT)

Learning aim: Talk about news stories and see the simple past, present perfect, and the present perfect continuous in context (10–15 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Ask Ss what a headline is. Write on the board:
Fears Rise with Rising Waters
Cat Calls Hospital; Saves Owner
President Tells Voters: No More Taxes
- Ss work in pairs or small groups to discuss what the headlines mean and think of a news story that goes with each headline. Have several Ss share their ideas with the class.
- Books open. Explain the task and have Ss read the headlines. Ask them to explain sea lion, supper, upstages, and rivals. (Answers: a sea lion is a type of large seal with ears that is often trained to perform tricks; a supper is a meal eaten in the evening; upstage means to be the center of attention by outperforming others; rivals are people or teams in a competition)
- Have Ss skim the articles. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

main attraction the person, thing, or event that everyone wants to see caught on understood, learned canvas a piece of cloth on a frame used for a painting ignition the place where a car key is inserted to start the car spare extra

- Have Ss read the articles and match them to the headlines. Ss work in pairs to compare answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. c. Surfing Dog Upstages Rivals
2. b. Sea Lion Paints for Her Supper
3. a. Cell Phone Opens Car Door

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the example answer aloud. Ss work in pairs to guess which story is false. Have them give reasons for their guesses.
- Have Ss share their answers with the class. Tell them to look at page 142 to find out which story is not true.

Answer

Story 3 is false. The signals from remote controls that lock and unlock many car doors cannot be relayed over the phone.

Optional activity: True or false? (10–15 minutes)

Ss practice talking about news stories.

- Ss work in small groups to think of one unusual but true news story that they know, preferably one that other Ss might not know. Then have them think of an imaginary news story.
- Have each group tell their two stories to the rest of the class. Then have the class vote on which is the true story and which is the made-up story.

2 Present perfect vs. simple past (GRAMMAR)

Learning aim: Practice using the present perfect and the simple past (20–25 minutes)

Grammar notes

The simple past is used to describe an event that happened at a specific time in the past.

The present perfect is used to talk about a recent event in the past without giving a specific time reference.

The present perfect is also used for a repeated past event that could continue into the present.

It is also used for actions or situations that began in the past and have an effect on the present or are still relevant, especially when for or since is used.

- Books closed. Write on the board:

- Officials have announced the World Cup schedule.*
- Officials announced the World Cup schedule yesterday.*

Ask Ss to explain the difference between the two sentences. (Answer: Sentence 1 has no time reference.)

- Books open. Discuss the information in the grammar box and read the example sentences.

A

- Have Ss look at the first story on page 44 again. Explain the task and read the questions aloud. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Present perfect sentences:

The police have been called . . . (no specific time given)

They've called us . . . (no specific time given)

I've always surfed . . . (no specific time given)

He's always loved it. (no specific time given)

Simple past sentences:

The dog became the main attraction . . . during the Surf World Championship. (specific time given)

The dog and his owner surfed . . . between the competitions. (specific time given)

B

- Explain the task. Ss work individually to complete the activity. Then Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

- | | |
|---------------|----------------|
| 1. has stolen | 5. set up |
| 2. went off | 6. have called |
| 3. rushed | 7. have left |
| 4. were | 8. has offered |

3 Present perfect vs. present perfect continuous (GRAMMAR)

Learning aim: Practice using the present perfect and the present perfect continuous (20–25 minutes)

Grammar notes

While the present perfect is used for completed actions, and the present perfect continuous is used for uncompleted actions, there is a group of verbs (live, work, teach, study) that can be used in either the present perfect or the present perfect continuous with no difference in meaning.

- Books closed. Write on the board:

- She's been painting her bedroom for five hours.*
- She's painted her bedroom yellow.*

Ask Ss which action is still happening in the present. (Answer: sentence 1) Ask Ss which action is recently completed. (Answer: sentence 2)

- Books open. Discuss the information in the grammar box and read the example sentences.

A

- Have Ss look at the first story on page 44 again. Explain the task and read the questions aloud. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

. . . they've been getting more attention than the actual contest.

The present perfect continuous is used because the action is not yet completed.

B

- Explain the task. Ss work individually to complete the activity. Then Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

- have been, have been staying
- have been repairing, haven't solved
- have been guarding, haven't robbed
- have been providing

2 GRAMMAR

Present perfect vs. simple past

Use the present perfect to report a recent event without giving a specific time reference.

I've locked my keys in the car.

Use the simple past to report an event with a specific time reference.

After a day at the mall, the woman went out to her car.

I started teaching her to paint last year.

GRAMMAR PLUS see page 116

A Look at the first story on page 44 again. Can you find more examples of the present perfect and the simple past? Why is each tense used?

B Complete the news story with the present perfect or simple past form of the verbs in parentheses. Then compare answers with a partner.

A group of thieves (1) has stolen (steal) the Dragon's Eye ruby from the Grand Gallery. Last night at about 1:00 A.M., the alarm (2) _____ (go off). Police (3) _____ (rush) to the building immediately, but they (4) _____ (be) too late. Right after learning of the robbery, the mayor

(5) _____ (set up) a telephone hotline for information about the theft. Three people (6) _____ (call) so far, but the police are still looking for further information. They believe it is probable that the thieves (7) _____ (leave) the city. The curator of the Grand Gallery (8) _____ (offer) a $50,000 reward for information leading to the capture of the thieves.

3 GRAMMAR

Present perfect vs. present perfect continuous

Use the present perfect continuous to describe temporary situations and actions that are not yet completed. The present perfect describes permanent situations and recently completed actions.

A dog has been stealing all the attention. (temporary situation)

I've always surfed with my dog. (permanent situation)

Maggie has been amazing visitors by painting for her supper. (not yet completed action)

I've locked my keys in the car. (recently completed action)

Use the present perfect with the passive or with stative verbs such as be, love, and have.

He's always loved it.

GRAMMAR PLUS see page 116

A Look at the first story on page 44 again. Can you find another example of the present perfect continuous? Why is this form used?

B Complete the sentences with the present perfect or present perfect continuous form of the verbs in parentheses. Then compare answers with a partner.

- Many residents have been (be) homeless ever since last month's storm and _____ (stay) with relatives while their homes are being repaired.
- Although crews _____ (repair) the subway signals all week, they still _____ (not solve) the problem of long delays.
- Police _____ (guard) the stores that the thieves _____ (not rob) yet.
- Some organizations _____ (provide) free meals to residents, and will continue to do so all week.

4 VOCABULARY & SPEAKING

It's in the news.

A How would you define each of these news events?

epidemic	hijacking	natural disaster	rebellion	robbery
famine	kidnapping	political crisis	recession	scandal

"A natural disaster is something like a volcanic eruption, a flood, or an earthquake."

B Pair work Tell your partner about some news stories you've recently heard. Use the words in part A.

"I saw something about a big scandal on the news this morning."

"Really? What was it?"

"Well, it said that a politician had been arrested for taking bribes."

VOCABULARY PLUS see page 135

5 LISTENING

Broadcast news

A Listen to an early morning news broadcast. What is each story about? Write the correct number.

___ a natural disaster ___ a scandal ___ an unusual family event ___ an epidemic

B Listen again. Are the statements true or false? Choose the correct answer. Then correct the false statements to make them true.

	True	False
1. More people are suffering from TB than ever before.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. Standard TB drugs are ineffective in about one-fourth of cases.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. The painting Sunflowers was purchased by a large company.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
4. The high price paid for the painting caused a scandal.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

6. Tourism in the area hit by the hurricane will not be affected.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
7. The mother left the house to give her children freedom.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
8. The children used food to get their mom down from the tree.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

6 SPEAKING

Speaking of the news

A Pair work Discuss the questions. Ask follow-up questions and add extra information.

- How closely do you follow the news? What kinds of stories interest you?
- What do you think was the most important news story in the last few years?
- Do you think stories about sports or celebrities count as "real news"?

B Group work Compare your answers with another pair. How are your opinions about the news different?

4 It's in the news. (VOCABULARY & SPEAKING)

Learning aim: Learn and practice using vocabulary to talk about news events (15–20 minutes)

A

- Explain the task. Ss work individually to do the activity. Then Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class. (See answers at right.)

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Have one pair of Ss read the example conversation to the class.
- Ss work in pairs to do the activity. Have pairs tell their news stories to the class.

To help Ss with speaking skills in this exercise, download the Fresh Idea Can I add something here? from the Teacher Support Site.

Answers

epidemic: illness that spreads through a population famine: a serious shortage of food hijacking: forcing someone to give you control of a vehicle or airplane kidnapping: holding a person illegally in exchange for money or something else of value natural disaster: destructive force of nature, such as a flood, typhoon, earthquake, etc.
political crisis: crucial political situation that may result in negative change rebellion: resistance, often violent, to a higher authority recession: slow or falling economy robbery: taking another's possessions illegally scandal: action that is considered against moral standards and that has been made public

5 Broadcast news (LISTENING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening for the main ideas and details (15–20 minutes)

A [CD 2, Track 2]

- Explain the task. Tell Ss to look at the topics.
- Tell Ss to listen and write the number of each news story beside the correct topic. Play the recording once as Ss listen. Play the recording again while Ss write their answers. Replay as many times as needed. Ss listen and check their answers.
- Go over answers with the class.

Answers

a natural disaster: 3	an unusual family event: 4
a scandal: 2	an epidemic: 1

Audio script: See page T-171.

B [CD 2, Track 7]

- Explain the task. Play the recording and have Ss complete the activity.

- Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. False; The number of cases has been decreasing worldwide.
2. True
3. True
4. False; The scandal was caused by claims that the painting was a forgery.
5. True
6. False; The hurricane will have a huge impact on tourism.
7. False; The mother left the house to stop her children from misbehaving.
8. True

Audio script: See page T-171.

6 Speaking of the news (SPEAKING)

Learning aim: Talk about news stories (10–15 minutes)

A Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud. Ss work in pairs to do the activity.

B Group work

- Explain the task. Put pairs together and have them discuss their opinions.
- Have groups tell the class what their group discussed.

7 Narratives (WRITING)

Learning aim: Write a narrative using a variety of verb tenses (40–50 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Ask Ss what a narrative is. (Answer: a story) Ask Ss what chronological order is. (Answer: Chronological order refers to the time sequence of events; writers use chronological order when the sequence of events is important in a story.) Point out that the stories in this lesson use chronological order.
- Books open. Have Ss look at the photo and guess what kind of news story the sentences will make.
- Explain the task. Read the sentences aloud and answer any questions about vocabulary. Have Ss underline all the verbs in each sentence and identify which tense each is.
- Ss work individually to complete the activity. Then Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

The correct order is (from the left column, then the right column, top to bottom):
1, 4, 5, 6, 7, 9, 8, 2, 3

Possible title:

Local Surfer Fights Off Shark

B

- Explain the task. Ss work individually to write a short news story. Make sure they use the simple past, present perfect, and present perfect continuous in their stories.

C Group work

- Explain the task. Ss work in groups to read their news stories to each other. Have Ss ask each other follow-up questions about the stories.
- Have Ss tell the news story of one of the other Ss in the group to the class. Have the class vote on who has the most interesting story.

Optional activity: Story chain (20 minutes)

Ss work in groups to make a news story.

- Write a headline and the first sentence of a news story on the board. Have the class brainstorm more headlines and first sentences. Write them on the board.
- Put Ss in small groups. Each group member chooses one of the headlines from the board and writes it at the top of a piece of paper, then adds the first sentence of the news story and passes the paper to the next S. That S adds a sentence that could logically follow and passes the paper.
- Ss continue adding a sentence and passing the paper around the group until all the stories have been completed. Try to have Ss extend the story with as many sentences as possible.
- Ask groups to each choose one of their completed stories to read to the class.

7 WRITING

Narratives

A narrative is usually organized in chronological order and uses a variety of verb tenses.

A Number the events in this news story in the correct order. Then write a title for the article.

Title: _____

1 Brian Anderson was surfing at a popular spot south of Seaside, Oregon, on December 24, when he felt something was grabbing his leg.

_____ As he was punching the shark, it began to release its grip on his leg.

_____ When the stunned shark finally let go, Anderson swam to shore, dragging his badly wounded leg behind him.

_____ He was pulling himself up on the rocks when another surfer came to his aid and called an ambulance.

_____ Anderson's leg was bleeding badly when emergency workers arrived, so they took him to a local hospital, where he was kept overnight for observation.

_____ In an interview shortly after Brian came home, his wife, also a surfer, said she knew her husband would surf again. However, she didn't know if she wanted her son to ever go back in the water!

_____ Doctors released Anderson the next day, and he spent the afternoon at home with his wife and son.

2 Realizing it was a shark, he punched it repeatedly in the nose so it would loosen its grip.

_____ Anderson said he did this automatically because he'd heard on a TV show that sharks' noses are sensitive.

B Write a brief news story about a recent event. Use the simple past, present perfect, and present perfect continuous to show the order of events.

C Group work Take turns reading your stories. Ask follow-up questions. Who has the most interesting story? Why?

| <input type="checkbox"/> c. His mother found the ring. | <input type="checkbox"/> c. The door finally opened. |

LESSON B ► Storytelling

1 What happened? (STARTING POINT)

Learning aim: Tell a personal story and see adverbs with the simple past and past perfect in context (10–15 minutes)

A Pair work

- Books closed. Tell Ss the beginning and the end of a funny, embarrassing, or frightening experience that you've had, for example: My friends told me not to go diving alone . . . Afterwards, I realized how dangerous it had been. Ask Ss to guess what happened to you. Then tell Ss the entire story.
- Books open. Have Ss cover the text under each picture. Then have them look at the pictures. Ss work in pairs to first describe what they see, and then to guess what they think might have happened in each picture. Have Ss tell the class their guesses.
- Explain the task. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

shortcut a shorter route between two places

toddler a young child who is just starting to walk

- Have pairs choose two stories and work together to fill in the gaps. Have them write their stories on a piece of paper.

B Group work

- Explain the task. Ss tell their stories to their group. Have each group choose the best story.
- Have one S from each group read the story they chose to the class. Ask the class to vote on the best story.

2 How did it all end? (LISTENING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening for the details of a story (15–20 minutes)

A [CD 2, Track 8]

- Explain the task. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

kind of a little; not a lot dropped off took something somewhere and left it there errands everyday tasks that require leaving the house raced home quickly returned home receipt a slip of paper that shows what you paid for something panicked had a feeling of uncontrolled fear stuck tightly inside or between something and not able to get out (in this context)

- Tell Ss to listen and match the two stories to the correct stories/pictures in part A of the Starting Point. Play the recording once as Ss listen for the answers. Replay as many times as needed. Ss listen and check their answers.
- Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. story/picture 2
2. story/picture 4

Audio script: See page T-171.

B [CD 2, Track 9]

- Explain that Ss will listen again for details about how each story ended. Read the possible endings aloud.
- Play the recording. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. b
2. c

Audio script: See page T-171.

3 Adverbs with the simple past and past perfect (GRAMMAR)

Learning aim: Practice using adverbs with the simple past and past perfect (20–25 minutes)

Grammar notes

Adverbs of time help to clarify when an event or situation in the past took place in relation to another event or situation in the past.

- Books closed. Write on the board:
I was embarrassed because I called the teacher "Mom."
Afterwards, we all laughed about it.
Ask which action happened first. (Answer: I called the teacher "Mom.")
- Write on the board:
The moment I got in the bathtub, the telephone rang.
Ask which action happened first. (Answer: They happened at the same time.)
- Write on the board:
Ann went to Japan last year. Before that, she had only traveled to Florida.
Ask which place Ann went to first. (Answer: Florida)
- Circle the adverbs of time in the sentences. Say: These adverbs help us to understand the order of events.
- Books open. Discuss the information in the grammar box and read the example sentences.

A

- Have Ss look at the Starting Point on page 48 again. Explain the task and read the questions aloud. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Story 1: Afterwards (followed by the simple past)
Story 2: when (followed by the simple past), Up until then (followed by the past perfect)
Story 3: As soon as (followed by the simple past), Afterwards (followed by the simple past)
Story 4: When (followed by the simple past)
Story 5: Before that (followed by the past perfect), As soon as (followed by the simple past), When (followed by the simple past)
Story 6: Until (followed by the simple past, then the past perfect), When (followed by the simple past)

B

- Explain the task. Read the sentences aloud. Go over the example sentences. Ask a few Ss to think of other example sentences.
- Ss work individually to complete the activity. Then Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Possible answers

1. Up until then, I had never had anything stolen. The moment it happened, I called the police.
2. Before that, I had lived with my parents.
3. As soon as I found out, I signed up for a driving class.
4. Until that time, I had never visited Asia.
5. As soon as I got there, I told the dentist how I felt.
6. The next day, he broke it.

C

- Explain the task. Look at the pictures and have Ss describe what they see. Read the sentences aloud. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

punch line the funny end of a joke driveway a paved path that leads from the street to the front of a garage

- Ss work individually to complete the activity. Ss work in pairs to compare answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. b 2. a 3. b 4. a 5. b 6. a

D Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the example story aloud.
- Ss work in pairs to take turns telling the stories for each picture. Remind Ss to use adverbs of time.
- Have several Ss tell their stories to the class.

Optional activity: More stories (15–20 minutes)

Ss have additional practice with telling stories.

- Bring in pictures that show people doing things. Display them on the board.
- Have Ss choose one of the pictures and write a story that goes with the picture.
- Have Ss tell their story to the class.

3 GRAMMAR

Adverbs with the simple past and past perfect

Use these adverbs with the simple past to describe something that happened at a later time.

Afterwards, / Later, / The next day, we all laughed about it.

Use these adverbs with the simple past to describe two things that happened at the same time.

When / As soon as / The moment I got to work, my boss asked to speak to me.

Use these adverbs with the past perfect to describe something that was true or that happened before another event in the past.

Up until then, / Before that, / Until that time, I had never lost anything important.

GRAMMAR PLUS see page 117

A Look at the Starting Point on page 48 again. Can you find the adverbs from the grammar box? Which verb tenses are used after them?

B Write two sentences for these situations using the adverbs from the grammar box. Then compare answers with a partner.

1. My apartment was robbed last week.

Up until then, I had never had anything stolen. The moment it happened, I called the police.

2. I moved into my own apartment this summer.

3. I failed my driving test last week.

4. I really enjoyed my trip to Singapore last month.

5. I was nervous about going to the dentist.

6. I knew I shouldn't have lent my friend my new laptop.

C Match the sentences with the illustrations. Then compare answers with a partner.

- b 1. This morning, I was on my way to work.
2. Last night, I was telling a joke at a dinner party.
3. I was backing my car out of the garage. I crashed into my neighbor's car.

4. I got to the punch line. I knocked over a glass of water with my hand.
5. She had never parked in front of my driveway.
6. I noticed everyone laughing. I wasn't sure if they were laughing at the joke or at me.

D Pair work Take turns telling the stories for each picture. Use adverbs to show the order of events.

"This morning, I was on my way to work. I was backing my car out of the garage when I crashed into my neighbor's car. I couldn't believe it! Until then, she had . . ."

4 LISTENING

Embarrassing moments

A Listen to an interview with actor Dan Carville. What jobs does he talk about?

1. _____ 2. _____ 3. _____

B Listen again. Answer the questions.

1. Why did Dan lose his job at the department store?
2. Why didn't Dan last long as a painter?
3. Why was Dan fired from his job as a taxi driver?
4. How seriously do you think Dan took these jobs?

5 VOCABULARY & SPEAKING

Creating a story

A These phrases are used to tell a story. Put them in the correct columns.

I'll never forget the time ...	Meanwhile ...	To make a long story short ...
The thing you have to know is ...	And in the end ...	I've got to tell you about ...
It all started when ...	That reminds me of when ...	The other thing is ...
What happened was ...	The next thing we knew ...	So finally ...

Beginning a story	Continuing a story	Going back in a story	Ending a story
I'll never forget the time ...

B Pair work Tell a story about yourself. Use these story ideas and the phrases in part A. Ask follow-up questions.

STORY IDEAS

- ▶ You tried something for the first time.
- ▶ You did something really exciting.
- ▶ You forgot something important.
- ▶ You had a surprising experience.
- ▶ You met an unusual person.

"I'll never forget the first time I cooked a big dinner by myself. I had always helped my mother cook, so I thought it would be easy."

"Why were you cooking a big dinner?"

"Well, I had invited all my friends over, and ..."

C Group work Share your story with another pair of students. Then choose one of the stories and tell it to the class.

VOCABULARY PLUS see page 135

4 Embarrassing moments (LISTENING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening for the details of a story and making inferences (15–20 minutes)

A [CD 2, Track 10]

- Ask Ss to brainstorm various kinds of common embarrassing situations and write them on the board (e.g., wearing mismatched shoes to work, slipping in front of a large group of people, cooking a bad dinner for guests, etc.).
- Explain the task. Tell Ss to listen for the jobs the speaker talks about. Play the recording once as Ss listen. Play the recording again while Ss write their answers. Replay as many times as needed. Ss listen and check their answers.
- Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. salesperson in a department store
2. housepainter
3. taxi driver / cab driver

Audio script: See page T-172.

B [CD 2, Track 11]

- Explain that Ss will listen again for details about Dan Carville's jobs.
- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud to the class.
- Tell Ss to listen for the answers to the questions. Play the recording as Ss listen for the answers. Replay as many times as needed.
- Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. His boss caught him taking a nap behind the luggage racks.
2. He was afraid of heights. He climbed up a ladder, got dizzy, fell, and broke his wrist. He also knocked a can of paint all over his co-workers.
3. He had an accident.
4. He didn't seem to take them very seriously.

Audio script: See page T-172.

5 Creating a story (VOCABULARY & SPEAKING)

Learning aim: Learn and practice using vocabulary to tell a story (15–20 minutes)

A

- Read the phrases aloud. Go over any vocabulary Ss don't understand. Give examples of how to finish each phrase.
- Explain the task. Ss work individually to complete the activity. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Beginning a story:

I'll never forget the time . . .

It all started when . . .

That reminds me of when . . .

I've got to tell you about . . .

Continuing a story:

What happened was . . .

Meanwhile . . .

The next thing we knew . . .

So later on . . .

Going back in a story:

The thing you have to know is . . .

I forgot to mention that . . .

The other thing is . . .

Ending a story:

And in the end . . .

To make a long story short . . .

So finally . . .

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the story ideas. Ask two Ss to read the example conversation to the class.
- Ss work in pairs to do the activity. Make sure they ask follow-up questions.

C Group work

- Put pairs into groups and have them tell their stories to each other. Have them choose one story from the group and tell it to the class. Ask the class to vote on the best story.

6 Personal anecdotes (READING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in understanding vocabulary in context, reading to confirm predictions, and giving a personal reaction to a reading (25–30 minutes)

A Pair work

- Books closed. Ask: What is an anecdote? (Answer: a short story about a funny personal experience)
- Books open. Explain the task. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

babysitter a person who watches children while the parents are out of the house blues feelings of sadness

- Ss work in pairs to guess what each story is about. Have a few pairs tell the class their ideas.
- Have Ss read the anecdotes silently to themselves and see if they were correct. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

slam close something with a lot of force hysterically without control smoke detector an alarm, often on the ceiling, that sounds when there is smoke in the room defiant rebellious get away with do something wrong and not be punished for it

- Ask Ss if any of their ideas about the anecdotes were correct.

B Group work

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud.
- Ss work in groups to answer the questions. Go over answers with the class.

C Group work

- Explain the task. Read the questions and topics aloud. Answer any questions about vocabulary.
- Ss work in groups to take turns telling anecdotes. Have one S from each group tell the class who has the most interesting anecdote and who has the funniest one.

Personal anecdotes

A Pair work Look at the titles of the anecdotes. What do you think each one is about? Read the anecdotes to check your answers.

IT HAPPENED TO ME!

(or my friend . . . or a friend of a friend . . .)

Babysitter's Blues

I'll never forget the time last winter when I was babysitting these two kids for the first time. It was about 7:30 at night. Their mom had asked me to make them a pizza for dinner. It had been in the oven for about 15 minutes when suddenly I heard a noise outside, and the dog started barking. As soon as I opened the door and stepped outside, the kids slammed and locked it behind me. It was winter, and I stood outside freezing while they rolled around on the floor laughing hysterically. Meanwhile, the kitchen started getting smoky, and the smoke detector started buzzing. They didn't know what to do, so they let me back in. The pizza was burnt to a crisp. I didn't say anything. But, as we sat around the kitchen table having a bowl of cold cereal instead of their favorite, pizza, I could tell they regretted what they'd done. Anyway, to make a long story short, I babysit them all the time now, and guess what. I haven't had any problems since that first night.

– Amy Fernandez, Boston

A Bad Holiday

Have I learned any lessons the hard way? I sure have! What happened was I wanted a Monday off from work. Tuesday was a national holiday, and I thought a four-day weekend would be just perfect. I asked my boss, and he said no. At that company, all employees got their birthday off, so I asked if we could pretend that the Monday was my birthday. He said no. I woke up on the Monday morning feeling a little defiant, so I called in sick. I told them I got a terrible sunburn on the weekend. Later on, I realized that I had no color at all because I hadn't been out in the sun. So my friends and I went to the beach and stayed there all day. When I woke up the next morning,

I had the worst sunburn of my life. I even had to go to the hospital! In the end,

I learned a valuable lesson – I can't get away with anything!

– Rita Wagner, San Diego

B Group work Discuss these questions. Then share your answers with the class.

1. Why do you think Amy hasn't had any more problems?
2. What would you have done if you were Rita?
3. Which anecdote did you find more amusing? Why?

C Group work Choose one of the topics below, or one of your own, and tell your group an anecdote. Who had the most interesting anecdote? Whose was the funniest?

- celebrity encounters
- food experiences
- school days
- strange coincidences
- childhood memories
- mistaken identity
- speaking English
- travel stories

COMMUNICATION REVIEW

UNITS 4–6

SELF-ASSESSMENT

How well can you do these things? Choose the best answer.

I can ...	Very well	OK	A little
▶ Describe how I deal with everyday problems (Ex. 1)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
▶ Describe a conversation I've heard or participated in (Ex. 2)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
▶ Understand the main points of an academic presentation about stress (Ex. 3)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
▶ Evaluate suggestions in a discussion about ways to deal with stress (Ex. 3)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
▶ Tell an interesting anecdote from my life (Ex. 4)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

Now do the corresponding exercises. Was your assessment correct?

SPEAKING

Calm down, chill out.

A What do you do in these situations?

1. Tomorrow is a big day – you have a job interview or an exam. You are worried that you won't sleep well.
2. You've been lying in bed for hours and can't get to sleep. You can't stop thinking about what you have to do tomorrow.
3. You feel angry about something a friend did.
4. You have been studying or working, and you need to take a break.

B Pair work Compare your answers with a partner. Are any of your solutions the same?

"Whenever I have something important the following day, I make sure I get some exercise so that I'll nod off as soon as I lie down."

SPEAKING

Guess what I heard!

A Read these situations. Can you think of a personal example for each one?

1. You overheard someone say something really funny.
2. Someone told you a big secret.
3. You realized something important.

B Pair work Discuss your answers with a partner.

"I was on the subway, and I overheard this guy tell his friend that he'd gotten into the bathtub the night before and realized he was still wearing his socks! I just burst out laughing."

Units 4–6

COMMUNICATION REVIEW

Ss assess how well they have learned the communication skills in Units 4–6.

Self-assessment

Review aim: Ss assess how well they have learned the material in Units 4–6 (10–15 minutes)

- Books closed. List or elicit from Ss the language and topics covered in Units 4–6.

- Books open. Explain the task. Read the list of skills aloud.
- Ss work individually to do the assessment.
- Tell Ss they will review their assessment after doing the activities in this unit.

1 Calm down, chill out. (SPEAKING)

Review aim: Discuss problems and solutions using time clauses and reduced time clauses (10–15 minutes)

A

- Read the situations aloud. Ask Ss if they have had any of these problems recently.
- Give Ss time to think about what to do in each situation.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Ss work in pairs. Have a S read the example answer aloud. Point out that a time clause is used to talk about the solution. Tell Ss to use reduced time clauses whenever possible.
- Have partners compare their solutions from part A. Ask a few pairs to report their solutions to the class.

Optional activity: Solutions (15–20 minutes)

Ss brainstorm problems and possible solutions.

- Ss work in small groups to think of two more problem situations and write them down.
- Collect the papers and then redistribute them to different groups.
- Have Ss discuss and write down their solutions to the problems.
- Return the problems and their solutions to the original group. Have a few groups report a problem they wrote and the advice that was suggested.

2 Guess what I heard! (SPEAKING)

Review aim: Talk about what someone said using reported speech (10–15 minutes)

A

- Explain the task. Read the situations aloud. Give Ss time to think of personal examples for each situation.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Have a S read the example aloud.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss their answers. Remind Ss to use reported speech in their conversation.
- Have Ss tell the class one of their partner's answers using reported speech.

Optional activity: They said . . . (15–20 minutes)

Ss practice reported speech as a class.

- Have Ss stand in a circle. Ask a S a question such as What do you do when you feel sad about something? Have the S answer, When I'm sad, I . . .
- Then ask the next S, What did (name) say? That S uses reported speech to say what the first S said and then answers your first question with his or her own information, (Name) said that . . . When I'm sad, I . . .
- Ask a third S, What did they say? That S uses reported speech to say what the first two Ss said, and then gives his or her own answer. Continue around the circle until a S can't remember all the answers. Then ask a different question.

3 Stressed out! (LISTENING & SPEAKING)

Review aim: Develop skills in listening for main ideas and details, and talk about stress and the best way to deal with it (20–25 minutes)

A [CD 2, Track 12]

- Explain the task. Tell Ss to look at the list of possible main topics. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

finals final exams

reward give something in exchange for good behavior, excellent work, etc.

juggle handle many things at the same time space your meals evenly eat your meals the same amount of time apart

- Tell Ss to listen for the answers to the question. Play the recording once as Ss listen. Play the recording again while Ss choose the correct answer. Replay as many times as needed. Ss listen and check their answer.
- Go over the answer with the class.

Answer

b. college students and stress

Audio script: See page T-172.

4 Tell me a story. (SPEAKING)

Review aim: Tell anecdotes using the simple past and past perfect (15–20 minutes)

A Pair work

- Ask Ss to define anecdote. (Answer: a short, funny, or interesting story) Read the topics aloud. Ask Ss to think of a time when one or more of those things happened to them. Tell Ss to be prepared to ask and answer follow-up questions, and to take notes when listening to their partner's story.
- Ss work in pairs to tell each other their anecdotes.

B Group work

- Explain the task. Read the example anecdote aloud.
- Ss work in groups to tell their stories.
- Have Ss retell another S's story to the class.

B [CD 2, Track 13]

- Explain the task. Read the possible causes of stress aloud.
- Play the recording. Ss listen and choose the causes of stress. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. not having enough money
2. jobs
4. too much studying
6. missing family

Audio script: See page T-172.

C Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the ways to deal with stress aloud. Have a S read the example suggestion to the class.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss the questions.
- Have Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

Optional activity: Anecdotes (10–15 minutes)

Ss practice telling more anecdotes.

- Ss work in pairs and do the activity in part A again, but this time they use their imagination to tell an untrue story that is funny, exciting, or interesting.
- Ss tell the class their partner's story. Have the class vote on the best story.

Have Ss look at their answers to the self-assessment at the beginning of this review unit. As a class, discuss which skills were easy and which were more difficult and why.

3 LISTENING & SPEAKING

Stressed out!

A Listen to Dr. Phillips talking about stress. What is the main topic of his presentation? Choose the correct answer.

- ☐ a. the stress of living on a tight budget
- ☐ b. college students and stress
- ☐ c. stress and nutrition

B Listen again. Choose the causes of stress that are mentioned.

- | | | |
|---|---|---|
| <input type="checkbox"/> 1. not having enough money | <input type="checkbox"/> 3. noisy roommates | <input type="checkbox"/> 5. not enough studying |
| <input type="checkbox"/> 2. jobs | <input type="checkbox"/> 4. too much studying | <input type="checkbox"/> 6. missing family |

C Pair work Look at the causes of stress you chose and these suggestions for ways to deal with stress. Which do you think is the best suggestion? Why?

Ways to Deal with Stress

- Find a physical activity you enjoy and make time for it.
- Organize your time.
- Make time to relax.
- Eat breakfast. Don't drink too much coffee.
- Have a sense of humor.

"When you feel like you've got too much work, I think it's really important to sit down and organize your time. If you do, you'll feel more in control."

4 SPEAKING

Tell me a story.

A Pair work Tell your partner about a time when one of these things happened to you. Ask and answer follow-up questions so that you will be able to retell your partner's story. Take notes.

- You met someone fascinating.
- You did something that took a lot of courage.
- Something made you laugh hysterically.

B Group work Join another pair and tell your partner's story.

"Maria once met a famous marathon runner at a café. It was pretty crowded, and she had just sat down at the last free table. The next thing she knew, the runner walked up to her and . . ."

THE INFORMATION AGE

LESSON A ► A weird, wired world

STARTING POINT

Internet trends

A Look at these Internet trends. Choose the ones that affect you.

Internet Trends

NOW ...

- ☐ Music fans have been given access to nearly unlimited music libraries in "the cloud."
- ☐ Increasingly, information about Internet users is being collected for marketing purposes.
- ☐ Many traditional textbooks have been replaced by online versions.
- ☐ With the development of new online tools, more employees are being allowed to work remotely for part of their workweek.

IN THE FUTURE ...

- ☐ Most store purchases will be made by using a mobile device linked to an online account. Cash or credit cards will rarely be used.
- ☐ More and more doctor's examinations are likely going to be done over the Internet.
- ☐ More candidates for employment will be identified, interviewed, and hired online.
- ☐ The Internet is going to be subjected to a greater number of hacker attacks due to the increasing amount of personal information stored online.

B Pair work What did people do before these trends appeared?

"People used to buy CDs, and they put them in CD players to listen to them."

VOCABULARY

Technology buzzwords

A Match the terms on the left with the definitions on the right.

- | | |
|-------------------|--|
| 1. download ____ | a. wireless connection to the Internet |
| 2. app ____ | b. a radio or TV show downloadable from the Internet |
| 3. post ____ | c. transfer files to your computer or smartphone |

| 8. spyware ____ | h. a program often used on mobile devices |
| 9. text ____ | i. large, remote information storage areas on the Internet |
| 10. virus ____ | j. an online journal or newsletter, usually of personal opinions |

B Pair work Which of these technologies do you have experience with? When do you use them? Why?

"I've been downloading music and videos for years. And if I'm too busy to watch TV, I download podcasts of interesting shows to my smartphone. It's great!"

VOCABULARY PLUS see page 136

7 THE INFORMATION AGE

LESSON A ► A weird, wired world

In this unit, Ss use the passive of the present continuous, present perfect, and future to talk about trends in modern technology. They also practice giving opinions using negative and tag questions.

1 Internet trends (STARTING POINT)

Learning aim: Talk about Internet trends and see passive verb forms in context (10–15 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Ask: What is a trend? (Answer: the current style or preference of the general public)
- Have Ss work in small groups to discuss these questions: How often do you use the Internet? What do you use it for? Which websites do you visit the most? Why? Have groups share their answers with the class.
- Books open. Explain the task. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

traditional done in the same way for a long time work remotely work from another place that is not the office; usually, to work from home mobile device piece of electronic communication equipment, such as a cell phone, that can be used in different places be subjected to experience something unpleasant hacker a person who gets illegal access to someone else's computer

- Ss read the trends and choose the ones that affect them personally. Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Have a few pairs share their answers with the class.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the example answer aloud. Ss work in pairs to discuss each trend mentioned in part A.
- Have Ss share their answers with the class.

2 Technology buzzwords (VOCABULARY)

Learning aim: Learn and practice using technology terms (10–15 minutes)

A

- Books closed. As a class, brainstorm technology terms that are familiar to Ss, such as Internet, website, email, etc. Write them on the board.
- Books open. Explain the task. Read the words in the left-hand column aloud.
- Ss work individually to complete the activity. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

- | | | | | |
|------|------|------|------|-------|
| 1. c | 3. f | 5. a | 7. b | 9. e |
| 2. h | 4. j | 6. i | 8. g | 10. d |

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the example answer aloud.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss their experiences with the different technologies in part A.
- Have Ss share their partners' answers with the class.

Optional activity: Website directory (10–15 minutes)

Ss create a class directory of their favorite websites.

- As a class, brainstorm the many uses of the Internet and write the topics on the board (e.g., travel, learning English, celebrity gossip, home repair, news, etc.).
- Ss work in small groups to list the websites that they visit for each category on the board.
- Have Ss tell the class about their websites, why they think they are useful, and some tips on how to use them.
- Have the class write a directory of the best websites, organized by category. Give each S a copy.

3 Passive of present continuous, present perfect, future (GRAMMAR)

Learning aim: Practice using the passive of the present continuous, present perfect, and future (20–25 minutes)

Grammar notes

The passive is most often used when it is not known, or it is not important to know, who has performed the action.

The phrase by + performer of action (or agent) is only used when it is important to know who performed the action.

The song is being sung.

The song is being sung by my favorite singer.

Only transitive verbs can be used in the passive. Intransitive verbs, such as happen, seem, sleep, etc., cannot be used in the passive form.

- Discuss the information in the grammar box and read the example sentences.

A

- Have Ss look at the Starting Point on page 54 again. Explain the task and read the question aloud. Go over the answers with the class.

Answers

Present continuous passive:

Increasingly, information about Internet users is being collected for marketing purposes.

Present perfect passive:

Many traditional textbooks have been replaced by online versions.

Future passive:

Cash or credit cards will rarely be used.

More candidates for employment will be identified, interviewed, and hired online.

The Internet is going to be subjected to a greater number of hacker attacks due to the increasing amount of personal information stored online.

B

- Ss work individually to complete the activity.
- Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

- | | |
|--|---------------------------------------|
| 1. have been infected | 5. is being monitored |
| 2. is being utilized | 6. are being downloaded |
| 3. are being started | 7. have been created |
| 4. will be developed / are going to be developed | 8. will be made / is going to be made |

4 Social networking: Different opinions (LISTENING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening for gist and details (15–20 minutes)

A [CD 2, Track 14]

- Explain the task. Tell Ss to listen for the answers to the question. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

downside the disadvantages of something social skills the abilities that help someone interact with other people neglect fail to give attention to something offline not on the Internet

- Play the recording once as Ss listen for the answers. Replay as many times as needed. Ss listen and write their answers.
- Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. (Michael) getting advice
2. (Lisa) making friends
3. (Daniel) expressing himself

Audio script: See page T-173.

B [CD 2, Track 15]

- Explain that Ss will listen again for each person's opinion about social networking.
- Explain the task. Tell Ss to read the choices for completing each sentence.
- Play the recording once as Ss listen. Play the recording again while Ss choose the correct answers.
- Go over answers with the class.

Answers

- | | | |
|------|------|------|
| 1. a | 2. b | 3. b |
|------|------|------|

Audio script: See page T-173.

3 GRAMMAR

Passive of present continuous, present perfect, future

Use the passive for actions where the emphasis is on the object of the action.

Use the passive of the present continuous for ongoing actions.

More employees are being allowed to work remotely for part of their workweek.

Use the passive of the present perfect for recently completed actions.

Music fans have been given access to nearly unlimited music libraries in "the cloud."

Use will + passive or be going to + passive for actions that will begin in the future.

Most store purchases will be made by using a mobile device linked to an online account.

More and more doctor's examinations are likely going to be done over the Internet.

GRAMMAR PLUS see page 118

A Look at the Starting Point on page 54 again. Can you find more examples of each passive?

B Complete the sentences with the correct passive form of the verb in parentheses. Sometimes more than one answer is possible.

- Thousands of computers already have been infected (infect) by spyware.
- Currently, the cloud _____ (utilize) by a large number of businesses.
- Thousands of blogs _____ (start) on all sorts of topics every day.
- In coming years, even more fun game apps _____ (develop) for the youth market.
- Nowadays, teen Internet use _____ (monitor) by concerned parents.
- These days, podcasts _____ (download) by people of all ages.
- Many computer viruses _____ (create) by teenagers.
- In the future, Wi-Fi _____ (make) available in most public places.

4 LISTENING

Social networking: Different opinions

A Listen to three people's opinions about social networking. What do they mainly use it for?

- _____
- _____
- _____

B Listen again. Choose the correct answers to complete the sentences.

- Michael believes that social networking at work . . .
☐ a. should be restricted. ☐ b. makes workers happier.
- In the case of children, Lisa believes that social networking . . .
☐ a. teaches social skills. ☐ b. is potentially harmful.
- Daniel is careful about what he uploads or posts so people won't . . .
☐ a. steal his work. ☐ b. form a bad opinion of him.

5 VOCABULARY

Connecting ideas formally

A These expressions connect ideas in different ways. Put them in the correct columns. Sometimes more than one answer is possible.

additionally as a matter of fact	as a result for example	for instance furthermore	in fact likewise	nevertheless on the other hand	similarly therefore
-------------------------------------	----------------------------	-----------------------------	---------------------	-----------------------------------	------------------------

Add information	Compare or contrast	Emphasize	Give an example	Show a result
additionally

B Choose the appropriate connector to complete the sentences.

- Tom loves technology; similarly / for example, he has the latest cell phone.
- Many airports offer inexpensive Wi-Fi; nevertheless / in fact, at some it's even free.
- Many of my friends' computers have been damaged by viruses; nevertheless / therefore, I am going to update my antivirus software.
- Some websites aren't reliable; as a result / likewise, many people are being misinformed.

- Internet identity theft is something very serious; on the other hand / as a matter of fact, it can ruin your life.

VOCABULARY PLUS see page 136

6 DISCUSSION

Social networking debate

A Pair work Do you think social networking sites are a positive or negative influence? Find a partner who has the same opinion.

B Group work Find a pair who disagrees with you and your partner. Take turns explaining your reasons. Each pair gets a chance to disagree.

"The way I see it, social networking sites are a positive influence because they allow me to have friends all over the world."

"That may be true, but in my opinion, online friends aren't really true friends. In fact, . . ."

Useful expressions

Expressing opinions

If you ask me, . . .
The way I see it, . . .

Disagreeing

That may be true, but . . .
I see your point, but . . .

Giving reasons

That's why . . .
The reason for that is . . .

5 Connecting ideas formally (VOCABULARY)

Learning aim: Learn and practice using expressions for connecting ideas formally (10–15 minutes)

A

- Explain the task. Read the expressions aloud. Give an example of how to use two or three of the expressions, or ask Ss to give a few examples.
- Ss work individually to complete the activity. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Add information: additionally, furthermore, for example, for instance

Compare or contrast: likewise, nevertheless, on the other hand, similarly

Emphasize: as a matter of fact, in fact

Give an example: for example, for instance

Show a result: as a result, therefore

B

- Have Ss look at the sentences and notice that the connectors are usually followed by a comma when placed at the beginning of a sentence.
- Explain the task. Ss work individually to choose the appropriate connector to complete each sentence.

- Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class. Have Ss say which category from part A the correct expression is in and explain their answers.

Answers

- | | |
|----------------|------------------------|
| 1. for example | 4. as a result |
| 2. in fact | 5. likewise |
| 3. therefore | 6. as a matter of fact |

To help Ss with the vocabulary in this exercise, download the Fresh Idea Bleep! Bleep! from the Teacher Support Site.

Optional activity: Sentence chain (20 minutes)

Ss practice connecting ideas in sentences.

- Put Ss in a circle. Say to one S: I like using the Internet for planning my vacation; furthermore . . . and have the S complete the sentence. Then have that S say a new sentence and use a different connecting expression to the next S, who completes that sentence. Continue around the circle.
- If necessary, first have the class brainstorm sentences with connectors and write them on the board as a reference for Ss.

6 Social networking debate (DISCUSSION)

Learning aim: Discuss positive and negative influences of social networking sites on society (25–30 minutes)

A Pair work

- Books closed. As a class, review the different ways that social networking sites have changed society. Have Ss call out general topics (e.g., relationships, finding out about news, use of free time, etc.) and write them on the board. Give Ss time to think about whether social networking sites are a good or bad influence.
- Books open. Explain the task. Have Ss walk around the class and find a partner who has the same opinion as they do.

B Group work

- Explain the task. Have one pair of Ss read the example conversation to the class. Go over the information in the Useful Expressions box. Have a short sample conversation with another S and use the expressions.
- Ss work in groups to do the activity. Ask Ss to tell the class about their group's discussion.

7 Writing a product or service review (WRITING)

Learning aim: Write a product or service review
(40–50 minutes)

A

- Tell Ss to read the information in the box at the top of the page. Ask: Do you ever read product or service reviews before you buy something?
- Explain the task. Go over the list of things a review usually does. Tell Ss that many of the items will be included in the example review, but not all of them. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

set-up the way something is organized drawback a bad thing or disadvantage productivity app an application that helps users do things more efficiently and faster interface the way a computer program shows information to users boost increase the amount of something

- Ss read the product review and select the things that the review does.
- Ss work in pairs to compare their answers and find examples in the review. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

The following items should be chosen:

1. names the product and explains its uses
3. mentions positive features
5. states who would find it useful and why

Examples:

1. Organize Me XPS . . .
... managing my busy schedule . . .
3. . . . organize all of my tasks and appointments in one place with just a couple of simple steps, . . . simple set-up . . . to share my plans with others, . . . simple interface, . . . low cost, . . .
5. . . . someone who writes notes on little pieces of paper and then loses them . . .

B

- Explain the writing task. Read the topics aloud. Tell Ss that they should choose one of the topics or one of their own, and write a product or service review.
- Ss work individually to write their reviews. Tell them to make sure to name the product or service, describe it, mention positive features, and state who would find it useful and why. Ss can also suggest how the product or service could be improved, provide information about prices or rates, and explain where it is available, if they wish.

C Group work

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud.
- Ss take turns reading the reviews to their group. Then have Ss answer the questions.
- Help as needed. Encourage Ss to ask and answer follow-up questions about the reviews and ask about anything they don't understand.
- Have groups share their answers with the class.

Writing a product or service review

Writing and posting a product or service review helps other consumers make informed decisions. Most product and service reviews contain similar features.

A Look at the information about product reviews. Then read the review below and select the things the review does. Find examples in the review with a partner.

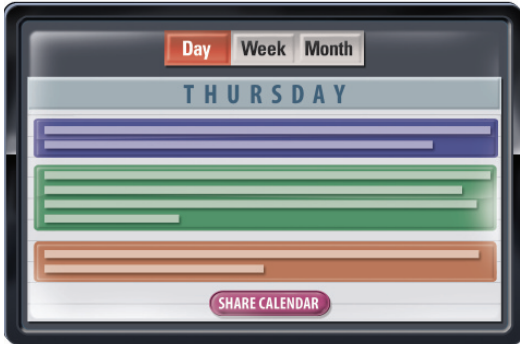

- | | |
|--|---|
| <input type="checkbox"/> 1. names the product and explains its use | <input type="checkbox"/> 4. suggests how it could be improved |
| <input type="checkbox"/> 2. explains where it can be purchased | <input type="checkbox"/> 5. states who would find it useful and why |
| <input type="checkbox"/> 3. mentions positive features | <input type="checkbox"/> 6. gives the exact price |

Organize Me XPS is one of the best tools I have used for managing my busy schedule – and I have used many over the years. With this app, I'm able to organize all of my tasks and appointments in one place with just a couple of simple steps. Furthermore, a simple set-up is all it takes to share my plans with others. Having the ability to share my lists and calendars with colleagues and friends like this is extremely useful.

The only drawback some people might find is that it does not have all of the features offered by some of the more expensive productivity apps; nevertheless, it does exactly what I need it to do. In fact, the app's simplicity is its best feature. I just love the simple interface. Although the developers promise that free updates offering new features will be released soon, if you ask me, the low cost makes it a really good value as is.

If you're someone who writes notes on little pieces of paper and then loses them, get this app. It will really boost your productivity. I use it every day – for school, work, and everything else.

B Use one of these topics or your own idea to write a product or service review.

- technology you purchased
- a game or app you tried
- a restaurant you ate at
- a service you used (dry cleaner, hair salon, mechanic)

C Group work Take turns reading your reviews. Then answer the questions.

1. Whose review is the most interesting and informative? Why?
2. What additional information would you want to know as a consumer?
3. Which reviews would convince you to buy the product or use the service?
Which ones would lead you to make a different choice?

LESSON B ► Information overload

1 STARTING POINT Future shock

A Read these comments about technology. Do you agree or disagree?

WHAT'S Your TAKE ON TECHNOLOGY?

Joo-chan, Seoul:
“Apps are cool, aren’t they? I download lots of them to my smartphone. Wouldn’t it be great if phones came loaded with even more apps?”

Ana, São Paulo:
“Isn’t it weird how some people use mobile devices constantly? They don’t notice anything around them. It’s actually dangerous, don’t you think?”

Sarah, Los Angeles:
“Don’t you think there are too many websites full of misinformation? Shouldn’t the government fine sites that contain false information?”

Yang Ming, Taipei:
“Doesn’t it seem like kids spend too much time playing violent video games? It makes kids more aggressive, doesn’t it?”

B Pair work Compare your answers with a partner. Do you think the government should regulate any of these things?

2 VOCABULARY Forms of communication

A Where do you find these forms of communication? Put them in the correct columns. Then add another expression to each category.

banner ads	bumper stickers	crawls	infomercials	spam	text messages billboards	bus wraps	fliers	pop-up ads	telemarketing	voice mail
On television	On the Internet	On the phone	On streets or highways

B Pair work Which of the above are the most useful ways of communicating information? The least useful? Do you find any of them annoying?

“Those crawls at the bottom of TV screens aren’t useful. It’s impossible to read them and pay attention to a show at the same time. Don’t you think they’re annoying?”

