Listening

1. LISTENING

(Audio: Top Notch 3, Track 7)

A. 🎧 Listen to the conversation. Read the sentences. Then listen again and check true or false.

	true	false
Example: The patient had an appointment a few days ago, but he canceled it.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
(1) The patient broke his tooth.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
(2) The patient called to make the appointment a few days ago.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
(3) The patient didn't call earlier because he was busy with work.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
(4) The dentist had already seen the patient's tooth before they had the conversation.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

B. 🎧 Listen to the conversation. Read the sentences. Then listen again and circle the word or phrase that best completes each sentence.

Example:The man wants to (send) / receive / open) a package.

- (5) Maya thinks that Pack Express (won't deliver / might have delivered / must be able to deliver) the package to Lima overnight.
- (6) Maya told Steve that Pack Express (was not efficient / was really good / won't be able to).
- (7) When Steve used Aero Fast, they (were extremely reliable / were not helpful / did a good job).

C. 🎧 Listen to the radio announcement. Read the statements. Then listen again and check true or false.

Name: _____

ID: A

	true	false
Example: The National Weather Service says to leave your house.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
(8) It's too dangerous for people to stay in their homes.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
(9) Right now, people in the area should prepare for an evacuation.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
(10) The radio announcer encourages people to read during the storm.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
(11) It's not necessary to have a flashlight ready.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
(12) There might be a power outage, so it is important to be prepared.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

Short Answer

Problem

42. READING

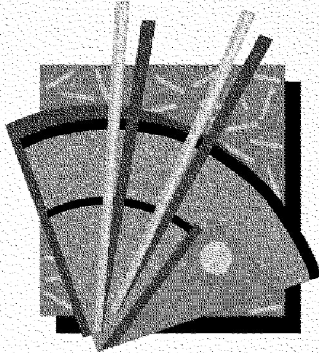

A. Read the newspaper column. Then read it again and check yes or no for each question.

Ask Globe Trotter

Dear Globe Trotter,

My roommate is from Vietnam, and she has invited me to her parents' home for a typical Vietnamese dinner. I'm excited, but nervous about not knowing the correct etiquette. Can you give me some tips?

Sincerely,
Hungry to Learn

Dear Hungry to Learn,

It's great that you want to be culturally literate! Here are some things to keep in mind at dinner:

- It's polite to take a small gift to your hosts, such as sweets, tea, or coffee. Flowers are an acceptable gift. But don't take white ones—white is the color of death.
- It's customary to take off your shoes before entering someone's home.
- People traditionally bow when they are introduced, but some people also shake hands. It's best to wait and see what the other person does.

- If you have trouble with chopsticks, mention your lack of skill and ask for a fork.
- Use two hands to pass a plate to someone or to accept one.
- If you are offered a second or third portion of food, you must accept it. (If you don't, it might be considered offensive.)
- Lastly, if you don't know what to do, it's OK to ask.

Sincerely,
Globe Trotter

Example: Had “Hungry to Learn” been culturally literate about Vietnam before she wrote to Globe Trotter?

	yes	no
	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>

Weather announcer: Tropical Storm Alex has arrived in our area. The National Weather Service says not to leave your house. It's too dangerous to drive, so if you're still in the area, you should stay inside and wait for the storm to pass. Curl up with a good book or do a puzzle. There's a possibility of a power outage, so be sure to have a flashlight or some candles nearby.

ESSAY

43. ANS:

- a. greetings and meeting someone for the first time (Sample response:) When I meet someone, I always shake their hand and say hello. Usually, I introduce myself and ask what they prefer to be called. I try to ask questions to make small talk with the other person. I may talk about the weather or occupations. I don't ask personal questions that may make the person feel uncomfortable. If I'm in another country, I might ask about proper etiquette.
- b. good etiquette for males and females in your country (Sample response:) It's polite for males to open doors for females, but females don't have to do the same thing. It's nice for males to pull out a chair for a woman to sit in. Men should wear suits to many offices, but women don't have to. They can wear a skirt and a blouse. Women may greet each other with a kiss on the cheek, but this is not customary for men.
- c. medications you use for specific symptoms or medical problems (Sample response:) I'm allergic to a lot of things. I take a decongestant every day. The doctor gives me a prescription for it. When my stomach hurts, I take an antacid. Sometimes I have to take two or three until I feel better. If I have a headache, I take some painkillers.
- d. a service you've been happy or unhappy with and why (Sample response:) I took my shoes to a shoe repair place, and the service was awful. My shoes weren't ready on time. It wasn't a professional job. The clerk wasn't helpful. The prices were not reasonable—I paid too much! The shoe repair place is not reliable, and I won't take anything there again.
- e. an emergency, severe weather event, or natural disaster (Sample response:) Earthquakes can be very severe natural disasters. They often cause a lot of destruction, and they can have a large economic impact. They can leave people homeless, without any shelter. Often the death toll from an earthquake can be very high. People who live in areas with frequent earthquakes should keep emergency supplies in their homes. These include bottles of water, non-perishable food, flashlights, and a first-aid kit.
- f. reading and literature in your country (Sample response:) Comics are very popular in my country. I don't really like them, but I don't think they are trash. I think that any book is good, because you can always learn something from it. I think that more people read magazines and comics than books. But people should read more books because there are some authors from my country that are very good. And also there are a lot of translations of books from other places.
