British and American English – the same, but different

British and American people speak the same language – English – but with some small differences.

- Vocabulary Some words are different in American English, for example, they say zip code not postcode, vacation not holiday, and elevator not lift. Some words have different meanings, for example, in British English, a purse is a wallet for women, for money and bank cards. In American English, a purse is a bag.
- _____ Colour, favour, and other words that end in -our in British English end in -or in American English. Centre, theatre, and other words that end in -tre in British English end in -ter in American English.
- _____ There are some small differences, especially prepositions. For example, Americans say See you Friday, but British people say See you on Friday.
- _____ This is the really important difference between American and British English. American accents and British accents are very different. When Americans start speaking, British people know they are American, and vice versa.

- b  2.10 Listen and read the article again. Check your answers to a.

- c Cover the article and answer the questions.

- What are these words in British English?
zip code vacation elevator
- How do you spell these words in British English?
color center
- How is this phrase different in British English?
See you Friday.
- Are British and American accents the same?

- d Do you know any more words which are American English, not British English?