VOCABULARY PLUS see page 136

LESSON B ► Information overload

1 Future shock (STARTING POINT)

Learning aim: Discuss information technology and see negative and tag questions in context (10–15 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Ask Ss what they like most about modern technology and what they like least about it.
- Books open. Explain the task. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

take opinion (of something) loaded filled (with) misinformation incorrect information

- Have Ss read the comments about technology silently to themselves. Give them time to think about which ones they agree and disagree with and why.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Ss work in pairs to compare their answers for part A. Then have them discuss if the government should regulate the use of any of the technologies mentioned.
- Have Ss tell the class their partner's answers.

2 Forms of communication (VOCABULARY)

Learning aim: Learn and practice using communication terms (15–20 minutes)

A

- Books closed. As a class, brainstorm communication terms that are familiar to Ss. Write them on the board. Ask Ss which type of communication they think has the most positive impact on people and which has the most negative.
- Books open. Explain the task. Read the forms of communication in the box aloud.
- Ss work individually to complete the activity. Make sure they add one more type of communication to each column. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

On television: crawls, infomercials

On the Internet: banner ads, pop-up ads, spam

On the phone: telemarketing, text messages, voice mail

On streets or highways: billboards, bumper stickers, bus wraps, fliers

Possible additional expressions:

commercials (television), social networking, email (Internet, phone), road signs (streets or highways)

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the example answer aloud.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss how they feel about the different kinds of communication.
- Have Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

Optional activity: Communication (10–15 minutes)

Ss talk about the best form of communication for different kinds of businesses.

- Write several kinds of businesses on the board (e.g., computer repair, babysitting service, a new restaurant, a national chain of car rental offices, a local plumber, etc.).
- Ss work in small groups to decide which kind of communication would be best for each kind of business and how it can be used.
- Have Ss tell the class about their ideas.

3 Negative and tag questions for giving opinions (GRAMMAR)

Learning aim: Practice using negative and tag questions to give opinions (20–25 minutes)

Grammar notes

A tag question is a question added at the end of a sentence. Tag questions are used to make sure there is agreement with the speaker's opinion or to make sure information is correct.

That was a great restaurant, wasn't it?

The post office is next to the bank, isn't it?

The post office isn't next to the bank, is it?

The verb in the tag question is negative if the first verb in the sentence is affirmative, and affirmative if the first verb is negative.

Tag questions have falling intonation when the speaker expects the listener to agree. They have rising intonation when the speaker wants to express uncertainty.

Negative questions are also used to seek agreement with an opinion.

Wasn't that a great restaurant?

- Discuss the information in the grammar box and read the example questions.

A

- Have Ss look at the Starting Point on page 58 again. Explain the task and read the question aloud. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Joo-chan: Apps are cool, aren't they?

They substitutes for apps, and aren't is the negative form of are.

Yang Ming: It makes kids more aggressive, doesn't it?

Doesn't is the negative auxiliary verb for makes.

The pronoun and (auxiliary) verb of each tag question agree with the subject and verb of the preceding statement.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the statements aloud. Ss work individually to change the statements into negative or tag questions. Go over the questions with the class.

Answers

1. Isn't it annoying how often telemarketers call?

It's annoying how often telemarketers call, isn't it?

2. Shouldn't they get rid of those banner ads on the Internet?

They should get rid of those banner ads on the Internet, shouldn't they?

3. Wouldn't it be great if there were fewer billboards?

It would be great if there were fewer billboards, wouldn't it?

4. Doesn't it seem like a lot of people are texting while driving?

It seems like a lot of people are texting while driving, doesn't it?

5. Isn't it sad when people are tricked into losing money by spam messages?

It's sad when people are tricked into losing money by spam messages, isn't it?

6. Aren't there too many channels on TV these days?

There are too many channels on TV these days, aren't there?

- Ss work in pairs to take turns asking the questions and answering them with their own opinion.
- Then have Ss tell their partner's answers to the class.

4 It's kind of strange, isn't it? (DISCUSSION)

Learning aim: Give opinions about communication technologies and practice the lesson grammar (15–20 minutes)

A Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the opinions aloud. Answer any questions about vocabulary. Brainstorm follow-up questions for each opinion as a class.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss whether they agree or disagree with each opinion and why. Make sure they ask each other follow-up questions.

B Group work

- Explain the task. Have one pair of Ss read the example conversation to the class.
- Ss work in groups to discuss what they think are the three most pressing problems with modern information technology.
- Have one S from each group tell the class about the group's answers.

3 GRAMMAR

Negative and tag questions for giving opinions

Use negative questions or tag questions to offer an opinion and invite someone to react.

Isn't it weird how some people use mobile devices constantly?

Doesn't it seem like kids spend too much time playing violent video games?

Wouldn't it be great if phones came loaded with even more apps?

Shouldn't the government fine sites that contain false information?

Apps are cool, aren't they?

It makes kids more aggressive, doesn't it?

Use the phrase don't you think to form negative or tag questions for opinions.

Don't you think there are too many websites full of misinformation?

It's actually dangerous, don't you think?

GRAMMAR PLUS see page 119

A Look at the Starting Point on page 58 again. Find the tag questions used by Joo-chan and Yang Ming. Why do they have different endings?

B Pair work Turn the statements into negative or tag questions. Then ask and answer the questions. Discuss your answers.

1. It's annoying how often telemarketers call.
2. They should get rid of those banner ads on the Internet.
3. It would be great if there were fewer billboards.
4. It seems like a lot of people are texting while driving.
5. It's sad when people are tricked into losing money by spam messages.
6. There are too many channels on TV these days.

4 DISCUSSION

It's kind of strange, isn't it?

A Pair work Do you agree or disagree with these opinions? Why?

B Group work What other problems are caused by modern information technology? Agree on the three most pressing problems and tell the class.

"Don't you think kids today spend too much time online? Won't their grades and social development suffer because of it?"

"You might be right. But their parents should set limits for them, shouldn't they?"

5 LISTENING

Health and technology

A Listen to a report on health problems caused by technology. Who is the main intended audience? Choose the correct answer.

- ☐ a. doctors or other health professionals
- ☐ b. frequent users of technology products
- ☐ c. designers of computers and mobile devices

B Listen again and complete the chart.

Problem	Symptoms	Advice
texter's thumb carpal tunnel syndrome
gadget addiction

6 DISCUSSION

Future technologies?

A Read about these technologies. Are any of them available now? Do you think any will be available in the future? Would you like to make use of them? Why or why not?

Technologies of Tomorrow?

You'll never be bored with the color of your clothes or furniture again. With color-changing fabric, you'll be able to select from a wide variety of colors using a remote control, changing colors whenever you want.

Wireless electricity will allow you to do away with chargers, batteries, and cords. Devices and appliances in homes and businesses will run on electricity transmitted wirelessly from a hidden power source.

A life recorder is a small wearable device that will take a video of everything you see, twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week. The sights and sounds of your entire life will be saved for years to come.

B Group work What new technologies are becoming popular? Which ones do you think are useful? What other technologies do you think will be invented in the future?

5 Health and technology (LISTENING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening for details and making inferences (15–20 minutes)

A [CD 2, Track 16]

- Explain the task. Read the choices aloud. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

specialist someone who has special knowledge about one particular topic syndromes groups of symptoms that together cause an abnormal medical condition unheard of not known by anyone widespread happening with many people in many places regimen routine

- Tell Ss to listen for the answer to the question. Play the recording once as Ss listen. Play the recording again while Ss choose the correct answer. Replay as many times as needed. Ss listen and check their answers.
- Go over the answer with the class.

Answer

b. frequent users of technology products

Audio script: See page T-173.

B [CD 2, Track 17]

- Explain the task. Tell Ss to look at the chart and determine the information they need to complete it.
- Play the recording. Tell Ss to listen for the symptoms of each syndrome and the specialist's advice. Ss complete the chart. Play the recording again for Ss to check their answers.
- Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Problem: texter's thumb

Symptoms: base of thumb is painful, hurts to text, aches

Advice: use other fingers, send fewer and shorter text messages

Problem: carpal tunnel syndrome

Symptoms: pain in the hands and arms

Advice: stretching and strengthening exercises under the direction of a physical therapist

Problem: gadget addiction

Symptoms: using gadgets all day long, a deep sense of loneliness

Advice: see a therapist, learn to disconnect from the wired world

Audio script: See page T-173.

6 Future technologies? (DISCUSSION)

Learning aim: Give opinions about future technologies (15–20 minutes)

A

- Have Ss look at the pictures, but cover the text under each one. Have them guess what each future technology does. Ask a few Ss to tell the class their guesses.
- Have Ss read the technology descriptions silently to themselves. Ask Ss to explain the meaning of fabric, remote control, wireless, charger, cord, power source, and wearable.
- Explain the task. Give Ss time to think of their answers to the questions. Have a few Ss tell the class their answers.

B Group work

- Explain the task. As a class, brainstorm new technologies that are becoming popular. Write them on the board.
- Ss work in groups to discuss the questions. Make sure they ask each other follow-up questions.
- Have a S from each group tell the class about his or her group's answers.

For more practice discussing technology, download the Worksheet 7.1 How's your tech speak? from the Teacher Support Site.

7 Cyber-begging (READING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in understanding vocabulary in context, reading for specific information, and giving a personal reaction to a reading (25–30 minutes)

A Pair work

- Books closed. Ask: What is debt? (Answer: money that you owe to another person, a company, or a government) What would you consider a frivolous debt? What do you spend most of your money on?
- Books open. Point out the activity title and the picture. Ask Ss to guess what cyber-begging means.
- Explain the task. Ss work in pairs to discuss the question.
- Have Ss share their partner's answer with the class.
- Have Ss read the article silently to themselves. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

designer label something made by a famous designer or clothing company a buck American slang for one dollar home free when something has come to a completely successful conclusion book deal an agreement to write a book for a publisher sob story a sad story told to get other people's sympathy traffic people visiting a particular website

B

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud.
- Ss work individually to read the article again and answer the questions.
- Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. She had spent all her money on expensive clothes and had a lot of debt.
2. She built a website and asked people to send her money so she could pay off her debt. She also sold her designer clothes.
3. Because she was honest about her troubles. Her donors thought she was funny and original.

C Group work

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud.
- Ss work in groups to discuss the questions. Have a S from each group tell the class about his or her group's answers.

Optional activity: Questions (10–15 minutes)

Ss practice making tag and negative questions.

- Have Ss write five tag or negative questions about the article or about cyber-begging in general.
- Ss work in pairs to take turns asking each other their questions.

Optional activity: Blanks (10–15 minutes)

Ss practice writing and reading sentences with new vocabulary.

- On the board, write the words from the vocabulary box on this page, or other new vocabulary from the article.
- Tell Ss to write a sentence with each word, leaving the vocabulary word blank.
- Have Ss exchange their sentences and try to fill in the blanks. Then have Ss check each other's answers.

Cyber-begging

A Pair work Imagine that a stranger asked you for money to help pay off a frivolous debt. Would you help? Tell your partner. Then read the article.

Can you spare a dime for my Gucci bills?

There was a time when Karyn Bosnak couldn't pay a $59.00 bill at the grocery store. She was officially broke. She didn't have enough money to get on the subway, but she looked rich. She was a television producer, earned $900 a week, and had a closetful of designer labels like Gucci and Louis Vuitton. But she also had a $20,221.40 credit card bill and an empty bank account. Karyn decided that it was time for a change. She built a website and simply asked people to help her out by sending her a buck or two.

On the site, Karyn honestly explained her situation, Gucci shoes and all. "If 20,000 people gave me just $1, I'd be home free, and I'm sure there are 20,000 people out there who can afford to give me $1." Amazingly, it worked. Her website was visited by more than a million people. Although most donors just gave a few dollars, one generous donor sent $1,000. She was on TV and in newspapers and magazines. She was offered a book deal and a movie contract. And of course, she was able to pay off her credit card debt.

She also sold her designer clothes on eBay. In her closet, where the Gucci purses once sat, Karyn keeps all the letters that people have sent her.

She's received teddy bears, subscriptions to Vogue, Dunkin' Donuts coupons, backpacks, jewelry, cat food, and candles.

It's hard to understand why so many people helped a total stranger pay off her huge credit card bill. Why did they do it? Karyn explains, "I was just honest about what happened; I didn't make up some sob story about saving the world." Her donors think it's funny and original, she argues, and view it less as a charity than as an entertainment site.

Imitators have sprung up all over the Internet, some with outrageously selfish requests like a BMW or a house. Actually, Karyn was not the first person to put up a website asking strangers for money. The practice has a name: "cyber-begging." Most sites receive little traffic and even less cash.

Karyn also had thousands of enemies and critics. People sent her hate mail and scolded her on websites. Karyn says she never let this anger bother her. "They are probably jealous they didn't think of it," she explains.

Source: "Brother, can you spare a dime for my Gucci bills?" by Janelle Brown, Salon.com

B Read the article again and answer the questions. Then compare your answers with a partner.

1. Why was Karyn in financial trouble?
2. What was her main solution to her problem? What else did she do?
3. Why did so many people respond positively to her website?

C Group work Discuss these questions. Then share your answers with the class.

1. Do you think Karyn was unethical, or was she simply clever?
2. What would you have done if you were Karyn?

PUTTING THE MIND TO WORK

LESSON A ► Exploring creativity

STARTING POINT

Creative professions

A Pair work How much creativity do you think these jobs require? Number them from 1 (most creative) to 4 (least creative). Explain your choices.

___ chef ___ surgeon

___ photographer

___ jazz musician

"I think a chef has to be the most creative. Inventing new dishes requires a lot of creativity."

B Group work Which jobs might be right for these kinds of people? Discuss your answers.

1. someone able to think quickly
2. a person looking for adventure
3. people good with their hands
4. someone needing job security
5. a person trained in music
6. a person with a good voice

"Someone able to think quickly might be a good surgeon. You never know what might go wrong once the operation starts."

2

VOCABULARY

Creative qualities

A What qualities do creative people usually have? Complete the chart with the correct nouns or adjectives.

Noun	Adjective	Noun	Adjective	Noun	Adjective
curiosity	curious	innovation			passionate decisiveness		knowledge		patience determined		motivated		perceptive
	disciplined		original		resourceful

B Pair work Which of the qualities in the chart are most important to your job or studies? Discuss with a partner.

"Well, I'm studying engineering, and we get a lot of assignments, so I have to be very disciplined. It's a very competitive field."

VOCABULARY PLUS see page 137

8 PUTTING THE MIND TO WORK

LESSON A ► Exploring creativity

In this unit, Ss use reduced relative clauses and non-defining relative clauses as sentence modifiers to talk about different kinds of creativity.

1 Creative professions (STARTING POINT)

Learning aim: Discuss creative professions and see reduced relative clauses in context (10–15 minutes)

A Pair work

- Books closed. Brainstorm jobs that Ss think need creativity and jobs that don't. Write them on the board in two columns.
- Books open. Explain the task and have Ss look at the pictures. Read the example sentence aloud.
- Ss work individually to number the jobs in order of creativity. Then have Ss explain their answers to their partner.
- Have Ss tell the class their partner's answers.

B Group work

- Explain the task. Read the question and example answer aloud. Ss work in groups to discuss what kind of job might be right for each kind of person.
- Have Ss share their group's answers with the class.

Optional activity: Debate (15–20 minutes)

Ss have a debate about creativity in jobs.

- Write on the board:
Creativity is only necessary for people who work in occupations such as design, photography, and the arts.
- Put the class into two groups, A and B. Tell group A to think of as many reasons as they can in favor of the statement. Tell group B to think of as many reasons as they can against the statement.
- Give Ss time to think of reasons individually. Then have them discuss their reasons within their group.
- Have a class debate. Have each group take turns presenting their reasons.

2 Creative qualities (VOCABULARY)

Learning aim: Learn and practice using nouns and adjectives to talk about creativity (10–15 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Ask Ss to think of a creative person. As a class, brainstorm adjectives to describe qualities of creative people and write them on the board.
- Books open. Explain the task. Read the words in the chart aloud.
- Ss work individually to complete the activity. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

curiosity, curious	motivation, motivated decisiveness, decisive	originality, original determination, determined	passion, passionate discipline, disciplined	patience, patient
innovation, innovative	perceptiveness, perceptive knowledge, knowledgeable	resourcefulness, resourceful

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the example answer aloud.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss the question. Make sure they use the nouns and adjectives from the chart in part A and the ones on the board.
- Have Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

Optional activity: Creative people (10–15 minutes)

Ss describe a creative person.

- Tell Ss to think of the most creative person they know. Ask them to make a list of the person's qualities.
- Put Ss in small groups. Ss describe the person they chose to their group. Have the other group members ask follow-up questions.
- Alternatively, have Ss describe who they think is the most creative famous person. Have Ss explain why they think that person is creative.

3 Reduced relative clauses (GRAMMAR)

Learning aim: Practice using reduced relative clauses (20–25 minutes)

Grammar notes

Once a relative clause is reduced, it becomes an adjective phrase. It is bound within a noun phrase and defines and describes that noun phrase.

A person [noun phrase] working as a surgeon [adjective phrase] needs to be creative and smart.

These adjective phrases must come immediately after the noun they are describing.

As with non-reduced relative clauses, defining relative clauses are not separated by commas, whereas non-defining relative clauses are.

- Books closed. Write on the board:

A person _____ should be able to think fast in two languages.

Ask: What is this person's occupation? (Answer: an interpreter) Write the answer in the correct spaces.

Ask Ss to complete the rest of the sentence.

A person who works as an interpreter should be able to think fast in two languages.

Ask Ss which type of clause the underlined one is. (Answer: a defining relative clause)

- Then write on the board:

A person working as an interpreter should be able to think fast in two languages.

Ask Ss what changed in the underlined clause. (Answer: The relative pronoun who has been omitted and the verb changed from the simple present to the present participle.) Then ask if the meaning of the two sentences is the same or different. (Answer: the same) Explain that this is a reduced relative clause.

- Books open. Discuss the information in the grammar box and read the example sentences.

A

- Have Ss look at the Starting Point part B on page 62 again. Explain the task and read the questions aloud. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. someone who is able to think quickly (simple present)
2. a person who is looking for adventure (present continuous)
3. people who are good with their hands (simple present)
4. someone who needs job security (simple present)
5. a person who is trained in music (present passive)
6. a person who has a good voice (simple present)

B

- Explain the task. Go over any vocabulary Ss don't understand. Ss work individually to complete the activity.
- Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. Someone hoping to be a chef should get the proper training.
2. Anyone wanting to be an actor needs both talent and luck.
3. A person working as a comedian is always looking for new ways to make people laugh.
4. People clever enough to get inside the mind of a criminal would make good detectives.
5. Anyone dreaming of becoming a champion athlete has to be prepared to do a lot of hard work.
6. Someone interested in the latest music trends might be a good DJ.
7. A person responsible for a large staff has to be able to be creative with scheduling.

C

- Explain the task. Go over any vocabulary Ss don't understand. Ss work individually to complete the activity.
- Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Possible answers

1. Someone dreaming of becoming a professional singer needs to take voice lessons.
2. A person needing to learn English should speak English as much as possible.
3. Anyone hoping to become a journalist should keep up with current events.
4. A person wanting to be a computer programmer doesn't need to have a good speaking voice.
5. People hoping to work in the fashion industry should follow the latest trends in clothing.
6. Someone wanting to be a veterinarian has to study the behavior of animals.
7. People trained as chefs usually have a great love of food and eating.
8. Anyone with a dream of becoming a model will find the job market extremely competitive.

For more practice with the grammar in this exercise, download the Fresh Idea 1, 2, or 3? from the Teacher Support Site.

GRAMMAR

Reduced relative clauses

You can shorten a relative clause by dropping the relative pronoun and the verb be.

Someone (who / that is) able to think quickly might be a good surgeon.

A person (who / that is) looking for adventure could be a private detective.

A person (who / that is) trained in music might be a good DJ.

You can also drop who / that and change the verb to the gerund.

Someone who / that needs job security might not want to be a jazz musician.

Someone needing job security might not want to be a jazz musician.

In many relative clauses, who / that + the verb have can be replaced by with.

A person who / that has a good voice could be a good TV journalist.

A person with a good voice could be a good TV journalist.

GRAMMAR PLUS see page 120

- A Look at the Starting Point on page 62 again. Can you make the reduced relative clauses in part B into full clauses? What verb forms do the full clauses use?
- B Rewrite these sentences with reduced relative clauses. Then compare with a partner.
- Someone who hopes to be a chef should get the proper training.
Someone hoping to be a chef should get the proper training.
 - Anyone who wants to be an actor needs both talent and luck.
 - A person who works as a comedian is always looking for new ways to make people laugh.
 - People who are clever enough to get inside the mind of a criminal would make good detectives.
 - Anyone who dreams of becoming a champion athlete has to be prepared to do a lot of hard work.
 - Someone who is interested in the latest music trends might be a good DJ.
 - A person who is responsible for a large staff has to be able to be creative with scheduling.
- C Complete these sentences using reduced relative clauses and your own ideas.
- ... needs to take voice lessons.
Someone dreaming of becoming a professional singer needs to take voice lessons.
 - ... should speak English as much as possible.
 - ... should keep up with current events.
 - ... doesn't need to have a good speaking voice.
 - ... should follow the latest trends in clothing.
 - ... has to study the behavior of animals.
 - ... usually have a great love of food and eating.
 - ... will find the job market extremely competitive.

4 DISCUSSION

Creativity quiz

A How creative are you? Complete the quiz.

How Creative Are You?

	Always	Sometimes	Rarely	Never
1. Are you a risk taker?	3	2	1	0
2. Are you naturally curious?	3	2	1	0
3. Do you look for opportunities to improve things?	3	2	1	0
4. Are you sensitive to beauty?	3	2	1	0
5. Do you challenge accepted ideas?	3	2	1	0
6. Do you keep an eye out for new fashions and products?	3	2	1	0
7. Do you adapt easily to new situations?	3	2	1	0
8. Do you trust your guesses, intuitions, and insights?	3	2	1	0
9. Are you more interested in the future than in the past?	3	2	1	0
10. Do you have a creative sense of humor?	3	2	1	0

B Pair work Add up your score. Then check what your score means below. Do you agree? Why or why not? Tell your partner.

	21-30	11-20	0-10
About You	Because you're open-minded, you like to keep up with the latest trends and innovations. Accepting the status quo bores you. You see mistakes as learning experiences.	You often have good ideas, but you prefer to feel them out with friends before taking action. You're up-to-date with new fashions and products, but unlikely to be the first in your group to try them.	You prefer to stick with the tried-and-true, which helps you feel safe, but you may get left behind in later years. You're content with who you are and what you know.

5 LISTENING

Creativity at work

A Listen to Samira, Alex, and Naomi talking about their occupations. What does each person do?

B Listen again. What do Samira (S), Alex (A), and Naomi (N) say they focus on in their work? Write the correct letter.

- | | |
|-----------------------------------|---|
| ___ 1. helping indecisive clients | ___ 4. solving a wide variety of problems |
| ___ 2. efficiency | ___ 5. new ideas to replace rejected ones |
| ___ 3. beating the competition | ___ 6. using old concepts in new ways |

4 Creativity quiz (DISCUSSION)

Learning aim: Discuss personal creativity and practice the lesson vocabulary (15–20 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Ask Ss where questionnaires or personality quizzes can often be found. Then ask Ss if they ever complete these kinds of quizzes.
- Books open. Explain the task. Have Ss read the questions. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

risk taker someone who does things without worrying about the consequences sensitive to aware of and affected by something keep an eye out for watch for something intuitions knowledge gained by internal feelings rather than external evidence insights clear, deep understanding of a complicated problem or situation

- Ss work individually to complete the quiz.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Have Ss read the explanations of the scores. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

open-minded not afraid of new ideas status quo the way things are in the present, without change feel (something) out ask for other people's opinions before making a decision tried-and-true proven to work well

- Ss add up their scores and check what they mean. Ss work in pairs to discuss whether or not they agree.
- Have Ss tell the class about their partner's answers to the quiz.

Optional activity: Creativity quiz (20 minutes)

Ss write more questions for the quiz.

- Ss work in pairs to write four more questions for the quiz.
- Collect the questions and write them on the board, leaving out any duplicates.
- Have Ss take the new quiz. Then put Ss in new pairs and have them analyze each other's responses.

For more practice discussing this topic, download the Worksheet 8.1 Four people, four jobs from the Teacher Support Site.

5 Creativity at work (LISTENING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening for gist and details (15–20 minutes)

A [CD 2, Track 18]

- Explain the task. Read the names of the people aloud.
- Tell Ss to listen for the answers to the question. Play the recording as Ss listen for the answers. Replay as many times as needed. Ss listen and check their answers.
- Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Samira: architect

Alex: small business owner

Naomi: interior designer

Audio script: See page T-174.

B [CD 2, Track 19]

- Explain that Ss will listen again and write the correct letter next to what each person focuses on in his or her job.
- Play the recording and have Ss complete the activity.

- Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. N 2. S 3. A 4. A 5. N 6. S

Audio script: See page T-174.

Optional activity: New vocabulary (20 minutes)

Ss practice understanding new vocabulary.

- Have Ss listen to the recording again and write down any words or phrases they don't understand on a separate piece of paper.
- Give Ss a copy of the recording script and have them find the words and phrases they wrote and correct their spelling, if necessary.
- Collect Ss' papers and write the words and phrases on the board. Have Ss try to give a definition of each word or phrase, or use them in example sentences.

6 Beginning new paragraphs (WRITING)

Learning aim: Learn how and when to begin new paragraphs and write a three-paragraph composition (40–50 minutes)

A

- Tell Ss to read the information in the box at the top of the page. Explain that the focus is the central idea or topic of a paragraph, and that writers begin a new paragraph each time they change focus. Remind Ss that each paragraph should contain only one central idea or topic.
- Explain the task. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

sitcom situation comedy; a funny TV program

- Ss read the composition and determine the main ideas or topics. If necessary, tell Ss that there are three separate topics.
- Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Paragraph 2 begins at:

Lucy works as a sitcom writer for a popular TV show now.

Paragraph 3 begins at:

Lucy is very curious.

Optional activity: Supporting ideas (20 minutes)

Ss practice writing supporting ideas for a paragraph's main idea.

- Write two or three topic sentences on the board, such as:
Tom Smith is the most unique person I've ever met.
- Have Ss call out supporting sentences for each topic sentence. Ask them to say why their supporting sentence is appropriate for the topic sentence.

B

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud.
- Ss work individually to do the activity.

C

- Explain the writing task. Ss work individually to write a three-paragraph composition about a person who is very creative or who is unique or different in an interesting way. Have Ss use their answers from part B, and make sure that each paragraph has only one main idea.

D Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud.
- Ss work in pairs to exchange paragraphs and take turns answering the questions.
- Go around the class and help as needed. Encourage Ss to ask and answer follow-up questions about the compositions and to ask about anything they don't understand.

Optional activity: We'd like to . . . (15–20 minutes)

Ss share and discuss their compositions with the class.

- Ss work in small groups. Make sure their partners from part D are not in the group.
- Have Ss read their previous partner's composition to the group. The group chooses the person from a composition they would most like to meet.
- Have a group member read the group's choice to the class. Then the class votes on the most interesting person overall.

Beginning new paragraphs

Begin a new paragraph each time you change the focus of your ideas.

- A Read this composition. The writer changes focus twice. Indicate with a P where the two new paragraphs should begin. Then compare answers with a partner.

Lucy Gomez is the most creative person I know. She started piano lessons when she was only four years old. At school, she was always creating interesting projects in her art class. When she was only 12 years old, she won a citywide poetry contest. Her parents were very proud of her. Lucy works as a sitcom writer for a popular TV show now. She works with a group of writers, and together they have to think of original ideas for stories. They also have to come up with funny dialogue for the actors on their show, because the actors have to play believable characters that will make the audience laugh. It is not an easy job, but Lucy does it well. She starts work late in the morning and often works until 7:00 or 8:00 at night. Lucy is very curious. She likes to travel and meet new people who have opinions that are different from hers. And she's always noting ideas, drawing quick sketches, and taking photos. She tells me that doing these things helps her turn new experiences into a source of ideas for her work. I always enjoy talking to her and am happy to know someone as knowledgeable and creative as Lucy.

- B Brainstorm ideas for a composition about someone who is very creative or who is unique or different in an interesting way. Answer these questions to help you.
1. In what ways is this person special or different?
 2. How does this affect his or her life?
 3. Would you like to be like this person? Why or why not?
- C Write a three-paragraph composition based on your ideas.
- D Pair work Read your partner's composition and answer these questions.
1. Do the paragraphs start and end where they should?
 2. Is the focus of each paragraph clear?
 3. Is there any additional information you would like to know that was not included?

LESSON B ► Ideas that work

1 STARTING POINT

Everyday objects

A Read about these unusual uses of everyday objects. Have you ever used them in these ways?

Three Clever Ideas

1 “I have three cats, which means there’s usually a lot of cat fur on my clothes. To get rid of the fur, I wrap my hand in tape, sticky side out. Then I rub the tape over my clothes, and it picks up the fur!”

2 “The zipper was stuck on my favorite jacket. Luckily, my roommate works in fashion, which is great because she knew how to fix it. She just rubbed a drop of olive oil on the zipper.”

3 “Tacos can be messy to eat, which is why I wrap them in paper coffee filters. I serve them that way at parties and backyard barbecues. It works great for other messy sandwiches, too!”

B Group work Use your imagination to suggest new uses for these everyday items. Decide on the best use for each and share it with the class.

- old newspapers
- aluminum foil
- dental floss
- empty jars or cans
- a shower curtain
- empty shoe boxes
- a hair dryer
- rubber bands

“You can wrap green tomatoes in newspaper to make them ripen more quickly.”

2 VOCABULARY & SPEAKING

Exploring possibilities

A Combine the verbs with the nouns to make common expressions.

Verbs			Nouns
analyze	find	organize	a decision	a problem	a solution	possibilities
explore	make	solve	a mistake	a situation	alternatives	information analyze a situation, solve a problem, . . .

B Pair work Discuss the questions. Then ask your partner more questions using the new vocabulary.

- When do you make decisions quickly? When do you explore the possibilities first?
- Who do you talk to when you need to find a solution to a big problem? Why?
- When was the last time you analyzed a mistake you made? What did you learn from it?

VOCABULARY PLUS see page 137

LESSON B ► Ideas that work

1 Everyday objects (STARTING POINT)

Learning aim: Discuss unusual uses for everyday objects and see the lesson grammar in context (10–15 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Ask Ss to think of everyday objects that they find useful, such as flashlights, napkins, and cell phones. Have Ss call out their answers. List a few of the objects on the board, and then lead a brief class discussion about their usefulness.
- Books open. Explain the task. Have Ss look at the pictures and describe what they see. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

sticky covered in a substance (like glue or honey) that causes something to attach to something else rub press something against a surface with a repeated up and down or circular movement

- Have Ss read the paragraphs silently to themselves. Have a few Ss share their answers with the class.

B Group work

- Explain the task. Read the list of everyday items aloud. Ss work in groups to think of new uses for each item.
- Have Ss tell the class their group's ideas.

2 Exploring possibilities (VOCABULARY & SPEAKING)

Learning aim: Learn and practice using expressions related to problem solving (15–20 minutes)

A

- Explain the task. Have Ss read the list of verbs and nouns in the boxes, clarifying meaning as necessary. Go over the examples. Point out that most of the verbs can be combined with more than one noun.
- Ss work individually to combine the verbs and nouns to make common expressions.
- Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss the questions. Then Ss take turns asking more questions using the vocabulary.
- Have Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

Answers

analyze a decision, analyze a mistake, analyze a problem, analyze a situation, analyze information explore alternatives, explore possibilities find a mistake, find a problem, find a solution, find alternatives, find information make a decision, make a mistake organize information

solve a problem

3 Non-defining relative clauses as sentence modifiers (GRAMMAR)

Learning aim: Practice using non-defining relative clauses as sentence modifiers (35–40 minutes)

Grammar notes

In these relative clauses, the relative pronoun which doesn't refer to a particular noun, but rather to the whole idea in the main clause.

Non-defining relative clauses are always the second clause in a two-clause sentence. Because these clauses are non-defining, they are set off from the main clause by a comma.

This type of non-defining relative clause adds information or a comment that applies to the first clause, but it is not essential information. Therefore, it is set off by a comma.

That cannot be used to begin a non-defining relative clause.

- Books closed. Write on the board:
 1. Tablets are easy to carry,
 2. People enjoy playing video games,
 - a. which means new titles come out all the time.
 - b. which is why many people travel with one.
- Read the sentences aloud and have Ss match the clauses to make sentences. (Answers: 1b, 2a) Then Ss work in pairs to think of another clause that begins with which is why to complete sentences 1 and 2. Ask students whether or not the second clauses add essential information. (Answer: no)
- Books open. Discuss the information in the grammar box and read the example sentences. Have Ss compare these sentences with the non-defining relative clauses in Exercise 3 part B on page 19 of the Student's Book. Ask how they are different. (Answer: The clauses in this lesson make a comment on the complete sentence, as opposed to commenting on just the noun.)

A

- Have Ss look at the Starting Point on page 66 again. Explain the task. Go over answers with the class.

4 Key inventions (SPEAKING)

Learning aim: Talk about inventions and practice the lesson grammar (10–15 minutes)

A

- Explain the task. Ss work individually to make a list of inventions or discoveries they think have had the greatest impact on modern life. Brainstorm modern inventions and discoveries as a class, if necessary.

Answers

More examples of the grammar pattern:

Luckily, my roommate works in fashion, which is great because she knew how to fix it.

Tacos can be messy to eat, which is why I wrap them in paper coffee filters.

In each case, the comma is placed before which to separate the non-defining clause.

B

- Explain the task. Read the statements and clauses aloud. Ss work individually to match the statements and clauses. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

workroom a room in a house that is used to build things, usually small carpentry projects

GPS (global positioning system) an electronic device that maps out a route to a destination

- Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. h	3. d	5. b	7. e
2. a	4. f	6. c	8. g

Optional activity: End the sentence (15 minutes)

Ss practice writing sentences with non-defining relative clauses.

- Have the class brainstorm the first clauses of sentences that can be finished with a non-defining relative clause. Then have them finish the sentences. Challenge Ss to write as many clauses to finish each sentence as they can.

B Group work

- Explain the task. Read the example to the class.
- Ss work in groups to compare their lists. Make sure they ask each other follow-up questions.
- Have one S from each group tell the class the group's answers.

3 GRAMMAR

Non-defining relative clauses as sentence modifiers

You can use non-defining relative clauses with which to make a comment about an entire sentence.

I have three cats, which means there's usually a lot of cat fur on my clothes.

My roommate is a slob, which is why I want to get my own apartment.

GRAMMAR PLUS see page 121

A Look at the Starting Point on page 66 again. Can you find more examples of these grammar patterns? How are the commas used?

B Match these statements with the appropriate non-defining clauses. Then compare with a partner and write two similar statements of your own.

- | | |
|--|---|
| 1. I want to give away all my old books, h | a. which is why you saw me opening it with a coat hanger. |
| 2. I had locked my keys in my car, ____ | b. which is great since he uses them to store nails and things in his workroom. |
| 3. I've been exploring possibilities for natural cleaners, ____ | c. which is great because I think it's solved my problem of forgetting where I store files. |
| 4. My son made a robot costume for himself, ____ | d. which is why I was wiping lemon juice and salt on those copper pots. |
| 5. Our neighbor saves her empty jars for my dad, ____ | e. which is one reason why GPS systems were developed for cars. |
| 6. I downloaded a great new app that helps me organize information, ____ | f. which is why he was covered in aluminum foil yesterday. |
| 7. It's easy to get lost when driving in a new city, ____ | g. which is strange since there are plenty of free programs that do that well. |
| 8. Adam has bought some expensive software to edit videos, ____ | h. which means I have to get boxes for them. |

4 SPEAKING

Key inventions

A What inventions or discoveries do you think have had the greatest impact on modern life? Make a list.

the cell phone

the television

the airplane

B Group work Compare lists with your group.

"I think the cell phone has really affected people's lives. People can talk wherever they are, which means they can always be in touch and save time."

5 LISTENING

Great ideas

A Look at the pictures. What do you know about these products or services? How do you think they were developed?

B Listen to these stories about the invention and development of the products in the photos. Complete the chart.

	Bill Bowerman	Fred Smith
How he got the idea
The initial reaction to the idea
What the inventor did in response

6 DISCUSSION

Making life better

A Pair work Why do people create or invent new products? Read this list of reasons and add two more of your own.

- to help protect people's health
- to make business more efficient
- to make daily life easier
- to make life more enjoyable
- to protect the environment
- to save lives
- _____
- _____

B Group work Join another pair. Why do you think these things were created or invented? Use the reasons in part A or others of your own.

- air conditioners
- artificial sweeteners
- digital cameras
- electric knives
- hybrid cars
- karaoke machines
- laptops
- lie detectors
- scanners

"I think air conditioners were invented to protect people's health. The summer heat can be deadly for infants and the elderly."

5 Great ideas (LISTENING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening for details (15–20 minutes)

A

- Have Ss look at the pictures. Read the questions aloud to the class.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss the questions. Have a few Ss tell the class their answers.

B [CD 2, Track 20]

- Explain the task. Have Ss look at the chart and determine the information they need to complete it. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

track-and-field a group of sports that includes running, jumping, and throwing objects established in existence and successful for a long time footwear shoes refining improving in small but important ways frustration annoyance and impatience paperwork documents needed for a particular occasion or activity overnight done during the night

- Play the recording. Tell Ss to listen for the details of each story to complete the chart. Play the recording again for Ss to check their answers.
- Ss work in pairs to compare answers. Go over answers with the class.

6 Making life better (DISCUSSION)

Learning aim: Give opinions about new products (15–20 minutes)

A Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the question and the list of reasons aloud. Check that Ss understand the vocabulary.
- Ss work in pairs to think of two more reasons and add them to the list.

Answers

Bill Bowerman:

How he got the idea: He believed that the lighter the shoe, the faster a runner could go.

The initial reaction: Established footwear companies were not interested in his idea.

What the inventor did in response: He didn't give up and started a company to produce the shoes, Nike.

Fred Smith:

How he got the idea: He needed to have something delivered across the country the next day.

The initial reaction: His professor gave him a C on a class project for overnight mail delivery.

What the inventor did in response: He refined his ideas and started his own delivery company, FedEx.

Audio script: See page T-174.

B Group work

- Explain the task. Have Ss read the list of inventions. Ask them which ones they have used or if they use any of them on a regular basis.
- Put pairs of Ss together. Read the question and example answer aloud. Have groups discuss each invention.
- Have a S from each group tell the class about the group's answers.

7 A unique inventor and his invention (READING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in understanding vocabulary in context, reading to confirm predictions, and giving a personal reaction to a reading (25–30 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Ask: Do you like to sing? Do you sing in your car, at home alone, or somewhere else? What do you like to sing?
- Books open. Explain the task. Ss work in pairs to guess what Daisuke Inoue invented.
- Have Ss read the article silently to themselves and see if they were correct. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

carry a tune the ability to sing a song in the right key loyal faithful

back-up tracks the recorded instrumental music to a song without the singing amplifier an electronic device that makes sounds louder patent get an official government certification that gives someone the exclusive rights to make money from his or her invention (such as an original machine, device, or piece of technology) breaks the ice makes a potentially socially uncomfortable situation comfortable liberate make free take (something) in stride react calmly to something without anger or frustration

B Group work

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud.
- Ss work in groups to discuss the questions. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. Since he could not accompany a client on a trip, he invented the device to go in his place.
Answers to the second question will vary.
2. Answers will vary.
3. Answers will vary.

For extra practice with this lesson's topic, download the Worksheet 8.2 Great inventions from the Teacher Support Site.

Optional activity: The main idea (10 minutes)

Ss practice identifying main ideas in paragraphs.

- Have Ss identify the main idea or topic in each paragraph of the article. Write them on the board.
- Alternatively, write the main idea of each paragraph on the board. Have Ss say which sentences from the article support each main idea.

Optional activity: Quiz (20 minutes)

Ss write comprehension questions about the article.

- Ss work individually to write at least five comprehension questions about the article.
- Have Ss close their books. Then collect the questions and write them on the board.
- Ask Ss to write the answers to as many questions as they can. To make it more challenging, set a time limit.
- Have Ss exchange papers with a partner and check the answers.

A unique inventor and his invention

A Read the title of the article. What do you think Daisuke Inoue invented? Then read the article and check your answer.

The Man Who Taught the World to Sing

Daisuke Inoue was a drummer in a band near Osaka, Japan, that played versions of famous pop songs. People loved to sing along as the band played, but most of them couldn't carry a tune. Inoue's band had spent years learning how to make the untalented customer sound in tune by adjusting the music to match the customer's voice. The singers, mainly Japanese businessmen out for a night on the town, loved Inoue's unique follow-along style.

In 1971, a loyal client asked Inoue to escort him on a company trip, but Inoue could not attend. He found a solution: he recorded his band's back-up tracks, and then hooked up a car stereo and an amplifier. With this device, Inoue gave birth to the karaoke machine. By the 1980s, karaoke, which means "empty orchestra," was a Japanese word that required no translation across the globe.

Unfortunately, Inoue never bothered to patent the world's first karaoke machine, so he lost his chance to become one of Japan's richest men. When asked if he regretted not patenting his invention, 65-year-old Daisuke Inoue confessed, "I'm not an inventor. I am just resourceful. I simply put things that already exist together. Who would consider patenting something like that?"

Inoue's friend Robert Scott Field says, "Some people say he lost 150 million dollars. If it were me, I'd be crying in the corner, but he's a happy guy. I think he's amazed to find that he's touched so many lives." Inoue believes the little box he put together has had a huge social impact, especially in Japan. At weddings and company get-togethers, the karaoke comes out and people relax. It breaks the ice.

Although Inoue spent years in obscurity, in 1999, Time magazine called him one of the twentieth century's most influential people, saying he had "helped to liberate the once unvoiced."

Inoue is always getting asked silly questions, but he takes them in stride. "Women approach me all the time and ask if I can help their husbands sing better. I always say that if her husband were any good at singing, he would be making a living at it. He's bad, which means he's just like the rest of us."

Inoue didn't use a modern karaoke machine until he was 59 years old, but his favorite English songs are "Love Is a Many Splendored Thing" and Ray Charles' "I Can't Stop Loving You." "They're easy, which is good because I'm a terrible singer," said Daisuke Inoue, the man who taught the world to sing.

Source: "Mr. Song and Dance Man," by Dr. David McNeill, Sophia University, Tokyo

B Group work Discuss these questions. Then share your answers with the class.

1. What led Daisuke Inoue to create his invention? Do you agree he was only being resourceful, or was he actually an inventor? Explain.
2. Would you have the same attitude as Inoue if you invented something popular and received no compensation? Why or why not?
3. How do you think Inoue "helped to liberate the once unvoiced" both as a drummer in his band and as the inventor of karaoke? Do you think this is a good thing? Explain.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

LESSON A ► How typical are you?

STARTING POINT

What's typical?

A Read about the “typical” person in Italy and Japan. What information surprised you? Why?

The typical ITALIAN person ...	<< >>	The typical JAPANESE person ... drinks 155 liters of bottled water per year.		drinks 10 liters of bottled water per year.
consumes 3.2 kilograms of coffee per year.		consumes 1.4 kilograms of coffee per year.
consumes 0.1 kilograms of tea per year.		consumes 0.9 kilograms of tea per year.
visits the doctor 6 times per year.		visits the doctor 14 times per year.
watches 27 hours of TV per week.		watches 21 hours of TV per week.
gets married at 30 years old (for men) or 27 years old (for women).		gets married at 30 years old (for men) or 27 years old (for women).
studies for 7.2 years after the age of 15.		studies for 9.5 years after the age of 15.
travels 710 kilometers by rail per year.		travels 1,900 kilometers by rail per year.

Source: www.nationmaster.com

B Complete these statements. Use information from the chart.

1. Unlike the Japanese, Italians seem to drink a lot of bottled water.
2. While the typical _____ person studies until the age of 22, the typical _____ person studies until the age of 24.
3. Both like TV, except that the typical _____ person watches more.
4. In contrast to Italians, the Japanese travel a lot more _____.
5. Both groups are fairly different, except for the age _____.

SPEAKING

That's just so typical!

A Pair work What are typical examples of these things in your hometown?

1. a store
2. a home
3. a job
4. a car
5. a snack food
6. a weekend activity

B Group work Join another pair and compare your answers.

“What's a typical store in your hometown?”

“We have something called ‘dollar stores.’ They have household goods, clothes, toys, and lots of other stuff. And everything's really inexpensive.”

9 GENERALLY SPEAKING

LESSON A ► How typical are you?

In this unit, Ss use clauses and phrases showing contrast and exception to talk about customs and typical behavior. They also practice using used to and would to talk about past habits.

1 What's typical? (STARTING POINT)

Learning aim: Discuss characteristics of a “typical” person and see clauses and phrases showing contrast and exception in context (10–15 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Ss work in pairs to write a definition for the word typical. (Answer: considered to be the most usual in a group of people or in a particular situation) Have Ss share their definitions with the class. Ask Ss if they think there is such a thing as a “typical” person in their country or culture.
- Books open. Tell Ss they will read about the “typical” Italian person and the “typical” Japanese person.
- Ss work individually to read the descriptions. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

consumes eats or drinks

by rail by train

- Ask Ss to share with the class what they found surprising and why.

B

- Explain the task. Ss work individually to complete the statements. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. bottled water
2. Italian, Japanese
3. Italian
4. by rail
5. they get married

Optional activity: What's typical? (15 minutes)

Ss describe a typical person in their own country or culture.

- Ss work in pairs. Have Ss look again at the information in the chart in part A. Then have Ss talk to their partner about a typical person in their own country or culture, based on the information in the chart. Tell Ss that they will probably have to guess at some of their answers. Encourage them to add any additional information that they know.
- Have Ss share their information with the class.

2 That's just so typical! (SPEAKING)

Learning aim: Practice talking about typical things (10–15 minutes)

A Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the categories aloud to the class. Give example answers for each one based on your hometown.
- Ss work in pairs to do the activity.

B Group work

- Explain the task. Have one pair of Ss read the example conversation to the class.
- Put pairs together to compare answers. Tell Ss to include a sentence or two giving details about each typical thing in their hometown.
- Have a few groups share their answers with the class.

3 Clauses and phrases showing contrast and exception (GRAMMAR)

Learning aim: Practice using clauses and phrases showing contrast and exception (25–30 minutes)

Grammar notes

The conjunctions while, unlike, and in contrast to show contrast between the information in two clauses of a sentence.

The conjunctions except that, except for, and except for the fact that show an exception.

When the conjunctions presented in this grammar focus come at the beginning of a sentence, the two clauses are separated by a comma.

- Books closed. Write on the board:
 1. While most Americans consume 3 kilograms of coffee per year,
 2. Unlike the average French student,
 3. In contrast to most Swedish women,
 - a. the typical student in the Philippines is in school for 7.3 hours a day.
 - b. women in the United States get married on average at 27.
 - c. people in Ireland consume only 0.7 kilograms.
- Read the clauses aloud and have Ss match the clauses to make sentences. (Answers: 1c, 2a, 3b) Point out the conjunctions and how the information in the subordinate clause contrasts with the information in the main clause.
- Write on the board:

People in my family don't use credit cards except for big purchases.

I'm very similar to the average student here except that I study three foreign languages.

- Point out that the information in the second part of the sentence is an exception to the first part. Also point out that the commas are missing in these sentences. Ask Ss where to insert a comma in both sentences. (Answer: before except) Then have Ss work in pairs to suggest an alternative second part for each of the two sentences.
- Books open. Discuss the information in the grammar box and read the example sentences.

A

- Have Ss look at the Starting Point on page 70 again. Explain the task and read the question aloud. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Items 3 (except that) and 5 (except for) use phrases with except.

Except that is followed by a clause.

B

- Explain the task. Go over the example answer with the class.
- Ss work individually to write sentences. Then Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

C

- Explain the task. Read the example sentence.
- Ss work individually to complete the sentences with their own ideas. Then Ss work in pairs to share their answers. Go over answers with the class.

4 Are you typical? (DISCUSSION)

Learning aim: Talk about the typical student in the class and practice the lesson grammar (15–20 minutes)

Group work

- Read the survey statements aloud. Answer any questions about vocabulary.
- Explain the task. Read the example sentences aloud. Ss work individually to complete the survey. Then Ss work in groups to compile the answers for their group. Have a few groups share their answers with the class.

Optional activity: A typical person (15 minutes)

Ss write a new survey about typical traits.

- Ss work in small groups. If possible, group together Ss who have something in common (e.g., they are the same age or from the same country/city/area, etc.). Have Ss write a new survey about a typical person from their group.
- Groups exchange their surveys and complete the other group's survey.
- Have groups share their answers with the class.

GRAMMAR

Clauses and phrases showing contrast and exception

Use while, unlike, and in contrast to in order to present contrasting information, especially in writing.

While the typical Italian person studies until the age of 22, the typical Japanese person studies until the age of 24.

Unlike the Japanese, Italians seem to drink a lot of bottled water.

In contrast to Italians, the Japanese travel a lot more by rail.

Use except (that), except (for), and except for the fact (that) to show an exception.

Both like TV, except (that) the typical Italian person watches more.

Italian and Japanese people are fairly different, except for the age they get married.

Japanese people typically consume less, except for the fact that they drink more tea.

GRAMMAR PLUS see page 122

A Look at the Starting Point on page 70 again. Notice the sentences in part B that use phrases with except. Which phrase is followed by a clause?

B Here's some information about customs. How are they different in other places? Write sentences showing contrasts and indicating exceptions.

- When people in the U.S. go to a party, they usually arrive a few minutes late.
Unlike people in the U.S., most people where I live arrive on time for parties.
- Most people in Canada have cereal and milk for breakfast some days of the week.
- Most people in the U.S. who study a foreign language in college choose Spanish.
- In the U.K., it's common for friends to split the bill at a restaurant.
- For people in Italy, lunch is the main meal of the day.
- Women in Spain usually kiss people on both cheeks when they meet.

C Are you typical? Complete these sentences and compare with a partner.

- Unlike most people where I live, I don't own a car.
- In contrast to most of my friends, . . .
- While a lot of the people where I live . . .
- I'm similar to many of my friends, except that . . .

DISCUSSION

Are you typical?

Group work Choose the answer that makes each sentence true for you. Then compare answers with your group. Are you typical in your group?

- I need six or less / seven / eight or more hours of sleep.
- For commuting, I rely mainly on buses / subways / trains / taxis / a car.
- I tend to eat healthy / unhealthy snacks between meals.
- I spend the most time with my friends in person / on the phone / online.
- I button my clothes from the top down / bottom up.
- A great night out should include a movie / play / concert / sporting event.

"Unlike most of the people in my group, I need eight or more hours of sleep or I don't feel rested. Most people in my group need only six hours or less."

5 VOCABULARY

Should I just go with the flow?

A Are these adjectives, verbs, and phrases related to accepting things as they are or to making changes? Put them in the correct columns.

Adjectives	Verbs	Phrases
amenable	accept	be your own person conservative	conform (to)	fit in rebellious	confront	follow the crowd
(un)conventional	stand up (to/for)	make waves

Accepting things as they are	Making changes

B Group work Use the expressions in the chart in part A to describe what you think these people might be like. Give examples to explain your ideas.

1. Ed, a guy who gets along with everyone
2. Clarissa, an actor desperate for attention
3. Rob, an assistant at a law firm hoping for a promotion
4. Diana, a leader who wants to change the world

"Ed is probably amenable and does what other people want. I imagine he only confronts people if he really has to and generally follows the crowd."

VOCABULARY PLUS see page 138

6 LISTENING & SPEAKING

How are they different?

A Listen to Yoshiko, Diego, and Suzanne talking about their school experiences. Answer the questions.

1. What examples does Yoshiko give for how she is typical? In what way is she different?
2. What are three ways that Diego's life is typical? In what way doesn't he follow the crowd?
3. Does Suzanne give an example of how her life is unconventional? If so, what is it?

B Listen again. Do Yoshiko, Diego, and Suzanne believe they are typical or different from most people their age?

C Pair work Do you tend to go with the flow or be your own person? Discuss these questions.

1. Are your interests similar to those of your friends and family or different? Explain.
2. In what ways do the clothes you wear make you stand out or fit in?
3. How does your taste in music compare to that of other people your age?

Yoshiko in Mexico

5 Should I just go with the flow? (VOCABULARY)

Learning aim: Learn and practice using adjectives, verbs, and phrases related to accepting things as they are or making changes (15–20 minutes)

A

- Ask Ss what they think go with the flow means. (Answer: do what other people are doing and agree with the opinions of others) Ask Ss if they think they usually accept things as they are or if they usually feel they want to make changes.
- Read the words and phrases aloud to the class and answer any questions about vocabulary.
- Explain the task. Ss work individually to complete the activity. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Accepting things as they are:
amenable, conservative, conventional, accept, conform (to), fit in, follow the crowd

Making changes:
rebellious, unconventional, confront, stand up (to/for), be your own person, make waves

B Group work

- Explain the task. Go over the example answer. Ss work in groups to do the activity.
- Have a S from each group tell the class some of their group's answers.

For more practice with the vocabulary in this exercise, download the Worksheet 9.1 Mold breakers from the Teacher Support Site.

6 How are they different? (LISTENING & SPEAKING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening for details and making inferences (20–25 minutes)

A [CD 3, Track 2]

- Explain the task. Have Ss read the questions so they know what information they will be listening for. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

bunch group

head off (to/for) leave one place to go to another hang out spend a lot of time in a particular place or with someone decent very good, but not necessarily great

- Play the recording as many times as needed for Ss to take notes to answer the questions. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. Yoshiko is typical because she goes to high school five days a week and has similar interests to most of her friends. She's different because she spent six years living outside of Japan.
2. Diego is typical because he goes to school at seven every morning, he studies or plays sports after school, and on the weekends he likes to get together with friends. He doesn't follow the crowd because he likes to do his own thing sometimes.
3. Yes. Suzanne explains that her life is unconventional because she goes to a school for the arts.

B [CD 3, Track 3]

- Explain the task. Play the recording again. Ss listen for information to answer the question.
- Ss work in pairs to compare answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Yoshiko: different

Diego: typical

Suzanne: different

Audio script: See page T-174.

C Pair work

- Explain the task. Tell Ss to read the questions.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss the questions.
- Have Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

Audio script: See page T-174.

7 Supporting statements (WRITING)

Learning aim: Write a paragraph with supporting statements that develop the main idea (40–50 minutes)

A

- Tell Ss to read the information in the box at the top of the page. Ask: What is a supporting idea? (Answer: key facts, reasons, or examples of the main idea)
- Explain the task. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

nine-to-five job a job, usually in an office or store, that begins at 9 a.m. and ends at 5 p.m.

trendspotter someone who identifies and reports on new ideas, activities, and fashions that are becoming popular trendsetter a person, organization, etc. that starts to do something that others then copy

- Ss read the paragraph and work individually to find the topic sentence and three supporting statements. Then Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Topic sentence:

My friend Josie Buchier doesn't like to follow the crowd.

Supporting statements:

. . . she has her own unique sense of fashion, . . .

Her taste in music is . . . unconventional.

She also has a very interesting job.

B

- Explain the task. Brainstorm ways to finish each sentence as a class, if necessary.
- Ss work individually to complete the activity. Then Ss work in pairs to compare their answers.

C

- Explain the writing task. Read the example topic sentence aloud. Ask Ss if they can think of any supporting information.
- Tell Ss that they should write only one paragraph and that they should focus on one main idea. Remind Ss to write a topic sentence and have all their information support their topic sentence. Ss work individually to complete the writing task.

D Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud.
- Ss work in pairs to do the activity. Have Ss share their answers with the class.

For more practice with this lesson's topic, download the Worksheet 9.2 Survey says! from the Teacher Support Site.

Optional activity: What's the topic? (15–20 minutes)

Ss practice writing a topic sentence and supporting information.

- Ss work individually to think of a topic sentence for a main idea (e.g., “untypical” people: There are three ways that people in my country are not typical of people in other countries.). Then Ss write three supporting statements (e.g., regarding food and eating habits, cultural traditions, family responsibilities, etc.).
- Collect the papers. Read the three supporting statements from one S's paper and have the class guess the topic sentence. Continue with other Ss' papers.

Supporting statements

Supporting statements develop the topic sentence by providing key facts, reasons, or examples.

- A Read the paragraph. What's the topic sentence? Underline three supporting statements that develop the main idea in the topic sentence. Then compare your answers with a partner.

The screenshot shows a web browser window with the address bar displaying 'http://www.cup.org/myblog/'. The page title is 'Unconventionally Cool: Trendspotter Josie Buchier'. The date is 'June 13'. The main text of the blog post reads: 'My friend Josie Buchier doesn't like to follow the crowd. While most of us are trying our best to fit in with everyone else, Josie likes to be her own person. For instance, she has her own unique sense of fashion, so she likes to buy all her clothes, except for her shoes, in used clothing shops. Her taste in music is also pretty unconventional. Unlike most of my friends, she can't stand pop music. She prefers to listen to Philippine and Andean folk music. She also has a very interesting job. Unlike her old nine-to-five job in a conservative department store, she now works as a trendspotter for an advertising company. This means that she spends her time looking at the latest fashion and entertainment trends among young people. Then she writes reports for her company about what's in style. This makes my unconventional friend a trendsetter that others follow, and that's pretty cool.' To the right of the text is a photo of a young woman with short dark hair, wearing a denim jacket, a purple scarf, and a green shirt. At the bottom right of the text area, it says '[4 comments]'.

- B Finish these statements with information of your own to make topic sentences. Compare with a partner.

1. Generally speaking, most people where I live don't . . .
2. One of my best friends is . . .
3. In general, my friends tend to be . . .

- C Choose one of the topic sentences and brainstorm supporting ideas. Then choose at least four supporting statements and write a paragraph.

Generally speaking, most people where I live don't mind making waves. It's their way of . . .

- D Pair work Exchange paragraphs and answer these questions.

1. Do all the supporting statements relate to the topic sentence?
2. Do they develop and explain the topic sentence?
3. Do the supporting details fit together in a logical order?
4. What other facts, reasons, or examples could be added?

LESSON B ► Problems and solutions

1 STARTING POINT

I never used to feel stressed.

A Read Annie's email to her friend. What problems does she have?

To: Adriana Costa
From: Annie Wilson
Subject: Missing you!

Hi Adriana,

How are things back in Cartagena? Are you glad to be home again? Sorry I haven't written lately. I have a lot of new responsibilities at work now, so I've been really stressed. My job didn't use to be so demanding!

I have to say, I miss you. You used to be such a good influence on me! These days, I oversleep. I'm even late for work sometimes! That never used to happen because I knew I had to meet you at the café in the morning. I remember how you would complain about the coffee they served. You used to call it "brown water"!

I'm spending too much money, too. Every time I go to the mall, I see something I want to buy. That's another reason I miss you! I would see some great jacket, but you wouldn't let me buy it. You would always tell me I didn't need it and drag me away!

Also, I have a noisy new roommate, Cindy. All she ever does is gab on her cell! Remember the way we would sit around talking? You always used to make me laugh. I bet that's a big reason I never used to feel stressed like I do now!

Anyway, the weekend will be here soon, so I'm sure I'll feel better then.

Write soon!

Annie

B Pair work What do you think Annie should do about her problems?

"Annie should find another friend to meet at the café in the morning."

2 VOCABULARY

Expressions with keep and stay

A Match the phrases to make questions. Notice the expressions with keep and stay.

- | | |
|---|----------------------------|
| 1. When you're stressed, can you keep e | a. expenses down? |
| 2. When friends move away, do you keep / stay ____ | b. up with current events? |
| 3. If you're sleepy while studying, what can you do to stay ____ | c. connected? |
| 4. What news sources do you read in order to keep ____ | d. in touch? |
| 5. Do you break the rules or do you keep / stay ____ | e. things in perspective? |
| 6. How do you save money when you need to keep ____ | f. awake? |
| 7. Is it important for old friends to keep / stay ____ | g. out of trouble? |

B Pair work Take turns answering the questions. Discuss your answers.

VOCABULARY PLUS see page 138

LESSON B ► Problems and solutions

1 I never used to feel stressed. (STARTING POINT)

Learning aim: Discuss life concerns and see the past habitual with used to and would in context (10–15 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Ask Ss who they usually talk to when they have a problem. Ask them why they talk to that person.
- Books open. Explain the task. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

demanding requiring a lot of time and effort oversleep wake up too late drag (someone) away force someone to leave a place

gab talk continuously and eagerly, especially about unimportant matters

- Have Ss read the email and take notes about Annie's problems.

Answer

Her job is very demanding. She oversleeps and is late for work sometimes. She's spending too much money. She has a noisy roommate. She's stressed.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the example answer aloud.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss solutions to the problems. Have a few pairs share their solutions with the class.

Optional activity: An email to a friend (15 minutes)

Ss write an email to a friend describing some of their concerns.

- Tell Ss to pretend they have some concerns. Have them write an email to a friend describing their situation and concerns. Tell Ss to use the email in part A as a guide.
- Have Ss exchange emails and take turns giving each other advice about their concerns.

2 Expressions with keep and stay (VOCABULARY)

Learning aim: Learn and practice using expressions with keep and stay (10–15 minutes)

A

- Ask Ss if they know any expressions with keep or stay. Write them on the board.
- Explain the task. Ss work individually to complete the questions.
- Ss work in pairs to compare answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

- | | | | |
|--------|------|------|--------|
| 1. e | 3. f | 5. g | 7. d/c |
| 2. c/d | 4. b | 6. a | |

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Ss work in pairs to take turns answering the questions. Then have Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

3 Past habitual with used to and would (GRAMMAR)

Learning aim: Practice using the past habitual with used to and would (20–25 minutes)

Grammar notes

If the sentence is affirmative, use used to or would.

I used to get up at 7:00 every morning.

I would get up at 7:00 every morning.

If the sentence is negative, use didn't use to or wouldn't.

I didn't use to oversleep so often.

I wouldn't oversleep so often.

Both used to and would can express an action that was repeated regularly in the past. Only used to can be used to describe a situation that existed in the past.

I used to own a very large dog.

- Books closed. Write on the board:

I used to be a student.

I would go to that coffee shop every day last year.

Ask Ss if the action in each sentence happens in the past, present, or future. (Answer: Both are in the past.)

- Books open. Discuss the information in the grammar box and read the example sentences.

A

- Have Ss look at the Starting Point on page 74 again. Explain the task. Have Ss list the changes using sentences with used to. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

She didn't use to have as many responsibilities at work.

Her job didn't use to be so demanding.

Adriana used to be a good influence on her.

She didn't use to oversleep.

She didn't use to be late for work.

She used to meet Adriana at the café in the morning.

Adriana used to keep her from spending too much money.

She didn't use to have a noisy roommate.

She and Adriana used to sit around talking.

Adriana used to make her laugh.

She never used to feel stressed.

B

- Explain the task. Go over the example answer with the class. Ss work individually to complete the sentences.
- Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

- | | |
|--------------------|---------------------|
| 1. used to | 6. used to |
| 2. used to / would | 7. used to / would |
| 3. used to | 8. used to |
| 4. used to / would | 9. used to / would |
| 5. used to / would | 10. used to / would |

4 Personal concerns (DISCUSSION)

Learning aim: Talk about changes in life and practice the lesson grammar (15–20 minutes)

A Pair work

- Books closed. Ask: What events cause changes in a person's life? (Possible answers: a new job, marriage, etc.) What kind of positive or negative effects can these changes have?
- Books open. Explain the task. Ss read the comments silently to themselves.
- Ss work in pairs to talk about the positive and negative impacts the change had on each person's life. Go over answers with the class. (See answers at right.)

B Group work

- Explain the task. Give Ss time to think of a big change in their life and how it affected them.
- Read the example answer aloud. Ss work in groups to discuss their answers.

Answers

Lucas:

Positive: not mentioned

Negative: He and his wife can't go out whenever they want now. He's a worrier now.

Britney:

Positive: She is making more money and can afford to go to nice cafés.

Negative: She doesn't have time to go out to eat, so she eats at her desk.

Wen Ho:

Positive: He and his wife are going to travel the world.

Negative: not mentioned

3 GRAMMAR

Past habitual with used to and would

Used to and would can both be used to describe past habitual actions or situations which are no longer true. However, would cannot be used with stative verbs such as live, be, have, or like.

You always used to make me laugh.

My job didn't use to be so demanding!

Remember the way we would sit around talking?

I would see some great jacket, but you wouldn't let me buy it.

GRAMMAR PLUS see page 123

A Look at the Starting Point on page 74 again. Make a list of the things that have changed for Annie since Adriana went back to Colombia.

B Complete these sentences with used to or would. Sometimes more than one answer is possible.

The first year of high school, I wasn't a very good student. I (1) used to think school was boring. I remember my classmates (2) _____ go to the library and work on projects or study, but I (3) _____ like to play video games at a friend's house instead. We (4) _____ go right after class, and we (5) _____ spend three or four hours doing that. My parents both (6) _____ have jobs with long hours, so they never knew what time I (7) _____ get home. I thought I was smart, and that I didn't need to study to keep my grades up. But one day, I was asked to go to the principal's office. He said, "You (8) _____ be a great student. Now your grades are terrible. Explain!" That was a real wake-up call. After that, I became serious about school, and I (9) _____ study and finish my homework before playing video games. Now that my kids are in high school, I tell them about all the silly things I (10) _____ do when I was their age.

4 DISCUSSION

Personal concerns

A Pair work These people have had a change in their lives. What positive or negative impacts have these changes had?

Lucas Santos, 25, Curitiba

"Before my wife and I had our first baby, we would go out whenever we wanted. We can't do that now. I didn't use to be a worrier, but I am now."

Britney Majors, 32, Toronto

"Before my promotion, I would eat lunch in the cafeteria because that was all I could afford. Now I have money to go to nice cafés, but I just don't have the time. So, I usually eat at my desk."

Wen Ho Chen, 67, Taipei

"We used to plan on moving in with our son when we retired. But we've changed our minds. We just sold our house, and we're going to travel the world."

B Group work Think about a big change in your life. Talk about the positive and negative impacts it had.

"Last year, I was transferred to another department in my company. My new responsibilities are a lot more interesting, but I didn't use to have to work this much."

5 LISTENING & SPEAKING

Different approaches to problem solving

A Pair work Read about these three approaches to problem solving. What method do you use? Give examples to support your answer.

What kind of problem solver are you?

Different people solve their problems in different ways. The three main approaches are assertive, meditative, and cooperative. Find out which one best describes you.

- ▶ Assertive people prefer action to talk. When they're faced with a problem, they immediately try to work out a solution.
- ▶ When meditative people have a problem, they sit and think about it, and might even do research. Sometimes, the answer comes to them if they don't act on something right away.
- ▶ Cooperative people think the easiest way to solve a problem is to ask for help. Another person's perspective can help cooperative people come up with solutions.

"I'd say I'm a meditative person. Before I bought my first car, I spent hours doing research on it by myself. It took me forever to decide!"

B Listen to Dominique, Carla, and Wayne talking about their personal concerns. What kind of problem solver is each person?

C Listen again. What are two things each person did to solve their problem?

6 ROLE PLAY

Here's an idea . . .

A Read about these people's problems. What advice would you give each person?

My boss is so demanding. She gives me more work than I can handle.

I can't save money because I always spend it on little things I want but don't really need.

My last job interview went very badly. I always get tongue-tied in front of authority figures.

I'm not enjoying things like I used to. I'm not sure why. Maybe I'm too stressed.

B Role-play each situation. Take turns giving and receiving advice.

"My boss is so demanding. She gives me more work than I can handle."

"Here's an idea. See if your co-workers feel the same way. Maybe you all can talk to the boss about it."

"I guess I could try that."

Useful expressions

Giving advice

Here's an idea . . .
If I were you, I'd . . .

Receiving advice

I guess I could try that.
I just might try that.

5 Different approaches to problem solving (LISTENING & SPEAKING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening for details and making inferences (20–25 minutes)

A Pair work

- Books closed. Ask: What do you think is the best way to solve personal problems?
- Books open. Explain the task. Have Ss read about the three approaches to problem solving. Go over any unfamiliar vocabulary.
- Ss work in pairs to read the example answer and discuss which methods they use. Make sure Ss give examples to support their answer.
- Have Ss tell the class their partner's answer.

B [CD 3, Track 4]

- Explain the task. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

impulse buys things someone buys without thinking about the price or if they are really needed input advice or opinion pose ask

a great deal a very good product or service at a low price

- Tell Ss to read the question. Play the recording while Ss listen for the answers. Play the recording again for Ss to check their answers.
- Ss work in pairs to compare answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Dominique: meditative

Carla: assertive

Wayne: cooperative

Audio script: See page T-175.

C [CD 3, Track 5]

- Explain the task. Tell Ss to read the question. Play the recording while Ss listen for the answers. Play the recording again for Ss to check their answers.
- Ss work in pairs to compare answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Dominique: She read consumer magazines and did research online. She also read the classified ads to find a used car.

Carla: She wrote a few important questions to ask each job candidate. She gave herself five minutes to decide.

Wayne: He asked everyone for an opinion about where he should go. After that, he searched the Internet for the best price.

Audio script: See page T-175.

6 Here's an idea . . . (ROLE PLAY)

Learning aim: Practice giving and receiving advice about problems (15–20 minutes)

A

- Explain the task. Tell Ss to look at the question and read the people's problems. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

tongue-tied unable to express oneself clearly authority figure a person who represents power or authority

- Give Ss time to think of the advice they would give each person.
- Ss work in pairs to compare answers. Go over answers with the class.

B

- Explain the task. Have one pair of Ss read the example role play to the class. Go over the Useful Expressions box.
- Ss work in pairs to role-play giving and receiving advice for each problem in part A.
- Have pairs do one of their role plays for the class.
- Ask the class to vote on the best advice.

Optional activity: Problem solved (15 minutes)

Ss continue role-playing giving and receiving advice.

- Ss work in pairs to think of a new problem and write it on a piece of paper.
- Collect the papers and redistribute them to other pairs. Have pairs role-play giving and receiving advice for the problem they receive.

7 Creative problem solving (READING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in understanding vocabulary in context, reading for specific information, and giving a personal reaction to a reading (25–30 minutes)

A Pair work

- Explain the task. Have students look at the two paintings. Then read the questions aloud. Ss work in pairs to discuss the questions.
- Have students share their ideas with the class. (Possible answers: The perspective is different. The light is different. The time of day seems different. The benches are closer in the painting on the right. You might notice the benches and the path first in the painting on the right, but the trees first in the painting on the left, etc.)
- Have Ss read the article silently to themselves. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

retreat a place one goes to have peace and quiet dynamics the forces or processes that cause change or produce something line of sight the imaginary line between a person's eyes and what the person is looking at landscape a large area of countryside that is usually beautiful to look at, often natural and not man-made cluttered filled with too many objects detract (from) make something less important focal point the center of interest or attention foster encourage something to develop calibrate make adjustments to match a particular situation brush up improve and renew

B Group work

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud.
- Ss work in groups to discuss the questions. Have Ss share their answers with the class.

Answers

1. Ignoring the details will make it easier to focus on the big picture rather than get hung up on unimportant, small things.
2. Both lessons focus on allowing others to work at their own level and on respecting people for the skills and experience they have.
3. Shine a light on an issue means to look at it clearly, from a different and clearer perspective. Doing this helps you look at all aspects of a problem rather than just at what is visible right away.
4. Answers will vary.

Optional activity: Summary (10–15 minutes)

Ss practice summarizing the main paragraphs of the article.

- Have Ss work in pairs to take turns summarizing each lesson (or numbered paragraph) in their own words to each other.
- Have four Ss summarize each lesson (or numbered paragraph) to the class.

Optional activity: Blanks (15–20 minutes)

Ss practice writing and reading sentences with new vocabulary.

- Ask Ss to call out any words from the article that were new for them. Write the words on the board.
- Have Ss work in pairs to write a sentence that contextualizes each word, leaving the vocabulary word blank.
- Have pairs exchange their sentences and try to fill in the blanks. Then have Ss check each other's answers.

Creative problem solving

A Pair work Look at these paintings of the same landscape. How are they different? What effect does this have on what you notice first? Discuss. Then read the article.

Painting and Problem Solving: FOUR LESSONS

Earlier this month I escaped the office for a weeklong painting retreat in the woods of Door County, Wisconsin. While working amidst the awe-inspiring fall colors, it occurred to me that the dynamics of painting and problem solving have a lot in common. I returned home not only with newly polished painting skills but also a fresh perspective on managing problems. I learned four lessons while painting:

1 How you see things depends on your line of sight.

When painting a landscape, countless choices are yours. For starters, you can choose where to place the horizon and what you eliminate from the actual setting. If the existing landscape is cluttered, for instance, you can exclude elements that detract from your focal point. Likewise, in problem solving, getting caught up in the clutter diminishes your ability to reach your desired result. Choose instead to focus on the bigger picture.

2 People can see the same landscape and represent it in totally different ways.

One day I sat with two other painters in a microclimate with magnificent sugar maples. Much to my surprise, our final paintings were totally different. A similar phenomenon occurs in problem solving: Any number of people can arrive at the same situation with different ideas, skills, or resources. They can also have different designs on the end result. In this way, respecting where others are coming from is critical to problem solving.

3 When light is shined on a subject, you can explore what lies in the shadows.

It can be harder to paint landscapes on cloudy days. The various forms and contrasts are less clear, and it's difficult to explore what lies in the shadows. When the sun is shining, however, the distinctions between objects are clearly visible and what lies in the shadows is revealed. The same goes for problem solving: When you shine a light on an issue, you see everything more clearly, including what opportunities or threats exist in the shadows.

4 Collaborating with people at different levels can foster appreciation for diverse ideas and perspectives.

At the retreat, there were painters at every level, from first-timers to fine artists. I learned something from each one, particularly when our group came in from the woods and worked together in the studio. I opened myself up to others' unique observations and feedback, and ultimately felt more energized and creative. Additionally, I was struck by our instructor's capacity to calibrate her critiques to our individual skill levels. Similarly, in problem solving, it's important to meet others where they are, not where you might want them to be.

Odds are there is a problem on your desk today. How might even one of these four lessons help you brush up your problem-solving skills?

Source: "4 Ways to Brush Up Your Problem-Solving Skills," by Barbara T. Armstrong

B Group work Discuss these questions. Then share your answers with the class.

1. In what way is it helpful to avoid paying attention to details when solving a problem?
2. How are the second and fourth lessons in the article similar?
3. What do you think the author means by "shine a light on an issue"? How is this helpful?
4. How can the lessons from the article help you solve one of your own problems?

COMMUNICATION REVIEW

UNITS 7-9

SELF-ASSESSMENT

How well can you do these things? Choose the best answer.

I can ...	Very well	OK	A little
▶ Describe how information technology has changed people's lives (Ex. 1)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
▶ Describe how new technologies will change people's lives (Ex. 2)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
▶ Understand the main points of a phone conversation about personality types (Ex. 3)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
▶ Describe my personality type (Ex. 3)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
▶ Describe and compare typical behavior of parents and teenagers (Ex. 4)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

Now do the corresponding exercises. Was your assessment correct?

DISCUSSION

How things have changed!

A Think about how information technology has changed in the past few years. How have people's shopping habits, hobbies, and social lives been affected?

B Pair work Compare your answers with a partner.

"Video games used to be low-tech and expensive. Some games used to be available on the Internet, but few people would play them. Now, a lot of people play video games online. I think they've been greatly improved, and many are fairly cheap."

"Yeah, I think so, too. But too much time is spent playing them. My whole family is addicted – even my grandmother plays! She used to think video games were a waste of time when I played them as a kid."

DISCUSSION

What next?

A Pair work What do you think will happen in the next 10 years as a result of new technologies in these areas?

- | | |
|------------------|-------------|
| 1. communication | 4. finance |
| 2. education | 5. medicine |
| 3. entertainment | 6. sports |

B Group work Compare your predictions in groups.

"Ten years from now, I think cell phones will be used by everyone. They'll even be used at work instead of office phones. What do you think?"

Units 7–9

COMMUNICATION REVIEW

Ss assess how well they have learned the communication skills in Units 7–9.

Self-assessment

Review aim: Ss assess how well they have learned the material in Units 7–9 (10–15 minutes)

- Books closed. List or elicit from Ss the language and topics covered in Units 7–9.
- Books open. Explain the task. Read the list of skills aloud.
- Ss work individually to do the assessment.
- Tell Ss they will review their assessment after doing the activities in this unit.

How things have changed! (DISCUSSION)

Review aim: Discuss changes and trends with verbs in the passive and with used to and would (15–20 minutes)

A

- Have Ss look at the picture and say what trend it illustrates. (Possible answers: the widespread use of the Internet, the use of computers by people of all ages, etc.)
- Read the question aloud. Brainstorm trends in information technology as a class, if necessary.
- Give Ss time to think of their own ideas.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Have one pair of Ss read the example conversation aloud. Have Ss underline verbs in the passive voice and the uses of would and used to. (Answers: Passive: . . . they've been greatly improved; . . . too much time is spent playing them. Used to and Would: . . . used to be low-tech; . . . used to be available; . . . would play them; . . . used to think . . .) Remind Ss to use the passive and would and used to when they talk about their ideas.

- Ss work in pairs to discuss their ideas to part A. Ask a few pairs to report their responses to the class.

Optional activity: Class debate (20–25 minutes)

Ss conduct a class debate about technology and the Internet.

- Think of two sides of an issue about information technology (e.g., The Internet should be monitored by the federal government. / The Internet should not be monitored by the federal government.).
- Divide the class into two groups and assign each group one side of the issue. Give Ss time to think of all the reasons why their side of the issue is the right one.
- Conduct a class debate. Have Ss from each group take turns explaining their side of the issue.
- At the end of the debate, have Ss say which side of the issue they now agree with.

What next? (DISCUSSION)

Review aim: Talk about predictions with future forms of the passive (15–20 minutes)

A Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the topics aloud. Give Ss time to think of ideas for each. Brainstorm possible changes as a class, if necessary.
- Ss work in pairs to do the activity.

B Group work

- Explain the task. Read the example answer aloud. Ask Ss to name the verb form in the second example sentence. (Answer: Future passive: . . . They'll even be used . . .)
- Ss work in groups to discuss their predictions. Remind Ss to use different forms of the future passive in their conversations. Have each group assign a secretary to write down their predictions for each area.
- Have each group report their two most interesting predictions to the class.

3 Team roles: The perfect “STEAM” team (LISTENING & SPEAKING)

Review aim: Develop skills in listening for main ideas and details, and talk about personality types using reduced relative clauses (20–25 minutes)

A [CD 3, Track 6]

- Explain the task. Tell Ss to look at the list of possible answers. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

advertising agency a company that creates advertising or marketing campaigns client a person or company that receives services image how a person or company is perceived by the public

- Tell Ss to listen for the answer to the question. Play the recording once as Ss listen. Play the recording again while Ss choose the correct answer. Replay as many times as needed. Ss listen and check their answers.
- Go over the answer with the class.

Answer

c. They're working to improve a company's image.

Audio script: See page T-175.

B [CD 3, Track 7]

- Explain the task. Read the roles and personality types aloud.
- Play the recording. Ss do the activity individually. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. d 2. b 3. e 4. a 5. c

Audio script: See page T-175.

C Pair work

- Explain the task. Ss work in pairs. Have one pair read the example conversation to the class.
- Have Ss discuss the questions.
- Ask Ss to share their partner's answers with the class.

4 That's so typical! (SPEAKING)

Review aim: Discuss “typical” behavior with clauses showing contrast and exception (10–15 minutes)

A

- Explain the task. Read the questions in the chart aloud. Give Ss time to complete the chart individually.

B

- Explain the task. Read the example answer aloud. Ask: Does the last clause show contrast or exception? (Answer: contrast) Which word in the sentence signals the contrast between the two ideas? (Answer: while)
- Ss work individually to write at least four sentences. Remind Ss that each sentence must contain a clause that shows contrast or exception. Tell Ss to introduce the clause or phrase with a different word for each sentence.
- Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Have Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

Optional activity: Typical behavior (15 minutes)

Ss extend their discussion of the chart in part A.

- Ss work in pairs to think of three more questions to add to the chart in part A. Then they exchange papers with another pair and answer the new questions.
- Ss read their new questions to the class and tell the class their answers.

Have Ss look at their answers to the self-assessment at the beginning of this review unit. As a class, discuss which skills were easy and which were more difficult and why.

3 LISTENING & SPEAKING

Team roles: The perfect “STEAM” team

A Listen to the phone conversation between Tony and Annie. What is Tony’s agency doing? Choose the correct answer.

- ☐ a. They’re exploring the possibilities of using cell phones in advertising.
- ☐ b. They’re analyzing the effectiveness of their advertisements.
- ☐ c. They’re working to improve a company’s image.

B Listen again. Match the roles on the left with the personality types on the right.

Role	Personality type
1. Solver d	a. disciplined
2. Team manager ____	b. patient
3. Explorer ____	c. passionate
4. Analyst ____	d. creative
5. Motivator ____	e. resourceful

C Pair work Look at the roles again. Which role do you think you would be best at or would enjoy most? Why? Compare your ideas with a partner.

“I think I’d probably be best in an Explorer role. I’m pretty resourceful. What about you?”

“I’m a person with a lot of patience, but I’m not that creative. I’m more of a Team manager type.”

4 SPEAKING

That’s so typical!

A Complete this chart with your opinions about typical parents and teenagers.

	The typical parent	The typical teenager
What are some of their concerns?
What is their most valued possession?
How much time do they spend with friends?
What do they use the Internet for?
What do they like to do on vacation?

B Write at least four sentences contrasting the typical parent with the typical teenager. Then compare with a partner.

“Generally, the typical teenager is concerned about friends, while the typical parent is concerned about his or her children.”

10

THE ART OF COMPLAINING

LESSON A ► That really bugs me!

STARTING POINT

Everyday annoyances

A Have you ever had problems similar to these? Do you agree or disagree with these comments? Why?

"The thing that I hate is when kids ride their scooters on the sidewalk."

"One thing that bothers me is when my friends don't show up on time for things."

"Something that bugs me is people who take up two seats on a crowded bus."

"The thing I can't stand is co-workers who leave their cell phones ringing on their desks."

B Group work Look at the situations in part A. Would you complain, or would you be quietly annoyed? Why?

LISTENING & SPEAKING

It really irks me!

A Listen to Jane and Kyle talking about irritating situations. What bothered each person?

B Listen again. Discuss the questions.

1. Whose situation do you think was more annoying, Jane's or Kyle's?
2. Who do you think handled the situation better, Jane or Kyle?
3. How would you have reacted in each situation?

10 THE ART OF COMPLAINING

LESSON A ► That really bugs me!

In this unit, Ss practice using relative clauses and noun clauses to talk about annoying situations. They also practice simple and complex indirect questions.

1 Everyday annoyances (STARTING POINT)

Learning aim: Discuss everyday annoyances and see relative clauses and noun clauses in context (10–15 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Say two or three things that annoy you, such as: It really bugs me when people talk on their cell phones in a restaurant. Write on the board:
That really bugs me!
Discuss the meaning with Ss.
- Have Ss tell the class what kind of everyday situations annoy them.
- Books open. Tell Ss to look at the pictures and describe what each illustrates.
- Explain the task. Ss read the comments silently to themselves. Go over any unfamiliar words. Elicit several Ss' answers.

B Group work

- Ask Ss what they usually do when they are annoyed. Do they complain? Do they ever become angry in public? Do they remain quiet?
- Explain the task. Ss work in groups to discuss the questions.
- Have a S from each group tell the class about their discussion.

Optional activity: And you? (10–15 minutes)

Ss further discuss what to do when they are annoyed.

- Have Ss change groups from part B. Ask them to say how they would react to one of the situations in part A. The other Ss in the group say if they agree with the reaction, and if not, how they think they would react.

2 It really irks me! (LISTENING & SPEAKING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening for the main idea and details, and give a personal reaction (20–25 minutes)

A [CD 3, Track 8]

- Explain the task. Read the question aloud to the class. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

acting up behaving badly had someone in had someone visiting fast asleep deeply asleep usher a person who shows people to their seats in a theater getting out of hand becoming out of control

- Tell Ss to listen for the answers to the question. Play the recording as Ss listen for the answers. Replay as many times as needed. Ss listen and check their answers.
- Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Jane: Her neighbors made a lot of noise and woke her up.

Kyle: People talked during a movie and ruined it for him.

Audio script: See page T-176.

B [CD 3, Track 9]

- Explain that Ss will listen again for more details about each person's story. Read the questions aloud.
- Ss work in pairs or small groups to discuss the questions.
- Have a S from each pair or group tell the class about their discussion.

Audio script: See page T-176.

3 Relative clauses and noun clauses (GRAMMAR)

Learning aim: Practice using relative clauses and noun clauses in the same sentence (20–25 minutes)

Grammar notes

Relative (or adjective) clauses provide information about a noun or pronoun in either the subject or the object of a sentence.

A noun clause that acts as a subject complement (the part of a sentence that describes the subject) can begin with a question word (e.g., who), but it is considered a noun clause because it occupies a noun slot in the sentence.

- Books closed. Write on the board:
One thing (that) I hate is people who talk during a movie.
Ask Ss to name the subject of the main clause. (Answer: One thing) Then ask them to name the relative clause that describes it. (Answer: that I hate)
- Write on the board:
I hate people who talk during a movie.
Ask Ss to name the object of the main clause. (Answer: people) Then ask them to name the relative clause that describes it. (Answer: who talk during a movie)
- Write on the board:
One thing that I hate is when people talk during a movie.
Ask Ss how many clauses are in the sentence. (Answer: two) Point out that that I hate is a relative clause, and when people talk during a movie is a noun clause.
- Books open. Discuss the information in the grammar box and read the example sentences.

A

- Have Ss look at the Starting Point on page 80 again. Explain the task and read the questions aloud. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Relative clauses:

... that I hate ...
... that bothers me ...
... that bugs me ...
... who take up two seats on a crowded bus.
... (that) I can't stand ...
... who leave their cell phones ringing on their desks.

Noun clauses:

... when kids ride their scooters on the sidewalk.
... when my friends don't show up on time for things.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Have Ss look at the picture and describe what they see.
- Read the sentences aloud. Answer any questions about vocabulary.
- Have a S read the example sentence aloud.
- Ss complete the sentences with their own opinions. Then they discuss their opinions with a partner. Have Ss share some of their partner's answers with the class.

4 That drives me up the wall! (VOCABULARY)

Learning aim: Learn and practice using phrases to talk about annoyances (10–15 minutes)

A

- Explain the task. Read the phrases in the chart aloud.
- Ss work individually to do the activity. Then Ss work in pairs to discuss the differences in meaning.

Answers

drive someone crazy, drive someone mad, drive someone up the wall get on someone's nerves, get someone down, get someone mad, get someone upset, get under someone's skin

make someone crazy, make someone mad, make someone sick, make someone upset, make someone's blood boil

B Group work

- Explain the task. Read the situations aloud and answer any questions about vocabulary.
- Ss work in groups to discuss the situations. Have Ss tell the class about another S's answers.

Optional activity: Feelings (15–20 minutes)

Ss use the vocabulary they learned to talk about situations that may cause negative feelings.

- Ss work in groups. Have each S think of a situation similar to the ones in part B.
- Then have each S silently act out the situation for the other Ss in their group. The other Ss guess what the S is doing and say how it makes them feel.

3 GRAMMAR

Relative clauses and noun clauses

A relative clause can occur in the subject or the object of a sentence.

Something that bugs me is people who take up two seats on a crowded bus.

The thing (that) I can't stand is co-workers who / that leave their cell phones ringing on their desks.

Some sentences use a relative clause and a noun clause beginning with a question word such as when.

The thing (that) I hate is when kids ride their scooters on the sidewalk.

One thing that bothers me is when my friends don't show up on time for things.

GRAMMAR PLUS see page 124

A Look at the Starting Point on page 80 again. Which clauses are relative clauses? Which are noun clauses?

B Pair work Complete the sentences with your own opinions. Then discuss them with a partner.

- One thing that irks me about my neighbors is . . .
when they park too close to my car.
- Something that bothers me about my friends is . . .
- If I'm riding in a car, something that irritates me is . . .
- The thing that aggravates me most is a friend . . .
- The thing that annoys me about people talking on cell phones is . . .
- . . . is one thing that bothers me at home.

4 VOCABULARY

That drives me up the wall!

A Combine the verbs with the phrases. How many combinations can you make? How are their meanings different?

Verbs	Phrases
drive	on someone's nerves	someone mad	someone upset get	someone crazy	someone sick	someone's blood boil
make	someone down	someone up the wall	under someone's skin

B Group work How do these things make you feel? Discuss these situations using the expressions in part A.

- people laughing at their own jokes
- vending machines that "steal" your money
- finding empty ice cube trays in the freezer
- people eating on public transportation
- airlines not serving food on long flights

"The thing that drives me crazy is when people laugh at their own jokes, and they're not funny!"

VOCABULARY PLUS see page 139

5 DISCUSSION

Polite complaints

A Which of these descriptions fits you best? Give examples to support your answer.

I very rarely complain.

a silent sufferer

I only complain if I absolutely have to.

a calm, collected type

I complain because it's my right.

an activist

I complain about every little thing.

a whiner

"I guess I'm a silent sufferer. For example, I never complain in a restaurant, even if the food is awful."

"You don't? Bad food in a restaurant really annoys me. I always complain! I mean, why should I pay for terrible food? I guess I must be an activist."

B Pair work What would you do or say in these situations? Compare your answers.

1. A taxi driver is playing the radio loudly while you are trying to make a phone call.
2. Your neighbor's young son tore up all the flowers in your garden.
3. You see someone littering in a public park.

"If the taxi driver were playing the radio very loudly, I think I'd just speak louder. I probably wouldn't say anything to the driver. But I wouldn't give him a very good tip either."

6 ROLE PLAY

I hate to mention this, . . .

A Pair work Use the language in the box to create polite complaints for each situation. Then take turns acting out your complaints for the class.

1. You've been waiting in line for a long time, and someone suddenly cuts in front of you.
2. You've had a party, and one friend is still at your home long after everyone else has left. It's driving you up the wall because it's really late, and you need to get up early.
3. After you've been waiting patiently for your food for an hour, the waiter brings you the wrong order.
4. Every time you go out with your friend, she asks you to hold her belongings because she doesn't carry a bag. It's really beginning to get on your nerves.

Useful expressions

Complaining to strangers

Excuse me, but . . .

I'm sorry, but . . .

Complaining to friends/neighbors

I hate to mention this, but . . .

I'm sorry to bring this up, but . . .

B Group work Which complaints were the most effective? Which were the most polite?

5 Polite complaints (DISCUSSION)

Learning aim: Talk about ways to complain (15–20 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Tell Ss what kind of a complainer you are, based on the captions below the pictures. Give an example.
- Books open. Explain the task and have Ss look at the pictures. Ask them to describe what they see. Then have them read what each person says and the captions.
- Have two Ss read the example conversation to the class.
- Ss work individually to answer the question and think of examples. Then Ss work in pairs to talk about their answers. Have Ss share their partner's answer with the class.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the situations aloud. Go over the example answer.
- Ss work in pairs to do the activity. Have Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

6 I hate to mention this, . . . (ROLE PLAY)

Learning aim: Practice making complaints for different situations (15–20 minutes)

A Pair work

- Books closed. Ask: What do you think you need to do to complain politely? (Possible answers: speak assertively in a soft voice, use polite language, take time to explain why you are dissatisfied or upset, etc.) What is an impolite complaint like? (Possible answers: speak aggressively in a loud or angry voice, don't say "please" or "thank you," etc.)
- Books open. Explain the task. Read the information in the Useful Expressions box. Give examples of how to complete each sentence.
- Tell Ss to read the situations. Ask them if they have ever been in one of the situations. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

cuts in front of goes in front of someone in a line without permission belongings personal items such as sunglasses, wallet, etc.

- Ss work in pairs to do the activity. Give Ss time to think of how they will complain about each situation and then to practice the role play.
- Have pairs role-play the situations for the class.

B Group work

- Explain the task. Ss work in groups to discuss the questions.
- Have each group say which complaints in part A they thought were the most effective and which were the most polite, and why.

Optional activity: Complaints (10–15 minutes)

Ss continue to role-play making polite complaints.

- Ss work in pairs to think of one new situation similar to the ones in part A and write it on a piece of paper.
- Collect the papers and redistribute them to other pairs. Have pairs role-play the situations.

7 Messages of complaint (WRITING)

Learning aim: Write an effective message of complaint (40–50 minutes)

A

- Tell Ss to read the information in the box at the top of the page. Ask: When would you write a message of complaint? (Possible answers: when a product you bought didn't work, when your food at a restaurant wasn't good, when service at a store wasn't good) Then ask: Have you ever written a message of complaint before? What was the situation?
- Explain the task. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

evidence proof

case container for protecting things at (one's) own expense using one's own money to pay for something customer service representative a person whose job is dealing with customers' complaints warranty a written agreement with a company that states that the company will repair or replace its product if it is damaged or broken promptly quickly

- Ss work individually to read the email and number the items. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. Damaged product
2. a smartphone, model number VG25S
3. The case was damaged, and the display screen was cracked.
4. I have my credit card bill . . . , a one-year warranty, and a receipt from the post office.
5. I would like to receive a new phone as soon as possible.
6. *John Montgomery

B

- Explain the writing task. Read the situations aloud. Ask Ss if they have ever experienced any of the situations.
- Ss work individually to write an email complaining about a situation of their choice. Remind Ss to include all the parts from the example email.

C Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the question aloud.
- Ss work in pairs to read each other's emails and answer the question. Have a few Ss read their effective emails to the class.

WRITING

Messages of complaint

Writing an effective message of complaint is a powerful way to solve an ongoing problem with a product or service.

A Match the information to the points in the email.

Writing an effective message of complaint

An effective message of complaint about a purchase . . .

1. contains a clear subject line.
2. describes the product or service clearly.
3. explains the problem in detail.
4. mentions a receipt or other evidence.
5. explains exactly what you want.
6. provides contact information.

New Message

To: customerservice@phonegrp.cup.org

From: JM1990@cup.org

Subject: Damaged product 1

Dear Sir or Madam:

Last month, I ordered a smartphone, model number VG25S, from your website. When it arrived, I discovered that it was broken. The case was damaged, and the display screen was cracked.

At my own expense, I returned the phone to your service department over a month ago. I still have not received a replacement, nor has a customer service representative contacted me.

I have my credit card bill to prove I paid for this purchase, a one-year warranty, and a receipt from the post office. Therefore, I would like to receive a new phone as soon as possible.

Please call or email me about this matter. I look forward to your reply and hope you will handle this matter promptly.

Sincerely,

John Montgomery

B Write an email complaining about one of these situations or one of your own.

- Your tablet came with the wrong battery charger, but you didn't notice until you brought it home. You called the store, and they refused to replace it.
- You bought airplane tickets in advance, but the airline had overbooked the flight, and you couldn't get on the plane.

C Pair work Take turns reading your emails. Did your partner follow all the steps for writing an effective message of complaint?

LESSON B ▶ Let's do something about it!

1 STARTING POINT

Why don't they do something about it?

A How many of these problems have you experienced? Compare with a partner.

"Overcrowded buses really make me mad. I wonder why they don't have more buses at rush hour."

"Umbrellas are so poorly made these days. I don't know why they always break in the wind."

"My cell phone never works around here. I can't understand why the reception is so bad."

"Automated phone menus drive me crazy. What I don't get is why companies don't have people answer their phones."

"The clothes in those shops are unbelievably expensive. How anyone can afford them is beyond me."

"The college course I want is really popular. My big concern is whether I'll be able to get into the class."

B Pair work Which of the problems in part A bother you the most? Explain.

"Broken umbrellas definitely bother me the most.

That happened to me just the other day."

"You can say that again. I just hate it when that happens."

Useful expressions

Agreeing and showing sympathy

I know (exactly) what you mean.

Yeah, I hate that too.

You can say that again.

2 LISTENING

If this is correct, say, "Yes."

A Have you ever had problems with automated phone menus? What happened?

B Listen to Gabriel using an automated phone menu. Is he successful? Choose the best summary.

- ☐ a. He completed his business successfully and will pick up his prescription this evening.
- ☐ b. He can't fill his prescription because the machine didn't recognize what he said.
- ☐ c. His pronunciation is so poor that the system didn't understand anything he said.

C Listen again. Answer the questions.

1. What's the name of the store?
2. What is his prescription number?
3. What is his phone number?
4. What time does he want to pick up his prescription?

LESSON B ► Let's do something about it!

1 Why don't they do something about it? (STARTING POINT)

Learning aim: Discuss common consumer problems and see indirect questions in context (10–15 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Ask: What is a consumer? (Answer: someone who buys a product or a service)
Then ask: What consumer problems have you had? (Possible answers: an appliance that didn't work, problems with new clothes, being overcharged)
- Books open. Have Ss look at the pictures and describe what they see. Then have them read the captions. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

rush hour the time of day when most people are going to or coming home from work reception the ability to receive a signal on an electronic device automated phone menus computer-generated sets of choices for callers

I don't get I don't understand

(is) beyond me an expression of unpleasant disbelief

- Explain the task. Give Ss time to think about which problems they have had and what they did about them.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss the question.
- Have Ss share their partner's answer with the class.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Have one pair of Ss read the example conversation.
- Go over the information in the Useful Expressions box. Have a short example conversation with two Ss using the expressions.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss the question. Have a few pairs share their answers with the class.

2 If this is correct, say, "Yes." (LISTENING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening for gist and details, and listening to an automated phone menu (15–20 minutes)

A

- Ask Ss to give examples of when they might hear an automated phone menu.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss the questions.
- Have Ss tell the class about their partner's problem.

B [CD 3, Track 10]

- Explain the task. Read the summaries and answer any questions about vocabulary.
- Tell Ss to listen for the answer to the question. Play the recording once as Ss listen. Play the recording again while Ss choose the best summary. Replay as many times as needed. Ss listen and check their answers.
- Go over the answer with the class.

Answer

- b. He can't fill his prescription because the machine didn't recognize what he said.

Audio script: See page T-176.

C [CD 3, Track 11]

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud and make sure Ss know what to listen for.
- Play the recording, and have Ss answer the questions individually.
- Ss work in pairs to compare answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. Dial Rite Pharmacy
2. 0422708837
3. 333-555-5123
4. 9:00

Audio script: See page T-176.

3 Simple and complex indirect questions (GRAMMAR)

Learning aim: Practice using simple and complex indirect questions (20–25 minutes)

Grammar notes

When a question is used as the subject or object of a main clause, it becomes a noun clause and uses statement word order rather than question word order.

Yes/No questions are changed into noun clauses by introducing the clause with whether or if.

It is optional to include or not with whether and if. Or not can either be used directly after whether or at the end of the clause. It cannot follow if directly.

Question words (who, when, why, etc.) are used to begin noun clauses made from Wh-questions.

- Books closed. Write on the board:

Why is cell phone reception so bad here?

I don't know why cell phone reception is so bad here.

Why cell phone reception is so bad here is beyond me.

- Elicit the differences between the direct and indirect questions. Then point out the differences between the two types of indirect questions.
- Books open. Discuss the information in the grammar box and read the example sentences. Point out the differences in word order.

A

- Have Ss look at the Starting Point on page 84 again. Explain the task and read the questions aloud. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Simple indirect questions:

I don't know why they always break in the wind.

I can't understand why the reception is so bad.

Complex indirect questions:

What I don't get is why companies don't have people answer their phones.

B

- Explain the task. Have Ss look at the example answer.
- Ss work individually to complete the activity. Then Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. I wonder if airlines will ever stop losing passengers' luggage.
2. I'd like to know how I correct a mistake on my phone bill.
3. The thing I don't get is why I can't use my cell phone in an elevator.
4. I want to find out how I can get tickets to sold-out concerts.
5. I'd like to know when the government will deal with global warming.
6. Why people complain so much is something I can't understand.

4 I'm totally baffled! (VOCABULARY & SPEAKING)

Learning aim: Learn and practice vocabulary to talk about negative feelings (15–20 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Ask: What kinds of situations make you feel confused, angry, or sad? Have Ss call out synonyms for confused, angry, and sad. Write them on the board.
- Books open. Explain the task. Ss work individually to complete the chart.
- Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Confused feelings: baffled, confused, mystified, stunned

Angry feelings: annoyed, enraged, frustrated, infuriated, insulted, irritated

Sad feelings: demoralized, depressed, discouraged, humiliated, saddened

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the example aloud. Ss work individually to complete the sentences. Then Ss work in pairs to discuss their answers.
- Have Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

3 GRAMMAR

Simple and complex indirect questions

Simple indirect questions use statement word order and begin with expressions such as I wonder, I'd like to know, or I can't understand.

Why don't they have more buses at rush hour? I wonder why they don't have more buses at rush hour.

Complex indirect questions also use statement word order. In addition, they begin or end with clauses or phrases with be.

Will I be able to get into the class?
How can anyone afford them?

My big concern is whether I'll be able to get into the class.
How anyone can afford them is beyond me.

GRAMMAR PLUS see page 125

A Look at the Starting Point on page 84 again. Can you find more indirect questions? Which ones are simple indirect questions? Which are complex?

B Rewrite these questions using the words in parentheses. Then compare answers with a partner.

- Will airlines ever stop losing passengers' luggage? (I wonder . . .)
I wonder if airlines will ever stop losing passengers' luggage.
- How do I correct a mistake on my phone bill? (I'd like to know . . .)
- Why can't I use my cell phone in an elevator? (The thing I don't get is . . .)
- How can I get tickets to sold-out concerts? (I want to find out . . .)
- When will the government deal with global warming? (I'd like to know . . .)
- Why do people complain so much? (. . . is something I can't understand.)

4 VOCABULARY & SPEAKING

I'm totally baffled!

A Look at these words that describe feelings. Put them in the correct columns.

annoyed	confused	depressed	enraged	humiliated	insulted	mystified	stunned baffled	demoralized	discouraged	frustrated	infuriated	irritated	saddened
Confused feelings		Angry feelings			Sad feelings
baffled		annoyed

B Pair work Complete the sentences with your own information. Then discuss your answers with a partner.

- I'm totally baffled by . . .
- I get so infuriated when . . .
- I always get discouraged when . . .
- I wouldn't be demoralized even if . . .
- I remember feeling stunned when . . .
- I would feel insulted if . . .

"I'm totally baffled by people who can speak a lot of languages. How do they remember so many different words and grammar rules?"

VOCABULARY PLUS see page 139

5 DISCUSSION

A word to the wise

A Pair work Read the advice about how to avoid consumer problems. Can you add any more ideas to the list?

Buyer Beware!

SMART ADVICE FOR SMART SHOPPERS

- Buy from a reputable company.
- Make sure there's a guarantee.
- Examine your purchases before you buy.
- Do some comparison shopping.
- Find out about the return policy.
- Find out how the item should be cared for.

B Group work Discuss a time when you had a problem with something you bought. Would the advice in part A have helped you?

"I bought some really expensive luggage last month, and I was enraged when, after just a week, one of the wheels came off."

"Oh, you're kidding. Did you take it back to the store?"

"Yes, but they told me I couldn't return it because I'd bought it on sale. I should have asked about their return policy . . ."

Useful expressions

Sympathizing

Oh, you're kidding.

That's ridiculous.

What a pain.

6 ROLE PLAY

I'd like to return this.

A Read the store returns policy in part B. Is there a similar policy at the stores where you shop?

B Pair work Take turns role-playing a customer and a clerk at a returns counter. Use the returns policy and the situations below.

STORE RETURNS POLICY: All items must be in good condition and accompanied by a receipt. No cash refunds; store credit only. No items returned after two weeks unless under warranty. No return of items purchased on sale or with coupons.

Situation 1

- T-shirt
- have receipt
- shrank after washing
- now too small

Situation 2

- laptop
- receipt at home
- defective
- still under warranty

Situation 3

- camera
- lost receipt
- not very user-friendly
- want to exchange

"I'd like to return this T-shirt, please. I can't understand why it shrank after I washed it."

"I wonder whether you followed the washing instructions properly."

"I certainly did!"

"That's fine, then. May I see your receipt, please?"

5 A word to the wise (DISCUSSION)

Learning aim: Talk about how to avoid consumer problems (15–20 minutes)

A Pair work

- Books closed. Write on the board:
Let the buyer beware.
Ask Ss what they think it means. (Possible answer: It's the buyer's responsibility to check everything carefully before buying.)
- Books open. Ask Ss to look at the picture and describe the situation.
- Read the advice aloud. Ask Ss to explain the words reputable, guarantee, comparison shopping, and return policy.
- Explain the task. Ss work in pairs to add more ideas to the list.
- Ask pairs to share their ideas with the class.

6 I'd like to return this. (ROLE PLAY)

Learning aim: Practice returning items to a store and responding to complaints (15–20 minutes)

A

- Explain the task. Tell Ss to read the returns policy in part B. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

good condition not damaged in any way refund money given back by a company when an item is returned or some work was done unsatisfactorily store credit a kind of refund where a customer doesn't get money back but can buy another item in the store for the same amount of money under warranty the time period when the guarantee is still valid coupon a piece of paper or electronic message that offers a price reduction

- Give Ss time to think about returns policies at the stores where they shop.
- Have Ss share their answers with the class.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Have Ss read the information about the three situations. Help with vocabulary as needed.
- Have one pair of Ss read the example role play to the class. Ss work in pairs to take turns role-playing a customer and a clerk at a returns counter at a store.
- Have pairs do one of their role plays for the class.

B Group work

- Explain the task. Have two Ss read the example conversation. Read the information in the Useful Expressions box. Give examples of how to use each expression in a conversation.
- Ss work in groups to discuss the question. Have groups report on one of their problems to the class. Ask Ss to say which advice would have helped the situation.

Optional activity: No problem! (20–25 minutes)

Ss continue role-playing being a clerk and a customer at a returns counter.

- Ss work in pairs to think of a situation at a returns counter. Have them write what the customer is trying to return and why, and whether or not the clerk will accept the item back and why. Make sure Ss include the following information:

Customer: what the item is, if the person has the receipt, what is wrong with the item, the customer's attitude

Clerk: whether or not the clerk will take the item back and why, the clerk's attitude
- Encourage Ss to include other details such as the kind of store it is (e.g., expensive, big department store, etc.) and background information about the people (e.g., the customer is in a big hurry, the clerk's boss is angry because the clerk has given refunds too often, etc.).
- Have Ss exchange papers with another pair and then do the new role play. For more of a challenge, don't let the "clerk" and "customer" see each other's information so the role play is more spontaneous.

7 The power of one voice (READING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in understanding vocabulary in context, reading to put a story in sequence, reading to confirm predictions, and giving a personal reaction to a reading (25–30 minutes)

A Pair work

- Books closed. Ask: What ways can people complain about bad service? Have several Ss share their ideas. Then ask: Do you know anyone who has successfully complained about bad service? What did the person do?
- Books open. Explain the task. Ss work in pairs. Give Ss time to think of and share their ideas.
- Have Ss read the article silently to themselves. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

wouldn't budge wouldn't change their mind flight voucher an official document that can be used instead of money to buy a flight wasn't without options had other things that could be done ordeal a very difficult, tiring, or painful experience feeling as though a weight had been lifted from feeling better because a problem has been solved changed gears changed the way of thinking or doing something

(web page) views the number of times a web page has been opened launch (a website) create a new website air problems speak publicly about problems disgruntled unhappy and annoyed about something go viral become extremely popular (usually online) in a heartbeat very, very quickly

- Tell Ss to look back in the article to find if their ideas were mentioned.

Culture note

Websites like Gripevine.com allow consumers to write their complaint about a company. Anyone can go to the site, search for a particular company, and see if other people have complaints. The website also sends the complaint to the company. The company can see how many people are reading the complaint. Major international companies look at this type of site to make sure their customers are happy.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the events aloud. Remind Ss that two of the events are not part of Dave's story.
- Ss work in pairs to complete the activity. Go over answers with the class. Have Ss say which words in each sentence helped them order the statements.
- Ask a few Ss to tell the story in their own words to the class.

Answers

a. 2 b. 4 c. X d. 1 e. 3 f. X g. 5

To help Ss with reading skills in this exercise, download the Fresh Idea That's my point! from the Teacher Support Site.

C Group work

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud. Ss work in groups to discuss the questions.
- Have a S from each group tell the class about their answers.

For an alternative reading text or extra practice, download the Worksheet 10.2 Effective complainers from the Teacher Support Site.

The power of one voice

A Pair work What steps would you take if someone damaged one of your valuable possessions? Discuss with a partner. Then read the article and find out what Dave Carroll did. Did he take any of the steps you discussed?

Dave Carroll Airs a Complaint

Dave Carroll was ready to quit his 20-year career as an independent musician. Then, an airline broke his guitar and changed his life.

The airline wouldn't budge on Dave's request for $1,200 in flight vouchers to cover repairs to his $3,500 Taylor guitar. When he got "The Final No!" email after nine months of negotiations, he wrote back to say he wasn't without options.

Dave said that if he were a lawyer, he might have sued the airline, but as a songwriter, he had other tools at his disposal. He vowed to write two or three songs, make a music video for each one, and post them on YouTube.

"After months of feeling frustrated and angry about the ordeal, for the first time I felt empowered, as though a weight had been lifted from me. I changed gears from someone who wanted something to someone who was going to do something."

His goal was to reach one million views in the next year. Four days after he posted the first video, he hit a million views. The airline called him a day after the video was released to offer the same $1,200 in flight vouchers he'd asked for previously, plus an extra $1,200 in cash. Carroll refused the offer. His goal had moved beyond compensation to sharing his story and improving conditions for all travelers.

His newfound fame has revived his music career. His trilogy of songs about his experience has had approximately 15 million YouTube views. He's done media interviews and given speeches around the world. Ironically, the airline now uses his videos to train staff and pays him a license fee to do so, at his request.

He's also helped launch a website, Gripevine.com, for people to air problems and get them fixed. Companies now know that a disgruntled customer's view can go viral in a heartbeat and reach an immense audience. As Dave tells businesses, it's vital for companies to listen and learn.

Source: "Dave Carroll is still having problems with airlines," by Ellen Roseman, The Toronto Star

B Pair work Number the events in the correct order. Write X for the two events that are not part of Dave's story. Then take turns telling the story in your own words.

- ___ a. Dave decided to use his songwriting skills to address his problem in a creative way.
- ___ b. Dave rejected the airline's offer even though they'd doubled his original request.
- ___ c. Dave sued the airline for the amount of money it would cost to repair his guitar.
- ___ d. Dave's guitar was damaged by an airline, and they refused to compensate him.
- ___ e. The airline offered Dave what he wanted after he posted his song on YouTube.
- ___ f. Dave gave up on his dreams of becoming a musician after 20 years in the business.
- ___ g. Dave helped start an online consumer group and relaunched his career.

C Group work Discuss these questions. Then share your answers with the class.

1. What made Dave finally feel empowered during his struggle with the airline?
2. In what ways has social media given ordinary people more power? Give examples.

VALUES

LESSON A ► How honest are you?

STARTING POINT

What would you do?

A Look at the situations and people's responses. What would you do?

If you accidentally damaged a parked car in a parking lot . . .

"If the owner weren't around, I'd leave a note with my phone number."

"I wouldn't leave a note if the owner weren't around."

If you found out your co-worker got the job using false credentials . . .

"I would keep it a secret only if I liked my co-worker."

"I would keep it a secret unless my boss asked me directly about it."

If you found some money on the street . . .

"I wouldn't try to return it unless it were a large amount."

"Even if I were really broke, I'd give the money to the police."

B Pair work Now read these statistics. Do you find them surprising? Why or why not?

Of the people surveyed . . .

62% would never fail to report damaging a parked car even if nobody were present.

48% think it is unacceptable to use false credentials on a job application.

18% wouldn't keep money they found on the street.

58% would never illegally avoid paying the fare on public transportation.

25% think it's never OK to exceed the speed limit while driving.

LISTENING

Finders keepers

Listen to Aaron and Leanne talking about finding something. Are these statements true or false, or does the person not say? Choose the correct answer.

	True	False	Doesn't say
1. Aaron's son wanted to keep the wallet and spend the money.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. Aaron's son received a thank-you card as a reward.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. The owner of the book probably didn't care much about it.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
4. Leanne will probably return the book.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

11 VALUES

LESSON A ► How honest are you?

In this unit, Ss use the present unreal conditional with unless, only if, and even if to talk about personal values and moral dilemmas. They also practice language expressing wishes and regrets.

1 What would you do? (STARTING POINT)

Learning aim: Discuss moral dilemmas and see the lesson grammar in context (10–15 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Ask: Is it important to be honest all the time? Can you think of times when it is OK not to be completely honest?
- Books open. Have Ss look at the pictures and read the situations and people's responses. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

credentials the skills or experience someone has that make them suitable for a particular job

- Ss work in pairs to discuss the question. Have Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Ask different Ss to each read one statistic aloud to the class. Ss work in pairs to discuss the questions.
- Have Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

Optional activity: I would . . . (20 minutes)

Ss discuss how they would react in different situations.

- Ss work in small groups to write at least two or more situations similar to the ones in part A.
- Have groups exchange papers to discuss the new situations and decide how they would react.

2 Finders keepers (LISTENING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening for details and making inferences (15–20 minutes)

 [CD 3, Track 12]

- Books closed. Write on the board:

finders keepers

Ask Ss to guess what it means. (Answer: The full expression is Finders, keepers; losers, weepers. It means if you find a lost item, it's yours to keep. If you lose an item, accept your loss.)

- Give an example of a time when you found something that someone lost and what you did about it. Then ask Ss to share their own experiences.
- Books open. Explain the task. Read the statements. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

pacing back and forth walking in one direction and then in the opposite direction over and over again, usually nervous or annoyed muttering talking unclearly and quietly good deed something selfless that a person does for someone else train conductor the person who collects tickets on a train

- Play the recording and have Ss choose the correct answers.
- Ss work in pairs to compare answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. True 2. False 3. Doesn't say 4. False

Audio script: See page T-177.

For more practice with listening, download the Fresh Idea What's next? from the Teacher Support Site.

3 Present unreal conditional with unless, only if, and even if (GRAMMAR)

Learning aim: Practice using present unreal conditionals with unless, only if, and even if (20–25 minutes)

Grammar notes

The likelihood of an event in the main clause happening is expressed by the conjunction (unless, only if, even if) in the conditional clause.

I wouldn't take the money unless I really needed it.

Meaning: If I really needed the money, I would take it.

I would take the money only if I really needed it.

Meaning: I would take the money only under this particular circumstance, i.e., if I really needed it.

I wouldn't take the money even if I really needed it.

Meaning: I wouldn't take the money for any reason.

- Books closed. Write on the board:
 1. Sam would go if he were invited.
 2. Sam wouldn't go unless he were invited.
 3. Sam would go only if he were invited.
 4. Sam wouldn't go even if he were invited.
- Read the four sentences aloud. Point out the conjunctions. Say: Imagine Sam gets an invitation. Which sentences mean that Sam will go? (Answer: 1, 2, 3)
Ask: Which sentence means that Sam won't go? (Answer: 4)
- Books open. Discuss the information in the grammar box and read the example sentences.

A

- Have Ss look at the Starting Point on page 88 again. Explain the task and read the questions aloud. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Yes, they are different in meaning.

Response 1: If the owner isn't there, a note is left.

Response 2: If the owner isn't there, a note isn't left.

B

- Explain the task. Read the example answer aloud.
- Ss work individually to choose answers that are true for them and complete the sentences.
- Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Possible answers

1. If a cashier undercharged me, I would tell him even if it were a small difference.
2. I would borrow a lot of money from a friend only if I really needed it.
3. I wouldn't return a gift I'd received to the store unless I really didn't like it.
4. I wouldn't "temporarily borrow" an unlocked bicycle on the street even if I were really late for an important meeting.
5. I would report my friend for skipping work only if his absence caused a serious problem.

4 It's a little unethical. (VOCABULARY & SPEAKING)

Learning aim: Learn and practice vocabulary to talk about ethics (15–20 minutes)

A

- Have Ss read the title. Ask Ss if they know what unethical means. (Answer: against society's ideas about what is right or wrong or moral behavior, e.g., cheating on a test)
- Read the words aloud. Answer any questions about vocabulary.
- Explain the task. Ss work individually to do the activity. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

dis-: agreeable, approving, honest

il-: legal, logical

ir-: rational, responsible un-: acceptable, ethical, fair, scrupulous, trustworthy

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud and answer any questions about vocabulary. Brainstorm possible follow-up questions as a class.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss the questions. Have a few Ss tell the class about their discussion.

3 GRAMMAR

Present unreal conditional with unless, only if, and even if

Unless clauses include exceptions that would change the speaker's decision.

I wouldn't try to return it unless it were a large amount.

I would keep it a secret unless my boss asked me directly about it.

Only if clauses stress the condition for the result.

I would keep it a secret only if I liked my co-worker.

Even if clauses are followed by unexpected results.

Even if I were really broke, I'd give the money to the police.

GRAMMAR PLUS see page 126

A Look at the Starting Point on page 88 again. Look at the responses to the first situation. Are they different in meaning? If so, how?

B Choose the words that are true for you. Then complete the sentences.

1. If a cashier undercharged me, I (would) / wouldn't tell him if / (even if). . .
If a cashier undercharged me, I would tell him even if it were a small difference.
2. I would / wouldn't borrow a lot of money from a friend only if / unless . . .
3. I would / wouldn't return a gift I'd received to the store if / unless . . .
4. I would / wouldn't "temporarily borrow" an unlocked bicycle on the street only if / even if . . .
5. I would / wouldn't report my friend for skipping work only if / unless . . .

4 VOCABULARY & SPEAKING

It's a little unethical.

A These words describe people's ethics and attitudes. Which prefixes give them the opposite meaning? Put the words in the correct columns.

acceptable	approving	fair	legal	rational	scrupulous agreeable	ethical	honest	logical	responsible	trustworthy

dis-	il-	ir-	un-
			unacceptable

B Pair work Use the vocabulary words in part A to discuss these questions.

1. Would you ever make an international call from work to save money?
2. Would you ever play a practical joke on your friends?
3. Would you ever tell a friend with a terrible new haircut that you think it's fantastic?

VOCABULARY PLUS see page 140

DISCUSSION

Ethical dilemmas

A Read these situations. What would you do?

What Would You Do ?

1 You've had plans for several weeks to visit your aunt. The day before, your friend invites you to a really great party the same night.

- Would you cancel your original plans?
- If so, would you tell the truth or "a white lie" about why you were canceling?
- Would you cancel your plans even if you knew your aunt were looking forward to seeing you?

2 You're at a convenience store, and you see someone shoplifting a can of soup.

- Would you tell the clerk?
- What if the shoplifter were a woman with a small child?
- Would it make a difference if the shoplifter looked dangerous?

3 You work full-time during the day. You're also a part-time student in an evening course, so you have a student ID card. Businesses all over town give discounts to students.

- Would you use your student ID to get the cheaper prices?
- What if you earned a high salary at your job?
- Would it make a difference if you were buying from a major chain store or from a small mom-and-pop business?

B Group work Share your answers and give reasons for each. Then agree on the best course of action for each situation.

"Unless it were a special occasion for my aunt, I might leave a little early so I could get to the party before it ended."

DISCUSSION

Too good to be true

A Which of these situations seem reliable? Choose those that seem legitimate.

- ☐ 1. A website offers free international phone service.
- ☐ 2. A company sends you an email asking you to confirm your credit card details online.
- ☐ 3. Someone on the street asks you to sign a petition that requires your address and phone number.
- ☐ 4. A television ad offers a set of knives worth $300 for just $75.

B Pair work Discuss these or similar situations. Share your own experiences or those of people you know.

"I once bought a kitchen appliance that I saw advertised on TV. The price was really good, and it worked well at first, but after a few weeks, it broke."

5 Ethical dilemmas (DISCUSSION)

Learning aim: Talk about ethical dilemmas and practice the lesson grammar (15–20 minutes)

A

- Ask Ss to give a definition or examples of a dilemma. (Definition: a situation in which a person has to make a difficult choice, e.g.: You are invited to two different friends' parties on the same night. Whichever one you choose to go to, you'll hurt the other friend's feelings.)
- Explain the task. Have Ss read the situations silently to themselves. Give them time to think about what they, personally, would do. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

white lie a lie that is told so someone's feelings aren't hurt shoplifting stealing an item from a store chain store a store that has many locations mom-and-pop business a small business that is run by a husband and wife or members of the same family

B Group work

- Explain the task. Ask a S to read the example answer. Ss work in groups to do the activity. Encourage Ss to give details about their answers. For example, for number 1, if they canceled their original plans, would they reschedule with their aunt? Would they send her a gift as an apology?
- Go over answers with the class. Have the class vote on the best course of action for each situation. Encourage Ss to suggest another way to handle each situation.

For more practice discussing ethical dilemmas, download the Worksheet 11.1 In their shoes from the Teacher Support Site.

6 Too good to be true (DISCUSSION)

Learning aim: Talk about reliable and unreliable businesses (15–20 minutes)

A

- Ask Ss if they know the meaning of the expression It's too good to be true. (Answer: It's so good that it's difficult to believe it's true.)
- Explain the task. Check that Ss understand the meaning of legitimate. (Answer: real, allowed by laws and rules) Have Ss read the situations silently to themselves.
- Ss work individually to complete the activity. Have a few Ss share their opinions. Discuss with Ss what they can do if they have a bad experience with a business.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the example situation aloud.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss the situations in part A. Have Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

Culture note

The Better Business Bureau (BBB) is an organization based in the United States and Canada. It was founded in 1912, and its stated purpose is to help consumers and businesses resolve disputes. It also provides information on ethical business practices.

Optional activity: Role play (15–20 minutes)

Ss role-play making a complaint about a business to the Better Business Bureau.

- Ss work in small groups to write two or three situations similar to the ones in part A.
- Collect the papers and redistribute them among the groups. Have Ss take turns pretending to be a consumer and a representative from the Better Business Bureau. The consumer tells the BBB representative his or her problem, and the representative asks follow-up questions and says how he or she will try to resolve the problem.
- Continue until all Ss have had a chance to role-play both parts.

7 Thesis statements (WRITING)

Learning aim: Write a thesis statement and a four-paragraph composition about a happy memory or regret (40–50 minutes)

A

- Tell Ss to read the information in the box at the top of the page. Ask: What is a thesis statement? (Answer: a sentence that states the main idea of a composition) What is a topic sentence? (Answer: a sentence that states the main idea of a single paragraph)
- Explain the task. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

on the line at risk

don't have much to do with (her) don't see or talk to (her) very often

- Ss work individually to read the composition and complete the activity. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

2. We learn a lot from the decisions we make.

The thesis statement should be either the first or the last sentence in the first paragraph.

B

- Explain the writing task. Brainstorm possible topics as a class, and write them on the board. Then brainstorm possible thesis statements for each of the topics. Write each thesis statement on the board next to its topic.
- Go over the guidelines and the information about thesis statements. Have Ss look at the thesis statements that were incorrect for part A. Ask: What is the problem with number 1? (Answer: It's too specific.) What is the problem with number 3? (Answer: It doesn't unify the paragraphs, since it's not related to the general topic, which is about decisions, not memories or friendships.)
- Review the thesis statements on the board. Ask Ss what changes, if any, they would make to them.
- Ss work individually to write their paragraphs. Remind Ss to make sure they have a clear thesis statement in the first paragraph and topic sentences for each individual paragraph.

C Group work

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud.
- Ss work in groups to take turns reading their compositions and discuss the questions.
- Tell Ss to rewrite their thesis statements according to the advice they receive.

Optional activity: The best title (5–10 minutes)

Ss think about the composition in part A as a whole.

- Ss work in pairs to come up with a good title for the composition. Then Ss work in groups to vote on the best title.
- Have groups share their answers with the class.

Thesis statements

A topic sentence states the main idea of a single paragraph. A thesis statement introduces the topic of a composition. It is often located at the beginning or end of the first paragraph.

- A Read the composition and choose the best thesis statement from the choices below. Then, write a T where you think the thesis statement should appear.

1. I've made some bad decisions.
2. We learn a lot from the decisions we make.
3. I have good and bad memories of old friendships.

When I'm faced with a decision that puts my ethics on the line, I think about what similar situations in the past have taught me. In my life, I've made both good and bad choices.

One of my good decisions resulted in a casual friend becoming a very close friend. A college classmate gave me a lottery ticket for my birthday. As she gave it to me, she joked that if I won, I should split the prize with her. I ended up winning $500. At the time, I was saving for a new tablet, and with the $500, I had enough money. I considered not telling my friend that I'd won. But I felt dishonest and disloyal, and I gave her half. I'll always be glad I did, and I wouldn't do it any differently today, even if I really needed all the money. Today, she is still one of my best friends.

One of my bad decisions ruined a friendship. A former classmate wanted a job with my company and asked me to recommend her. I knew she didn't have very good work habits. I told her I would do it only if she promised to work hard. She was hired, but three months later, she was fired because my boss thought she was irresponsible and her work was unacceptable. I was fairly new at the company myself, and my company is still a little unsure about trusting my judgment now. I don't have much to do with her these days.

I believe that good and bad decisions are a part of everyone's personal development. Is it possible to learn from those experiences? I think it is because even the bad ones help to prepare you for the future.

- B Write a four-paragraph composition about a happy memory or a regret. Follow these guidelines.

1st paragraph: Introduce your topic in the paragraph. Begin or end the paragraph with your thesis statement.

2nd paragraph: Write about a decision you would make again.

3rd paragraph: Write about a decision you would make differently.

4th paragraph: End with a strong conclusion.

Your thesis statement . . .

- should contain a single idea.
- should be neither too general nor too specific.
- should unify all the paragraphs.
- can be improved as you write.

- C Group work Take turns reading your compositions. Is the thesis statement too general? Does it need to be improved?

LESSON B ▶ Taking stock

1 STARTING POINT

I wish . . .

A Read these messages. Match each message with one of the values below.

- | | | |
|-----------------------|--------------------------|----------------------------------|
| a. careful spending | c. perseverance | e. career advancement |
| b. concern for others | d. good family relations | f. good cross-cultural relations |

The Connected World

Today's questions: I've had so many cool friends in my life. I wish I'd stayed in touch with all of them! Is there anything you wish you'd done differently? What do you wish you could change right now?

1. Mika22
I wish I had enough nerve to ask for a promotion. I like my job, but I've been in the same position for several years. If only my boss would consider promoting me!

2. Ivan007
I love and respect my mother and father a lot. I wish I hadn't given them such a hard time when I was growing up. I'm just happy they forgave me for all those rough times.

3. Wishful
I'm ashamed of all the money I've wasted. If only I'd saved more over the last few years. Now I want to rent my own apartment, and I can't afford to! Starting today, I'm going to stop buying things I don't need.

4. JackD
I used to travel to Mexico for my job about once a month. I probably would have been more successful if I had spoken more Spanish. I wish I'd taken a few Spanish classes.

5. SportsFan
When I was a kid, I tried lots of things – sports, languages, music – and I enjoyed them all, but I always lost interest after a while. If I had stuck with something, I could have gotten good at it.

6. Ruby65
I wish I could find the time to do volunteer work. I feel I'm not contributing enough to the community. Maybe I can find time to volunteer at the hospital in my neighborhood.

B Pair work Which person in part A are you most like? Which of the values are the most important? What are some of the values you learned when you were growing up?

"I'm similar to Ruby65. I really think it's important to show concern for other people. As I was growing up, my parents also taught me the importance of . . ."

LESSON B ► Taking stock

1 I wish . . . (STARTING POINT)

Learning aim: Discuss wishes and regrets and see the lesson grammar in context (10–15 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Ask Ss to guess the meaning of take stock. (Answer: evaluate a situation you are in carefully, usually to make a decision) If necessary, use the expression in a sentence to help Ss (e.g., When she took stock of her career, she realized she hadn't enjoyed her job much and decided to change it.).
- Books open. Read the six values aloud. Go over any unfamiliar words. Ask Ss why these things are called values. (Possible answer: because they are important, or valuable, to us)
- Have Ss read the messages silently. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

had enough nerve had the courage to do something position the level of responsibilities and salary you have at work given them a hard time behaved badly toward other people ashamed feeling guilt or embarrassment stuck with continued to do something

- Explain the task. Ss work individually to match each message with a value. Then Ss work in pairs to compare their answers.
- Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. e 2. d 3. a 4. f 5. c 6. b

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the example aloud. Tell Ss who you are most like and why. Name a value that you learned when you were growing up.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss the questions. Have a few pairs share their answers with the class.

Optional activity: My values (10–15 minutes)

Ss further explore the topic of social values.

- Ss work in small groups to discuss why the values listed in part A are important. They number the values from 1 (= most important) to 6 (= least important).
- Have one S from each group put the group's final list on the board. As a class, have Ss discuss the lists and decide which three values are the most important and why.
- To make the activity more challenging, tell each group to add two values that were not mentioned in part A.

2 Wishes and regrets (GRAMMAR)

Learning aim: Practice using language to express wishes and regrets (30–35 minutes)

Grammar notes

A wish about the present or future describes a situation or event that the speaker wants to be true, but isn't. For a wish about the present with be, use were. For a wish about the future with be, use could be.

A wish about the past is a regret. A regret describes a situation or event that the speaker wanted to be true, but wasn't.

Regrets can be described with wish or if. If is used when the speaker wants to include a hypothetical result.

- Books closed. Write on the board:

I wish I were better at math.

I wish I had studied English harder.

If I had practiced piano more, I could have been very good.

If only I had saved more money!

Ask Ss if the person in each sentence is happy about the present situation. (Answer: No.)

- Ask: What is something you should have studied harder? What is something you wish you had done in the past that would make your present life different?
- Books open. Discuss the information in the grammar box and read the example sentences.

A

- Have Ss look at the Starting Point on page 92 again. Explain the task and read the questions aloud. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Regrets about the past:

I wish I'd stayed in touch with all of them!

I wish I hadn't given them such a hard time when I was growing up.

If only I'd saved more over the last few years.

I probably would have been more successful if I had spoken more Spanish.

I wish I'd taken a few Spanish classes.

If I had stuck with something, I could have gotten good at it.

Wishes for the present or future:

I wish I had enough nerve to ask for a promotion.

If only my boss would consider promoting me!

I wish I could find the time to do volunteer work.

B

- Explain the task. Review the example sentence with the class.
- Ss work individually to complete the activity. Then Ss work in pairs to compare their answers and discuss which sentences are true for them. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

- I wish I could find the time to exercise.
- If only my grades had been better last semester.
- I wish I knew how to dance well.
- I wish I had applied for that interesting job at work.
- I wish I weren't feeling so stressed these days.
- If only I had learned how to swim when I was a child.
- If only I hadn't given away my old guitar last year.
- If only I hadn't watched so much TV and had read more when I was a kid.

C

- Explain the task. Read the example answer. Tell Ss to use their own ideas to complete the sentences.
- Ss work individually to write sentences. Then Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Optional activity: Fix it! (10–15 minutes)

Ss practice the correct grammar structures for sentences expressing wishes or regrets.

- Write these incorrect sentences on the board:

I wish I have enough time to study more.

I wish I'd give her a better birthday present.

I wish I haven't eaten all those cookies.

If I hadn't spend all my money on clothes, I could had gone on vacation.

If only my father wouldn't give me the money for a new car!

- Ss work individually or in pairs to correct the sentences. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

I wish I had enough time to study more.

I wish I'd given her a better birthday present.

I wish I hadn't eaten all those cookies.

If I hadn't spent all my money on clothes, I could have gone on vacation.

If only my father would give me the money for a new car!

2 GRAMMAR

Wishes and regrets

For wishes about the present and future, use wish + simple past, past continuous, or could / would + verb.

I wish I had enough nerve to ask for a promotion.

I wish I could find the time to do volunteer work.

For regrets about the past, use wish + past perfect.

I wish I'd taken a few Spanish classes.

I wish I hadn't given my parents such a hard time when I was growing up.

For regrets about the past, use if + past perfect and could / would have + past participle.

If I had stuck with something, I could have gotten good at it.

For strong wishes about the present or future, or for strong regrets about the past, use if only.

If only clauses are often used without a main clause.

If only my boss would consider promoting me!

GRAMMAR PLUS see page 127

A Look at the Starting Point on page 92 again. Which sentences express regrets about the past? Which ones describe wishes for the present or future?

B Rewrite these statements using the words in parentheses. Compare answers with a partner. Are any of the sentences true for you?

1. I can't find the time to exercise. (I wish . . .)
I wish I could find the time to exercise.
2. My grades weren't very good last semester. (If only . . .)
3. I don't know how to dance very well. (I wish . . .)
4. I didn't apply for that interesting job at work. (I wish . . .)
5. I'm feeling very stressed these days. (I wish . . .)
6. I never learned how to swim when I was a child. (If only . . .)
7. I gave away my old guitar last year. (If only . . .)
8. I watched too much TV and didn't read enough when I was a kid. (If only . . .)

C Complete these sentences with your own wishes or regrets and add extra information. Then compare answers with a partner.

1. If only I had enough money to . . . ! Then I wouldn't . . .
If only I had enough money to buy a motorcycle!
Then I wouldn't have to take the bus to class.
2. I wish I could find the time to If I could, I would . . .
3. I wish I had learned how to . . . when I was a kid. If I had, I'd . . .
4. If only I knew how to Then I could . . .
5. I wish my friends would . . . so that . . .
6. If only I had listened to my parents when they told me . . . because . . .
7. I wish they would pass a law that says If they did, . . .
8. If only I had the courage to Then I would . . .

3 VOCABULARY & SPEAKING

Personal values

A What words describe people's values? Complete the chart with the correct noun or adjective.

Noun	Adjective	Noun	Adjective	Noun	Adjective
compassion	compassionate		indifferent	selfishness discreet	kindness		sensitivity generosity		resilience			tender
	honest		respectful		tolerant

B Pair work Which three values do you think are most important? Decide with a partner. Give your reasons.

"We thought generosity, tolerance, and honesty were most important. Generosity is an important value because if you help people, they might help you one day. Tolerance matters because . . ."

VOCABULARY PLUS see page 140

4 LISTENING & SPEAKING

Three important values

A Listen to these on-the-street interviews. What values do these people think are important? Number the values in the order you hear them.

___ honesty ___ privacy ___ respect

B Listen again. Whose answer did you agree with the most? Why do you think so?

"I'd say I agreed with the first woman the most. If you're not honest, you'll only get yourself into trouble. Plus, telling the truth is the right thing to do."

5 SPEAKING

Grant me a wish.

A If you could have three wishes, what would they be? Make a list.

B Pair work Compare your wishes with a partner. Then share your answers with the class.

"My first wish would be for my family to stay healthy and happy. Second, I would wish for more peace in the world. For my last wish, . . ."

3 Personal values (VOCABULARY & SPEAKING)

Learning aim: Learn and practice vocabulary to talk about values (15–20 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Write on the board:
happy happiness
Ask Ss which part of speech each word is and how they know.
- Books open. Have Ss look at the chart. As you read the words aloud, have the class provide any definitions they know. Help with any remaining vocabulary questions.
- Explain the task. Ss work individually to complete the chart. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

compassion, compassionate	resilience, resilient discretion, discreet	respect, respectful generosity, generous	selfishness, selfish honesty, honest	sensitivity, sensitive indifference, indifferent	tenderness, tender kindness, kind	tolerance, tolerant

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the example answer aloud.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss the question.
- Have Ss share their answers with the class.
- Write the class's top three values on the board. Ask Ss to give examples of each value from their own lives.

4 Three important values (LISTENING & SPEAKING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening for main ideas and details about people's values (20–25 minutes)

A [CD 3, Track 13]

- Books closed. Ask: What is an on-the-street interview? Who does them? Why?
- Books open. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

honesty is the best policy telling the truth is the best thing to do

- Explain the task. Have Ss look at the question. Tell Ss to listen for the answers to the question. Play the recording once as Ss listen. Play the recording again while Ss number the values. Replay as many times as needed. Ss listen and check their answers.
- Go over answers with the class.

Answers

honesty: 2	privacy: 3	respect: 1
------------	------------	------------

Audio script: See page T-177.

B [CD 3, Track 14]

- Explain the task. Read the questions and the example answer aloud.
- Play the recording while Ss listen to each person talk about values. Replay as many times as needed.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss their answers.
- Have Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

Audio script: See page T-177.

5 Grant me a wish. (SPEAKING)

Learning aim: Talk about wishes (10–15 minutes)

A

- Explain the task. Give Ss time to think of three wishes.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the example answer aloud. Ss work in pairs to talk about their three wishes.

- Have Ss report their answers to the class. Alternatively, have each pair report their partner's wishes. Keep a tally on the board to find out the three most common wishes.

6 Subway Superman (READING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in understanding vocabulary in context, making inferences, and giving a personal reaction to a reading (25–30 minutes)

A Pair work

- Books closed. Ask: Who is your hero? Why?
- Books open. Have Ss read the title and the first paragraph only. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

convulsions sudden uncontrollable movements of the body collapse fall down because of a health problem stumbled tripped while walking or running

- Ss work in pairs to discuss what they would have done if they were Wesley Autrey.
- Then have Ss read the rest of the article silently to themselves. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

horrified very shocked by a bad situation

leapt down jumped down

onlookers people who are only watching what is happening overnight sensation someone who becomes extremely popular and famous in a very short time high-profile famous; well-known veteran someone who served in the military

B

- Explain the task. Read the statements aloud.
- Ss work individually to do the activity. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. False; Autrey and two women had already helped Hollopeter when he had convulsions and collapsed.
2. True
3. False; He said, "I don't feel like I did anything spectacular; I just saw someone who needed help. I did what I felt was right."

C Group work

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud.
- Ss work in groups to discuss the questions.
- Have one S from each group share their discussion with the class.

Optional activity: Heroes (10–15 minutes)

Ss discuss their greatest heroes in groups and as a class.

- Ss work in small groups to discuss and agree on the greatest three heroes of the last 20 years.
- Have groups tell the class their answers. Write all the heroes on the board. Tell Ss that the list must be narrowed down to three. Have each group give specific reasons why their three are the greatest heroes.
- Have the class vote on the top three.

6 READING

Subway Superman

A Pair work Read the title and the first paragraph of the news article. What would you have done if you were Wesley Autrey? Discuss, and then read the article.

NEW YORK

HONORS A HERO

It started as a typical day for Wesley Autrey, a 50-year-old construction worker in New York City. It was about 12:45 P.M., and he was waiting on a subway platform to take his daughters home before he went to work. He suddenly noticed a man nearby have convulsions and collapse. Mr. Autrey and two women went to help the stranger. The man, Cameron Hollopeter, managed to get to his feet, but then stumbled at the edge of the platform and fell onto the subway tracks. Mr. Autrey looked up and saw the lights of the subway train approaching through the tunnel.

What would you do? Stand horrified and watch helplessly? Most people would jump in to help, but only if there were no train in sight. Mr. Autrey acted quickly. He leapt down onto the track. He realized that he didn't have time to get Mr. Hollopeter and himself back up on the platform before the train arrived, so he lay on top of the man and pressed down as hard as he could. Although the driver tried to stop the train before it reached them, he couldn't. Five cars passed over them before the train finally stopped. The cars had passed only inches from his head. His first words were to ask the onlookers to tell his daughters he was OK.

New York loves a hero. And there was no question that Mr. Autrey's actions had been just that – heroic. He became an overnight sensation. People couldn't get enough of the story. The media named him the "Subway Superman." New York City Mayor Michael Bloomberg gave him the Bronze Medallion, the city's highest honor. (In the past, this honor has gone to such people as General Douglas MacArthur, Martin Luther King Jr., and Muhammad Ali.) Mr. Autrey was also asked to appear on several high-profile television talk shows.

His selfless bravery was also rewarded with money and gifts. Among other things, Mr. Autrey received: $10,000 from Donald Trump, a $5,000 gift card from the Gap clothing store, a new Jeep, tickets and backstage passes to a Beyoncé concert, and a free one-year public transit pass. A "Disney ambassador" thanked him with a one-week all-expenses-paid trip to Disney World and tickets to see The Lion King on Broadway.

How did Autrey, a Navy veteran, react to all this? Honorably. He said, "I don't feel like I did anything spectacular; I just saw someone who needed help. I did what I felt was right."

B Read the article again. Are these statements true or false? Choose the correct answer. Correct the false statements.

	True	False
1. Autrey hadn't noticed Hollopeter before he fell onto the tracks.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. There was very little space between Autrey and the bottom of the train.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. Autrey jumped onto the tracks because he wanted to be a hero.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

C Group work Discuss these questions.

1. Have you ever had the opportunity to help someone in trouble or in danger?
2. Why do you think so many businesses wanted to reward Mr. Autrey?

STARTING POINT

The benefits of studying abroad

- A Read this website. Choose three benefits of studying a language abroad that you feel are the most important.

LTI
LANGUAGE TRAVELERS INSTITUTE

OPENING DOORS TO THE WORLD
Study Abroad with Language Travelers Institute!

Consider enrolling in one of LTI's affordable programs of language study abroad. Then imagine yourself by the end of next year:

- You will have been studying your chosen language for 12 months.
- You will have been interacting with people from other cultures, which will have changed the way you view the world.
- You will have been living in a fascinating foreign land.

And, if you're like over 90% of LTI's former students, by this time next year:

- Your self-confidence will have increased.
- Your commitment to language study will have gotten stronger.
- You will have made many fascinating new friends!

Study abroad with Language Travelers Institute and the world will become your oyster.

- B Pair work Discuss your choices. What are some other benefits of studying or living abroad?

"I think interacting with people from other cultures is the most important benefit."

VOCABULARY & SPEAKING

Words of encouragement

- A Complete these verbs and phrases with a preposition from the box.

|---------------------|-------------------------|-------------------------|
| 1. adjust to | 4. be familiar _____ | 7. look forward _____ |
| 2. be excited _____ | 5. become aware _____ | 8. participate _____ |
| 3. be scared _____ | 6. get accustomed _____ | 9. take advantage _____ |

- B Pair work What challenges do people face when they live or study abroad? Discuss with a partner using the verbs and phrases in part A.

"Sometimes people are scared of starting a new job abroad because they aren't familiar with the routines."

VOCABULARY PLUS see page 141

12 MOVING AROUND

LESSON A ► Culture shock

In this unit, Ss use the future perfect, the future perfect continuous, and mixed conditionals to talk about differences in cultures and travel problems.

1 The benefits of studying abroad (STARTING POINT)

Learning aim: Discuss the benefits of language study and see the future perfect and future perfect continuous in context (10–15 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Ask Ss what other countries they have been to. Then ask what other countries Ss would like to live or study in.
- Books open. Explain the task. Have Ss read the website. Go over any unfamiliar vocabulary. Give Ss time to make their choices.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the question aloud and then have a S read the example answer to the class.
- Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Ask a few pairs to share their answers with the class.

Optional activity: A year abroad (20 minutes)

Ss write an ad for a study abroad program.

- Ss work in small groups to write an ad for a study abroad program, similar to the one in part A.
- Tell Ss to make sure their ad describes the following:
 - How long the program is
 - Where the students live
 - What students can do in their free time
 - Advantages of the program
- Have groups present their ads to the class. The class votes on which program they'd like to attend.

2 Words of encouragement (VOCABULARY & SPEAKING)

Learning aim: Learn and practice expressions ending with prepositions (15–20 minutes)

A

- Explain the task. Read the verbs and phrases aloud to the class.
- Ss work individually to complete the activity. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

- | | |
|-------------------------|----------------------|
| 1. adjust to | 6. get accustomed to |
| 2. be excited about | 7. look forward to |
| 3. be scared of / about | 8. participate in |
| 4. be familiar with | 9. take advantage of |
| 5. become aware of | |

- Tell Ss that expressions ending with prepositions are followed by a noun, a pronoun, or a gerund.

B Pair work

- Brainstorm with the class the kinds of challenges a person living abroad can have. Write on the board:
culture shock
Ask Ss to give a definition. (Possible answer: difficulties adapting to lifestyles or social habits that are different from what people are used to in their own culture)
- Explain the task. Read the question and example answer aloud.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss the question. Remind Ss to use the verbs and phrases in part A in their discussion.
- Have Ss share their answers with the class.

3 Future perfect and future perfect continuous (GRAMMAR)

Learning aim: Practice using the future perfect and future perfect continuous (25–30 minutes)

Grammar notes

These tenses are used to express the completion (future perfect) or duration (future perfect continuous) of an action or event at some time in the future. They can be used to talk about an event or action that started in the past but will not be completed until the future.

The future perfect is made up of will + have + past participle. The future perfect continuous is made up of will + have + been + present participle.

Common time expressions for these tenses are after, by then, before, when, and by the time (that).

- Books closed. Ask Ss to think of an action or situation that will be finished one year from now. Write their answers on the board.

- Write on the board:

By this time next year, I will have . . .

Complete the sentence with one of the ideas on the board (e.g., moved to another country).

- Write on the board:

By this time next year, I will have been studying English for . . .

Have Ss complete the sentence with their own information.

- Books open. Discuss the information in the grammar box and read the example sentences.

A

- Have Ss look at the Starting Point on page 96 again. Explain the task and read the question aloud. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

Future perfect:

. . . which will have changed the way you view the world.

Your commitment to language study will have gotten stronger.

You will have made many fascinating new friends!

Future perfect continuous:

You will have been interacting with people from other cultures, . . .

You will have been living in a fascinating foreign land.

B

- Explain the task. Go over the example answer with the class.
- Ss work individually to complete the activity. Then Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. By this time tomorrow, Joon will have been traveling for 24 hours.
2. By the end of next week, he will have received his student ID card and registered for classes.
3. He'll be going out more after a few weeks because he will be more familiar with the city.
4. After studying English for a few months, he will feel more confident about speaking to people.
5. By this time next year, his younger sister will have visited him once or twice. When she's older, she probably will want to study abroad, too.
6. I'm sure he will have changed a lot by the time he comes back to Korea.
7. His family will be surprised when he gets back because he will have changed so much.
8. And just think – the next time we see him, Joon will have turned 22 already, and he will have been away for a year!

C

- Explain the task. Tell Ss to use their own ideas to complete the sentences.
- Ss work individually to complete the sentences. Then Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

3 GRAMMAR

Future perfect and future perfect continuous

Use the future perfect to emphasize that something will be completed or achieved by a particular point in the future.

By this time next year, your self-confidence will have increased.

Use the future perfect continuous to emphasize the duration of an activity in progress at a particular point in the future.

By the end of next year, you will have been studying your chosen language for 12 months.

GRAMMAR PLUS see page 128

A Look at the Starting Point on page 96 again. Can you find more examples of the future perfect and the future perfect continuous?

B These sentences about Joon's year abroad all have mistakes. Correct the mistakes using the future with will, the future perfect, or the future perfect continuous. Then compare answers with a partner.

1. By this time tomorrow, Joon will have been traveling ~~will travel~~ for 24 hours.
2. By the end of next week, he will have been receiving his student ID card and registered for classes.
3. He'll be going out more after a few weeks because he will have been more familiar with the city.
4. After studying English for a few months, he will have felt more confident about speaking to people.
5. By this time next year, his younger sister will have been visiting him once or twice. When she's older, she probably will have wanted to study abroad, too.
6. I'm sure he will change a lot by the time he comes back to Korea.
7. His family will have been surprised when he gets back because he will have been changing so much.
8. And just think – the next time we see him, Joon will turn 22 already, and he will be away for a year!

C Use these time expressions to write sentences using the future perfect or future perfect continuous. Then share them with a partner.

- | | |
|----------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| 1. Before this class ends, . . . | 4. At the end of the year, . . . |
| 2. By the end of the day, . . . | 5. In two years' time, . . . |
| 3. By the end of the week, . . . | 6. By the year 2030, . . . |

4 DISCUSSION

Customs and traditions

A Read this list of Canadian customs. Are they the same as or different from those where you live? Choose the correct answer.

		Same	Different
	01 >> Both men and women shake hands with each other when they meet.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
	02 >> Business meetings are friendly, but there isn't much socializing beforehand.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
	03 >> Lunch is usually a fairly light meal that doesn't last long.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
	04 >> People are usually punctual for business appointments.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
	05 >> It's common to ask people you meet what kind of work they do.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
	06 >> Many people eat dinner early in the evening, around 6:00 P.M.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
	07 >> At the dinner table, the fork is generally held in the left hand and the knife in the right.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
	08 >> People offer to take their shoes off when entering somebody's home.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
	09 >> When invited to someone's home, a gift, such as flowers or dessert, is usually expected.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
	10 >> Most people open gifts as soon as they receive them.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

B Group work How do you feel about the customs in part A? Explain your opinions.

"I think women should kiss on the cheek when they meet. Just shaking hands seems kind of cold somehow."

5 LISTENING

When in Rome . . .

A Listen to Andrew, Rachel, and Layla talking about their experiences abroad. Answer the questions.

1. What helped each of them get used to their new living situation?
2. What did each person find difficult to adjust to?

B Listen again. Did Andrew (A), Rachel (R), or Layla (L) do these things? Write the correct letter.

- | | |
|---|--|
| ___ 1. felt homesick | ___ 6. thought people talked about themselves too much |
| ___ 2. had fun playing a sport | ___ 7. enjoyed the old buildings |
| ___ 3. enjoyed food with friends | ___ 8. watched comedy shows on TV |
| ___ 4. didn't feel connected to others at first | ___ 9. tried to talk about herself |
| ___ 5. ate dinner late at night | |

4 Customs and traditions (DISCUSSION)

Learning aim: Talk about customs and traditions (15–20 minutes)

A

- Read the list of Canadian customs aloud. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

beforehand in advance of (a particular event)

punctual on time

- Explain the task. Ss work individually to do the activity. Have Ss compare answers with a partner.

B Group work

- Explain the task. Read the example answer aloud.
- Ss work in groups to discuss the question.
- Ask one S from each group to report on the group's discussion.

5 When in Rome . . . (LISTENING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening for details (15–20 minutes)

A [CD 3, Track 15]

- Books closed. Write on the board:

When in Rome, do as the Romans do.

Ask Ss to guess what this saying means. (Answer: When you are visiting or living in a foreign culture, follow the rules of that culture.)

- Books open. Explain the task. Have Ss read the questions so they know what information they need to listen for.
- Play the recording once as Ss listen. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

speak (our) minds say honestly how we feel about something assertive bold and confident make a good impression act in a way so that other people have a good opinion about you dry (sense of humor) an ironic, not obvious sense of humor dramatically striking in appearance or effect overwhelmed feeling unable to deal with everything going on living in a bubble living with very little outside influence

- Play the recording again while Ss write the answers to the questions. Pause between speakers to give Ss time to write.
- Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. Andrew tried to listen more and not be so assertive.
Going out for tapas with other people helped Rachel.
Feeling more confident about her English and meeting Americans/local people helped Layla.
2. Andrew had trouble getting used to the rainy weather.
Rachel wasn't used to eating dinner so late.
Layla found it hard to get used to the way Americans talked so much about themselves.

Audio script: See page T-178.

B [CD 3, Track 16]

- Explain the task. Tell Ss to read the list of experiences.
- Play the recording once as Ss listen. Play the recording again while Ss write the correct letters.
- Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

- | | | |
|------|------|------|
| 1. R | 4. L | 7. A |
| 2. A | 5. R | 8. A |
| 3. R | 6. L | 9. L |

Audio script: See page T-178.

6 Conclusions (WRITING)

Learning aim: Write a composition with a concluding paragraph (40–50 minutes)

A

- Tell Ss to read the information in the box at the top of the page. Ask: What is a conclusion? (Answer: the paragraph that closes a composition) Then ask: How can you close a composition? (Answer: by restating the main idea, summarizing the main points, looking to the future, making recommendations – or a combination of these methods) Explain that many times, the conclusion simply restates the points from the first paragraph.
- Explain the task. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

postsecondary after high school hone improve

- Ss read the two conclusions silently to themselves. Then have Ss answer the question. Remind Ss to underline the parts of the conclusions that helped them decide.
- Go over answers with the class.

Answers

First paragraph: summarizing the main points, looking to the future

Second paragraph: restating the main idea, summarizing the main points, making recommendations

B

- Explain the task. Have Ss work in pairs to find the linking words and phrases in the conclusions in part A, discuss their use and meaning, and think of other words with similar meanings.
- Go over answers with the class.

Answers

additionally: Additionally, foreign students . . . ; adds information (similar meaning: and, also) generally: Generally, they are responsible . . . ; shows what is usual in most situations (similar meaning: usually) however: However, there are still many . . . ; shows contrast or an unexpected result (similar meaning: but, though, although, even though, nevertheless) in brief: In brief, there are real benefits . . . ; restates an idea using fewer words (similar meaning: briefly, in other words) overall: Overall, for the majority . . . ; summarizes (similar meaning: to sum up, in general)

C

- Explain the writing task. Read the example topics aloud. Brainstorm main ideas for each topic, if necessary.
- Ss choose a topic and work individually to write their compositions. Remind Ss to write a clear thesis statement in the first paragraph and a conclusion as the last paragraph.

D Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud.
- Ss work in pairs to do the activity. Have Ss share their answers with the class.

Optional activity: Conclusions (20–30 minutes)

Ss practice writing conclusions.

- Ss work individually to write another short composition about traveling or living abroad, but this time they should not include a conclusion.
- Then Ss work in pairs to exchange papers and write a conclusion for their partner's composition.
- Have Ss read their compositions to the class. Ask the class to critique the conclusions.

6 WRITING

Conclusions

The conclusion can close your composition by restating the main idea, summarizing the main points, looking to the future, making recommendations, or a combination of these methods.

- A Read these two concluding paragraphs. Which methods do the writers use? Underline the parts of the conclusions that helped you decide.

- B Find these linking words or phrases in the conclusions. How are they used? Do you know any others that have similar meanings?

additionally generally however in brief overall

- C Write a composition about living or traveling abroad. Choose one of these topics or one of your own. Your conclusion should use at least one of the methods described and some linking words or phrases.

- culture shock
- group travel
- independent travel
- studying abroad

- D Pair work Exchange papers with a partner and answer these questions.

1. What methods did your partner use in his or her conclusion?
2. Are the linking words used effectively? Why or why not?
3. Can you offer any suggestions to improve your partner's conclusion?

LESSON B ▶ Traveler or tourist?

1 STARTING POINT

Travel tips

A Read these people's experiences and the expert's advice. Can you think of any other advice?

TERRY'S Travel Tips

Get advice from Terry Tripper, the travel expert, and share your own travel tips.

Meg B. says: A woman fell down in front of me during a sightseeing tour. I helped her up, but soon after, I couldn't find my wallet. Do you think she might have taken it?

Terry says: It's very likely. If you hadn't been so nice, you would probably still have your wallet. It's a common scam – someone pretends to be in trouble, but actually turns out to be a thief!

Bruno H. says: I want to share a tip my friend gave me that I used on my last vacation. If you're worried about losing your passport, like I am, don't carry it around with you. Just keep it in your hotel room.

Terry says: That is a good tip if there is a safe in your room. If not, keep your passport with you at all times. If someone had broken into your room, you would probably still be trying to get home!

Kim N. says: On my last trip abroad, I brought a little notebook and pen to help me communicate while shopping. If I couldn't find something, I'd draw a picture. If I hadn't had that notebook and pen, my friends wouldn't be thanking me for the awesome souvenirs I brought them!

Terry says: That's a great idea! When phrasebooks and dictionaries don't help, a picture can be worth a thousand words. But you know there are also some great apps for that, right? Check out this website.

B Pair work What travel questions would you ask Terry? Tell your partner. Then try to offer advice to each other.

"I want to buy souvenirs from the places I'm going to visit, but I also like to travel light. Should I store them at the airport or somewhere else?"

"The best thing would be to mail them home. If you don't mind waiting, use surface mail instead of airmail. It's cheaper."

2 LISTENING

Things went wrong.

A Listen to Cindy and Scott talking about their travel problems. What happened to each person?

B Listen again. Choose the statements you think are probably true. Compare your answers with a partner. Give reasons.

- ☐ 1. Cindy has a unique, easy-to-see name tag on her luggage.
- ☐ 2. Cindy travels frequently.
- ☐ 3. Scott likes peace and quiet when he travels.
- ☐ 4. Scott slept soundly all the way to Panama City.

LESSON B ► Traveler or tourist?

1 Travel tips (STARTING POINT)

Learning aim: Discuss travel tips and see mixed conditionals in context (10–15 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Ask Ss if they have ever had any problems while traveling, such as losing money or airline tickets. Share any problems you have had with the class.
- Books open. Explain the task. Read the question aloud.
- Ss read the tips silently to themselves. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

scam a situation where someone tries to trick another person to get his or her money or valuables safe a strong metal box with a lock, usually attached to the floor or a wall, where valuables can be stored broken into forced entry into a place (to rob it)

- Give Ss time to think of any travel advice. Then, as a class, discuss the advice that Ss have.

2 Things went wrong. (LISTENING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in listening for details and making inferences (15–20 minutes)

A [CD 3, Track 17]

- Explain the task. Tell Ss to read the question.
- Tell Ss to listen for the answer to the question. Play the recording once as Ss listen. Play the recording again while Ss write their answers. Replay as many times as needed. Ss listen and check their answers.
- Ss work in pairs to compare answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. Cindy mistakenly picked up someone else's suitcase and took it to her hotel. When she realized what she'd done, she went back to the airport, picked up her suitcase, returned the other one, and apologized.
2. Scott's connecting flight was delayed. He moved away from the departure gate, fell asleep, and missed his flight. He had to stay in Panama City overnight and catch a flight the next morning.

Audio script: See page T-178.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Have one pair of Ss read the example conversation to the class.
- Ss work individually to write their questions.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss the questions and give advice. Have a few pairs share their questions and advice with the class.

B [CD 3, Track 18]

- Explain the task. Read the sentences aloud.
- Play the recording while Ss choose the statements they think are probably true. Replay as many times as needed.
- Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class. Remind Ss to give reasons for their answers.

Answers

1. Probably false; Otherwise, she wouldn't have taken the wrong bag.
2. Probably true; She talks about how she usually doesn't have problems when she travels.
3. Probably true; Scott says that he hates crowds.
4. Probably false; Otherwise, he wouldn't have gotten tired during his layover.

Audio script: See page T-178.

3 Mixed conditionals (GRAMMAR)

Learning aim: Practice using mixed conditionals (20–25 minutes)

Grammar notes

A conditional sentence is made up of a conditional clause (or if clause) and a result clause.

In mixed conditional sentences, past and present are mixed to talk about hypothetical situations, such as:
If she hadn't saved so little money, she would be able to afford a new car now.

If you had made reservations, you wouldn't be looking for a hotel now.

- Books closed. Write on the board:
If Ana hadn't forgotten her passport, she would be on the plane right now.
If Ana were more organized, she wouldn't be looking for her keys now.
- Ask: Are the if clauses past, present, or future? (Answer: past) Are the result clauses past, present, or future? (Answer: present)
- Explain that in a mixed conditional sentence, the time of the event or situation in the if clause can be different from the time of the result of the event or situation.
- Books open. Discuss the information in the grammar box and read the example sentences. Have Ss identify the form of each verb.

4 Your own trip (DISCUSSION)

Learning aim: Talk about problems on vacation and practice the lesson grammar (20–25 minutes)

A Pair work

- Explain the task. Have Ss look at the pictures and the list of topics. Then brainstorm potential problems for each topic as a class.
- Have a pair of Ss read the example conversation to the class. Ss work in pairs to discuss the question.

A

- Have Ss look at the Starting Point on page 100 again. Explain the task and read the question aloud. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

If I hadn't had that notebook and pen, my friends wouldn't be thanking me for the awesome souvenirs I brought them!

The sentence describes hypothetical events.

B

- Explain the task. Review the example sentence with the class.
- Ss work individually to complete the activity. Then Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. had been, wouldn't have
2. had brought, wouldn't be shopping
3. hadn't bought, would be
4. had learned, would be able to
5. hadn't become, wouldn't travel / wouldn't be traveling

B Group work

- Ss work in groups to share the bad travel experiences they discussed in part A and give advice about what they could have done differently.
- Have Ss from each group share their group's experiences and advice with the class. Ask the rest of the class if they have any other advice for each experience described.

For more practice discussing this topic, download the Worksheet 12.1 Extreme adventure from the Teacher Support Site.

3 GRAMMAR

Mixed conditionals

Use had / hadn't + past participle and would / wouldn't to talk about hypothetical events in the past that have effects on the present.

If you hadn't been so nice, you would probably still have your wallet!

If someone had broken into your room, you would probably still be trying to get home!

GRAMMAR PLUS see page 129

A Look at the Starting Point on page 100 again. Find another mixed conditional sentence. Does this sentence describe actual or hypothetical events?

B Complete these sentences with the correct form of the verbs in parentheses.

- If I had been (be) more adventurous when I was younger, I wouldn't have (not have) any regrets about the things I missed.
- The airline lost my luggage. If I _____ (bring) a change of clothes in my carry-on bag, I _____ (not shop) for new clothes now.
- This flight is so long! If I _____ (not buy) an economy ticket, I _____ (be) more comfortable now.
- If you _____ (learn) to speak some Mandarin before moving to Taipei, you _____ (be able to) ask someone for directions now.
- If Martha _____ (not become) a flight attendant, she probably _____ (not travel) as much as she does.

4 DISCUSSION

Your own trip

A Pair work Have you ever had problems on vacation? Tell your partner. Use the topics below or your own ideas.

- health
- accommodations
- food
- safety
- language
- getting around
- costs
- weather

"I went to the beach last week, but the weather was awful."

"Why? Was it rainy?"

"No, it was too sunny. If it hadn't been so sunny, I wouldn't have this terrible sunburn now."

B Group work Share your bad travel experiences. Get advice about what you could have done differently.

5 VOCABULARY

One word or two?

A Combine the items from the boxes to make compound adjectives.

culturally	assured	hearted	motivated
non	aware	judgmental	reliant
open	conforming	minded	sensitive self culturally aware, nonjudgmental, open-minded, . . .

B Pair work Are the characteristics in part A important when you travel? Give an example for each one.

"If you're culturally aware, you'll find it easier to accept cultural differences."

VOCABULARY PLUS see page 141

6 ROLE PLAY

Planning a trip

A Group work Imagine you are planning a vacation. Discuss these questions. Write notes about what your group decides for each question.

1. Where would you like to go?
2. How long would you like your stay to last?
3. Would you like to go with a tour group or on your own?
4. What type of accommodations do you prefer?
5. What kinds of activities would you like to do during the day?
6. What sorts of evening activities would you prefer?
7. What would each person's budget be?
8. What types of transportation would you plan on using?

B Class activity Choose someone in your group to act as a travel agent and present your vacation to the class. The class votes on the best itinerary.

"We have planned a truly exotic vacation for you in the remote Galápagos Islands! You'll stay for seven unforgettable days in a five-star resort . . ."

5 One word or two? (VOCABULARY)

Learning aim: Learn and practice compound adjectives to talk about travel (10–15 minutes)

A

- Explain the task. Read the words aloud. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

assured confident

conforming behaving according to society's usual standards of behavior judgmental judging things and people quickly and often negatively reliant dependent

- Point out the first example. Ask what part of speech culturally is. (Answer: an adverb) Explain that some parts of speech, such as adverbs, adjectives, and prefixes, can be combined with adjectives to make a compound adjective.
- Point out the other words in the first column and elicit their part of speech and meaning: non (prefix) = not or other than; open (adjective) = having no barrier to something; self (prefix) = of or by yourself

- Ss work individually to complete the activity. Then Ss work in pairs to compare their answers. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

culturally aware, culturally sensitive nonconforming, nonjudgmental openhearted, open-minded self-assured, self-aware, self-motivated, self-reliant

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the question and the example answer aloud.
- Ss work in pairs to do the activity.
- Have a few Ss share their ideas for each characteristic with the class.

6 Planning a trip (ROLE PLAY)

Learning aim: Role-play being a travel agent planning a vacation (15–20 minutes)

A Group work

- Have Ss look at the pictures and guess the places they see. (Answers: Rio de Janeiro, Taipei, and Chichen Itza) Ask if anyone has visited these places or would like to.
- Brainstorm a list of other vacation destinations Ss are interested in and write them on the board. Elicit a few reasons why each destination is so appealing.
- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud to the class.
- Ss work in groups to discuss the questions and write their answers.

B Class activity

- Explain the task. Read the example aloud.
- Have a S from each group role-play being a travel agent and present the group's vacation plan from part A. Encourage the class to ask follow-up questions about the itinerary.
- After all the vacation plans have been presented, have the class vote on the best itinerary.

7 Solo travel (READING)

Learning aim: Develop skills in understanding vocabulary in context, reading to confirm predictions, and giving a personal reaction to a reading (25–30 minutes)

A

- Books closed. Ask Ss if they prefer to travel with a tour group or with their own itinerary. Have a few Ss give their answers and explain their preferences.
- Books open. Explain the task. Read the question aloud. Ss work individually to make their lists.
- Have Ss read the article silently to themselves. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

nonsense something that is not logical sanitized clean and without problems utterly completely

encounter a meeting

lured persuaded to do something fondly in a way that shows great liking

- Have Ss compare their lists with the author's. Then have Ss tell the class how many of their ideas were the same and which ones were not in the article.

B

- Explain the task. Ss work individually to complete the activity. Go over answers with the class.

Answers

- delighted
- experienced
- throw yourself into it
- upgrade
- interesting

C Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss the questions.
- Have Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

Optional activity: Make sentences (15 minutes)

Ss practice using the new vocabulary in sentences.

- Have Ss make their own sentences using the boldfaced words in the article.
- To review definitions, have Ss read their sentences to the class and have the other Ss give a definition or a synonym for the word.

Optional activity: Trade sentences (15 minutes)

Ss quiz each other on the new vocabulary.

- Ss work in pairs to make their own fill-in-the-blank activity. Have pairs choose five or six other words from the article and write their own sentences, leaving a blank where the word should be.
- Have Ss exchange papers with another pair and complete the sentences.

Solo travel

- A What are the best ways to experience a new place when you travel?
Make a list. Then read the article to compare your list with the author's.

Get Yourself LOST

Travelers to a new city are often encouraged to take a bus tour. The thinking is that they can later return to the places that captivated them, but that's nonsense! What you see from the inside of a fast-moving bus is sanitized and unreal, utterly removed from the authentic sights, sounds, and smells outside. The best way to experience any destination is by foot, without an itinerary, wandering where your spirit leads you. Even in the largest cities, the savvy traveler plunges into the very center of town and walks down the nearest street, experiencing the actual life of the people while looking into the grocery stores and courtyards. You eventually get to many of the same sites that are on the bus route – the museums, the monuments, the city hall – but you will have witnessed so much more because you will have felt the contemporary life of the city you're visiting.

"But what if I get lost?" people ask. No one ever gets permanently lost in a major city. Eventually, a trolley or bus passes with the words "Central Station" on its front and you can easily return to the center of town. Besides, the most wonderful things can happen if you do get lost, such as stopping at a sidewalk café to sit and relax and then asking directions from the locals at the next table. Hopefully, your trip may be enhanced by this encounter. Here are a few ways to make the most of your travels:

- KNOW BEFORE YOU GO. Before you depart, spend time learning about the history and culture of your destination so you will better understand the place you're visiting.
- MOVE AROUND LIKE A LOCAL. Use the local subways, trams, and buses. You'll not only save money, you'll learn how people live there, and you'll gain a realistic perspective of the city.
- CHECK THE BULLETIN BOARDS. Bulletin boards list free lectures, concerts, workshops, and social gatherings, giving you a chance to join or meet the area's most dynamic residents.
- TAKE A WALKING TOUR. If you must book a guided tour, select the nonstandard, inexpensive kinds conducted on foot.

So, the next time you feel lured by a sightseeing bus tour, save your money and instead, wander around on your own. I promise you a time you'll remember fondly.

- B Find the boldfaced words in the article. Then choose the correct words to complete the sentences.
- If something captivates you, you're upset / captured / delighted by it.
 - A savvy traveler is refined / experienced / adventurous.
 - When you plunge into an activity, you probably walk away from it / throw yourself into it / stumble into it.
 - If you enhance your reading skills, you upgrade / restore / prolong them.
 - Dynamic people are more cautious / unstable / interesting than others.
- C Pair work How do your travel habits compare with those in the article? Which ideas do you think you'll try the next time you visit a new city? Why?

COMMUNICATION REVIEW

UNITS 10–12

SELF-ASSESSMENT

How well can you do these things? Choose the best answer.

I can . . .	Very well	OK	A little
▶ Describe annoying behavior (Ex. 1)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
▶ Make and respond to customer complaints (Ex. 1)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
▶ Discuss hypothetical situations in my present and future life (Ex. 2)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
▶ Understand the main points of a training workshop about customer service (Ex. 3)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
▶ Express and explain my opinions in a discussion about living and working in a different culture (Ex. 4)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
▶ Make hypotheses about past and present events in my life (Ex. 5)	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

Now do the corresponding exercises. Was your assessment correct?

ROLE PLAY

Annoying customers

A What do you think annoys these people about their passengers or customers?

1. bus drivers
2. flight attendants
3. tech support workers
4. waiters/waitresses

“Something that probably makes bus drivers crazy is when people complain that the buses are running late. It usually isn’t the drivers’ fault.”

B Pair work Take turns playing the role of a customer complaining and an employee responding to the complaints.

DISCUSSION

I’d like to try . . .

A Look at these questions and write answers that are true for you.

1. What is something you’d like to try, even if it were a little risky?
2. What is something you would do only if it were a matter of life or death?
3. Where is someplace you wouldn’t want to go unless someone went with you?

B Pair work Discuss your answers with a partner.

“I’d like to try scuba diving at night, even if it were a little risky. I think diving in the ocean at night must be incredible.”

Units 10–12

COMMUNICATION REVIEW

Ss assess how well they have learned the communication skills in Units 10–12.

Self-assessment

Review aim: Ss assess how well they have learned the material in Units 10–12 (10–15 minutes)

- Books closed. List or elicit from Ss the language and topics covered in Units 10–12.

- Books open. Explain the task. Read the list of skills aloud.
- Ss work individually to do the assessment.
- Tell Ss they will review their assessment after doing the activities in this unit.

Annoying customers (ROLE PLAY)

Review aim: Talk about annoying behavior using relative clauses and noun clauses, and make and respond to complaints (15–20 minutes)

A

- Explain the task. Read the question and the example answer aloud. As a class, brainstorm things that would annoy each person in his or her job. Write Ss' answers on the board.

B Pair work

- Ss work in pairs. Give pairs time to choose a job from part A. Then Ss talk about what the complaint will be and how the employee will respond.
- Have Ss practice their role play. Then have pairs perform their role play for the class.

Optional activity: Funny role play (20 minutes)

Ss practice the role play in additional situations.

- Have pairs repeat part B, but this time tell them to use their imagination to think of a funny situation. Tell them they can use any job in their role play.
- Have pairs perform their role play for the class. Have the class vote on the funniest role play.

I'd like to try . . . (DISCUSSION)

Review aim: Discuss what you would or wouldn't do using unless, only if, and even if (15–20 minutes)

A

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud. Ask Ss to call out the word or phrase in each question that introduces the conditional. (Answers: 1. even if; 2. only if; 3. unless) Help with any vocabulary questions.
- Ss work individually to do the activity. Remind Ss to use unreal conditionals in their answers.

B Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the example answer aloud.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss their answers to the questions in part A.
- Have Ss share their partner's answers with the class.

Optional activity: If (20 minutes)

Ss practice talking about what they would do in unusual situations.

- Ss work in small groups to think of the beginnings of unreal conditional sentences (e.g., Even if I had a million dollars . . . ; I would like to be really famous only if . . .).
- Have groups exchange papers and finish the sentences. Then have Ss share their answers with the class.

3 Training (LISTENING)

Review aim: Develop skills in listening for the main idea and details (15–20 minutes)

A [CD 3, Track 19]

- Explain the task. Check that Ss understand the following vocabulary.

Vocabulary

facilities places used for particular activities or services frequent flyer number the identification number given to a member of an airline's rewards program was entitled had the right to do something agitated nervous and angry blames assigns fault to someone or something key decisions the most important decisions

- Read the question aloud to the class.
- Tell Ss to listen for the answer to the question. Play the recording as Ss listen. Replay as many times as needed. Ss listen and check their answers.

- Go over the answer with the class.

Answer

They're going to work at an airport information desk.

Audio script: See page T-179.

B [CD 3, Track 20]

- Explain that Ss will listen again and decide if the statements are true or false, and then choose the correct answers.
- Read the statements aloud.
- Play the recording and have Ss complete the activity.
- Go over answers with the class.

Answers

1. False 2. True 3. False 4. True

Audio script: See page T-179.

4 Culture shock (DISCUSSION)

Review aim: Discuss the importance of different personality traits (15–20 minutes)

A Pair work

- Review the meaning of culture shock. Ask: What might someone experiencing culture shock do or feel?
- Explain the task. Read the personality traits aloud. Check understanding by asking Ss to give an example of behavior for each personality trait.
- Ss work in pairs to do the activity.

B Group work

- Explain the task. Put pairs together into groups, and have them compare their rankings and discuss any differences of opinion.
- Have each group report their two most and least important personality traits to the class.

5 What if . . . ? (DISCUSSION)

Review aim: Use mixed conditionals to talk about how life might have been different (15–20 minutes)

A Pair work

- Explain the task. Read the questions aloud. Point out that each question asks how an action or a situation from the past could have an effect on Ss' lives today. Remind Ss to use mixed conditionals in their answers.
- Ss work in pairs to discuss the questions. Have Ss share their answers with the class.

B Group work

- Explain the task. Read the questions and example answer aloud. Ss work in groups to discuss their answers.
- Have a S from each group report on one of the group's answers to the class.

Have Ss look at their answers to the self-assessment at the beginning of this review unit. As a class, discuss which skills were easy and which were more difficult and why.

3 LISTENING Training

A Listen to a training workshop. What job are the trainees going to do?

B Listen again. Are these statements true or false? Choose the correct answer.

	True	False
1. Sammy would try to get the customer on a flight the same day.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. Andrea says the customer should have left more time between flights.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. Ricardo says the customer should be ashamed for being late.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
4. Hannah would direct the customer to a place where she could get refreshed.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

4 DISCUSSION Culture shock

A Pair work How important are these personality traits for someone who is living and working in a new culture? Number them from 1 to 6 (1 = most important, 6 = least important).

It's important to be . . .

<input type="checkbox"/> culturally aware <input type="checkbox"/> open-minded <input type="checkbox"/> self-aware	<input type="checkbox"/> nonjudgmental <input type="checkbox"/> self-assured <input type="checkbox"/> self-reliant
--	--

B Group work Join another pair. Explain your rankings to the group and discuss any differences of opinion.

5 DISCUSSION What if . . . ?

A Pair work Discuss the questions.

How would your life be different today if . . .

1. you'd been born in another country?
2. you'd grown up in a much smaller or larger family?
3. you hadn't learned any English?
4. you hadn't met your best friend?

B Group work What event or circumstance has had the biggest effect on you? How would your life be different if that event hadn't happened?

"I think growing up in an extended family had the biggest effect on me. If my grandmother hadn't been living with us, I wouldn't have such an awareness of my culture and my ancestors."

1A Verbs followed by gerunds

These verbs are followed by a gerund.

deny discuss finish mention practice quit resist suggest

These verbs are followed by an infinitive.

arrange claim decide demand deserve expect pretend refuse volunteer

Some common expressions are always followed by gerunds.

She had fun / a good time arranging the party.

He has trouble / a tough time getting his assignments in on time.

He's busy cooking dinner right now.

She never worries about cleaning up after herself.

Some verbs take either a gerund or an infinitive, but the meaning of the sentence will be different.

I stopped to drink some coffee. (I ended one activity and began another.)

I stopped drinking coffee. (I don't do that activity anymore.)

I stopped running when I got tired. (I temporarily ended the activity.)

- 1 Complete these sentences with the gerund or infinitive form of the verb in parentheses.

1. I practiced speaking (speak) English with an American friend last night.
2. He volunteered _____ (help) at the hospital fund-raiser.
3. They discussed _____ (go) somewhere exotic on their vacation this year.
4. She's stopped _____ (talk) to him because they had a big argument.
5. My great-grandmother has trouble _____ (get) to our family reunions.
6. Laura always denies _____ (be) wild and crazy, but she really is.

- 2 Choose the best answer to complete the sentences.

My friend Shanda is pretty cool and very outgoing. She's usually busy (1) to do / doing a million things at once. Last week, I suggested (2) to go / going out for dinner and (3) to see / seeing a movie. We arranged (4) to meet / meeting at 7:00. Well, I know she doesn't worry about (5) to be / being on time, but she didn't show up until 7:30. At first, she said it took her a long time to finish (6) to get / getting ready. Then, after the movie, she couldn't resist (7) to tell / telling me what really happened. She was having such a good time (8) to play / playing video games with her brother that she forgot about our plans. It's a good thing I'm the laid-back type!

1B Noun clauses after be

The downside of, the upside of, the hard part about, the good thing about, the only thing about, the trick to, the secret to, and one difficulty with are used in complex phrases that introduce noun clauses after be.

The downside of sharing a bedroom is (that) it's hard to have any privacy.

The hard part about being a twin is (that) people are always calling you by the wrong name.

The trick to living in a crowded house is (that) you have to find a private space of your own.

One difficulty with being the youngest is (that) everyone is always telling you what to do.

The phrases ending with a preposition can be followed by a gerund phrase, not + a gerund phrase, or a noun phrase.

The secret to getting along with your siblings is (that) you have to respect their privacy.

The good thing about not being in a big family is (that) you always get to choose what's on TV.

The upside of a large family is (that) you always have someone to spend time with.

The only thing about working moms is (that) they have less time to spend with you.

1 Complete the sentences with about, of, with, or to.

1. The best thing about my grandmother living with us is that she's a great cook.
2. The upside _____ being a two-income family is we can afford a few small luxuries.
3. One difficulty _____ living with my in-laws is that they want everything their way.
4. The trick _____ living in a large family is you have to learn to respect each other.
5. The hard part _____ strict parents is you always have to remember the rules.
6. The problem _____ not going to our family reunion is I won't see my cousins.

2 Rewrite the sentences. Change the noun phrases in boldface to gerund phrases.

1. The trouble with a big family is it's expensive to feed everyone.
The trouble with having a big family is it's expensive to feed everyone.
2. The trick to a two-income family is you have to schedule family time together.
3. The hard part about a big house is there's so much work to do.
4. The upside of a big house is no one has to share a room.
5. The only bad thing about little brothers is I always have to babysit them.
6. One good thing about little sisters is they really look up to you.
7. One problem with an extended family is we had to get a bigger car.
8. The greatest thing about a small house is the bills are a lot lower.

2A

Past modals and phrasal modals of obligation

Some past modals and phrasal modals of obligation are stronger than others.

Strong obligation: To show that there was no choice about doing the action, use had to.
(Note that must is not used in the past.)

My parents had to go to school on Saturdays.

Expectation: There was a general expectation that an action was required or prohibited.

She was supposed to talk to her professor after class. (But she probably didn't.)

He wasn't supposed to drive the car to school. (But he probably did.)

Advisability: There was a good idea or a correct action in a particular situation, but it was or was not done.

He should have taken better notes in class. (But he didn't.)

She shouldn't have bought such an expensive jacket. (But she did.)

Necessity: The action was considered to be necessary or unnecessary. However, unlike had to, there is a choice about doing or not doing the action.

I needed to make an appointment with the counselor.

I didn't need to buy the textbook, but I thought it looked interesting.

No obligation: There is complete choice about doing the action.

I didn't have to take piano lessons, but I wanted to.

1 Choose the correct answer to complete the sentence.

1. Jan should have / shouldn't have ignored the problem because it only got worse.
2. I was supposed to / didn't have to go on vacation, but I didn't save enough money.
3. Yoko needed to / wasn't supposed to ignore her parents' advice, but she did.
4. He fixed the leak himself, so he didn't need to call / should have called a plumber.
5. When I got older, I had to / wasn't supposed to learn to solve my own problems.
6. I needed to / didn't have to book my flight so early, but I wanted a good seat.

2 Complete the sentences with (not) had to, was (not) supposed to, should (not) have, or (not) needed to and the correct form of the verb in parentheses. Sometimes more than one answer is possible.

1. A: I heard Rob's cell phone rang in the middle of the test. What happened?
B: He had to leave (leave) the room immediately and was given a failing grade.
2. A: You're home early, Jenny. I thought your English exam lasted until 4:00.
B: I finished early, and the teacher said I _____ (stay) if I didn't want to.
3. A: Have you seen Steven this morning? He's late for the test.
B: No, I haven't. He _____ (meet) me for breakfast, but he didn't show up.
4. A: The teacher recommends using a pencil on tests so you can erase wrong answers.
B: Yes, and I _____ (follow) his advice. I made a real mess with my pen.

2B Modals with multiple uses

Degrees of certainty range from very certain to uncertain.

Very certain: To show that you think something was probable in the past, use must have, must not have, can't have, or couldn't have.

Jake had a stomachache last night after dinner. He must have eaten too much.

Sofia was at a movie with me last night. You couldn't have seen her at the mall!

Uncertain: To show that you think something was possible in the past, use could have, may have, might have, may not have, or might not have.

Jun Ho is usually here by now. He could / may / might have missed the bus this morning.

Tanya was supposed to meet me before school. She may / might not have gotten the message.

To give opinions or advice, there are a greater number of modals available for talking about the present or future than there are for the past.

Present or future: Use must (not), have to, have got to, had better (not), or should (not).

Parents have got to monitor the shows their children watch.

The kids had better not spend so much time indoors playing computer games.

Past: Use should (not) have.

I should have listened to the advice my parents gave me about having a healthy lifestyle.

We should not have ignored the scientists' warnings about global warming.

Choose the correct answer to complete the sentence.

- A: Kimberly didn't come to the party last night. I wonder why.
 B: I'm not sure. She could have / should have been sick, I guess.
- A: Where's my umbrella? It was right here by the door.
 B: Oh, I'm sorry, Paul. My sister couldn't have / must have taken it.
- A: I got a terrible cramp in my leg while I was jogging yesterday.
 B: Hmm. You must not have / may have done your stretches properly first.
- A: I had to ask Natalie twice to turn down the TV.
 B: She might not have / must have heard you the first time.
- A: They said the meeting was at 7:30, but it had already started when I got there.
 B: They told me 7:00. You can't have / must have been told the wrong time.
- A: Marnie wasn't at work yesterday. Was she sick?
 B: Well, she couldn't have / must have been too sick. I saw her at the park.
- A: I only used your camera to take a few pictures. I don't see why you're so upset.
 B: Well, you couldn't have / shouldn't have been using it without my permission.
- A: Sorry I'm late. We were playing baseball, and I didn't notice the time.
 B: You may not have / couldn't have been doing that. It's been dark for an hour!

3A Defining and non-defining relative clauses

That can be used for people or things in defining relative clauses. However, it cannot be used as a replacement for where or when with the meaning “in which,” “at which,” or “during which.”

Many of the people that live in Paris leave the city in August to vacation in other places.

A statue of ducks that can be found in Boston is a popular tourist attraction for children.

Pamplona is that city in Spain where the bulls run through the streets during a summer festival.

Summer is the season when New York is crowded with tourists from all over the world.

That cannot be used in non-defining relative clauses. Who, which, or where are used instead.

Cairo, which has fascinated Europeans for ages, draws countless tourists each year.

Our tour guide, who knew a great deal about souvenirs in Otavalo, helped us buy some beautiful presents for our friends.

- 1 Complete the defining relative clauses with that, who, when, or where. Sometimes more than one answer is possible.

- People who / that live in cities have more stress than people _____ live in small towns.
- Amy likes to stay in hotels _____ there are lots of theaters and restaurants nearby.
- Some city people have cottages by lakes _____ they can swim and relax during the summer season.
- My family and I always visit Brazil in the month _____ the Carnaval festival begins.
- Many office workers like to have lunch in a park _____ they can sit in the sun and enjoy the nature _____ is all around them.
- The city is better for students _____ want to work in the summer because it's the place _____ the job market offers the most opportunities.
- People _____ live in towns _____ there is no public transportation system often own cars.
- If you're going to Asia in April, Tokyo is a city _____ I recommend visiting because spring is the season _____ the cherry trees are in bloom.

- 2 Match the information about these cities. Then make sentences with non-defining relative clauses.

- | | |
|---|--|
| 1. New Yorkers / huge baseball fans c | a. was also the location of the first games. |
| 2. Saint Petersburg / the Hermitage is located ____ | b. is a popular winter destination. |
| 3. Athens / 2004 Summer Olympics were held ____ | c. have two pro teams in their city. |
| 4. Sydney / famous for its Opera House ____ | d. is crossed by many canals. |
| 5. Venice / built on 118 small islands ____ | e. was Russia's capital for many years. |
| 6. Hawaii / has warm weather all year ____ | f. also has a well-known bridge. |

New Yorkers, who are huge baseball fans, have two pro teams in their city.

3B Order of modifiers

Shape (round, thin), color (red, blue), and material (silk, plastic) are also used to describe nouns. They appear in the following order:

Quality	Size	Shape	Age	Color	Type	Material	Noun
quaint	little	winding					streets
picturesque			old	brightly colored	resort		hotels
	small				Thai	wooden	fishing boats

1 Put the words in the correct order.

- He bought a red / house / brick / little in the center of town.
He bought a little red brick house in the center of town.
- They're renting a cottage / pink / traditional / square beside the river.
- He hated living in a border / town / remote / little with its wooden / houses / run-down.
- The town had many old / buildings / cement with steel / dirty / black / roofs.

3B Connecting contrasting ideas

There are three ways to connect contrasting ideas.

To begin an adverb clause, use although or even though.

I'd like to live in a small town someday even though I love all the opportunities in big cities.

Although I love all the opportunities in big cities, I'd like to live in a small town someday.

To begin an independent clause, use the transition words however, nevertheless, or on the other hand. Note the punctuation with transition words.

I love big cities. However / On the other hand, I'd like to live in a small town someday.

I love big cities; nevertheless / however, I'd like to live in a small town someday.

To begin a noun phrase, use the prepositions despite or in spite of.

Despite all the opportunities in big cities, I'd like to live in a small town someday.

I'd like to live in a small town someday in spite of all the opportunities in big cities.

2 Complete each sentence with a word or phrase from the box. Sometimes more than one answer is possible.

although however in spite of on the other hand nevertheless

- This is a great city; nevertheless / however, it's too crowded.
- _____ living downtown is expensive, there's a lot to do.
- The summer is beautiful here. _____, it's terrible in the winter.
- _____ the high crime rate, I'm not afraid to walk home alone after dark.

4A

Reduced time clauses

In a reduced time clause, the subject of the clause is omitted and the verb is changed to an -ing form. A time clause with before, after, or while can be reduced only if the subject in the sentence's other clause is the same.

Before I go to sleep, I like to read.

Before going to sleep, I like to read.

I like to read before going to sleep.

Before the baby goes to sleep, his mother reads to him.

Once, every time, till, as, the first / next / last time, and many other time expressions can be used in time clauses. Time clauses beginning with these expressions cannot be reduced.

As soon as / Once I drink that first cup of coffee, I'm ready for the day.

Whenever / Every time I stay out late, I have trouble getting up the next morning.

I always stay at the office until / till I've finished all my work.

I like to watch TV as I'm eating dinner.

The last time I drank too much coffee, I was jittery all day.

- 1 Which of these time clauses can be reduced (R)? Which ones cannot be reduced (N)? Write the correct letter.

- N 1. Ever since I can remember, I've been a night owl.
2. Once I fall asleep, I almost never wake up until morning.
3. My mother races off to work right after I leave for school.
4. Every time Jerry comes to visit, he keeps me up past my bedtime.
5. As soon as I get up in the morning, I drink a large glass of water.
6. I always listen to music while I run.
7. I often doze off as I'm watching TV at night.
8. Whenever I drink coffee after 3:00, I have trouble falling asleep.
9. I always have breakfast at a local café before I start classes for the day.
10. The last time I stayed at a hotel, the bed was really uncomfortable.

- 2 Rewrite the sentences using reduced time clauses.

1. I usually watch the news while I have breakfast.

I usually watch the news while having breakfast.

2. My sister won't drink orange juice after she brushes her teeth.

3. She does a lot of housework before she leaves for work in the morning.

4. Power nappers work better after they sleep for a short time during the day.

5. You probably shouldn't eat anything heavy before you exercise.

6. If I listen to soft music while I study, I can concentrate better.

7. After I'm in an argument, I need to be by myself for an hour or two.

8. Before I chill out at night, I make sure everything is ready for the morning.

4B Clauses stating reasons and conditions

The following are all additional commonly used clauses that state reasons and conditions.

Now that introduces a change in general circumstances that explains the main clause. Now that means “because now.”

Now that I have a job that starts early, I have to leave the house by 6:30.

Whether or not introduces a condition that might or might not occur and which will not influence the main clause. Note its two possible positions.

She goes jogging every morning whether or not it's bad weather.

She goes jogging every morning whether it's bad weather or not.

Provided / Providing (that) introduces a condition that must be met for the main clause to be true.

Provided that I get all my schoolwork done, my weekend will be free.

Providing that I get a promotion, I'll stay with my company a few more years.

1 Match each sentence on the left with the best meaning on the right.

- | | |
|--|---|
| 1. She always has breakfast whether she's in a hurry or not. c | a. She has plenty of time to eat something in the morning. |

- Now that* / Even if I'm going to bed later, I'm getting up later.
- I'm afraid to nap at lunch even if / just in case I start snoring at my desk.
- Even if* / Provided that I'm totally exhausted, I can't sleep on airplanes.

5A

Infinitive and gerund phrases

In a sentence with It's + adjective + infinitive, it is possible to follow the adjective with for and an object. The object can be a pronoun or a noun.

It's difficult for her to talk about her feelings openly.

It's customary for North Americans to make frequent eye contact.

For sentences in the negative, use not + infinitive or not + gerund.

It's considered rude not to thank people who give you gifts.

Not thanking people who give you gifts is considered rude.

Adjectives of feeling (glad, happy, pleased) cannot be used with the It's + adjective + infinitive structure. Instead, the sentence needs to say who has (or doesn't have) these feelings.

Most parents are happy to see their children go to college.

People are always delighted to get compliments.

1 Rewrite the sentences using infinitive or gerund phrases.

1. It's important to make a good first impression.
Making a good first impression is important.
2. Arriving late for an appointment is inappropriate in most countries.
3. It's fairly typical for college students to get to a party late.
4. It's considered rude not to be punctual for a dinner party.
5. Keeping the conversation going is easy for Elyse.
6. Showing the bottom of your feet is offensive in some places.
7. It's good form to bring a small gift to a dinner party.
8. Talking about politics is sometimes risky.
9. It's customary for some parents to brag about their children.
10. Thanking the hostess the day after a party is a nice idea.

2 Write sentences with infinitive phrases using the words below.

1. Tom / always happy / lend money to his friends
Tom is always happy to lend money to his friends.
2. Wendy / unusual / arrive late to class
It's unusual for Wendy to arrive late to class.
3. Donald / relaxing / not have homework over the weekend
4. Min / always glad / help a friend in need
5. many tourists / surprised / learn about some American customs
6. students / inappropriate / interrupt a teacher
7. new employees / often afraid / ask their bosses for help
8. dinner guests / customary / thank their hosts
9. businesspeople / important / be punctual for appointments

5B Reported speech

The modals can, may, must, have to, and don't have to change in reported speech. Might and should do not change. Also notice how the pronouns change in reported speech.

Statements

"You can go to the party with me."
 "I may go to a movie tonight."
 "We must tell him the truth."
 "He has to go to the bank."
 "You don't have to pay me back."
 "We might get married."
 "I should replace my old laptop."

Reported statements

She said I could go to the party with her.
 He said he might go to a movie tonight.
 They said they had to tell him the truth.
 He said he had to go to the bank.
 She said I didn't have to pay her back.
 She said they might get married.
 He said he should replace his old laptop."

Say and tell are used differently in reported speech. Tell must be followed by a noun or object pronoun. Say is not followed by a noun/pronoun object.

Statements

"Don't park the car there."

Reported statements

She told me not to park the car there.
 She said not to park the car there.

When a very recent statement is being reported, no tense change is necessary.

A: I didn't hear that. What did she say?

B: She said she wants to go out for dinner.

Review the rules for reported speech on page 41. Change these conversations to reported speech.

- Ryan: I'm thinking of applying for a promotion at work.
 Emma: What kind of promotion is it?
 Ryan: Our department needs a new manager.
 Emma: You should definitely apply!
 Ryan: I'm a little nervous because there's a big interview.
 Emma: You just have to practice. I can help you.
Ryan told Emma he was thinking of applying for a promotion at work.
- Karl: Do we have to sign up for our after-school club?
 Tanya: You can sign up until noon.
 Ava: Don't wait too long. The good clubs are filling up fast.
 Karl: I'll do it after I eat my lunch.
- Larry: I'm going to the Galápagos Islands in April.
 Jason: That's wonderful! You must send me some photos.
 Larry: I'll send you some. I promise! But why don't you go with me?
 Jason: I can't go. I may be starting a new job in April.

6A Present perfect vs. simple past

Use the present perfect to report a repeated past event that could continue into the present.

Thieves have robbed three banks this year.

The seal has painted four pictures so far.

Use the present perfect to report an event that has an effect on the present, or is still relevant.

She's been more careful since she lost her car keys.

The store has had a security camera for a month now.

- 1 Complete these sentences with the simple past or the present perfect form of the verbs in parentheses.
- The police caught (catch) the robber when he _____ (sell) the stolen art.
 - Unbelievably, the same woman _____ (win) the lottery twice since May.
 - So far, the children _____ (raise) more than $500 for charity.
 - Since the city _____ (pass) its new laws last year, crime _____ (fall).
 - The kidnappers _____ (not call) and _____ (not demand) any ransom yet.
 - No storms _____ (strike) since the summer _____ (begin).

6A Present perfect vs. present perfect continuous

Some verbs, such as live, work, study, give/take (lessons), and teach, express the idea of an ongoing action. They can usually be used in either the present perfect or the present perfect continuous.

He has lived in London for eight years.

I have taken violin lessons since I was three.

He has been living in London for eight years.

I have been taking violin lessons since I was three.

- 2 Review the rules for the present perfect and the present perfect continuous on page 45. Then choose the correct form of the verb to complete the article. Sometimes more than one answer is possible.

It's a sad day for many who (1) have lived / have been living in this town since they were children. The town council (2) has decided / has been deciding to take down the old fishing pier.

Fisherman Bob Kates said, "I (3) have worked / have been working here since I was young. Generations of kids (4) have taken / have been taking swimming lessons here. I myself (5) have jumped / have been jumping off this pier many times, especially on hot summer days. However, today the temperature (6) has reached / has been reaching 36 degrees Celsius, but nobody can jump off the pier as the town (7) has already put up / has already been putting up barriers. It's true that the pier (8) has been / has been being in pretty bad condition for a while now, so I guess it's a safety issue."

It's not all bad news for Mr. Kates. The town (9) has studied / has been studying proposals for replacing the pier for a year now, and in fact, planning for a new and improved pier (10) has already begun / has already been beginning.

6B Adverbs with the simple past and past perfect

When and the simple past and past perfect can be used to express different time relationships.

When I arrived in Bangkok, my connecting flight had already departed.

When I arrived in Bangkok, my friend met me at the airport.

When before makes the sequence of events clear, the simple past or past perfect can be used.

It began to rain before she boarded the plane.

It had begun to rain before she boarded the plane.

Yet and already are used with both the present perfect and past perfect to show that an event took place earlier.

It had already started raining when I arrived in Bangkok.

It hadn't started raining yet when I arrived in Bangkok.

Choose the correct form of the verb to complete the story.

The taxi arrived to take Erica to the airport for her flight to London. Until that day she (1) was never / (had never been) on an international flight. The travel agent (2) told / had told her to get to the airport early, so she (3) arrived / had arrived four hours before her flight was due to leave. When she (4) got / had gotten there, she (5) realized / had realized she had plenty of time to spare, so she (6) decided / had decided to have some coffee and a snack and look at the newspaper before she (7) checked in / had checked in. She (8) already bought / had already bought some chocolate bars to eat on the plane, so she decided to have one of those. She sat at the counter and ordered a coffee.

When her coffee (9) came / had come, she pulled her favorite section out of the newspaper, carefully refolded it, and put it on the counter beside her. When she (10) reached / had reached for her chocolate bar, she saw that someone (11) already took / had already taken it out of the package and (12) broke / had broken it into eight tidy squares. She looked beside her and saw a distinguished-looking businessman. Before that, she (13) didn't really notice / hadn't really noticed him. She watched as he picked up a piece of the chocolate and calmly popped it into his mouth. She (14) never saw / had never seen such rude behavior in her life, so still staring at him, she (15) picked up / had picked up a piece and ate it. By now, he was staring back. He picked up another piece and ate it. So did Erica. Finally, there was only one piece left. Erica (16) took / had taken it.

The man stood up. He said, "Look. If you're that hungry, buy yourself a donut!" He (17) slammed / had slammed a dollar bill down on the counter and stormed out. In her entire life, she (18) was never / had never been so shocked. Muttering to herself, Erica began to gather up her things. Suddenly, she stopped, standing as still as a statue. There, under her newspaper, (19) was / had been her chocolate bar, exactly where she (20) put / had put it before the whole fiasco began.

Passive of present continuous, present perfect, future

If the agent (the person or thing doing the action) is unknown or obvious from the context, it's better to use a passive form. However, if the person or thing doing the action needs to be emphasized, it's better to use an active form.

The spyware is being used to collect information about college students. (Agent is unknown.)

Social networking sites have been used in criminal investigations. (Agent is clear from context.)

A criminal organization has created this virus, not an amateur hacker. (Agent is emphasized.)

The passive is very rarely used with the present perfect continuous. Use the passive of the present perfect instead.

People have been posting more videos to the Internet this year than ever before.

More videos have been posted to the Internet this year than ever before.

1 For each pair of sentences, is it better to use the passive or active form?

Choose a or b.

1. ☒ a. More U.S. employers will likely allow access to social networking sites.
☐ b. Access to social networking sites will likely be allowed.

7. In years to come, more and more data _____ (store) in the cloud.
8. I recently discovered that my neighbors _____ (use) my Wi-Fi many times.
9. In the next decade, more job interviews _____ (hold) online.
10. Since I last visited this blog, several older posts _____ (remove).

7B Negative and tag questions for giving opinions

Use past negative and tag questions to offer an opinion about a past event and invite someone to react.

Wasn't it weird how the manager's microphone kept turning on and off during his speech?

Didn't it seem like the manager's speech would never end?

Shouldn't the company have provided us with coffee before the speech?

The manager's speech was really boring, wasn't it?

The manager has given some pretty boring speeches, hasn't he?

The manager's speech had just put about everyone to sleep when the fire alarm rang, hadn't it?

In informal spoken English, they can be used as the pronoun in tag questions when the subject is somebody, someone, everybody, everyone, nobody, or no one.

Everyone we know had a cell phone in school, didn't they? Yes, they did.

Somebody has hacked into your computer, haven't they? Yes, they have. / No, they haven't.

Use an affirmative tag question when the subject is a negative, such as nobody or nothing.

Nobody left any voice mail messages, did they? Yes, they did. / No, they didn't.

1 Turn the statements into negative questions.

1. It would have been great if telemarketers had never gotten my number.

Wouldn't it have been great if telemarketers had never gotten my number?

2. It was awful how much paper we wasted on fliers that nobody read.

10A Relative clauses and noun clauses

In some relative clauses, the relative pronoun (who, that, or which) can be omitted.

In an object relative clause, a relative pronoun (who, that, or which) is optional. Relative pronouns are only required when they function as the subject of a relative clause.

My friend told our classmates a secret. I had told him that secret.

My friend told our classmates a secret (that) I had told him.

In a subject relative clause, a relative pronoun (who, that, or which) is necessary because it functions as the subject of the relative clause.

I have a roommate. She never cleans the kitchen.

I have a roommate who never cleans the kitchen.

- 1 Choose the sentences where the relative pronoun (who, that, or which) is optional.

10B Simple and complex indirect questions

If the beginning clause of an indirect question is in statement word order, the sentence is a statement and ends with a period.

I'm curious about why he didn't complain to the landlord.

I'm not sure who is responsible for repairing the roads.

The big question is if / whether we can get the city officials to listen to our concerns.

If the beginning clause of an indirect question is in question word order, the sentence is a question and ends with a question mark.

Do you have any idea if / whether I need a visa to visit China?

Could you tell me where I can go to pay my parking ticket?

Don't you wonder how a place with such poor service stays in business?

1 Rewrite these sentences using the words in parentheses.

- Why can't the city add more streetlights? (I don't understand . . .)
I don't understand why the city can't add more streetlights.
- Is the city going to improve the rush hour bus service? (Do you know . . .)

- When the next meeting will be is something I haven't found out yet.
- I wonder if I should complain about my neighbor's loud parties.

11A Present unreal conditional with unless, only if, and even if

To ask a follow-up question after a yes/no question, a shortened conditional can be used, especially in spoken or informal English. The positive shortened conditional is if so, and the negative shortened conditional is if not.

Would you consider lying to a good friend to avoid hurting your friend's feelings? If so, what kinds of things would you lie about?

Are you sure your friends are loyal and trusting? If not, you shouldn't tell them your secrets.

1 Match the yes/no questions on the left with the follow-up questions on the right.

- | | |
|--|---|
| 1. Would you say anything if a colleague called you by the wrong name? c | a. If not, what would you say? |
| 2. If the man next to you on the bus fell asleep on your shoulder, would you wake him up? ____ | b. If not, would you confront your friend? |

| 4. Would you report it if you saw a friend steal a small item from a store? ____ | d. If not, would you try to find its owner? |
| 5. If people you secretly disliked invited you to a party at their home, would you go? ____ | e. If so, how would you wake him up? |
| 6. If a cat always came to your house for food, would you keep it? ____ | f. If not, what excuse would you give? |

2 Review the rules for the present unreal conditional with unless, only if, and even if on page 89. Choose the correct answer to complete each sentence.

1. I wouldn't lie to a friend unless / only if it was in his or her best interests.
2. If you found money on the street, would you turn it in to the police?
If so / If not, what would you do with it?
3. Would you report a shoplifter only if / even if the person looked poor?
If so / If not, would you tell the store manager, or would you call the police?
4. He wouldn't lose his temper only if / even if he were really angry.
5. Would you confront a friend who gossiped about you behind your back?
If so / If not, what would you say?
6. I wouldn't read anyone else's mail even if / only if I were really curious.
7. Would you make a promise if you already knew you couldn't keep it?
If so / If not, what would you do later when you didn't keep the promise?
8. I would criticize my friends unless / only if I knew a way to help them improve.

11B Wishes and regrets

Wishes and regrets often use comparative words, such as (not) enough, more, less, and better, and intensifiers, such as really and very.

12B Mixed conditionals

Conditionals can appear in many forms. They can describe how situations in the past affect situations in the past, the present, or the future.

Use a past form in both the if clause and the result clause to talk about true events in the past.

When I was younger, if I didn't behave well, my parents were disappointed.

If we got lost during our trip last year, we just asked someone for directions.

Use the past perfect in the if clause and would / wouldn't have + the past participle of the verb in the result clause to talk about hypothetical situations in the past that had effects on the more recent past.

If I had been born with a good voice, I would have started my own band a long time ago.

Use the past perfect in the if clause and would / wouldn't + verb in the result clause to describe hypothetical situations in the past that have effects on the present.

If I had studied harder when I was in school, I would have a better job today.

Use the past perfect in the if clause and would / wouldn't + verb in the result clause to talk about hypothetical situations in the past that have effects on the future.

If she had booked her flight before now, she would be in Paris next week.

If I hadn't taken a year off from school, I would be graduating this June.

Complete these sentences with the correct form of the verbs in parentheses.

11B Adjectives and nouns referring to personal values

Choose the correct words to complete the conversation.

- Yoko: One quality I value in my friends is (1) indifference / selfishness / compassion.
- Omar: I agree! I also think it's important for friends to be (2) honest / tender / generous if they think I'm doing something wrong.
- Yoko: It's helpful when my friends are truthful, but I also want them to be (3) selfish / sensitive / resilient. I don't want them to hurt my feelings.
- Omar: Yeah, I guess that's important. You know, I wish some of my friends were better at keeping secrets! They need to show a little (4) discretion / kindness / tolerance when I share something personal.
- Yoko: That's true! I expect my friends to have (5) generosity / resilience / respect for my privacy. I'm pretty open, but it's annoying when people ask too many questions.
- Omar: Yeah, some people are too curious. But, I think overall, my friends are (6) kind and generous / sensitive and selfish / resilient and indifferent, and they make me happy!

12A Expressions ending with prepositions

Choose the correct words to complete the email.

Hi Jill,

I heard that you're moving to Tokyo soon to teach English. That's something to (1) be scared of / (be excited about)!

I remember that when I moved to Buenos Aires last year, it took a while to (2) get accustomed to / look forward to a new culture. I had to learn about the way people do business, make friends, and have fun. Luckily, I can speak Spanish, so I was able to (3) be familiar with / participate in meetings and conversations. I wanted to (4) take advantage of / become aware of cultural events, so I attended concerts, saw plays, and even learned to play guitar from an Argentinean musician!

My advice is to keep an open mind and give yourself time to (5) adjust to / take advantage of your new home. And don't (6) be scared of / become aware of trying new things.

I (7) am familiar with / look forward to hearing about your adventures in Japan!

1 FRIENDS AND FAMILY

LESSON A, Ex. 5 [p. 4, CD 1 Tracks 2 and 3]

1. Marcos

Well, I guess the biggest change in my life over the last five years is that I got married. You know, I used to be into going out with friends every weekend – and staying out late. We were pretty wild and crazy back then. Now, I'm more of a family man. I don't mind staying at home, watching TV – that kind of thing. I'm even learning to cook! It's not so bad. I guess you could say that I started to grow up. I wasn't so interested in going out all the time. I was ready to settle down and have a family.

I have to be honest. My heart wasn't really in the right place before. I mean, before, I didn't mind being, well, a little irresponsible at times, even selfish. I was always out having fun with my friends, but I never wanted to hear about their problems. I just didn't care. But now that I have a wife and a little boy, it's different. I'm trying to become more, you know, more generous and kind. I want to be there to help them out, no matter how small the problem.

2. Heather

I have to say, five years ago I was a completely different person. I never said much in a crowd, and I always tried to avoid making small talk with people I didn't know very well. But, really, I was just incredibly shy and reserved. Anyway, then I went away to college, and I had this roommate, Nora. She had a great sense of humor and laughed at all my jokes. That really gave me a lot of confidence.

Nora and I joined a small study group at school. When we finish studying, a bunch of us go out for coffee. Conversation is easy because we all have a lot of the same interests. Now my new friends think of me as the funny one in the group. Can you believe it? So, I'd say I'm much more friendly and outgoing now. I don't worry about speaking up and giving my opinion anymore. In fact, I'm thinking about joining a few more clubs so I can meet even more new people and do more things.

LESSON B, Ex. 2 [p. 6, CD 1 Tracks 4 and 5]

Paul: So, Andrea, I heard you're staying with your in-laws for the holidays.

Andrea: Well, yeah. We leave tomorrow afternoon. How about you, Paul?

Paul: Actually, I still live with my parents, so I don't have to go anywhere. You know, you don't sound very excited about your trip.

Andrea: I guess I'm just a little nervous. The whole time I was growing up, it was just me and my mom and dad. It was quiet around the house – very quiet. But my husband's family is huge. I mean, there are so many people!

Paul: Wow! How many?

Andrea: Well, he grew up in an extended family. So there were his parents and his grandparents, and his younger sister, and his two younger brothers – no, wait, three younger brothers. All under one roof! So that's what, nine total?

Paul: Wow. What do they all do?

Andrea: Oh, let me think. My sister-in-law, she's the youngest, maybe 20 or 21. She's a law student here in Chicago. And the oldest brother-in-law is a musician in New York. The other brothers are a lawyer and . . . a teacher, I think. We haven't been married long, so I don't know them that well, you know. But they all seem very nice and friendly. So, how about you? How big is your family?

Paul: Well, when I was a kid, our family was a lot like your in-laws'. It was me, my parents, my older sister and brother – and my grandparents, too. But both my grandparents passed away a while ago, unfortunately, so it's just the five of us now.

Andrea: Are your sister and brother coming in for the holidays?

Paul: Yeah, they're coming with their families. My sister and her husband live near Boston. They have two little girls. Then my brother and his wife and their three kids will come over as well. My brother's a doctor here in Chicago. It'll be great! We love getting together.

Andrea: So that's . . . How many people is that?

Paul: Uh, 12, I think.

Andrea: Wow! That's even more than my in-laws.

Paul: Yeah. The hard part about it is my mom has to cook so much food. Of course, the great thing about having a big family is that there are a lot of people to help her.

LESSON B, Ex. 6 [p. 8, CD 1 Tracks 6 and 7]

Sue: Hey, Victor, you're back in town! So, how did it go?

Victor: Oh, it was great! I wasn't sure I was going to enjoy it, but it turned out to be a lot of fun.

Sue: Was your grandmother surprised?

Victor: Completely! She knew we'd do something special for her eightieth birthday, but she never expected that the whole family would turn up for a reunion.

Sue: How many people were there?

Victor: Lots – I'd say about 60 or so. Folks showed up from all over the place. We had people from Texas, Illinois, Florida, California, and even Mexico. I got to see people I hadn't seen for years, like Lu Ann, my uncle's cousin. Actually, I don't think I've seen her since I was a little kid! Oh, and my brother Rudy was there with his wife and their new baby – Grandma's first great-granddaughter.

Sue: That sounds like fun. So was there anyone there you didn't recognize?

Victor: Yeah, but that was OK because as soon as we got there, we each got a name tag showing how we were related to Grandma. Like mine said: "Victor – Anita's grandson, Hector's son."

Sue: That's a cool idea. So you could immediately see how you were related to someone.

Victor: Yeah, most people have changed a lot over the years, plus my mother-in-law came along because she hadn't seen any of these people since our wedding, so the name tags worked out really well.

Sue: So, were there other people at the reunion who weren't directly related to your grandmother?

Victor: Oh, sure. There were quite a few people who weren't directly related to her, like some in-laws, neighbors, friends of the family . . . But their name tags said who they were and what the connection was.

Sue: Sounds like it must have been a lot of fun. I bet your grandmother was happy.

Victor: Yeah. Really happy.

2 MISTAKES AND MYSTERIES

LESSON A, Ex. 2 [p. 10, CD 1 Tracks 8 and 9]

Have I ever made any bad decisions? Me? Oh yeah, all the time. I made a terrible decision just the other day. My next-door neighbor knocked on my door and said she was going to visit her sister in Canada for a week. Then she asked me if I could feed her cat while she was away. I didn't know her very well, but she said the person who usually takes care of her cat couldn't do it this time. And without even thinking about it, I said I'd help her.

This was just a terrible decision. I mean, for one thing, I'm allergic to cats. I mean really allergic. And also, I knew I was going to be really busy at work – I mean really busy – and there was no way I'd have time to take care of her cat properly. And on top of that, I'm a really absent-minded person in general. I forget stuff all the time. That's why I don't have pets. I don't even have a plant!

But my neighbor made me feel like I had to help, I guess. So, I agreed to do it. And the problems started right away. I was supposed to start feeding the cat on Thursday morning, but I just forgot to do it. I should have marked my calendar so I wouldn't forget. But I didn't. I mean, I told myself to mark the calendar, but I never did. The next thing I knew it was Thursday afternoon, and I was in the middle of a meeting at work, and suddenly I remembered. So I had to leave work early to go home and feed the cat.

Then, the next day, I knew I needed to leave work on time to catch the train home and feed the cat. But my boss said I had to stay late to finish this report. So I missed that train, and the next one didn't come for an hour. When I finally got home, the cat was OK, luckily. But he was pretty hungry, and he was mad at me, I guess, because he scratched me.

Then it was the weekend. I brought the cat over to my own apartment. I thought it would be easier to remember it that way. But, I really shouldn't have done that because of my allergies. I remembered to feed the cat, but I was sneezing all weekend.

LESSON A, Ex. 6 [p. 12, CD 1 Tracks 10 and 11]

1. Ray

The problem that I had . . . well, it was a real learning experience. You see, I went to the doctor for my yearly checkup. I think it was last spring. And, anyway, the doctor said I'd gained some weight and – and this was a surprise to me – but he said my health wasn't really too good. He told me I needed to start exercising and eating better. So, I got one of those low-fat cookbooks. And I started jogging around my neighborhood. And you know, at first I felt great! But then, one day I was jogging, and I guess I was pushing myself too hard, and I fell and twisted my ankle. So, after that, I didn't do any exercise for a few days. And I started to feel really lazy and unhealthy, so – and here's where I made my mistake – I started jogging again, even though my ankle was still a little sore. I really shouldn't have done that. I should have gone to the doctor about it and followed his advice. Well, surprise, surprise, after a few days of that, I was running and I felt this awful pain. It was just terrible – it hurt so much. I could barely walk home. So I went to the doctor after that – finally. He told me that I shouldn't have started running again so soon. That just aggravated the problem. Now I can't go jogging for a couple of months.

2. Felipe

The problem was our next-door neighbor, Eddie. It got so bad that I just wanted to move out and sell my house, but then I figured no one would buy it. You see, my neighbor's hobby is fixing up old cars that he can sell later. That's fine, I guess, but he always runs into some problem while he's fixing them up, and then he just quits. So the cars just sit there in the front yard. Right now, he's got three out there, and they're horrible to look at. For a long time, I didn't say anything, but I kept getting madder and madder. Then last Saturday morning, at about seven o'clock, Eddie was out there working on a car and making so much noise it woke us up! Well, I had to do something. So I stomped out there in my pajamas and started yelling. Of course, Eddie started yelling back. It got pretty bad. I guess I shouldn't have done that. So later that day, when I was a little calmer, I went out and suggested he build a fence so I wouldn't have to look at that mess. He thought it was a good idea, surprisingly, but he also thought I should pay half the cost. We haven't solved the problem yet, but at least we're dealing with it. We're talking about it like adults.

3. Jennifer

One time, my best friend Keiko and I were supposed to work on a big school project together. It started off OK. We figured out what needed to be done, and then we divided the work between us. The problem was . . . I didn't do the work I was supposed to do. Keiko kept calling me, and I kept making excuses – you know, just ignoring the whole problem. The day before we had to hand it in, I had to tell her that I hadn't done my share. She worked all day and all night and finished the project by herself. The teacher loved it and told the class what a great team Keiko and I were. I didn't say anything, and neither did Keiko. I avoided her in class that week, and when she called me, I didn't answer or call her back. See, I really hated confrontation. I couldn't deal with problems like that. I thought it was better to just pretend there was nothing wrong. I thought Keiko might be mad for a couple of days and then forget about it. That was five years ago. Now, when I see Keiko, she just says hello and keeps walking. I guess I should have apologized right away. Then I might have avoided the whole problem. Or better yet, I should have just done my share of the work.

LESSON B, Ex. 5 [p. 16, CD 1 Tracks 12 and 13]

Sheila: Hey, Adam. Where did you call me from earlier?
It was so noisy.

Adam: A gas station. I called while I was filling up my tank.

Sheila: Oh, no! You shouldn't have called me from there!
I heard it's dangerous to use a cell phone at a gas station.

Adam: Really?

Sheila: Yes! Cell phones produce microwave radiation, you know, the beam of energy that sends the message. I believe it can ignite gasoline.

Adam: Oh, so that's what you're worried about. Well, you don't have to worry anymore. It's not really true, Sheila. They investigated that question on an episode of Solving Mysteries, that TV show that exposes the truth about everyday myths and mysteries.

Sheila: Solving Mysteries? I love that show.

Adam: Yeah, it's great. Well, as I was saying, on this one episode, they experimented with cell phones and gasoline, and they found that it's not actually possible to cause a gasoline explosion with a cell phone. The real danger is an electrical spark caused by static electricity – you know, the kind of spark you get when you touch a doorknob after walking across a carpet. But that has nothing to do with cell phones.

Sheila: Oh, I guess I must have missed that episode. But I loved the one around the question of whether talking to plants really helps them grow. Did you see it?

Adam: No, I don't think so. But I wouldn't think that talking to plants helps with their growth. I mean, plants can't understand what we say to them, right?

Sheila: Well, that's true, but a scientific study showed that plant growth actually speeds up if you expose the plants to certain sounds for a long time. So talking to plants for a long time might actually help them. But, of course, the amount of time any normal person would have to talk to plants doesn't help them.

Adam: Interesting. But I still don't think I'll start talking to my plants.

Sheila: That's OK. I don't do it, and my plants are all doing fine.

Adam: Do you remember when Solving Mysteries investigated whether a singer can break a glass using just his or her voice?

Sheila: I didn't see that one. But it sounds too incredible to believe. Our voices just don't have that kind of power.

Adam: Well, it's true that most of us can't do it, but a few people really can break crystal glasses using just their voices. They have to sing just the right note. I saw a rock singer do it. First, he tapped the side of the glass. He listened to the ringing sound the glass made and then sang that same note very, very loudly. It only took a few seconds before the glass shattered.

Sheila: Wow! I wish I'd seen that one. The last episode of Solving Mysteries I saw was kind of boring. It was exploring whether yawning is contagious.

Adam: You mean, if other people around me yawn, will I start yawning?

Sheila: Exactly.

Adam: Well, when I yawn I express my own tiredness or boredom. If other people aren't tired or bored, they won't yawn just because I do.

Sheila: Well, actually, scientists believe that people yawn when someone else does as a way of expressing their connection with that person.

Adam: Hmm . . . I don't know about that.

Sheila: No, really. Researchers have even found contagious yawning among chimpanzees, but mostly among chimpanzees that are part of the same group, and therefore have a bond or connection with each other.

Adam: I suppose that could be true. Maybe I should have yawned when you yawned a few minutes ago. I guess that would have made us better friends?

Sheila: That's OK, Adam. You can communicate with me using language. We're not chimpanzees, after all!

3 EXPLORING NEW CITIES

LESSON A, Ex. 2 [p. 18, CD 1 Tracks 14 and 15]

Andy: Well, this is Andy Wong, and we're just about at the end of another episode of Where in the World . . .? But before we sign off, I'd like to tell you a little about tomorrow's program. Tomorrow we'll have a very interesting report on two very exciting cities that I'm sure you won't want to miss. Our reporters in the field, Diana and Matt, are standing by to fill us in on the details. Diana! Can you hear me?

Diana: Yes, Andy, loud and clear!

Andy: Well, where are you?

Diana: You know I can't tell you that, Andy! You'll have to watch tomorrow's program to get the answer.

Andy: Oh, right, that's right. Well, tell us about the place anyway.

Diana: OK. As you said, this city is a very exciting place to visit. First of all, it is one of the 10 largest metropolitan areas in the world. It's a very cosmopolitan city with a strong identity of its own. And the local food is delicious! I'm really enjoying the restaurants that serve barbecued beef, which is grilled right at your table. But I must warn you, a lot of the food is spicy, so come prepared. Do you like spicy food, Andy?

Andy: I sure do.

Diana: Well, you should come on over, then! Andy, this city is very old. And it's divided by the beautiful Han River. The city has a striking combination of modern and ancient architecture. With its efficient subway system, it's very easy to get around and see the sights. But be sure and use public transportation because the traffic can be heavy!

Andy: Great, Diana. Thanks so much for . . .

Diana: Oh, wait, Andy! One more thing I forgot to mention. The shopping. The street vendors here sell everything from shoes to electronics to furniture – all at discounted prices. Oops! Have I said too much?

Andy: No, no, not at all. Sounds like you're having a fantastic time. We're looking forward to hearing your full report tomorrow and finding out just where in the world you are right now! Before we run out of time, though, let me turn it over to Matt. Matt? Are you there?

Matt: I sure am. Hello, everyone. Well, my city is very old. It was founded over 3,000 years ago by the Greeks. It is now the largest city in the country, with over three and a half million inhabitants – that's about a third of the population of the country. It's quite fascinating. It's surrounded by mountains, and it overlooks the sea. And if you enjoy swimming, there are beautiful beaches in the suburbs.

Andy: Well, Matt, I guess we know where you've been the last few days . . . On the beach!

Matt: Well, not exactly, Andy. There's so much to see and do here. By the way, this city has some of the world's best museums and one of its best-known monuments. This world famous ancient Greek temple that sits on the top of a rocky hill in the center of the city has to be seen with your own eyes to be believed.

Andy: Mm-hmm. I'll take your word for it. So, what do people who live there like to do at night?

Matt: Well, there are a lot of theaters, including outdoor theaters. And there's a local restaurant district just down the hill from the temple where people eat, talk, sing, and dance all night.

Andy: That sounds great, Matt! Thanks a lot. Well, Diana and Matt certainly have given our listeners plenty to think about, but I'm sorry to say we're out of time. That's it, folks. This is Andy Wong reminding you to tune in tomorrow for the next installment of our travel show, Where in the World . . .? So long, everybody!

LESSON A, Ex. 6 [p. 20, CD 1 Tracks 16 and 17]

Interviewer: Hi, guys.

Carlos: Hi.

Vicki: Hey!

Interviewer: Thanks for agreeing to meet me here on such short notice.

Carlos: No problem.

Interviewer: Well, listen, as I said to you on the phone, I'm doing a story for a magazine. I'm interviewing foreign students to get their impressions of different cities in the United States. Um, . . . this should only take about 10 minutes or so. Let's see . . . uh, do you mind if I record our interview?

Vicki: Oh no, not at all.

Interviewer: OK. Then, Carlos, why don't we start with you? What do you think of San Francisco? How do you like it here so far?

Carlos: It's OK, I guess.

Interviewer: Hmm, you don't sound very enthusiastic.

Carlos: No, no, I like it. It's just that I've been so busy studying. I haven't had much time to explore the city.

Interviewer: Oh, that's too bad.

Carlos: I know. And when I have the time, well, it's so cloudy and foggy here – especially in the summer. I never thought I'd be wearing a sweater in July!

Interviewer: Well, this is Northern California. Maybe you should move south. I hear Los Angeles is warmer. Vicki?

Vicki: Oh, I love it here. I think San Francisco is a beautiful city. The rolling hills, the views of the bay – it's very romantic.

Interviewer: Oh, yes. Many people agree. So, how do you guys spend your free time?

Carlos: Well, I'm studying architecture, and I'm somewhat of a photographer.

Interviewer: Really?

Carlos: Oh, I'm just an amateur. Anyway, I . . . I'm always taking pictures of the buildings in this city. You know, the Victorians, the modern skyscrapers downtown . . . There's such a variety of buildings here. The architecture is really great. I've also taken pictures of other landmarks, like the Golden Gate Bridge. It looks totally different when the weather changes.

Interviewer: That's interesting. So, Vicki, now it's your turn. What do you like to do?

Vicki: Well, I'm a bit of a night person. There's always a new club, or a film, or a great outdoor café to check out with my friends. And we also like to explore the different neighborhoods. It's pretty easy thanks to BART. You know, Bay Area Rapid Transit.

Interviewer: Yeah, that's a great subway system.

Vicki: Anyway, yesterday we went to the Italian neighborhood, North Beach, to buy some pastries and have a cup of espresso. Today, I'm going down to the Mission district to get a burrito for lunch.

Interviewer: So, you like Mexican food, do you?

Vicki: Yes. And actually, I like the Mission a lot. It's a Latino neighborhood. We don't have anything like that where I come from.

Interviewer: OK, well, I think that's about it. Any final comments?

Carlos: No, not really.

Vicki: I'd just like to say that this is a great place to live. I'm glad that I got a chance to study here.

LESSON B, Ex. 5 [p. 24, CD 1 Tracks 18 and 19]

Interviewer: How do you enjoy living in Sydney, Maria?

Maria: I love it. I lived in a little mountain town in the U.S. before I moved here, so I'm really enjoying Sydney life. And the climate is great most of the year.

Interviewer: What do you like most about it?

Maria: Well, for one thing, it's a very easy city to get around. The public transportation is pretty good, which is important for me because I don't have a car. So, you see, I use buses and trains most of the time. I can usually get wherever I want to pretty easily.

Interviewer: How about you, Ian?

Ian: Well, it's a very beautiful city. I love the harbor and the opera house. And the beaches are great, of course.

Maria: Oh, yeah, the beaches are great! There are great beaches close to town, like Bondi Beach.

Ian: I know, it's true. But I don't have a lot of time to go to the beach because I have to work two jobs to make enough money to pay the rent. Actually, I'd really prefer to live somewhere smaller. I find Sydney too fast, too noisy, and definitely too expensive.

Maria: Oh, I don't know. Maybe I'm just lucky, but my rent's not bad at all. Actually, since I'm splitting the rent with two roommates now, it's about the same as I was paying in the U.S. And . . . um . . . yeah, I love the nightlife here, too. On weekends, my friends and I usually go to a club or a place with live music. There's always something interesting going on downtown. I've made lots of friends since I moved here.

Interviewer: That's great. Ian, what do you do for fun in Sydney?

Ian: Well, not much, I'm afraid. It's so expensive to do anything here. Also, you know, because of the high rents I can only afford to live out in the suburbs. And there isn't much happening out there, believe me. Hmm . . . I guess once in a while I like to go to Chinatown, though. There are plenty of restaurants there where you can eat fairly cheaply. Good ones, too.

Maria: Is that right? I can't seem to find cheap food anywhere. In fact, the restaurants near me are so pricey that I hardly ever eat out.

Interviewer: All right, here's a question. If you could change one thing about the city, what would it be?

Ian: The traffic, without a doubt. I used to drive back in my hometown, but I hardly ever drive here. There are far too many cars, and drivers are very aggressive. You have to know where you're going, and you have to drive fast, otherwise other drivers can be really rude.

Maria: See, I don't have a car so that doesn't really bother me. Actually, you know, I wouldn't change anything. It's so much better here than in the tiny little town where I used to live!

Ian: I don't know. Sometimes I think life is better back home. Sure, it's smaller, but it's easier to live a good life. And you get to know the people better, too.

1-3 COMMUNICATION REVIEW

Ex. 3 [p. 27, CD 1 Tracks 20 and 21]

Chris: Hello and welcome to Who's Sorry Now? Today, we're going to be taking your calls about what you could have done, what you wish you'd done, and what you really should have done, because you're sorry now! Here's our first caller. Hello, Mark.

Mark: Hi, Chris.

Chris: So, Mark, what did you do? What do you think you should, or maybe shouldn't, have done?

Mark: OK. When I was in college I shared a house with a couple of other guys. We used to play practical jokes on each other. You know, hide each other's shoes, put salt in the sugar bowl – that kind of thing.

Chris: OK. Right.

Mark: Well, I'm pretty good at faking voices. So this one time, my roommate Luke applied for a job at a store in town. The store manager called to ask him to come in for an interview. I pretended I was Luke.

Chris: OK . . .

Mark: I told him that I – I mean, me pretending to be Luke – that I didn't really want the job.

Chris: And . . . ?

Mark: So I didn't tell Luke about the call.

Chris: Uh-huh . . .

Mark: So Luke thought they weren't interested in him and that was that.

Chris: Not very nice.

Mark: No, I felt terrible. I still do. I should have told him about the call.

Chris: So, who's sorry now, Mark?

Mark: I am. I'm really, really sorry, Luke.

Chris: OK. Thanks, Mark. Next caller: Anna.

Anna: Well, I was on vacation with my family. We were driving around national parks. It should have been a great trip, but my brother had just gotten a harmonica for his birthday. He loved it, and he played it all the time. And I had to listen to it all the time. And he was terrible. So, we stopped at this place in the desert, and when he wasn't looking, I threw it as far away from the car as I could. When he discovered it was missing, he looked everywhere for it.

Chris: You didn't really need to throw it away, did you? You could have just hidden it.

Anna: Yeah, you're right. I should have just put it in my suitcase or something. I didn't have to throw it out. But I did.

Chris: And you're sorry now?

Anna: Yeah, very. He saved up and bought a drum set when we got home, and then I had to listen to that every night.

Chris: Aw, too bad for you. Next caller: Luke.

Luke: Hi, Chris. Your first caller was my old roommate Mark. He told you about my job interview.

Chris: Right. He never should have pretended to be you. That was kind of mean. I bet you're feeling pretty angry after what you just heard.

Luke: No, not really. Even before Mark spoke to the manager, I'd already decided I didn't have time for a job – I really needed to study, you know – and so I called the manager to tell him. That's when he told me he already knew I didn't want the job. I knew right away what Mark had done.

Chris: So, you weren't angry when you found out?

Luke: A little. He was supposed to be one of my best friends. I probably should have told him I knew what he'd done. But I kind of enjoyed his call tonight. He's had to live with his "secret" all these years. So, all I can say is, "I got you, Mark!"

Chris: OK, OK. That's all we have time for tonight on Who's Sorry Now? Tune in next week to hear more people talk . . .

4 EARLY BIRDS AND NIGHT OWLS

LESSON A, Ex. 5 [p. 30, CD 1 Tracks 22 and 23]

1. Sean

You know, I never appreciated all the things my mother did until I moved here to go to school. Since getting my own place, I've had to grocery shop, cook, clean, and do laundry. And I have to go to classes, research stuff, write essays, and study! Having all this stuff to do really makes me feel pressured. And when I feel pressured, I get stressed out, and then I have no energy to do anything. So, when I start feeling that way, I call home. I talk to my parents and have a few laughs with my kid brother. As soon as I start talking to my family, I feel better. It's like magic.

2. Lisa

I just don't think there are enough hours in the day. My husband and I both work, and we have two small children, so we're on the go from the moment we get up until the time we go to bed. We love our jobs, and we adore our kids, but sometimes, enough is enough. Every so often, my husband and I just need a little downtime. If we don't get any, we start to feel the stress and fatigue building up. After the last time it happened, I found the perfect solution. Now, before things get out of hand, I arrange for my children to sleep over at my neighbor's place. It's fine because Betty – that's my neighbor's name – Betty and I are good friends. And her kids and our kids are friends, too. Actually, the kids really like going over there. So anyway, after the kids leave, my husband and I have a quiet dinner and maybe watch a video or just listen to some music and talk. I can almost feel the stress melt away. Of course, Betty's kids sleep over here sometimes, too.

3. Victor

Traffic stresses me out. My family lives in a quiet little suburb north of the city. That means I have to drive in for school and my part-time job. I used to start getting tense even before I got on the highway. Some rush-hour drivers can be very rude, and the traffic is usually bumper to bumper. You have to be alert because someone's always trying to cut in front of you. Anyway, now I leave home before the traffic gets too heavy. I know I'll be early, but as soon as I get on campus, I go to a little café I know and have a coffee and read the news or review for my classes. I've made friends with the other regulars, so now I'm always full of energy and ready to start the day.

LESSON B, Ex. 4 [p. 34, CD 1 Tracks 24 and 25]

Kate: Hey, Sérgio, do you ever have recurring dreams?

Sérgio: Yeah, sure. Why, Kate?

Kate: Well, I had one last night. I'm back in high school, and in my dream, the school looks mostly the same as it did, but much bigger. The weird thing is, although I'm 23 years old, I'm back in high school with all these 15-year-olds. It's very embarrassing. No one seems to notice that I'm much older and shouldn't be there in the first place. But still, it's very uncomfortable. I keep thinking, "What am I doing here?" Well, I know it must be the end of the school year because everyone is talking about final exams. And that's when it hits me that I've forgotten to go to math class all year, and there's a big math test today.

Sérgio: Oh, that's terrible.

Kate: Yeah, I'm totally unprepared. So I start to go to class, but then I realize I can't find it. No matter how far, how many hallways, I just can't find it. I know I'm late for class, and this really worries me. Finally, I wind up in my math class, but it's almost over. So I've missed most of the test, and I think I'm going to fail or something. Basically, that's the dream.

Sérgio: That's a bad one. Do you have that dream a lot?

Kate: Sometimes. I guess it means that I'm worried or overwhelmed about something that is happening in my life.

Sérgio: Yeah. I sometimes have this bad dream – I guess it's really a nightmare. I'm in danger, but I'm not sure from what, and I can't move or scream or anything. I can feel something coming closer and closer to me. You know, it's really strange because usually in the dream I am exactly where I am in real life – like in my own bed, in my bedroom – and everything is very realistic. The only part that is dreamlike is that I can't move. Sometimes I can't even open my eyes, or I can only open one eye. Usually I have to alert someone, or possibly save someone, although the person often changes. Anyway, I can't do anything because I can't move. It's really terrifying.

Kate: Yeah, it sounds terrifying. So, what do you think it means?

Sérgio: I'm not sure, but you know, I think the dream means that I'm feeling there's something in my life that I can't control, although I feel like I should be able to. Once I had the dream when one of my friends was very sick, and I just felt completely helpless. I hate feeling that way.

Kate: Yeah, I know what you mean.

5 COMMUNICATION

LESSON A, Ex. 5 [p. 38, CD 2 Tracks 2 and 3]

1.

Liz: Hi, are you Pete?

Pete: Yes. Hello.

Liz: I'm Liz Morton. Tom Morton's mother?

Pete: Oh, right. Nice to meet you, Mrs. Morton.

Liz: You, too. So, are you enjoying the party?

Pete: Yeah, it's great. This might be the last time I see some of these people for a long time, so I've been pretty busy trying to make sure I get a chance to talk to everyone.

Liz: You know, it's strange to think that all you kids are graduating. Do you have any plans after graduation?

Pete: Well, I've applied for a teaching job overseas. I guess I'll probably find out if I got the job or not next week.

Liz: You're more adventurous than Tom. I can't believe he's going to take a job right here in town. But it's a good job, I guess. And, of course, I would miss him if he went far away.

Pete: Yeah, I know. My mom doesn't want me to go far away, either. Oh, . . . wait a minute. I'm sorry. I think another friend of mine is leaving. Excuse me, Mrs. Morton, I need to say good-bye to him before he goes.

Liz: Oh, sure. It was great to meet you, Pete.

2.

Harry: Hey, Jim, great music. What group is it?

Jim: I don't know. It's the radio. Maybe they'll say after it's over.

Harry: Well, it's a good thing Sheryl isn't here, or she'd make me dance to it. You know she loves that old-fashioned dancing.

Jim: Yeah, I know, Meg is the same way.

Harry: Myself, I haven't danced since my wedding day. And I intend to keep it that way.

Jim: Yeah, I'm with you.

Harry: Although I do like this old-fashioned dance music. The bands back in those days could really play. Not like today. It's all image now, you know?

Jim: Oh, I don't know about that. It's just the styles change, that's all. I mean, a lot of those pop stars are actually pretty talented.

Harry: You really think so?

Jim: Sure. Actually, I've been listening to this music my grandson left on my computer last Thanksgiving. It's some of that, uh – what do you call it? That hip-hop music.

Harry: You what? You've gotta be kidding me.

Jim: No, no. A lot of it isn't bad! I mean, at least the lyrics are about something, you know?

Harry: Hmm. I don't know.

Jim: No, try it! You'll see! Wait, wait, I'll play it now.

Harry: I'd rather go out dancing. Anyway, I should get going. I'll call you later.

3.

Samantha: Mmm, Jenny . . . this is delicious. I love stuffed grape leaves.

Jenny: Yeah. Me, too. It all tastes delicious. Do you think they made all this themselves? Or did they have it catered?

Samantha: Oh, no. George is a great cook. Why would they cater it?

Jenny: Really?

Samantha: Oh, yeah.

Jenny: George cooks?

Samantha: You didn't know that? Lynn's always saying that's half the reason she married him!

Jenny: Well, that is a good reason. Is she ever lucky! I wish my husband liked to cook. He completely avoids anything that has to do with the kitchen.

Samantha: You know, my husband's talking about signing up for an Italian cooking class on Saturdays. I hope he does it.

Jenny: Oh. I wonder if I could convince my husband to do that. I'd sure love being the taste tester for his recipes.

Samantha: Exactly what I was thinking. Well, I'll let you know when the class starts.

Jenny: Great! Please do. In the meantime, I think I'll go mention it to him. Talk to you soon.

LESSON B, Ex. 5 [p. 42, CD 2 Tracks 4 and 5]

1. Nicole

Nicole: I got some incredible news over the weekend!

Man: Yeah? What happened, Nicole?

Nicole: Well, my sister is finally getting married.

Man: Really? Well, that is exciting! How long have they been seeing each other?

Nicole: Oh, I mean, it's been over four years since they met. My mother has always said that they would get married someday, but no one expected it to happen now. And you know what? The funny part is how it happened.

Man: Yeah?

Nicole: Yeah. OK, listen. My sister told me that they were eating at this fancy restaurant, and while they were reading over the menu, listening to some classical music . . .

Man: Ah . . . let me guess. He pulled out a ring and asked her to marry him.

Nicole: Actually, it was the other way around. She asked him! She said she got right down on one knee and proposed!

Man: Yeah?

Nicole: Yeah! And he was pretty surprised, I think. But of course, he immediately said, "Yes." They're planning a wedding for the fall.

Man: Well, that is great news. Yeah . . . and I'm sure they'll be very happy together.

Nicole: Yeah. Now I have to start thinking about the wedding. She asked me if I would be a bridesmaid. So, you know, I have to buy a dress, and then . . .

2. Tony

Woman: Why the long face, Tony?

Tony: Oh, I got some bad news today.

Woman: What happened?

Tony: Well, you know my job at the design studio?

Woman: Yes.

Tony: Well, . . .

Woman: Oh, no!

Tony: Oh, yes. Today, the boss called me into his office and told me they had to lay me off. That means as of April 30, I'm out of work.

Woman: Oh!

Tony: No more job.

Woman: Oh, Tony, I'm so sorry. You said you really liked working there, too.

Tony: Yeah, well, it's not all bad news. The boss told me there's still a small chance that the company would call me back in the summer if the work picked up. You never know what'll happen. They may need me then.

Woman: Oh. But this is so sudden, isn't it?

Tony: Well, not really. Two other employees had already been laid off, and I had a feeling I might be the next one in line. You know, I've only been working there 10 months, so I don't have any seniority. If they're going to lay people off, it's always going to be the newer employees first.

Woman: What are you going to do?

Tony: Like I said, I've still got a job until the end of the month. In the meantime, I plan to send out résumés and, if possible, go on some interviews . . .

years of debate, two experts from the Van Gogh Museum in Amsterdam finally authenticated the painting, stating that it is, indeed, a genuine van Gogh.

3.

Next we go to Mexico, where a hurricane pounded Cancún and nearby areas last night, leaving many people homeless. The strong winds and heavy rains made for horrible conditions. Floods and landslides destroyed homes and cars, especially in the beachfront areas. Rescue operations are particularly difficult because streets are blocked, in most cases, by mud. It's believed that some people are trapped inside their homes and cannot get out. Most people have left their homes and are now safely in temporary shelters. Mexican authorities predict that the disaster is going to have a huge impact on the tourist business in the area this year.

4.

And finally, a story for all you parents out there: How often do your kids push you to your limit, and what do you do about it? One tired and harassed mother from Illinois decided she'd had enough yesterday. Instead of yelling at her children, as she normally would, she decided to leave. She walked out the door and climbed a tree – the tree with her children's tree house in it, that is. She told her children she had decided to stay in their tree house until they started appreciating her more. She put a sign in front of the tree house that said, "On Strike – No cooking, cleaning, doctoring, banking, or driving until demands met!" The children tried to persuade her to come down, but were unsuccessful. Finally, one of them had the smart idea of baking their mother's favorite treat – brownies. Well, they must have smelled good because that did the trick. Mom agreed to come down and read the contract her children wrote promising not to fight, along with other promises of good behavior. That's it for now. We'll be back in an hour with more news.

6 WHAT'S THE REAL STORY?

1.

It's seven o'clock and time for the news. First, this just in from the World Health Organization, or WHO. WHO has reported that the global epidemic of tuberculosis, also known as TB, is not as widespread as it was in the past. However, although the number of cases of TB has been decreasing worldwide, this disease is still a problem. According to a recent study, about one-fourth of all known TB cases are untreatable because of new drug-resistant strains of the disease. The drugs previously used to treat TB are simply not working on those strains. WHO has been developing new drugs to combat the problem, and they have an international program to educate people about the dangers of TB.

2.

And now we have a report on a scandal involving famous nineteenth-century painter Vincent van Gogh and one of his most famous paintings, Sunflowers, completed in 1888. The painting was bought by a large multinational corporation for several million dollars in 1987. At that time, a scandal erupted in London over the authenticity of this painting, with many critics claiming that the painting was a forgery. After

You see, my mother had this ring. It was kind of old. It had been given to her by her mother, my grandmother. It had been in our family for years. Anyway, my mother asked me to take it to the jeweler to get it repaired. She told me to be very careful with it.

Later that day, I dropped the ring off at the jeweler and ran off to do the rest of my errands. It was a busy day, and I was feeling really stressed. I went back to the jeweler just before they closed, paid for the ring, and raced home. Everything seemed fine.

But when I got home . . . I mean, I was sure I'd picked up my mother's ring at the jeweler, but then I couldn't find it when I got home. I checked all my pockets, but all I found was the receipt. The ring wasn't there. I looked everywhere! You can imagine how panicked I felt. Up until then, I had never lost anything important, so I didn't know what to do.

Just then, the phone rang. It was the jeweler. He was calling to say I had run out of the store in such a hurry that I'd forgotten to take the ring! The ring was still at the store. So the ring wasn't lost after all. What a relief!

I had this big meeting at work that day. Really important. I had left for work a little earlier than usual. I always take the subway to work. So, I got to the subway station, and the train was right there. What luck, right? And I got on just as the doors closed.

Well, after a couple of minutes, I realized that my skirt had been caught in the subway doors. I couldn't pull it out! A woman standing next to me tried to help me, but we still couldn't get it out. By this time, I was so embarrassed. Other people were staring at me. And my skirt was really stuck.

Well, wouldn't you know it, the doors to the subway opened on the other side for the next six or seven stations. I had to miss my stop. I just stood there, with my skirt stuck in the door, unable to move. Finally, the doors opened on my side. I was able to leave the train. But now, I was really late.

When I got to work, my boss asked to speak to me. I knew he would never believe why I was late. I felt so stupid! Of course, later, we all laughed about it.

LESSON B, Ex. 4 [p. 50, CD 2 Tracks 10 and 11]

Host: Welcome back, everyone. We're talking to Hollywood star Dan Carville. Before the break, we were talking about your life, Dan, before you became a big star. I mean, you didn't just become a big star overnight. You struggled for many years.

Dan: You can say that again.

Host: Tell us a little about it.

Dan: Yeah, uh, OK. Well, I think I must have worked 20 or 30 different jobs.

Host: Really? That's a lot.

Dan: Well, in the beginning, I couldn't find steady work as an actor, so I had to do something to put food on the table. You have to eat, right?

Host: That's true. So, what kinds of jobs did you have?

Dan: A little bit of everything, I guess. I worked in a department store, as a taxi driver, and as a house painter, to name a few. I wasn't good at any of them. I think I ended up getting fired from most of those jobs.

Host: Oh, yeah? Come on, tell us a few stories.

Dan: Well, uh, this is so embarrassing, but OK . . . So, one time I was working as a salesperson for a big department store in Chicago – in the luggage department. It was so boring. I mean, we didn't have many customers during the day, and that's when I worked. Sometimes, when I got sleepy, I used to lie down behind the luggage racks and take a nap.

Host: Really? So, what happened?

Dan: Well, one day I got caught – by my boss. And he fired me on the spot. It was terrible. Then there was the time I decided to get a job painting houses. You know, you have to climb these high ladders to do the job, right? Well, it turned out that I was afraid of heights. The first time I climbed up a ladder, I got dizzy and fell and broke my wrist.

Host: No!

Dan: Yes! But the worst thing was that when I fell, I knocked a can of paint over and paint poured down all over my co-workers. So, naturally, I got fired again.

Host: Again? Really? So, do you have any other stories?

Dan: Well, you're not going to believe this, but I got hired as a cab driver. I drove a taxi, but that only lasted a few days.

Host: Did you get fired?

Dan: How did you guess? On my third day, I had an accident. Luckily, no one was hurt – my passenger was fine, and so was I. But my boss didn't think he was so lucky, and that was the end of my days as a driver.

Host: It seems you're a little accident-prone. It's a good thing you made it as an actor!

Dan: Yes, I guess you could say that.

Host: Thanks for sharing your stories with us, Dan. Coming up after the break, we'll talk with Dan about his latest movie, scheduled for release in September.

4–6 COMMUNICATION REVIEW

Ex. 3 [p. 53, CD 2 Tracks 12 and 13]

Good morning, everybody. Thank you for coming. I know that you're all busy studying for finals and finishing your projects. I hope coming here so early this morning hasn't been too stressful for you.

Today, I'll be talking about the causes of stress for college students. Then I have some suggestions for dealing with stress. We'll end with a short relaxation activity.

One cause of stress that I probably don't need to tell you about is not having enough money. Money issues affect so much of your life as a student. Do you buy a book that you need, or do you reward yourself for all your hard work by going out for a good meal? Now, this is a pretty obvious one. Some of you may, in fact, be dealing with this already by working part-time.

This leads me to another major cause of stress for students – trying to juggle going to classes, keeping up with coursework, studying for exams, and working. Some of us also try to fit in a social life.

There are, of course, other causes of stress for students. You may be studying too much. If you're a new student who is living away from home, you may be learning to live on your own and do things for yourself for the first time in your life. You may also be missing family and friends you left behind.

So, how do you handle stress? I've got a few suggestions. First, find a physical activity that you enjoy and make time for it. For example, playing tennis, going for a walk, swimming – anything that gets you moving. Secondly, organize your time and set reasonable goals that can be accomplished. Third, don't make unnecessary appointments or agree to impossible deadlines. Learn to say "No." Number four, make time to relax. Create opportunities when you can relax your entire mind and body. Time to just chill out. Five, eat breakfast. And try to space your meals evenly throughout the day. And don't drink too much coffee. Finally, learn to develop a sense of humor about yourself and your problems.

Now, we're going to try that relaxation activity . . .

7 THE INFORMATION AGE

LESSON A, Ex. 4 [p. 55, CD 2 Tracks 14 and 15]

Host: Welcome to “Share Your Opinion,” the part of our show where members of the studio audience can speak their minds. Today’s topic is social networking. How about you, sir? Would you like to start us off?

Michael: Sure!

Host: Great! You can start by telling us your name . . .

Michael: It’s Michael.

Host: OK, Michael. What’s your opinion about social networking?

Michael: Well, I’ve found social networking to be incredibly useful when it comes to getting advice. When I’m not sure of myself about, say, changing jobs or maybe moving to a different place, I get lots of great advice on social networking sites – from friends and even experts.

Host: It’s useful, no doubt. But does social networking have a downside, in your opinion?

Michael: Yeah, I wish people wouldn’t log in to social networking sites so much at work. I think too many people are doing that at my office, and they’re ignoring their work. Not enough work is getting done, if you ask me.

Host: Yes, I see what you mean. I guess you’d say they’re taking company time. Thanks, Michael. And what’s your name, miss?

Lisa: Lisa. It’s Lisa.

Host: You’ll need to speak up a little, Lisa.

Lisa: I’m sorry. Is this better?

Host: Yes, that’s just fine. Now, what are your views on social networking?

Lisa: I think that, for some people, it’s easier to make friends on social networking sites than it is in person. I mean, shy people or people who don’t have the best social skills, like me. I’ve never had more than a couple of friends at a time in my life – away from the Internet, that is.

Host: I see. And how about on social networking sites?

Lisa: Right now I have over 50 friends there! It’s an awesome way to make friends. But, of course, I mean that mainly for adults. It’s not really great for children.

Host: What do you mean?

Lisa: As I understand it, psychologists think young children who spend too much time on social networking websites and, umm, neglect their “real world” relationships can develop social problems. I mean, well, they might have problems interacting with people offline.

Host: That is certainly something to keep in mind. We have time for one more person. How about you, young man? What’s your name?

Daniel: It’s Daniel.

Host: What’s your point of view on online social networking?

Daniel: For me, it’s all about the creativity. Social networking sites give me a chance to express myself. I love to share links to podcasts and blogs. I’m also into photography, and I’m always sharing great shots with my friends. I make and share cool videos, too. I really like hearing people’s opinions about the things I create.

Host: So, you’re very positive about it.

Daniel: Yes, but at the same time, I’m careful with it. For example, I never post anything that’s rude or might give people a negative impression of me. You see, if I’m lucky, I’m going to be interviewed by a big advertising firm next month, and I don’t want to hurt my chances of getting the job. And companies are checking social networking sites more often these days. You know, when hiring decisions are being made.

Host: That’s very true. Thank you, Daniel, for sharing your views with us.

LESSON B, Ex. 5 [p. 60, CD 2 Tracks 16 and 17]

Host: Sports and weather are coming up. But first, here’s Health Watch, with our medical specialist, Dr. Linda Byrne. Dr. Byrne, there’s no question that technological advances in recent decades have made our lives easier, but all this technology has its downside as well, doesn’t it?

Dr. Byrne: That’s right, Peter – especially for those suffering with syndromes caused by the stress of our high-tech lifestyles.

Host: And these syndromes, as you call them – they’re a relatively recent development, aren’t they?

Dr. Byrne: Definitely. Such syndromes were nearly unheard of in the early 1990s, before the explosive growth of the Internet and the high-tech industry, and the widespread use of computers, cell phones, and other mobile devices. Since then, however, various technology-related stress syndromes have been identified. They’re really quite common now, and people of all ages are suffering from them. It’s really important to get the word out so that people can avoid these problems in the first place.

Host: Could you give us some examples?

Dr. Byrne: Well, one of these syndromes is texter’s thumb. We’re talking about an injury of the thumb caused by too much texting over a long period of time. The base of the thumb becomes painful. It hurts to use the thumb for texting, and it may also ache when you’re not doing anything with it. My advice is to use other fingers, not the thumb, to type in text messages. I also recommend sending fewer and shorter text messages.

Host: That’s great advice. I’d never heard of texter’s thumb before.

Dr. Byrne: Yes, that's one of the most recent of these syndromes. Another is the well-known carpal tunnel syndrome – a very painful condition of the hands and arms caused by the overuse of keyboards and mice. My advice would be to follow a regimen of stretching and strengthening exercises – under the direction and care of a trained physical therapist, of course. That has brought good results in many cases.

Host: So, the syndromes are usually physical?

Dr. Byrne: There can also be psychological problems. Take, for instance, a third syndrome we informally call “gadget addiction.” It applies to people who use electronics all day long, nonstop. These people have a deep sense of loneliness whenever they put down their cell phones or log off the Internet. In such cases, I recommend seeing a professional therapist, ideally one who has experience treating gadget addiction. I also advise learning to disconnect from the wired world. Leave technology behind for a few hours. Take up a new hobby or go for a bike ride with friends – just be sure to leave all the gadgets alone.

Host: Thanks, Dr. Byrne. And for more information, go to our website and click on our Health Watch link. And then turn off the computer!

8 PUTTING THE MIND TO WORK

LESSON A, Ex. 5 [p. 64, CD 2 Tracks 18 and 19]

1. Samira

Well, um, I guess I'd have to say that creativity is essential to my work. I'm an architect, and the creative part is looking at old things and trying to make them look new. What I mean is we recycle a lot of ideas and then adapt them to fit our needs. And, of course, we have to stay on top of new trends. We have to know all about new building styles and efficient ways to use energy – you know, uh, the kinds of things that homeowners worry about. No one wants a house that isn't heated or cooled efficiently, or one that looks outdated. And we work long hours. But I have to say, the job's pretty interesting. You never know what to expect next!

2. Alex

Well, I run my own small business. I think all business owners, especially small business owners, have to be pretty creative. I mean, we have to do everything. I do the work, answer the phones, take care of the accounts, whatever. And you know, there are so many potential problems, and there's no one else to turn to. I mean, I can't just ask my boss for help. I am the boss! The hardest part is figuring out how to identify your customers. Who are they? Where are they? How can you get to them? You also need to think creatively about the competition. How can you make your business services more attractive than what the competition has to offer? Well, it's certainly challenging, and I think it requires a lot of creativity.

3. Naomi

I'm an interior designer, so what I do is go into people's homes and create a suitable environment for them. You know – my clients – they don't know what they want, so I have to look at their homes and help them decide what would look best.

Not every idea works in every home. You have to match the appropriate idea with the right place. So, after I come up with an idea, I present it to my client. Sometimes they don't like my first idea, and boy, that can be frustrating. You have to start all over again. So I need creativity to both come up with the ideas and to communicate them. Creativity also comes in handy when I want to convince a client that my idea is the best one. I don't always succeed, but I do manage to get my way a lot of the time.

LESSON B, Ex. 5 [p. 68, CD 2 Track 20]

1. Bill Bowerman

Great ideas often begin with a passion. Bill Bowerman was a college track-and-field coach, and his passion was running. One of his ideas was this: The lighter the shoe, the faster a runner could go. He was so convinced that lighter shoes were key to speed that he decided to make shoes that were lighter than what was available. In the late 1950s, he approached established footwear companies with his ideas, but they weren't interested. Nonetheless, Bowerman wouldn't give up and continued making and refining shoes for his runners. One of those runners was Phil Knight. After graduating, Knight found a company that would produce Bowerman's shoe designs. In 1964, Bowerman and Knight formed their own company, and in 1972, the two started the Nike brand of running shoes.

2. Fred Smith

Sometimes good ideas grow out of frustration. When Fred Smith was a student at Yale University, he had some paperwork that he needed to have delivered across the country the next day. Smith was amazed to find out that overnight delivery was impossible. Why couldn't there be a reliable overnight mail delivery service? He decided to design one, and then he turned his design into a class project. His business professor gave him only a C for his efforts. However, Smith was not through. He refined the ideas in that class project and eventually turned them into one of the first and most successful overnight mail services in the world – FedEx.

9 GENERALLY SPEAKING

LESSON A, Ex. 6 [p. 72, CD 3 Tracks 2 and 3]

1. Yoshiko

In some ways, small ways, I'm just a typical Japanese teenager. I go to high school five days a week, just like everyone else. I have interests similar to most of my friends. A bunch of us joined the sports club at school. Right now, it's our volleyball season. When the weather gets nicer, we'll start track. And, oh, I love hip-hop music. It drives my parents crazy!

There's one big way I'm different, though. I spent almost six years living outside Japan. My father's company transferred him overseas – to Mexico – and of course we went with him. Fitting in to a foreign culture was really tough at first, but I guess I'm lucky in a way. I learned to speak Spanish fluently, and I made a lot of good friends there. We still email each other almost every day. So you can see that I'm really quite a bit different from my classmates!

2. Diego

I don't know. My life is pretty typical, I think. I head off to school at seven in the morning, and school finishes early afternoon. After school, I usually study or play sports. On weekends, I like to get together with my friends. We usually hang out in one of the shopping malls. Everyone just shows up there on Saturdays and Sundays. It's a lot of fun . . . most of the time.

I think one way I'm kind of different is that I like to do my own thing sometimes. I don't always want to hang out with the group, you know? My friends always want me to hang out with them, but I don't always listen to what they say. I guess you could say that I think for myself. Sometimes it makes my friends upset, but too bad – that's just the way I am. But really, overall, I think I'm pretty typical for my age.

3. Suzanne

I guess I worry about the same things other kids my age do . . . you know, grades, and getting along with my parents, and stuff like that. I guess I'm doing OK in school, but I have to study really hard. I just want to make sure that my grades are good enough so I can get into a decent university. I'm pretty much like everyone else. I go to classes, attend club meetings after school, and then do my homework at night. Weekends are great because I get to sleep late. And, uh, oh yeah, I'm also a member of the orchestra at school. I play the violin.

My school is a little different from most schools in the U.S., though. We study all the core subjects, like most other students. In the morning, science, math, English, history – the usual stuff. But unlike most schools, we study things like music, dance, and art in the afternoon. See, I go to a special school for the arts. A lot of us have dreams of becoming dancers or singers someday. That's why we spend so much time learning the arts. So, yeah, I guess my life is pretty different from most kids my age.

LESSON B, Ex. 5 [p. 76, CD 3 Tracks 4 and 5]

1. Dominique

I used to see something I liked and I would just buy it. But now, I'm saving for my future. I mean, someday I want to own my own home. Anyway, I find making expensive purchases quite difficult. Probably because now I don't want to make a mistake and get stuck, especially for something that costs a lot of money, like a car. So, when I bought my car, I knew I just couldn't go to a used car lot and choose one! No impulse buys for me! I needed a lot of time to think it over and consider the options. So, first, I read consumer magazines and did research online to see how the cars were rated. I wanted to know the average prices and safety records of different cars. I mean, you never know. And once I decided which one I liked, I read the classified ads until I found someone who was selling one used. I suppose you could say that my approach takes a lot of time, but once I make up my mind, I feel secure in my decisions. It's so different from the way I used to be.

2. Carla

I'm in charge of hiring new staff for my department at work. Recently, I had to hire someone for a pretty important position in the company. Now, I had it narrowed down pretty quickly to two people, Tony and Max. It was a little harder after that because they had very similar résumés. And they were both really impressive during the interview.

Now, I have to admit that I hate to waste time making decisions. So here's what I did. First, I wrote down a few important questions and called each person right away to talk to them one last time. Then I hung up the phone, looked at the clock, and gave myself five minutes to decide. It didn't even take me that long. Tony had said he would work for less money than we were offering, so I hired Max. I didn't want to hire someone who was willing to settle for less.

The way I see it, you just have to go with your instincts – that is, you do what you think is best and then just hope that it works out. I mean, we all get strong feelings about things, and usually, those feelings are right. The important thing is to act quickly! I've been pretty lucky so far. The people I've hired have all worked out – no major problems yet.

3. Wayne

Now I know why I never used to get anything done. I used to try and make important decisions all by myself, but I would just get really confused. It was like the more I thought about something and considered all the options, the more frustrated I got. I could sit and analyze something forever. My friends say that I can always see both sides of everything, which makes it hard to decide on anything! You can imagine how irritated my friends must have been with me. I finally got tired of never accomplishing anything. Now, when I have to make an important decision, I talk to a lot of people and get their input.

When I was deciding where to spend my winter vacation last year, I asked everyone for their opinion. Basically what I did was pose this question: "Where would you go in December if you had three weeks?" I listened to all the answers and then made my decision. And then, after that, I searched on the Internet for the best price. You might think I'm strange, but it worked. Based on everyone's advice, I went to Miami. I had an amazing vacation and I got a great deal, too!

7–9 COMMUNICATION REVIEW

Ex. 3 [p. 79, CD 3 Tracks 6 and 7]

Tony: Hello?

Annie: Hi, Tony.

Tony: Hi, Annie!

Annie: So, how was the first day of work at the advertising agency?

Tony: Actually, it was really interesting.

Annie: Really? What happened?

Tony: Well, our agency was just hired by a new client. It's a cell phone company, and they want to change their whole image. It's a huge project, so my boss is putting together a team of people to work on the project. The first thing we did was a test to see what sort of team role we're best at.

Annie: I guess your boss needs a lot of creative people for the project, people who are really innovative.

Tony: Well, not only creative people. Apparently, the most effective teams are a mixture of five different personality types. They call them STEAM teams.

Annie: Really? Steam like S-T-E-A-M? What are the five types? What does STEAM stand for?

Tony: Well, as you said, he needs creative people. You know, somebody who's able to solve problems creatively. That person is called the Solver, which is the S in STEAM.

Annie: Right.

Tony: Then you need a Team Manager. Somebody good at organizing everybody, and very patient. It's not the most exciting role, but it's very important. The Team Manager is the T.

Annie: I see.

Tony: Then you need somebody really resourceful and willing to explore all the possible alternatives. That's the E – the Explorer.

Annie: OK, what does the A stand for?

Tony: The Analyst. That's someone really good at analyzing situations and who is also very disciplined.

Annie: And the M?

Tony: The Motivator. That's someone really enthusiastic and passionate, someone who motivates the rest of the team; someone really energetic.

Annie: So, which one are you?

Tony: Guess. You know me.

Annie: No, I don't want to guess.

Tony: Come on. Guess.

Annie: OK. Well, I think you're very responsible and sensible. You're very calm. I think you're probably a Team Manager. Am I right?

Tony: No. I'm a Motivator. Anyway, I'll tell you more later. I've got to go right now and . . .

Man: So what did you do?

Jane: Well, after about 15 minutes, I got dressed and went up there and asked them to be quiet. I was so mad. But they said they were sorry and that they hadn't realized I'd been able to hear them. I told them it was OK, but then of course, after that, I couldn't go back to sleep.

Man: Oh, don't you hate it when that happens? You can't fall asleep, and then before you know it, it's morning and the alarm clock is going off.

2. Kyle

Woman: Hey, Kyle! So, how was the movie?

Kyle: Well, I didn't really enjoy it very much.

Woman: Why? That film got great reviews. It's really popular.

Kyle: Oh, the movie was fine. I just got irritated by the people sitting in front of me.

Woman: What happened?

Kyle: Well, first, they came in late. It took them a while to get into their seats. All this was happening right during an exciting part of the movie. And then they started talking.

Woman: Oh, I hate when that happens!

Kyle: There were two of them: a man and a woman. The man had seen the movie before. And get this – he was telling the woman the entire story. Like they were the only two people in the theater!

Woman: Did you do anything about it?

Kyle: Well, no. But another person asked them to be quiet.

Woman: Did that work?

Kyle: No. They just started arguing! Their voices were getting louder and louder. One guy was saying, "You shouldn't talk during the movie," and the other guy was saying, "I paid my money, and you can't tell me what to do!"

Woman: So, what finally happened?

Kyle: Well, I went and found the usher because it was getting out of hand. Everyone quieted down eventually, but it was too late. They had already ruined the movie for me.

10 THE ART OF COMPLAINING

LESSON A, Ex. 2 [p. 80, CD 3 Tracks 8 and 9]

1. Jane

Man: Hi, Jane. . . . Say, are you OK? You're looking a bit tired.

Jane: Oh, I am. It's my neighbors.

Man: Oh, so they're acting up again, huh?

Jane: Yep. Unfortunately, they are.

Man: What is it this time? Loud music again?

Jane: Well, not exactly. You've been to my apartment, right?

Man: Yeah. I've been there once. It's a nice place.

Jane: Well, thank you. So you remember I live on the top floor, right? Well, last night, around midnight, my neighbors decided to go up on the roof!

Man: The roof? What for?

Jane: Apparently, they had this guy in from out of town, and they wanted to show him the view! Can you believe it? I'm fast asleep, and all of a sudden I hear "stomp, stomp, stomp!" They're walking around on the roof. It sounded like my ceiling was going to fall in.

LESSON B, Ex. 2 [p. 84, CD 3 Tracks 10 and 11]

Phone: Hello. Thank you for calling the Dial Rite Pharmacy's automated phone message system. Please listen carefully to our menu options: If you are calling from a physicians' office, say, "Physician." If you need to speak to someone at the pharmacy, say, "Pharmacist." If you are calling to refill a prescription and know your prescription number, say, "Refill." If you wish to hear these options repeated, say, "Repeat."

Gabriel: Refill.

Phone: Using our automated voice-recognition system, please say your prescription number, which is located in the upper right-hand corner in the pink shaded area.

Gabriel: 0422708837.

Phone: I heard 0-4-2-2-7-0-8-8-3-7. If this is correct, please say, "Yes."

Gabriel: Yes.

Phone: Now say the phone number where you can be reached in case the pharmacist has a question.

Gabriel: 333-555-5123.

Phone: I heard 3-3-3-5-5-5-1-2-3. If this is correct, please say, "Yes."

Gabriel: Yes.

Phone: Your refillable prescription will be ready by 8:15 A.M. If you would like to pick it up then, say, "Yes." If you would like to pick it up later, please say, "Later."

Gabriel: Later.

Phone: What time would you like to pick up your prescription?

Gabriel: Uh, nine?

Phone: I'm sorry. I can't understand you.

Gabriel: I said, "Nine."

Phone: I'm sorry. I can't understand you.

Gabriel: Nine, nine, nine!

Phone: I'm sorry. I can't understand you. Please call again later. Thank you for calling the Dial Rite Pharmacy. Good-bye.

Gabriel: Argh!

11 VALUES

LESSON A, Ex. 2 [p. 88, CD 3 Track 12]

1. Aaron

I was with my son at the supermarket – he was about eight years old at the time – and he found a wallet on the floor. Inside it was a hundred-dollar bill! A hundred dollars! He picked it up and got all excited. In fact, neither of us could really believe it. He started talking about all the things he would buy. Right away, I told him that we couldn't keep it. He seemed disappointed at first. We started asking people if they had lost anything. After asking around for a while, we hadn't found anyone, and I was beginning to think we'd asked everyone.

But then, as we were walking to the front of the store, I noticed a man – actually, my son noticed him – pacing back and forth, shaking his head, and muttering something. I thought it was probably his wallet, so we asked him, and it was. My son felt better when he saw how relieved the man was about getting his money back. That was our good deed for the day, and the man gave my son 10 dollars as a reward for returning the wallet.

2. Leanne

I was on a train from Washington, D.C., to New York last month when I found a book lying under my seat. It was just a little book, not an expensive one. It was probably only worth a few dollars. Well, I really wanted to read it. It was pretty interesting, and by the end of the trip, I was still reading it, so I decided to keep it. I took it home and finished it.

Now, every time I see it on my bookshelf, I wonder if I should have taken it or not. I mean, do you think I should have given it to the train conductor? Who knows? Like I said, it wasn't a very expensive book, so I didn't really feel guilty about taking it.

LESSON B, Ex. 4 [p. 94, CD 3 Tracks 13 and 14]

Andy: We're back on the street for the "Ask the People" portion of our show. Today our question is: "What values do you think are the most important, and why?" Now, I just have to find some people who are willing to talk to me. . . . Excuse me, sir?

Man: Yes?

Andy: My name is Andy Simmons. I'm a reporter for WQZ, and we're on the air. Do you have a moment to talk with us?

Man: Well, uh, I'm on my way to work.

Andy: This should just take a moment.

Man: Well, OK. But make it fast.

Andy: OK. We're asking people what they think are the most important values in today's society and why.

Man: Hmm . . . that's a tough one. I guess I think it's important to listen to your parents. Kids these days . . . my kids never listen to anything I say.

Andy: Ah-ha. So you think it's important to respect your parents.

Man: That's right. Sorry, I've got to go. Bye.

Andy: Good-bye. Boy, was he in a hurry! Miss. Excuse me, miss? Hello?

Woman 1: Hmm? Yes?

Andy: Do you have a second? I'm Andy Simmons from WQZ. I'm doing a radio show . . .

Woman 1: Uh-huh?

Andy: Well, um, . . . we're asking people on the street what values they think are important and why.

Woman 1: I'm sorry, I don't really have much time . . .

Andy: It'll just take a second.

Woman 1: OK, then. I don't know. I guess that honesty is important. You know what they say: Honesty is the best policy.

Andy: OK. That's interesting.

Woman 1: Well, I mean, you're just going to get in trouble if you're not honest. At least that's been my experience.

Andy: I see.

Woman 1: Listen. I have to go.

Andy: Thanks. Let's see if I can find one more person . . . Oops!

Woman 2: Ouch!

Andy: I'm sorry. I didn't see you standing there behind me. Are you OK?

Woman 2: No! You stepped on my toes! What are you doing standing here, anyway?

Andy: Well, actually, I'm interviewing people. I'm Andy Simmons from WQZ.

Woman 2: What's that?

Andy: I'm Andy Simmons. From the radio station WQZ. I'm doing on-the-street interviews.

Woman 2: Oh. OK.

Andy: We're asking people about values. What values do you think are most important in today's society?

Woman 2: Privacy. I'd have to say privacy. I think people need to respect each other's privacy. Like right now. You really need to leave me alone. Ha!

Andy: Uh, . . . oh, . . . well, . . . um, sorry. Uh, folks, that's all the time we have today for our show. Today's question was: "What values do you think are important in today's society, and why?" After this experience, I'd have to say one thing we all need to work on is being kinder. Especially to news reporters. This sure is a tough job. This is Andy Simmons of WQZ radio signing off until next time.

12 MOVING AROUND

LESSON A, Ex. 5 [p. 98, CD 3 Tracks 15 and 16]

1. Andrew

When I was in college, I spent a semester studying in London. And even though we speak the same language, English people and people from the U.S. are very different. I guess I felt that people from the U.S. have a . . . a bad reputation. Some people think we're loud, and that we speak our minds too much. So I tried to listen a bit more and not be so assertive, if that makes sense. I wanted to make a good impression. I suppose I shouldn't have worried about it, but I did. And, you know, I think it worked somehow.

I loved the lifestyle in London. During my free time, I had a lot of fun playing soccer with my British friends – of course they call it football over there. And I really loved the old buildings. I mean, they're really old. We don't have anything that old in the U.S., so that part was pretty amazing! Another thing was TV. The British have a different sense of humor . . . very dry. I really like it. Their comedy shows are really funny!

I'd have to say my experience was a positive one overall, except for the rainy weather, of course. I had trouble getting used to that.

2. Rachel

I lived in Madrid for a whole year. And I have to be honest and say that at first, well, I wasn't very happy. You see, I was homesick. I missed my family, and I just wanted to go home. Part of the problem was my Spanish. I couldn't communicate very well.

But I love to eat! And that's what really saved me. I tried tapas, those small plates of food with bite-sized portions that they serve in places all over the city. There were so many kinds! Fried squid, sausages, olives, all kinds of meat and seafood in sauces . . . Oh! It makes me hungry just thinking about it! And of course, tapas are meant to be shared with other people, so it's really fun. I made some Spanish friends, and we'd go out for tapas all the time. So, I got to eat a lot of delicious food, and, of course, my Spanish improved dramatically as well. But there was one thing that was difficult to adjust to, and that was that dinner was always served at a late hour. I wasn't used to eating at eleven o'clock at night!

3. Layla

I came to the U.S. from the Middle East. My family opened up a restaurant here. At first, I found it difficult. Everything seemed so different. Just using public transportation, for example, or going to a doctor, was so different. I was pretty overwhelmed. And I guess because I wasn't feeling comfortable, I tended to make friends only with people from my country. I felt like I was living in a bubble, separated from the rest of the people all around me. But once I started feeling more confident about my English, I started meeting local people. I found them very friendly and open, and it turned out to be very easy to make friends.

But there was one thing about people from the U.S. that bothered me at first. I found it hard to get used to the way they talked so much about themselves. It took me a long time to understand that you were supposed to talk about yourself, too, because that is how people get to know one another. It's still hard for me to talk a lot about myself, but I'm getting better at it.

LESSON B, Ex. 2 [p. 100, CD 3 Tracks 17 and 18]

1. Cindy

You'll probably be surprised to hear what I did! I was on a business trip. The flight was a long one, and when I arrived at my destination, I was eager to get my bags and get to my hotel to relax. Well, you know, they always tell you to be careful to get the right bag, but I was in a hurry. You can guess what happened: My black suitcase looked just like every other one, so I picked up someone else's. I didn't realize my mistake until I got to the hotel. Well, I immediately called the airport, and fortunately, it all worked out. I had to go back to the airport, though, to pick up my suitcase and return the other one. And of course, I also had to apologize. If only I'd checked the name tag more carefully! It's funny, this sort of thing almost never happens to me when I travel.

2. Scott

This is kind of a funny story. I was in Panama City and had a layover between flights. I'd arrived at about 6:00 P.M., and my flight out wasn't until about 8:30. Well, my flight was delayed . . . and delayed. It got really crowded at the departure gate. I was getting tired, and there were so many people around – I hate crowds – so I went to sit away from the departure gate to escape the crowds. I was reading and feeling drowsy. I wish I'd slept on the flight to Panama. Anyway, the next thing I know, I wake up and there's no one around! The crowd is gone! I'd fallen asleep and missed my flight! They must have made lots of announcements, and I missed them all! Boy, did I feel stupid. I had to stay in Panama City overnight and catch a flight out the next morning.

10–12 COMMUNICATION REVIEW

Ex. 3 [p. 105, CD 3 Tracks 19 and 20]

Trainer: It's great to see all of you. Welcome to the training workshop. This time next week, you'll be dealing with real customers. Working at the airport information desk is a great job, but it can be a tough job. You need to know all about the airport, the airlines, and the facilities. You also need to be sensitive, and you need to be resilient because people who are traveling are often very tired and can be difficult. So, let's go through a few "what-if" situations and find out what you'd do.

OK, customer number 1 walks up to the desk and says that he missed his flight and there isn't another flight until tomorrow night. What would you do? Sammy?

Sammy: I'd offer to call the airport hotel and make a reservation for him. I'd also check whether he had a frequent flyer number or was entitled to any special deals or discounts.

Trainer: Fine. Luckily, customer number 1 is reasonable. I'm afraid we can't say that about customer number 2. Customer number 2 has missed his connecting flight. He gets agitated and blames the airport. He says he never would have missed the flight if the airport weren't so big and confusing. What would you do in that case? Andrea?

Andrea: Well, I'd explain that there is an interactive map on the website so people can plan everything before they arrive at the airport. I'd say that we advise people to allow plenty of time between connecting flights. I'd tell him that if he'd left a little more time, he wouldn't have missed his flight. And I'd probably say that the information desk attendants are ready and willing to help passengers find their way and tell him he should have asked them for directions.

Trainer: Hmm. That might not work. You might need to show a little more compassion. We'll try this one again in a role play. Before we do that, though, we've got customer number 3. Customer number 3 comes up to the desk. She is angry because her flight has been delayed by bad weather. She's sure that by the time she gets to the meeting she is on her way to, they'll have been discussing the issues for an hour and all the key decisions will have been made. What are you going to do about it? Ricardo?

Ricardo: I'd explain to her that it's a shame that her flight is delayed, but that, really, the weather is nobody's fault.

Trainer: That is true, but it usually isn't a very popular response. In fact, it usually infuriates people. Does anyone else have an idea? Hannah?

Hannah: Well, I'd probably say I know what she means. It's so frustrating. Depending on which airline she's flying with, I'd try to get her into one of the business lounges. That's if she hadn't already been directed there by the airline. She could get a bite to eat and something to drink, use the Wi-Fi, or just relax for a while in peace and quiet. That should improve her mood.

Trainer: Nice one. OK, let's try some of these role plays . . .

LESSON B • Every family is different.

1 Grammar

I love my family so much, and I really get along with everyone – my parents and my four brothers and sisters. However, sometimes they drive me crazy. There are both good and bad things about coming from a large family. One of the best things about coming from a large family is that I always have someone to talk to. Unfortunately, one of the disadvantages is that I never have any privacy. And of course, the trouble with not having any privacy is that I never have any space I can call my own. Our house is big, but sometimes not big enough!

2 Grammar

- The best thing about being the youngest is that I'm the center of attention.
- The disadvantage of having a lot of kids is that I can't give each of them the individual attention they want.
- The problem with living with my father-in-law is that we disagree about everything.
- The worst thing about having two younger sisters is that they always want to know all about my personal life.
- The trouble with having an identical twin is that no one can ever tell us apart.

B After spending 14 days trapped inside the walls of a 157-year-old building in New York City last April, Molly briefly became a world-famous cat. Attempting to save the black cat, rescuers set traps and used special cameras and a raw fish to try to lure Molly out from between the walls. They even tried using kittens to appeal to the cat's motherly side so she would come out, but Molly would not budge. Finally, after they removed bricks and drilled holes into the walls, someone was able to pull the curious cat out of the tiny space.

The bricks have now been replaced, but Molly has been getting visits from tourists daily since she was rescued. Even so, Molly's adventures may not be over. Her owners say that at least once they have caught her looking inside a similar hole in the building.

A (1) Creating Mobile Apps is an online course that gives students the chance to explore a variety of app-building programs, to learn about the various uses of apps, and to develop their own app. (2) Offered by Kelly Community College, (5) it's an excellent source of information and hands-on experience for beginners while providing exposure to the latest programs for those who already have some experience.

As someone already familiar with building apps, I was not very impressed with some of the material. However, (3) I found the section on the possible uses of apps for everything – from shopping to home security – really eye-opening. Additionally, being able to create an app under the guidance of an expert made the whole process seem much simpler than expected. Overall, it provided a flexible learning experience, and I found that the biggest advantage of an online class is that you can move at your own pace. On the other hand, there's the obvious lack of real time spent with the instructor and fellow students.

(5) I would definitely recommend this course to anyone looking to build an app. (4) My only suggestion is that the college should offer better networking tools so that the discussions and brainstorming sessions are more efficient.

C Take notes to answer the questions in your own words. Then compare answers with a partner.

1. Why is Monica scared in October?

2. What is the most difficult thing about December for her?

3. Why is April 16 an important day for Monica?

After you watch

A Pair work Discuss how Monica's attitude and experiences changed over the eight months she was abroad. What conclusions might one draw from this?

B Group work Compare your conclusions from part A with another pair. Discuss how they are the same or different.

C Writing Write a paragraph explaining how you feel about new and challenging experiences, such as studying abroad. Are these types of experiences fun, exciting, challenging, or frustrating for you? How do you handle these types of situations?

1 DEALING WITH DIFFICULT PEOPLE

Story summary

“Dealing with Difficult People” is about the difficult people we run into at school, work, and home. Four difficult personalities are explained: The Bully, who enjoys making others feel bad; the Exploder, who yells when she can’t get what she wants; the Know-It-All, who tells everyone else how things should be done; and Mr. Negative, who loves to complain. The video explains a two-step approach for dealing with difficult people: Step 1: Ask what reward the person wants to get from their behavior. Step 2: Think of a way to avoid giving the person this reward. Specific examples of how to use the two-step process with Bullies and Exploders are given.

In this activity, Ss choose the correct information to complete sentences about the video.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions. Have Ss read the sentences and answer options. Remind Ss to answer according to the information in the video.
- Play the video Have Ss choose the correct phrase to complete each sentence. Play the video again, if necessary.
- Check answers Go over the answers with the class. Have Ss explain why the other choices are incorrect.

Answers

1. b 2. b 3. a 4. b 5. c 6. a 7. b 8. c

- Option Have Ss first complete the activity from memory. Then play the video again to check the answers.

C

In this activity, Ss identify and write the main point of the video in their own words.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions.
- Do the activity Have Ss write the steps for the two-step process in their own words. Play the video again, if necessary. Help as needed.
- Check answers Go over the answers with the class.

Possible answers

1. Ask yourself what reward the difficult person wants to get for the behavior.
2. Figure out how to stop the reward.

A Pair work

In this activity, Ss discuss how to use the two-step process from the video with other difficult personalities.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions. Model a discussion with a volunteer.
- Do the activity Have pairs do the activity.
- Follow up Go over possible answers. Then have the class choose the most effective idea for each personality type. Ask if anyone has dealt with these personality types and if so, how they handled the situation.

Possible answers

The Know-It-All: Step 1 – Identify reward: Wants to feel smarter than everyone else; wants to control a situation. Step 2 – Stop reward: Keep interactions focused and brief. Don't engage the individual personally. Deflect attention to another issue.

Mr. or Ms. Negative: Step 1 – Identify reward: Gets attention by complaining. Step 2 – Stop reward: Don't engage or respond to complaints. Change the focus of the conversation. Leave the room if needed.

B Pair work

In this activity, Ss take turns role-playing being a difficult personality and dealing with one.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions. Have Ss read the personality type descriptions. Model a role play with a volunteer.
- Do the activity Have pairs take turns role-playing the scenario. Help as needed.

C Group work

In this activity, Ss discuss different scenarios with the role play.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions.
- Do the activity Have Ss discuss how the role play would differ if the employer were the difficult person.

Project

A Write the script

In this activity, Ss write their own video about how to deal with difficult people.

- Preview the activity Tell Ss they will work in pairs to make a video about how to deal with difficult people. Ss will write a script and then act it out on camera.
- Brainstorm Have Ss think of their own difficult personality types or use the example below. Then have Ss make notes about ways to describe the personality type, what problems these types of people can cause, and how to deal with them.

Sample idea:

The Same-Same (a friend who refuses to try new things)

- Description: may be shy, judgmental, or not interested in new things; very predictable
- Problems: always wants to eat at the same restaurant; won't try new sports, games, or other activities
- Reward: always feels safe by doing the same things
- How to deal with the Same-Same friend: Ask why your friend doesn't want to do the activity. For every fear or negative idea he or she mentions, remind the friend of an opposite, positive outcome. Ask the friend for an example of something new he or she has tried before that was positive.

- Outline Have Ss make an outline of their script. They can use their own ideas or the following structure:
 - Introduce and describe the personality type.
 - Talk about the main problems caused.
 - Tell what reward the person may want.
 - Offer suggestions on how to stop or change the reward and deal with these types of people.
- Write the script Have Ss write about a difficult personality. Have them read through their work as they go and revise as needed.
- Check the script Have pairs rehearse their scripts.

B Make and share the video

In this activity, Ss make and share their own video about how to deal with difficult people.

- Plan the video Explain that Ss will take turns speaking and operating the camera. Alternatively, Ss can set up the camera so they appear on-screen together to act out a situation.
- Make the video Have Ss make their videos.
- Share the video Ss share their videos with the class.
- Option Have a group discussion about the videos. Which video is the best? Which video is the most helpful? Which one is the funniest or most interesting?

2 ACCIDENTS THAT CHANGED THE WORLD

Story summary

"Accidents that Changed the World" explains how three accidents resulted in three new discoveries. Penicillin was discovered in 1928 when Alexander Fleming forgot to wash some petri dishes. In 1945, some chocolate in Percy Spencer's pocket melted when he stood close to a magnetron, which led to the invention of the microwave oven. And in 1941, George de Mestral's dog came home from a walk covered in burrs, which gave de Mestral the idea for the sticky material called Velcro.

- Option Have Ss complete the sentences from memory. Then play the video for them to check their answers.

C

In this activity, Ss answer questions about the video in their own words.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions. Have Ss read the questions. If necessary, answer the first question as a class.
- Do the activity Have Ss write their answers. Play the video again, if necessary.
- Check answers Go over the answers with the class.

Possible answers

1. Alexander Fleming should have washed dishes but didn't. Fleming noticed that a mold caused a problem for bacteria.
2. Percy Spencer's chocolate melted. Spencer tried heating other foods with microwaves. Spencer contained the microwaves in a box.
3. George de Mestral put burrs under a microscope to see what made them stick so well. De Mestral had an idea for a product that would do the same thing. De Mestral tried lots of different prototypes.

A Pair work

In this activity, Ss discuss the steps leading to the discoveries that were made.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions. Read the questions. Model a discussion with a volunteer.
- Do the activity Have pairs do the activity.
- Follow up Have pairs share their ideas with the class.

B

In this activity, Ss analyze an achievement in their lives that was influenced by an accident.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions. Read the example. If helpful, give another example from your own life.
- Do the activity Have Ss take notes on the chain of events leading to their own achievement. Help as needed.

C Pair work

In this activity, Ss share stories about the events leading to big achievements.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions.
- Do the activity Have pairs take turns telling their stories. Help as needed.
- Follow up Have volunteers tell the class their stories.

Project

A Write the script

In this activity, Ss write their own video about an invention or mistake.

- Preview the activity Tell Ss they will work in pairs to make a video about an invention or mistake. Ss will write a script and then act it out on camera. Explain that they will take turns speaking and operating the camera.
- Brainstorm Have Ss choose a topic. They can either retell the story of one of the accidental discoveries in the video (Fleming's, Spencer's, or de Mestral's) in their own words, or they can tell their own story of a big mistake or accident.
- Outline Have Ss make an outline of their script. They can use their own ideas or the following structures:

Talking about an invention

- Introduce and describe the invention.
- Talk about the main events or actions that caused it.
- Discuss what might have happened if things had happened differently.

Talking about a big mistake

- Introduce the story by setting the scene with the time, place, or background information about what happened.
 - Tell the events leading up to the mistake in the order they happened.
 - Give a lesson or summary of how the story affected you or others at the end.
- Write the script Go over the following sample script with the class. Then have Ss write their scripts. Have them read through their work as they go and revise as needed.

Sample script:

A terrible brunch

S1: I made a big mistake just last weekend. I invited ten friends over for brunch. I bought five cartons of eggs to scramble just to be sure that I had enough. However, my friends started talking to me while I was cooking. They told some really interesting stories, so I was laughing and talking with them as well. But I should have been paying more attention when I cracked the eggs, because when I served them, there were bits of shell in them! My friends had to pick the shells out of them as they ate! I have to be more careful when I cook!

- Check the script Have Ss rehearse their scripts. Help as needed.

B Make and share the video

In this activity, Ss make and share their own video about an invention or mistake.

- Plan the video Remind Ss that they will take turns speaking and operating the camera. Alternatively, Ss can set up the camera so they appear on-screen together to act out a situation.
- Make the video Have Ss make their videos.
- Share the video Ss share their videos with the class.
- Option Have a group discussion about the videos. Which video is the best? Which video is the most unusual? Which one is the funniest or the most interesting?

3 WHAT IS THE WORLD'S GREATEST CITY?

Story summary

"What Is the World's Greatest City?" presents portraits of four different cities. Dubai has a lot of interesting and ambitious architecture, such as skyscrapers, man-made islands, a "seven-star" hotel, and an indoor ski slope. Tourist town Amsterdam is as famous for its canals as it is for being a bicycling town with bicycle traffic lanes and bicycle parking lots. The former industrial city of Pittsburgh is the most livable city presented with its low cost of living, great sports teams, and historic neighborhoods. Finally, exciting Tokyo boasts the world's largest population and a quick and efficient public transportation system.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions. Read the questions. If helpful, model a brief opinion statement about one of the cities from the video.
- Do the activity Have Ss write their answers to the questions.

B Pair work

In this activity, pairs compare and contrast their ideas from part A.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions. Elicit phrases to compare and contrast (even though, on the other hand) and phrases to agree and disagree (I'm with you. Maybe, but don't you think . . .) that Ss can use when discussing their opinions.

- Do the activity Have pairs compare and contrast their opinions about the cities. Help as needed.

C Class activity

In this activity, Ss tell about their partner's city preferences.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions. Model the activity using a S's information.
- Do the activity Have Ss tell their partner's city preferences to the class. Encourage the class to ask questions and agree or disagree.

Project

A Write the script

In this activity, Ss write their own video about great cities.

- Preview the activity Tell Ss they will work in pairs to make a video about great cities. Explain that Ss will choose two different cities and make a video of two people discussing why each is the best city to visit or live in. Ss will write a script and act it out.
- Brainstorm Have Ss make a list of cities they could discuss. They should then narrow the list down to two and note the good and bad points for each.
- Outline Have Ss make an outline of their script. They can use their own ideas or the following structure:
 - Each person says their top choice for a place to visit or live.
 - Each person lists why their city is better. The other person points out the negative aspects of the city.
 - People come to an agreement about which city is best.
- Write the script Go over the following sample script. Then have Ss write their scripts. Have them read through their work as they go and revise as needed.

Sample script:

Barcelona vs. Tokyo

S1: Barcelona is my top choice for a great city to visit.

S2: Really? I think Tokyo is the greatest city to visit.

S1: Tokyo is cool, but the nightlife and museums in Barcelona are fantastic!

S2: That's true, but on the other hand, Tokyo is very modern and has exciting nightlife. Barcelona is much smaller than Tokyo. There probably aren't as many things to see there.

S1: I see your point, but don't you think the architecture in Barcelona is interesting? Several buildings were designed by Gaudí.

S2: I know what you mean, but a great city has more than beautiful buildings. Tokyo has the largest population in the world! There are a lot of interesting people there.

S1: Yes, that's true. I guess Tokyo might be a bit more interesting.

- Check the script Have Ss rehearse their scripts. Help as needed.

B Make and share the video

In this activity, Ss make and share their own video about great cities.

- Plan the video Remind Ss that they will take turns speaking and operating the camera. Alternatively, Ss can set up the camera so they appear on-screen together to act out a situation.
- Make the video Have Ss make their videos.
- Share the video Ss share their videos with the class.
- Option Have a group discussion about the videos. Decide which video gives the most convincing argument for a city. Which city featured would the most people like to visit?

4 HOW ELECTRONICS AFFECT OUR SLEEP

Story summary

"How Electronics Affect Our Sleep" explores how time spent looking at electronic screens prevents us from getting a good night's sleep. Sleep is vital for a healthy and productive life. Not getting enough sleep can cause health issues such as weight gain, diabetes, high blood pressure, even heart attacks and stroke. Screens can overstimulate our eyes and minds and make it difficult to fall asleep even hours after playing a video game or surfing the Internet. Bright screens can also reduce levels of melatonin, a chemical signal released by darkness that tells us it is time to sleep. Suggestions to keep screens from affecting our sleep include turning off screens 30 to 60 minutes before bedtime, waiting until morning to check email and texts, not reading on a backlit screen right before bed, and keeping a regular sleep schedule.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions. Tell Ss they will analyze their own routines in terms of the information presented in the video. Read the questions. Model a discussion with a volunteer.
- Do the activity Have pairs do the activity. Help as needed.
- Follow up Have pairs share their opinions with the class.

B Group work

In this activity, Ss think of additional suggestions to reduce screen time or improve sleep.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions.

- Do the activity Have groups use their own situations to brainstorm ideas for how to reduce screen time or improve sleep. Help as needed.
- Follow up Have groups share their ideas with the class. Did groups have mostly the same ideas or different ones? Discuss whose ideas were the most helpful.

C Writing

In this activity, Ss make a plan for improving their own sleep habits or those of someone they know.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions. Model a sample answer using your own information.
- Do the activity Have Ss write their answers. Help as needed.
- Follow up Have Ss exchange papers with a partner and read each other's work. Then have volunteers read their plans to the class.

Project

A Write the script

In this activity, Ss write their own video about how to improve sleep.

- Preview the activity Tell Ss they will work in small groups to make a video about how to improve sleep. Explain that they will take turns speaking and operating the camera. Explain that Ss will write suggestions and offer advice.
- Brainstorm Have Ss think of sleep problems they or people they know have and possible suggestions to improve sleep. (This can build on the suggestions from After you watch part B.) Have groups decide on a format for their video. They can role-play a session with a patient and a sleep specialist, shoot a conversation among friends, or tell their plan to the camera.

Sample issues:

- Problem: watching TV to fall asleep
Solutions: limit TV watching to only one hour earlier in the evening; meditate before bed for 20 minutes instead
- Problem: room is too noisy to sleep
Solutions: wear ear plugs; tell roommates quiet time begins at 10 P.M.
- Problem: have to work after school, so studying begins late Solutions: plan study sessions for early morning instead and go to bed earlier; see if work schedule can be adjusted

- Outline Have Ss make an outline of their script. They can use their own ideas or the following structure:
 - Introduce and describe the problems that will be discussed.
 - Talk about the negative effects the problems cause.
 - Provide advice and steps to solve each problem.
 - Give a summary of the problems, solutions, and reasons why sleep is important.
- Write the script Have Ss write their scripts about the sleep problems and solutions. Have them read through their work as they go and revise as needed.
- Check the script Have Ss rehearse their scripts. Help as needed.

B Make and share the video

In this activity, Ss work in groups to make their own video about how to improve sleep.

- Plan the video Remind Ss that they will take turns speaking and operating the camera. Alternatively, Ss can set up the camera so they appear on-screen together to act out a situation.
- Make the video Have Ss make their videos.
- Share the video Ss share their videos with the class.
- Option Have a group discussion about the videos. Which video has the best suggestions? Does the class have any additional suggestions for the problems mentioned?

5 REACTIONS TO RUDE BEHAVIOR

Story summary

"Reactions to Rude Behavior" is a student video in which the narrator (Garrett) asks his roommate, John, to behave rudely to unsuspecting people in the library while their interactions are videotaped. Afterwards, Garrett interviews the students to find out why they acted the way they did. In the first situation, John sits too close to Jill instead of in one of the empty seats available and greets her. Jill finds him strange and explains that rather than be offensive, she just left the situation. In the second situation, John again ignores the empty seats and sits too close to Ethan. But this time, he doesn't talk to Ethan and holds a personal phone call. Ethan tells John it's customary to take calls outside of the library, but John stays and finishes the call. In the final situation, John sits too close to Andrea, who thinks it's a good idea to say what's on your mind. She tells John he's rude to sit so close when there are so many other chairs and adds that talking too close to her is impolite. She then calls him an interrupter. When John later reveals that he and Garrett are shooting a video for a sociology class, Andrea decides he is not so rude after all.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions.
- Do the activity Have Ss discuss how they would react when faced with the annoying behaviors listed in part B. Have pairs share possible reactions with the class. Make a list of the most common types of reaction.

Project

A Write the script

In this activity, Ss write their own video about rude behavior.

- Preview the activity Tell Ss they will work in small groups to make a video about rude behavior and how people react to it. Explain that Ss will write a script and take turns speaking and operating the camera. Suggest that Ss do the video as a role play rather than a secretly taped video like "Reactions to Rude Behavior."
- Brainstorm Have groups choose a rude behavior from the lists they previously made or think of a new one. Encourage them to think of different reactions to the behavior.

Sample idea:

Three reactions to an Interrupter

- Description: The group presents three different situations and reactions to someone who interrupts all the time.
- Situations: (1) Person 1 is talking to an Interrupter on the phone. Person 1 gets frustrated, pretends the reception is bad, and hangs up. (2) Person 2 is having a face-to-face conversation with an Interrupter. Person 2 tries to keep talking but finally gives up and lets the Interrupter talk. (3) Person 1 and Person 2 are talking when the Interrupter appears and tries to interrupt. Person 1 and Person 2 continue talking and ignore the Interrupter to show him/her how it feels.

- Outline Have Ss make an outline of their script. They can use their own ideas or the following structure:
 - Introduce the situation and/or behavior briefly.
 - Stage the role play. Break into separate scenes, if appropriate. Introduce the main points of the conversation and interaction for each scene.
 - Summarize the reactions of the people after each scene and/or at the end as a recap.
- Write the script Have Ss write their scripts using their outlines. Have them read through their work and revise as needed.
- Check the script Have groups rehearse their scripts. Help as needed.

B Make and share the video

- Plan the video Remind Ss that they will take turns speaking and operating the camera. Alternatively, Ss can set up the camera so they appear on-screen together to act out a situation.
- Make the video Have Ss make their videos.
- Share the video Ss share their videos with the class.
- Option Have a group discussion about the videos. Which video is the best? Which video is the most insightful? Which one addresses the most annoying behavior?

6 THREE STORIES ABOUT WHY WE LOVE STORIES

Story summary

"Three Stories About Why We Love Stories" takes the form of three stories to tell us why humans have loved stories ever since we wrote on cave walls. Story 1: Stories Help Us Survive supposes the need to tell stories arose when the human race was very young. It relates the story of a caveman who fell into a hole that hadn't been there before. He wanted to warn his friends, but writing hadn't been invented yet. Therefore, he told his friends the story of the hole so they would not go near it. Thus, stories help us to survive. Story 2: Stories Help Us Learn explains how a college professor's class became boring after he'd been teaching it for 20 years. But once he stopped explaining theories and started telling stories to illustrate how theories work, his students became interested again. This is an example of how humans learn best when they are engaged emotionally. Story 3: Stories Organize the World illustrates how as infants we are confused about the world but eventually begin to understand it through the stories we are told. Later, when we get older, we still go back to stories to make sense of things. In conclusion, humans will always tell stories because it's part of what makes us human.

- Do the activity Have Ss take notes. Play the video, pausing after each story to give Ss time to write.
- Check answers Go over the answers with the class.

Possible answers

1. Stories help humans survive, understand other people, and get along better.
2. Stories are the natural way for us to learn because stories engage the emotions and the intellect. People remember things better when emotions are engaged.
3. Telling stories to children helps them to make sense of the world.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions. Keep Ss in their groups from part B.
- Do the activity Have each group read or retell their story. After each story has been told, have the other groups discuss what they think the main point is. Write their answers on the board. Each group chooses the best description of the main point of their story and reads the main point they wrote.

Project

A Write the script

In this activity, Ss write their own video story.

- Preview the activity Tell Ss they will work in small groups to make a video story that illustrates one of the three points explained in the video. Ss will write a script and then act it out on camera. Explain that they will take turns speaking and operating the camera.
- Brainstorm Have Ss think of a story that illustrates how stories can help people survive, learn, or make sense of things. It can be from their own lives, made up, or from a current news story. They should also decide the best way to tell the story, such as reading it to the camera, drawing pictures to illustrate it, acting it out, using photographs, or some combination. The story should conclude with some sort of message for the viewer.

Sample story:

Stories Help Us Survive

- News story: A man survived an avalanche by staying in his car, conserving water, digging snow off of the car from time to time, and only running the car's motor for a few minutes per day to warm up.
- How to tell it: News format with reporters (two Ss) talking to the camera and using magazine photos and other found photos of avalanches
- Message: It's important to learn survival skills when traveling in remote areas because it can save your life.

- Outline Have Ss make an outline of their script. They can use their own ideas or the following structure:
 - Introduce the story by giving background information about what happened or offering an interesting start to capture the viewer's attention.
 - Tell the events of the story in the order they happen.
 - Give a lesson or summary telling the message or explaining the importance of the story.
- Write the script Have Ss write their scripts. Remind them to use storytelling phrases to move the narrative along. Have them read through their work as they go and revise as needed.
- Check the script Have Ss rehearse their scripts. Help as needed.

B Make and share the video

In this activity, Ss make their own video story.

- Plan the video Remind Ss that they will take turns speaking and operating the camera. Alternatively, Ss can set up the camera so they appear on-screen together to act out a situation.
- Make the video Have Ss make their videos.
- Share the video Ss share their videos with the class.
- Option Have a group discussion about the videos. Which video uses the most interesting way to tell a story? Which video has the strongest message?

A

In this activity, Ss write their opinions about the inventions in the video.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions. Read the questions. Model a brief opinion for the first question.
- Do the activity Have Ss write their answers to the questions.

B Pair work

In this activity, pairs compare and contrast their ideas from part A.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions. Elicit phrases that Ss can use to compare and contrast (e.g., even though, on the other hand) and to agree and disagree (e.g., I'm with you. Maybe, but don't you think . . .).
- Do the activity Have pairs compare and contrast their opinions about the inventions. Help as needed.
- Follow up Have a few pairs share their discussions with the class.

C Group work

In this activity, groups create their own list of the top five additional inventions.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions.
- Do the activity Have groups discuss inventions as they decide on a list of five additional important inventions.
- Follow up Have groups share their top inventions and reasons for their choices with the class. Make notes on the board to list the class's top five inventions.

Project

A Write the script

In this activity, Ss write their own video about technology or inventions.

- Preview the activity Tell Ss they will work in pairs to make a video about technology or inventions following the model of Tech Talk. Explain that Ss will talk about at least two technologies or inventions and mention their past, present, and future uses.
- Brainstorm Have pairs brainstorm ideas about which technologies and inventions to talk about. Ss should make notes about why the inventions are important and how they have changed life.

Sample ideas:

Tablet computer

- Why important: smaller and more portable than computer; has all the features you could want, including a camera. Life before: Before, you had big, bulky computers that were often slower. Life after: Now you can take your computer with you anywhere.

Cell phone

- Why important: very small, portable; has useful technologies such as music, video, camera, etc. Life before: Before, you had to be in a home or office to reach someone or be reached. Life after: Now you can talk to people anywhere.

- Outline Have Ss make an outline of their script. They can use their own ideas or the following structure:
 - Introduce the items you will discuss.
 - Talk about each item, why it is important, and how life was before and after it.
 - Summarize the opinion of each item and present which is most important and why.
- Write the script Have Ss write their scripts using their outlines. Have them read their work and revise as needed.
- Check the script Have Ss rehearse their scripts. Help as needed.

B Make and share the video

In this activity, Ss make and share their own video about technology or inventions.

- Plan the video Remind Ss that they will take turns speaking and operating the camera. Alternatively, Ss can set up the camera so they appear on-screen together to act out a situation.
- Make the video Have Ss make their videos.
- Share the video Ss share their videos with the class.
- Option Have a group discussion about the videos. Were any important inventions left out?

8 PROFILE OF AN ACTOR

Story summary

In this video, a man talks about why he became an actor. He starts by recounting an early childhood performance in a funny skit and explains that to become an actor, you have to have a passion for acting. He then talks about the erratic schedule of an actor and tracks his career progress from his training in theater to commercials. Next, he describes his least favorite acting job as being a mad scientist at an amusement park and his favorite acting job as performing in Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream. Later, he says that the best part of being an actor is the feeling you get when you've performed well. In closing, he notes some of the traits an actor needs, such as having a lot of expression and a strong voice as well as being someone who enjoys attention. He also adds that people who don't enjoy being in the spotlight or need job security would not be good actors and says that he can't see himself doing anything but acting.

A Pair work

In this activity, Ss discuss traits the actor has and whether or not they feel they or someone they know could be an actor.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions. Read the questions.
- Do the activity Put Ss into the same pairs as Before you watch part A, if possible, and have them do the activity. Help as needed.
- Follow up Have some pairs share their opinions and discussions with the class.

B

In this activity, Ss list other traits and the jobs that might require them.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions. Elicit examples from the class (e.g., Trait: good with one's hands; Possible jobs: sculptor, mechanic, plumber).

- Do the activity Have Ss complete the activity individually.
- Follow up List some examples from the class on the board.

C Writing

In this activity, Ss write about traits required for jobs they find interesting.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions. Explain that Ss should choose the job and think of the traits first. Expand on one of the examples used in part B as a model (e.g., I think being a sculptor would be an interesting job. To be a sculptor, one needs to be good with one's hands, have patience, and not need job security).
- Do the activity Have Ss choose their jobs and traits and write about them. Help with ideas as needed.
- Follow up Have volunteers read their paragraphs to the class. Did anyone talk about the same job? Which traits were most often mentioned? Did any students write about different jobs that required the same traits?

Project

A Write the script

In this activity, Ss write their own video about traits needed for jobs.

- Preview the activity Tell Ss they will work in pairs to make a video about traits needed for specific jobs. Explain that they will take turns speaking and operating the camera. Explain that Ss will write a script and then act it out on camera. Suggest that Ss do the video as a conversation or as separate on-camera interviews.
- Brainstorm First, have individual Ss think of jobs they want to talk about in the video. Encourage them to choose jobs they are truly interested in. After Ss have chosen jobs, allow them to choose partners or put them in pairs to think of ideas for presenting their choices.

Sample idea:

Contrasting two different jobs

- Description: contrast traits needed for two different types of jobs
- Job 1 – Rock Star: good voice, strong personality, enjoys attention; Job 2 – Accountant: good at math, able to work alone, detail-oriented
- S1 presents job 1; S2 presents job 2.
- In the end, S1 and S2 explain that even though the two jobs are very different from each other, the rock star probably needs a good accountant.

- Outline Have Ss make an outline of their script. They can use their own ideas or the following structure:
 - Introduce both jobs briefly.
 - Discuss job 1 (traits 1–3).
 - Discuss job 2 (traits 1–3).
 - Relate the jobs to each other.
 - Give a brief closing statement.
- Write the script Have Ss write their scripts using their outlines. Have Ss read through their work and revise as needed.
- Check the script Have pairs rehearse their scripts. Help as needed.

B Make and share the video

In this activity, Ss make and share their own video about traits needed for jobs.

- Plan the video Remind Ss that they will take turns speaking and operating the camera. Alternatively, Ss can set up the camera so they appear on-screen together to act out a situation.
- Make the video Have Ss make their videos.
- Share the video Ss share their videos with the class.
- Option Have a group discussion about the videos. Which one has the most interesting presentation style? Which videos are similar? Which are more different? Why do Ss feel that way?

9 THE INTERVIEW: PROBLEM-SOLVING TASKS

Story summary

The Interview is a cable show about job interview skills. Host Susan talks with Mark Hernandez, a consultant who used to supervise hiring tests for a large tech firm. Mark explains that in addition to hiring candidates who fit in well with the company, they would also observe them in action to test their problem-solving abilities. He shows an example test in which candidates have a corkboard, a table, a candle, a book of matches, and a box of thumbtacks. The candidates' task is to attach the candle to the cork board and light it so that it doesn't drip on the table below. The host and consultant analyze the three candidates' performance. The first candidate, Monica, persists with one (unsuccessful) approach and becomes frustrated. The second candidate, David, tries several approaches but doesn't succeed. The third candidate, Ashley, has a playful approach that allows her to solve the problem by thinking outside of the box. She pins the thumbtack box to the corkboard and places the candle on it. The main points given for improving problem-solving skills are: try many approaches, remember that it is more helpful to be playful than frustrated, and try looking at things from other perspectives.

A Write the script

In this activity, Ss write their own video about problem-solving skills.

- Preview the activity Tell Ss they will work in small groups to make a video about problem-solving skills. Ss will write a script and then act it out on camera. Suggest that Ss do the video as a conversation rather than an interview situation. Explain that they will take turns speaking and operating the camera.
- Brainstorm Have groups choose their own problem-solving tips and personal anecdotes for the video. Encourage them to think about useful problem-solving styles and tips for improvement.

Sample idea:

Group discussion about problem solving

- Description: a group discusses three problem-solving tips
- Tip 1 – Trying different approaches: Ss discuss ways they can improve their ability to think of different approaches (e.g., a computer problem and keeping notes on what you tried already).
- Tip 2 – Leaving a problem and coming back to it: Explain that some problems are better solved if, after working on them, you leave and then come back to them later (e.g., ideas for writing a paper).
- Tip 3 – Asking for help: Ss discuss when and how to ask someone for help, guidance, or an outside perspective (e.g., getting help with math from someone who is good at it).

- Outline Have Ss make an outline of their script. They can use their own ideas or the following structure:
 - Introduce the problem-solving tips or issues to be discussed.
 - Explain the main idea of each tip and have group members relate their experiences with the tip style and offer suggestions for implementation.
 - Summarize the problem-solving tips at the end as a recap.
- Write the script Have Ss write their scripts using their outlines. Have them read through their work and revise as needed. Explain that the discussion should be easy to follow and offer good support for each point.
- Check the script Have Ss rehearse their scripts. Help as needed.

B Make and share the video

In this activity, Ss make and share their own video about problem-solving skills.

- Plan the video Remind Ss that they will take turns speaking and operating the camera. Alternatively, Ss can set up the camera so they appear on-screen together to hold a conversation.
- Make the video Have Ss make their videos.
- Share the video Ss share their videos with the class.
- Option Have a group discussion about the videos. Which tips are the most helpful? Which tips appear most often? Are they the most useful ones?

10 ANNOYING SOUNDS

Story summary

The news report “Annoying Sounds” focuses on sounds that people complain about. The reporter mentions sounds that are too loud (like a chainsaw), annoying (like nails on a chalkboard), or both loud and annoying (like the vuvuzela horns during the World Cup in 2010). She also points out that very loud sounds hurt our ears, but less loud sounds, like nails on a chalkboard or a knife on a glass, can also be annoying. While scientists aren’t sure why annoying sounds are annoying, the video mentions that it may be because they have a similar frequency to a human scream or a baby’s cry, two of the world’s most stressful sounds. The report ends with different people talking about sounds that bother them, including loud cell phone conversations, certain laughs, loud motorcycles, elevator music, cicadas, and the very unusual sound of a fork on glass.

In this activity, Ss write their own video about annoying things.

- Preview the activity Tell Ss they will work in small groups to make a video about annoying things. Ss will write a script and act it out. Explain that they will take turns speaking and operating the camera.
- Brainstorm Have groups brainstorm ideas. They may wish to focus on sounds, general annoyances, or things specific to a certain place, action, or thing. Ss may also want to incorporate the things they listed in After you watch. Have groups decide if they will film this as a group discussion, as individuals speaking on camera, or with some dramatized portions.

Sample idea:

Group discussion about annoying cell phone behavior

- Description: Two people sharing opinions about annoying cell phone behavior. After each opinion, show an example acted out.
- Points discussed: (1) annoying ring tones, (2) annoying loud conversations, (3) annoying lack of consideration (when people are unaware of everyone around them)
- Examples: (1) a cell phone on the train with a loud ring tone, (2) an annoying person having a really loud phone conversation in the library, (3) a person bumping into people because he's focused on his phone conversation
- Conclusion: List ways to change behavior.

- Outline Have Ss make an outline of their script. They can use their own ideas or the following structure:
 - Introduce the issue of annoying cell phone behavior.
 - Name each annoying action and have people voice their opinions explaining why the behavior is annoying.
 - Cut to an example of the behavior acted out and repeat steps for other actions.
 - Summarize the discussion and suggest ways to improve the annoying behaviors.
- Write the script Have Ss write their scripts using their outlines. Have them read through their work and revise as needed. Explain that the script should be well organized and easy to follow.
- Check the script Have Ss rehearse their scripts. Help as needed.

11 THREE INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS DISCUSS AMERICAN VALUES

Story summary

Olivia, a student, is making a video about American values by interviewing three international students: Hikaru (Japan), Ranbir (India), and Enku (Ethiopia). In the round-table discussion that follows, they talk about the American tendencies to be on time, express emotions freely, value the freedom of being an individual, and make one's own choices rather than focus on the family or group. The interviewees also mention that equality – not only of races but in opportunity – is an important American belief. They then point out that Americans believe you can be anything you want to be if you work hard enough.

In this activity, Ss write their own video about cultural differences.

- Preview the activity Tell Ss they will work in small groups to make a video about cultural differences. Explain that they will write a script and take turns speaking and operating the camera.
- Brainstorm Have groups brainstorm ideas about cultural differences. They may wish to focus on how their own culture differs from others, how it compares to another culture, or the ideas about global values they discussed in After you watch. Have groups decide if they will film a group discussion or individuals speaking directly to the camera.

Sample script idea:

Group discussion

- Description: a small group discusses several topics about cultural differences
- Points to discuss: (1) food customs, (2) customs when meeting or visiting someone, (3) family relations
- Outline Have Ss make an outline of their script. They can use their own ideas or the following structure:
 - Introduce the idea of cultural differences.
 - Introduce topics and discuss differences. For example: (1) Food customs: table manners, eating out, preparing food; (2) Customs when meeting or visiting someone: introducing yourself, giving gifts, making friends; (3) Family relations: closeness of members, living situations, influence.

- Summarize the discussion.

- Write the script Have Ss write their scripts using their outlines. Have them read through their work and revise as needed. Remind them that the discussion should be easy to follow and have good organization. If using individual interviews, the order of presentation should be easy to follow and the statements may need to relate to each other.
- Check the script Have groups rehearse their scripts. Help as needed.

B Make and share the video

In this activity, Ss make and share their own video about cultural differences.

- Plan the video Remind Ss that they will take turns speaking and operating the camera. Alternatively, Ss can set up the camera so they appear on-screen together to act out a situation.
- Make the video Have Ss make their videos.
- Share the video Ss share their videos with the class.
- Option Have a group discussion about the videos. Which videos are the most interesting? Which are most thought-provoking? What types of cultural differences are mentioned most often?

12 AN L.A. GIRL IN BERLIN

Story summary

"An L.A. Girl in Berlin" is the video diary of a girl named Monica documenting her eight-month study abroad in Germany. In September, she is excited and getting accustomed to the city. In October, she talks about being homesick and how she's having trouble meeting people. In November, she explains that she has met two friends, Julia and Annika, and is getting out more. In December, she tells her parents she is really sad not to be spending the holidays with them. In January, she is excited about snow and doing really well again. On April 16, she notes the first time no one spoke English to her all day; everyone thought she was a German speaker. She also talks about how she is enjoying the spring. Finally, in May, she talks about preparing to leave and mentions that she'd be less sad to leave if she hadn't discovered something important – the best sausages and freshest sauerkraut in the world!

Language summary

Grammar Future perfect and future perfect continuous
Mixed conditionals

Vocabulary Expressions ending with prepositions
Compound adjectives

Before you watch page T-214

In this activity, Ss identify the five things they think would be the most difficult to deal with if they studied in Germany for a year.

- Preview the activity Explain that Ss will watch the video diary of an American girl studying in Germany. Elicit from Ss what they know about Germany. Direct Ss' attention to the list. Go over the instructions.
- Do the activity Have Ss number the five things they would have the most difficulty with if they studied in Germany. Remind Ss that they are giving their own opinion.

B Pair work

In this activity, Ss compare their answers in part A.

- Preview the activity Have Ss read the instructions. Model the sample conversation with a volunteer.
- Do the activity Have pairs discuss their opinions.
- Follow up Have pairs share their opinions with the class.

While you watch pages T-214–215

In this activity, Ss choose the best summary of the information in the video at a certain point.

- Preview the activity Explain that Monica, the girl in the video, is from Los Angeles (L.A.) and she will be studying in Berlin. Elicit from the class where both cities are. Have a brief discussion about what both cities are like and how they are different. Go over the instructions.
- Play the video Have Ss do the activity as they watch the video. Play the video again, if necessary.
- Check answers Go over the answers with the class.

Answers

1. b
2. c
3. b
4. c

B

In this activity, Ss identify the order of comments as they are mentioned in the video.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions. Have Ss read the statements in the activity.
- Do the activity Have Ss number the things Monica talks about in the order they are mentioned in the video. Play the video again, if necessary.
- Check answers Go over the answers with the class.

Answers

- 5, 4, 1, 7, 2, 3, 6

C

In this activity, Ss take notes to answer questions about the video in their own words.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions. Have Ss read the questions.
- Play the video Have Ss write the answers in their own words. After Ss have completed the activity, have them compare answers with a partner.
- Check answers Discuss the answers with the class. Then play the video to check the answers.

Possible answers

1. She is scared in October because she thinks she may be lonely all year and never leave her room.
2. The most difficult thing about December is being away from her family during the holidays. She did not realize how sad this would make her.
3. April 16 is an important day because no one spoke English to her. They thought she was a German speaker.

After you watch page T-215

A Pair work

In this activity, pairs discuss Monica's feelings and what they mean.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions. Elicit the main events for each month as a review. What happened to Monica in September? (She went to Berlin and got accustomed to the city. She was excited to be there.)
- Do the activity Have pairs discuss how Monica's feelings changed over time and draw conclusions.

B Group work

In this activity, pairs compare and contrast their ideas from part A with another pair.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions. Put students into groups of two pairs. Elicit phrases from the class that pairs can use to compare and contrast (even though, on the other hand) and phrases to agree and disagree (I see your point, but don't you think. . .).

- Do the activity Have Ss compare their conclusions. Help as needed.
- Follow up Have groups share their conclusions with the class.

C Writing

In this activity, Ss write a paragraph about how they deal with challenging new experiences.

- Preview the activity Go over the instructions. Hold a brief class brainstorming session about situations that present challenges (e.g., a new job or school, moving to a new city, a change in family life). Talk about what kinds of challenges and emotions those types of events present and how one might deal with them. Make notes on the board.
- Do the activity Have Ss make an outline with a topic and supporting sentences and then expand upon it to complete their writing.
- Follow up Have volunteers share their paragraphs with the class. Make notes on the board about the most common thoughts and feelings people write about.

Project

A Write the script

In this activity, Ss write their own video diary.

- Preview the activity Tell Ss they will work individually to make their own video diary about being in a new and challenging situation. Ss will write a script and then act it out on camera.
- Brainstorm Brainstorm ideas with the class about challenges Ss can talk about. They may make up a situation or pick challenges they have already faced and act them out as if they were in the present.

Sample idea:

A video diary of my big move

Do six segments, each representing a different week and a different set of feelings about moving to a new place.

- Week 1: Staying with relatives and looking for a new apartment. Excited.
- Week 2: Found new apartment. Worried about expense, but still looking forward to the move.
- Week 3: New apartment too expensive, so need a roommate. Find one, but not sure if I will like having roommate. Nervous.
- Week 4: All moved in but new roommate is home all the time, noisy, and keeps late hours. Very tired and getting frustrated!
- Week 5: New roommate has new job and is never home. Getting a lot done. Feeling good.
- Week 6: New roommate has been transferred by new company and will move out in two months. Not sure about money, but I got a raise at work, so it should be OK. Very happy!

- Outline Have Ss make an outline of their script. They can use their own ideas or the following structure:
 - In the first segment, introduce the situation and set the scene.
 - Talk about each week, stating the time and date, explaining the situation, and talking about feelings. Compare any progress to the past entry and speculate about the future.
 - In the last segment, summarize the overall experience and any insights into how it has helped or changed you.
- Write the script Have Ss write their scripts using their outlines. Have Ss read through their work and revise as needed.
- Check the script Have Ss rehearse their scripts. Help as needed.

B Make and share the video

In this activity, Ss make and share their own video diary.

- Plan the video Ss may have a classmate operate the camera for them.
- Make the video Have Ss make their videos.
- Share the video Ss share their videos with the class.
- Option Have a group discussion about the videos. Did anyone address the same topics? What was the most unusual situation? Have Ss say one thing they liked about each video.

DEALING WITH DIFFICULT PEOPLE

Narrator: Most people you'll meet in life are friendly, kind, and generous.

But every so often, you'll run into some pretty difficult people. You may find them at work, at school, or even at home.

The worst thing about difficult people is that they can make life miserable for you.

There are many different kinds of difficult personalities. Do you recognize any of these people?

The Bully.

Bully: I enjoy making other people feel bad about themselves.

Narrator: Mr. or Ms. Negative.

Mr. Negative: I love to complain about how bad things are.

Narrator: The Exploder.

The Exploder: Aaahh! I can't stand not getting what I want, so I scream and yell a lot.

Narrator: The Know-It-All.

The Know-It-All: I insist on telling everyone else how things should be done.

Narrator: If difficult people can make your life miserable, knowing how to deal with them effectively can make your life a lot easier. Here's a simple two-step approach.

Step 1 – Ask yourself: What's the reward? People are difficult because they get some kind of reward for their behavior. Being difficult gives them something they want.

Step 2 – Figure out: How can you stop the reward? How can you not give the difficult person the things they enjoy getting?

Take the Bully, for example. What's the reward for the bully's behavior, and how can you stop the reward?

Bullies feel better about themselves by making you feel bad about yourself. They like to make you feel upset and nervous. And they enjoy getting into arguments because they usually win.

To prevent this reward, decide that you will not let the bully make you feel bad about yourself.

Stay cool and calm. Avoid getting emotional. Try asking them to stop their behavior. And if they won't, ignore them or leave the room. They can't get their reward if you won't talk with them.

How about the Exploders? What's their reward? And how can you keep them from getting it?

Exploders throw tantrums because they love getting attention. They want everyone else to stop what they're doing and focus on them.

You can prevent this reward by refusing to talk with them until they've calmed down. You can say, "I understand you're angry, and I don't mind talking with you about it after you calm down."

If they can't calm down, ignore them or leave the room until they are calm again.

The best way to deal with difficult people is to avoid interacting with them. But if you can't, you can use this approach to handle Mr. or Ms. Negative, the Know-it-all, and the other difficult people you're bound to meet.

Unit 2 Video

ACCIDENTS THAT CHANGED THE WORLD

Narrator: From great big messes to little spills, accidents are a part of life. Most of us try to avoid these problems. But sometimes, accidents can be very lucky. Sometimes they can change the world.

Take penicillin, for example. You might not think you could discover a wonder drug . . . by forgetting to wash your dishes! But that's what happened to the scientist Alexander Fleming in 1928. He was positive he could find a drug that would kill bacteria in the human body. His lab was full of petri dishes containing different types of bacteria. He should have cleaned the petri dishes in his lab before he went on vacation, but he didn't. When he returned two weeks later, they were covered in mold. Yuck! But in one of dishes, the mold seemed to be causing a problem for the bacteria. It was actually pushing the bacteria away. Fleming suspected this accidental growth of mold could be the key to the wonder drug he was looking for – and he guessed right! Today, penicillin is the most widely used antibiotic drug in the world. What would have happened if Fleming had washed the dishes like he was supposed to?

Everyone knows that melted chocolate is a real messy problem. But when Percy Spencer put some chocolate in his pocket, he discovered . . . the microwave oven! In 1945 Spencer was working with something called a magnetron, used in radar technology for the military. One day, when standing close to the magnetron, he noticed the candy bar in his pocket melted quickly. He figured the magnetron must be responsible, and he started to experiment. He had a hunch the magnetron could heat up food, so he tried corn kernels and made the world's first batch of microwave popcorn. When he heated an egg and it exploded all over a co-worker, he realized he needed to create some protection. He solved the problem by containing the microwaves in a box. And the microwave oven was born. Think of all the microwave dinners you would have missed if Percy Spencer had ignored his messy chocolate problem!

Anybody who owns a dog knows for a fact: if you let your dog run through the field, he'll come back covered in burrs. George de Mestral let his dog run through the brush anyway during a hunting trip in 1941. As he was dealing with the problem and picking up the burrs at home, he wondered what made these little things stick so well. He put the stuff under the microscope and identified the problem: The burrs had lots of tiny hooks that easily attached to the small loops in clothing and fur. That gave de Mestral an idea. He was sure that if he could create a product that did the same thing, it would be very popular. He had to try lots of different prototypes, but he finally found one that worked. And when astronauts started using it to keep things from floating around in space, and sneakers began using it instead of shoelaces, George de Mestral was certain his Velcro was here to stay.

So the next time you have to clean up a little accident, think to yourself, "What might I discover here?"

Unit 3 Video

WHAT IS THE WORLD'S GREATEST CITY?

Narrator: There are lots of great cities in the world: Hong Kong, Mexico City, Paris, Rio, New York. But which is the greatest city? That depends on what you're looking for.

If you're into tall buildings and interesting architecture, you might think Dubai is the greatest city in the world. This coastal town on the Persian Gulf is known for its beautiful beaches and many skyscrapers, which include the Burj Khalifa. At 828 meters – more than 160 stories – it's the world's tallest building. Dubai also has many new buildings that are world-famous landmarks – like the Burj al-Arab, which calls itself the world's only 7-star hotel. Or Ski Dubai, where you can actually ski indoors despite the soaring temperatures outside. And the Palm Islands, where beachfront homes have been built on islands that are completely man-made. For sheer ambition, Dubai certainly is one of the world's greatest cities.

If you're a bicyclist, your vote might go to Amsterdam. The Dutch tourist town that is famous for its canals is also known as one of the world's best bicycling towns. Everybody bikes here: businesspeople, students, mothers with kids. Nearly half of all the travel in Amsterdam is done on bicycles, which have their own traffic lanes and their own parking lots. Although you can still travel the narrow streets of Amsterdam by car or bus if you choose to, you can get there in half the time on a bike.

When it comes to one of the world's most livable cities, lots of people would include Pittsburgh on their list, and not just because of the low crime rates, affordable housing, and low cost of living. This former industrial town has been transformed into a sparkling city on a river – three rivers to be exact – which have more bridges than any other city in the world, including Venice. Pittsburgh is set on a hilly landscape, with streets and walkways that boast more steps than San Francisco. With several professional teams, it's a great sports town. And it's home to many historic neighborhoods that are full of wonderful restaurants, exciting nightlife, and great shopping. Pittsburgh truly is a town that offers something for everyone.

And if you believe that a great city has to have a lot of people, then head for Tokyo, which has the world's largest population. It has everything you would expect from a metropolitan area of more than 35 million: a public transportation system that moves people quickly and efficiently, restaurants where you'll find delicious cuisine, and exciting neighborhoods where you can find entertainment. And very, very small sleeping spaces that help millions squeeze into this magnificent city.

So, the world's greatest city? It's hard to pick a winner because every city is the greatest city to someone.

Unit 4 Video

HOW ELECTRONICS AFFECT OUR SLEEP

Narrator: Many of us spend a good part of our day looking at screens. We check our text messages as soon as we get up in the morning. Maybe we watch a little morning TV while we eat our breakfast. We play video games whenever we have to wait for a few minutes. We work on computer screens during the day and use our screens to catch up with friends and family on social media after we leave work. And we read on electronic screens right before bedtime and watch TV until we doze off.

But though our screens provide us with hours of entertainment, productivity, and connection with friends and family, they have at least one negative effect. They can keep us from getting a good night's sleep. Good sleep is vital to living a healthy life. It makes it easier for us to learn, to be productive, and to get along with other people. We also know that the health consequences of losing a lot of sleep can be severe: problems with weight control, diabetes, higher blood pressure, and even heart attacks and strokes can result when we don't get the sleep our bodies need.

Screens can affect our sleep in several ways. Scientific studies show that whenever we're watching screens, our bodies experience some stress. Even if we're not playing violent video games, screens can overstimulate our eyes and minds and keep us wide awake. It causes the "fight or flight" response that puts our bodies on high alert and keeps us from falling sound asleep at night. This stress can cause our heart to beat faster and our blood pressure to be higher, even hours after playing a video game, surfing the Internet, or texting. This level of stress can really affect our sleep. We may have a sleepless night or toss and turn instead of falling fast asleep, and wake up tired instead of feeling rested.

Screens can also affect sleep by reducing our levels of melatonin, the chemical signal that tells our brain it's time to sleep. Darkness causes our bodies to release melatonin and help us feel drowsy. It's not hard to see how screens might keep us from drifting off or from sleeping well, considering that many of us look at screens right before bedtime. And that can affect our mood and concentration the next day.

So, how can we keep our screens from affecting our sleep? Here are a few suggestions: You can prepare for a good night's sleep by turning off all your screens 30 to 60 minutes before bedtime. It might not be a bad idea to wait to check your email or texts until morning, as they can really prevent you from winding down. And if you're a night owl who likes to read right before bedtime, you might want to avoid using a backlit screen. Also, keep a regular sleep schedule. Most people can get a good night's sleep only if they fall asleep and wake up at the same times each day.

Our screens don't need to keep us from getting enough sleep as long as we use them in a healthy way.

Unit 5 Video

REACTIONS TO RUDE BEHAVIOR

Garrett: I wanted to explore how different people react to impolite behavior. I asked my roommate, John, to be rude to people in the library. I videotaped their interactions, and then I interviewed the people to ask them why they acted the way they did.

This is Jill. She's all alone in the library when John enters and sits next to her rather than at one of the many other free seats.

John: How's it going?

Jill: That was kind of strange. There were so many other places to sit.

I mean, it's unusual to sit so close to someone in an empty room, right?

Garrett: I asked her if she thought about saying anything. She told me that she wanted to . . .

Jill: . . . but I never like to be offensive, you know? So I usually just leave in a situation like that.

John: See you later.

Garrett: Next, there was Ethan. I asked John not to make small talk with him, just to ignore him.

Ethan: I think it's bad form to sit right next to somebody when there are lots of other empty seats in the room.

Then he got a phone call and explained to his mom that he had been to the doctor – really personal stuff, you know?

John: He said it's just a rash. All over my back. Yes. He warned me that it might be contagious.

Ethan: And it's the library, you know? It's supposed to be quiet. So I finally asked him to stop.

I'm sorry, but, you know, it's customary to take calls outside the library, right? I'm trying to study here.

John: Almost done.

Yeah. So, I don't know. He wrote me up a prescription and . . .

Garrett: And finally, there was Andrea.

Andrea: I think it's a good idea to say exactly what's on your mind.

Garrett: She warned John right off the bat that she didn't like his behavior.

Andrea: You're not planning on sitting there, are you?

John: Yeah.

Andrea: No! No, you're not.

He said he liked the spot and claimed that he had been sitting in that chair all week. I couldn't believe it. Then he leaned in way too close and asked me if I could help him with chemistry!

You're invading my personal space! Back off, okay?

John: Is something wrong with you?

Andrea: No, I don't . . .

John: Are you antisocial?

Andrea: No, I'm just . . .

John: You're a loner with no friends.

Andrea: Stop. Stop it! You're being rude, OK? It's rude to sit here when there are so many other empty seats. Talking so close to me is impolite. And you're an interrupter. Is this for real? What is this? What? What's happening?

John: We're shooting a video for a sociology class project on how people react to rudeness.

Andrea: I think you should always say something. I'll tell anybody they're not being polite. Why should a rude person get to ruin my day?

Garrett: OK, that's all we need.

John: Thanks. It was really great to meet you. Thanks so much for helping us out.

Andrea: Hey, you're not so rude, after all!

Unit 6 Video

THREE STORIES ABOUT WHY WE LOVE STORIES

Zach: Once upon a time, there was a group of funny little creatures called humans, and they loved stories. They had begun telling stories on the walls of caves in the dark. The next thing they knew, they were writing their stories down so they could tell them over and over. Though lately, they've started telling stories on walls in the dark again. Even when they became older and smarter and figured out a whole lot more about the world around them, they still craved their stories. But why? What has made their stories so important?

It all started one day, probably when the human race was still very young. Maybe one human – let's call him Larry – had gone to the river to get some water, and he fell in a hole. He was surprised because he had been going to the river for years, and before that day, there was no hole. As soon as he climbed out, he thought, "I've got to tell my friends about this so they won't fall in the hole. I know! I'll put up a sign." Then he thought, "But wait. We haven't invented writing yet." So he went back to his friends and told them a story, the first story, of how he fell in the hole. And from that point on, nobody went near the hole. They understood they should stay away, even though they themselves had not fallen in the hole. To make a long story short, the humans continued telling stories, but soon their stories weren't just about holes by the river. They were about how other people lived. They were able to understand how other people felt and what other people knew. And that helped them get along better and survive. What's the moral of this story? Humans love stories because stories help them survive.

Professor Roger Evans had been teaching rocket science for 20 years: the same theories, the same formulas, year after year. His classes had become pretty dull. "I have to do something different," he thought. And so the next day, rather than explaining his theories, he started telling stories about the courage of astronauts, the danger of blast-offs, and how the theories and formulas helped all that happen. And in the end, Professor Evans realized he had succeeded in getting his students interested again. He understood that stories are the most natural way for humans to learn anything because stories engage the emotions as well as the intellect, and humans remember things better when emotion is involved.

Imagine you're a very young child. You've been watching the world, but it doesn't make sense. It's all a big mess of information, with lots of strange shapes. But lately, people have been telling you stories. And after a time, you have started to make sense of the world. Things seem clearer. So later on, when you get older, you will still go back to stories when you want to make sense of the world.

There are many other reasons we humans have been telling stories since the dawn of time. But really, the thing you have to know is humans will always find new ways to tell stories and new stories to tell. Because telling stories is part of what makes us who we are.

Unit 7 Video

UNAPPRECIATED TECHNOLOGIES

Miranda: Welcome back to Tech Talk, the daily roundup of what's shiny and new in technology.

Dave: Today, we're actually going to be talking about what's old and not so shiny.

Miranda: These inventions from the last 100 years rarely get top billing in the list of the greatest inventions of all time.

Dave: Nevertheless, our lives have been made a little better . . .

Miranda: . . . and a lot easier . . .

Dave: . . . by these ingenious technologies.

Miranda: For example, the refrigerator.

Dave: Isn't it strange to think what life was like before this handy appliance came to kitchens everywhere in the 1920s and 30s?

Miranda: If you wanted fresh meat or produce . . .

Dave: . . . or ice cream . . .

Miranda: You would have to walk to the store to get it. But today, thanks to the refrigerator, grabbing a cold drink is as easy as opening a door!

Dave: Then there's the zipper.

Miranda: It's a simple technology, isn't it?

Dave: That may be true. But today, it's used to fasten everything from jackets and boots . . .

Miranda: . . . to suitcases to plastic pencil cases to space suits.

Dave: Wouldn't it be weird to see an astronaut gearing up with a hook and clasp?

Miranda: Plumbing has been around for thousands of years, but only in the last century has it become commonplace inside the home.

Dave: As a result, we don't have to go to the well for a fresh glass of water . . .

Miranda: . . . or heat water in the fireplace to take a warm bath. If you ask me, that's a pretty spectacular invention.

Dave: These things are pretty ugly, don't you think?

Miranda: Before shipping containers were invented in the 1950s, shipping things around the world was very expensive.

Dave: The reason for that is it took forever to load and unload boats.

Miranda: But thanks to these stackable containers, loading and unloading has been made much faster, and therefore, shipping is cheaper.

Dave: In fact, that's why a product from halfway around the world might be just as affordable as something made right at home.

Miranda: Barcodes. They're everywhere these days, aren't they?

Dave: But before the barcode came along around 1970, it took a lot more time to track products, price them, and sell them at the counter.

Miranda: Today, with the barcode, all those tasks are being done in a second with a scanner. As a result, stores can sell things for less money.

Dave: The pocket calculator made math easy for everyone beginning in the 1970s.

Miranda: Doesn't it seem crazy that before these things came along, most people had to do math by hand?

Dave: For instance, can you imagine trying to multiply a long string of numbers, finding the square root of 17, or doing your taxes without the help of a pocket calculator?

Miranda: Now, the way I see it, the credit card might be the most important invention in finance. Before the credit card became popular in the 1950s, you would have to carry cash or write a personal check.

Dave: On the other hand, before the ATM became popular, you were out of luck if you needed cash or wanted to make a deposit after banking hours. That's why the ATM has my vote for the most important development in finance.

Miranda: Finally, our number one unheralded technology . . .

Dave: Email. Before email became popular in the early 1990s, if you wanted to send someone a message, you'd have to actually put it in an envelope . . .

Miranda: . . . lick a stamp . . .

Dave: . . . drop it in the mail and wait . . .

Miranda: Uh!

Dave: . . . for days for a reply.

Miranda: Now, communicating with anyone anywhere in the world just takes a few seconds. That's a lot better, don't you think?

Dave: I do.

Miranda: That's all for Tech Talk today. We'll see you next time with new technologies that are likely to change your life tomorrow.

Unit 8 Video

PROFILE OF AN ACTOR

Director: Paul interview. Take 1.

Paul: Why did I want to be an actor? I'm trying to think of a good way to phrase this.

I first knew that I wanted to be an actor at a very young age. I was performing for my Cub Scouts, and it was a night of skits, and they were really funny skits. And everyone was laughing at me, and I made a decision, and I said, "This is what I want to do for the rest of my life. I want to be an actor." As a young boy, I had a lot of passion to be in front of people, to be in front of an audience, uh, to perform. And that passion has only grown throughout the years.

Having a 9-to-5 schedule didn't work for me. I needed an outlet . . . to have . . . to put out my creative side. Acting for me is . . . was fun. It just made sense. To become an actor, you have to have passion for the work. I think that was just inside me. It was just . . . just who I am. Being an actor can be tough. It can be erratic, which means that my . . . my schedule is never set. I could be doing a shoot in the morning and have a rehearsal at night. And then the next day, I could be having three auditions throughout the day.

The audition process can be tough and draining because that's the real work. You have to be really motivated to get yourself up every . . . every day, to get out there, and . . . and give it your all. You have to have a lot of determination . . . and a lot of patience.

I started out . . . trained in theater when I was in school, which is why when I started working professionally, I was taking on a lot of theater work. As the years went by, I started doing commercials and films, which means I was better able to support myself because they pay a lot more.

My worst acting job, oh boy. OK. Alright. I've got something for you. I got hired by an amusement park to work on this outdoor staged show where I was portraying a mad scientist. It was a kids' show, and I had to go out there in the summer, in the sweltering heat, and with this huge Einstein wig and perform. That was my least favorite job.

My favorite acting job was probably a show. It's, uh, it was a Shakespeare show, um, Midsummer Night's Dream. I did that on the Boston Common. There was [sic] about ten thousand people a night watching me, laughing at me. No experience compares to that.

The best part of . . . of being an actor is that . . . that feeling that you've really . . . you've really done something with the role. You've really done some nice work, and then if it's filmed, getting to see it. Uh, that's . . . that's a lot of fun.

To be an actor . . . some traits. Uh, you have to have a strong sense of determination and a lot of patience. Because it's . . . it's a hard lifestyle. Someone who has a lot of expression would be a good actor. Someone who has a really strong voice would be a great actor. Someone who enjoys attention would be a great actor. Someone who doesn't enjoy being in the spotlight would not be a good actor. Someone who needs job security would not be a good actor.

In five to ten years, I . . . I would hope that my acting career has . . . has become fuller – more auditions per week and doing theater more often. That's all I can hope for, really. More work.

I think I will always be an actor. I've done it this long. I have a strong support system. My family and my friends, they're behind me 100%. I can't see myself doing anything else.

THE INTERVIEW: PROBLEM-SOLVING TASKS

Susan: Welcome back to “The Interview,” Cable 84’s weekly segment on job interview skills. While it used to be you could interview for a job simply by answering some questions, in today’s ultracompetitive job market, companies are measuring candidates’ qualifications in new and unconventional ways. Here to talk about this is Mark Hernandez, a consultant who previously supervised hiring tests for a large tech firm here. Welcome, Mark.

Mark: Thank you, Susan.

Susan: You know, when I was in the business world, we would hire people based on how well they interviewed and fit in with the company.

Mark: That was certainly our plan, too, except that we would also ask candidates to tackle some problem-solving challenges. When we started out, we would give people some problems on paper to solve. But in the last decade, we found it more helpful to observe them in action.

Susan: What kind of paces would you put them through?

Mark: Let’s take a look.

At my former company, we would put each candidate in a room that was completely empty, except for a cork board, a table, a candle, a book of matches, and a box of thumbtacks.

Susan: And what was the task?

Mark: We’d give each person five minutes, and we’d tell them they needed to attach the candle to the cork board on the wall and light it so that it wouldn’t drip on the table below.

This is Monica. And she knew that with enough thumbtacks she could tack the candle to the wall.

Susan: Except that she’s not having much luck. What does this tell you about her?

Mark: Well, she’s persistent, sticking with her first idea and spending nearly the entire five minutes trying to make it work. Persistence can be a good thing, except for the fact that she’s got the wrong idea.

Susan: Her lack of success seems to make her more frustrated.

Mark: Exactly. She got pretty stressed and was unable to think about the problem in other, more productive ways.

Now let’s watch David, who, after starting the same way, realized in 30 seconds that it wouldn’t work. In contrast to Monica, he’s looking for other perspectives, which is a good problem-solving strategy. He tried several other approaches.

Susan: Except that it’s not working for him, either. Looks like he’s trying to melt wax to stick the candle to the wall.

Mark: Obviously, it’s not working. And even if it did, it didn’t keep the candle from dripping on the table.

Susan: So, what is the solution?

Mark: Well, what would you do?

Susan: I don’t know. But here’s an idea: What about tacking the matchbook to the wall and the candle to the matchbook?

Mark: Good guess! If I were you, I might try interviewing for a tech job. Let’s see what Ashley does.

See how playful she was, in contrast to David and Monica? Studies have shown that humor is a really important part of problem solving, and Ashley seemed able to preserve her sense of humor through the process, while David and Monica were overly frustrated and let that keep them from solving the problem. And unlike Monica or David, who could only see the box as a box, Ashley saw the box as a platform.

Susan: She was literally able to think outside the box.

Mark: Yes.

Susan: So, what’s the takeaway for our viewers who may be asked to solve problems in a job interview – or at work, for that matter?

Mark: One: try many approaches. Don’t get set on making your first idea work. Two: it’s more helpful to have a playful attitude than to be frustrated. And three: try to look at things from another perspective.

Susan: That’s all for today on “The Interview.” Stay in touch, everyone!

ANNOYING SOUNDS

Reporter: Stand on any corner of a city street, and you're bound to encounter many different kinds of people. But one thing they all have in common is that they all have something to complain about. And one thing they complain a lot about is noise.

Sometimes we complain about sounds that are too loud. And other times we complain about sounds that are annoying and get on our nerves. Perhaps the sounds we complain the most about are the ones that are both loud and annoying. At the World Cup in 2010, there was a huge uproar about vuvuzelas, the horns that were the favorite of many South African soccer fans.

It's easy to understand why loud noises bother us. They can actually hurt our ears and cause hearing loss. But the sounds that are most annoying often aren't that loud – like nails on a chalkboard, or a knife on a glass, or this angle grinder.

Scientists aren't completely sure why these sounds are so annoying. One theory is that these sounds have a similar frequency to a human scream or a baby's cry, which, to our brains, are two of the most stressful sounds in the world.

One thing we do know: People have strong opinions about noises that annoy them.

Margaret Allen: One thing that bothers me is when somebody at work is talking really loudly on their cell phone. I get so irritated.

James Williams: What's a noise that bothers me? Um . . . well, something that bugs me is my sister's laugh.

Henry Snider: How anyone can listen to one of those loud motorcycles all the time is beyond me.

Kyle Snider: Yeah, I hate that, too . . .

Graciela Martinez: My question is, why does music on elevators have to be so awful? It almost makes me sick.

Lisa Manap: Cicadas. They just get under my skin. I don't know why they have to make that sound!

Alexander Markovic: A fork on glass. That absolutely drives me up a wall.

Reporter: I'm sorry, but . . . where do you even hear that? Do you spend a lot of time putting forks on glass at your house?

The world is full of noise and much of it is very unpleasant. And sometimes it can really drive you crazy. For Channel 11 News, this is Jennifer Trumbell.

THREE INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS DISCUSS AMERICAN VALUES

Olivia: For my class project on American values, I wanted the perspective of some people who weren't born into this culture. I think it's hard to get a sense of what's different about America when you have always lived there. So, I gathered a few friends and classmates from other countries to get their take on what values are distinctly American.

* * *

Olivia: So, you all have been studying here in the U.S. for at least a year, and I'm wondering, what would you say Americans value most?

Enku: Time. I think Americans value time a great deal.

Ranbir: And saving time. And being on time.

Enku: Yes! In my hometown, I wouldn't worry about being late to a meeting unless it were to meet someone very important.

Olivia: And, as an American, I would come late only if my car broke down or I had an emergency.

Enku: Exactly. Americans would think it disrespectful to be late unless they have a very good reason.

Ranbir: If I had known that when I first came here, I wouldn't have made you so mad so often. I was late to meet you quite a lot, I think.

Olivia: I just think it's kind of selfish and insensitive for you to waste my time by making me wait for you!

Ranbir: Yes, uh . . . you made that quite clear. Loudly. In the cafeteria, if I remember correctly!

Olivia: I wish I'd taken a picture of your face. You were so shocked!

Hikaru: That's another American value I think.

Olivia: What's that?

Hikaru: Being direct when expressing emotion. In Japan, even if I were very, very angry, I would never yell at someone in public.

Olivia: Hm. Yeah, Americans tend to not hold back their emotions.

Hikaru: That's for sure. In Japan, people are very disapproving of public displays of emotion. I often wish I could express my emotions with more freedom.

Ranbir: Freedom. Now that's a big American value.

Enku: I wish I had a dollar for every time Americans talked about freedom!

Ranbir: I didn't really get it at first. I imagined all Americans wanted to be outlaws. But then I realized: It's not about the freedom to do illegal things, but the freedom to be an individual – and make your own choices and decide how you want to live your life.

Olivia: And that's not true elsewhere in the world?

Ranbir: No. In India, for example, it's more about the family than the individual.

Hikaru: In Japan it's similar. But it's more about the group – fitting in with people at work, for example.

Ranbir: If you were a young Indian woman, you would do what your family wants, even if you disagree.

Olivia: So, even if I really wanted to be an actress, I would choose to study to be a doctor, like my parents want?

Ranbir: Yes.

Hikaru: But here in America, as your roommate, I have often seen you disagreeing with your parents about things. You would follow the path your parents wanted only if you thought it was a good idea, too.

Enku: I think another big American value is the belief that everybody is equal.

Olivia: Yeah, well, we're still working on that one. If we had been better about it from the beginning, I think we could have avoided a lot of war and violence.

Enku: But it's more than just equality among the races. In my country, there's this sense of fate. You're born with your lot in life. If I had been born into a different family, I probably couldn't have even dreamed of coming to study in America. But here, there's this belief that everyone can achieve whatever they want.

Ranbir: Or be whoever they want – a business leader or president, for example.

Hikaru: Yes, if only they will work hard enough. That's very uniquely American, I think.

Olivia: Yeah, I can't imagine not choosing the life I want to lead. Thanks, you guys. This was so helpful.

Ranbir: We're done already?

Olivia: We could have gone longer . . . if you hadn't been 20 minutes late!

Ranbir: Sorry.

Olivia: I'm just kidding.

AN L.A. GIRL IN BERLIN

September

Monica: Hey, Mom and Dad. I had an amazing first day yesterday, walking around, enjoying the old buildings, and getting accustomed to the city. See? Ugh. I'm still adjusting to the time change. But, I am excited about starting classes today. And to think that before the year ends, I will have become fluent! OK. That's all. I'll talk to you later.

October

Monica: . . . kind of a tough day. I'm feeling kind of homesick. I try making friends, but it's so hard. There aren't a lot of people like me here. I'm scared that I'll end up spending the year feeling lonely instead of having fun. I'm afraid that by the end of the year, I'll have only gotten to know the inside of my room! However, I have promised myself I'll keep trying . . .

November

Monica: If I hadn't met Julia and Annika, I would probably still be sitting in my room every night. I remember telling you I didn't feel connected to others at first here, but now, generally, I'm really enjoying it here.

December

Monica: By the time you get this, we'll have left for our holiday feast. But, I just want to tell you that I love you, and I miss you. And I just wish I were home right now. If I had known how hard it would be to spend the holidays without my family, I probably wouldn't have come.

January

Monica: Snow! My first snow. Or Schnee, as they call it here. We had fun playing soccer in the snow today. It's so cold! But I'm doing great. And I'm finally familiar with the city. I don't need a map for walking around anymore. I'm hoping before I come home I'll have figured out the trains.

April

Monica: It's April 16. Very important day for me because . . . nobody spoke English to me today! When I first got here, I remember thinking, "By the end of my first month, I'll probably have perfected my accent." It took a little longer, but today, everyone thought I was a German speaker! It's so beautiful here in the spring . . . I'm just trying to take advantage of everything there is to do before I come home! Here's a picture of my favorite spot in the city. I would never have discovered it if I hadn't gotten lost in the park one day. Oh, it's beautiful there. You would love it . . .

May

Monica: So, by this time next week, I will have said good-bye to Berlin, and I'll be back at home. I'm looking forward to coming home and seeing everybody again. By Tuesday, I will have been here for . . . eight months! Can you believe it? But I would probably be less sad about leaving if I hadn't met . . . the best sausages and fresh sauerkraut in the world! You wouldn't believe how good this stuff is! I didn't think I would like it at first, but then I tried it and it was amazing. It was so fresh and vinegary and . . .
